

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 968

It was supposed to be two separate bodies, but they had become one synchronized body.

Heather was still herself, but Hannah was no longer herself.

The pain in her ears had already gone numb, the bleeding had stopped, and she still felt an inexplicable sense of joy.

Today, Hannah felt that her body belonged to her.

She could finally be the master of her own for a moment, and she could do whatever she wanted, even piercing her ears, even if it hurt. It was her own choice.

Heather gradually calmed down. She was dazzled by the rage just now.

How did Hannah dare to disobey and pierce her ears? When Heather calmed down, she knew it was useless to get angry. She still needed Hannah's help to do things that she did not want or were inconvenient.

Slowly putting down her hand, Heather put the earring into Hannah's hand.

"Put this thing away, and don't lose it!"

As if she was released, Hannah stretched out her hand happily. She carefully looked at the earring that still had her blood in her palm.
