

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 976

While Ralph thought about this, he looked toward her ears subconsciously. He was not surprised to see the earrings he had gifted her were sitting nicely on her earlobes. He felt much better.

Women were such contradicting beings! Heather obviously was in love with him but acted like she did not care much about him.

Ralph concluded that this was probably due to her having to play the role of the head of the household in public. He would just play along with it, then. He was confident that she would willingly choose to stay home, raise their kids and be an obedient housewife after marriage.

By then, he would have the Riggs family's power and wealth in his pocket. He would then have enough power to go against Alexander, and with the help of his mother and sister, taking back control of the Russell family would just be a walk in the park. He felt much better after changing his perspective, so he also started to side with Heather.

Unfortunately, Margaret disagreed with her son's view.

She was unhappy with Heather's attitude.

and her views and opinions were the Riggs family's help in supporting her son to take back what was his, since they had agreed to this marriage proposal, the Riggs family's be going over the

did not care

were at a disadvantage, she softened simple wedding. As for how we're doing it, I've asked my secretary to make copies of my proposal. You assistant toward them. Her assistant stepped forward and took out some as they had never seen anyone who would discuss a marriage like they

a business trade fully equipped as she stared at the document in her hand. It seemed like Heather had entrusted all the planning