

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 950

After saying that, Heather was ready to leave, with Ralph chasing after her.

"Where are you going? Let me take you."

"I have a car."

She did not stop and just continued to walk quickly.

"You can ask your driver to take your car home. It's rare for us to spend time together, so don't be so cold to me, all right? Give me a chance to spend time with you, hm?"

"I drove here."

"You did? Didn't you say that you can't drive?"

He vaguely remembered that she mentioned something about not knowing how to drive.

Plus, she seemed to have a driver who drove her back when they bade farewell the other day too.

Heather finally stopped and replied after some thought, "I learned how to do it."

a

It astonished Ralph.

Getting a license would take much longer than this,

driving license recently" she replied perfunctorily, not wanting to spend time talking about all this nonsense

in front of her to widen personal space too. If you can't accept this and you can't respect me for that, it's pointless for us to continue with this was stunned

had her in the palm of his hands and that he was in Heather today, he felt like they had gone back

he had no idea what he just being unreasonable!' At the sight of her sharp gaze, a chill rose from the bottom of his heart. His feet seemed to have frozen in place as he stood

"I-I got it."

him, Heather retracted her arm and took two steps back before she turned take a look at him, but she left without breath, as if the huge rock that was pressing down on him had suddenly been lifted, relieving him of the

too

him an illusion that everything was false after spending time with her

him, she was just like any other woman who would be obedient to their partner after