

Spoiled by Mr. Russell Chapter 977

"Celine!"

Ralph was worried that she would make matters worse, so he called out to her.

However, Heather seemed unfazed by Celine's remarks. She smirked, turned to her assistant, and added jokingly, "If she's willing, then why not."

"you!"

Celine was furious.

On the other hand, Ralph was worried that she would soil the meeting, so he quickly cut in, "She's just joking, just joking! Mom, it's not easy for Heather to handle her family business alone, so that she would assign some tasks to her assistant. I also agreed with her, and Heather doesn't have much to ask for. She just wants everything to be simple..."

"I didn't say that I won't ask for anything,"

She narrowed her eyes at him.

"I- I would like to

as

but I want a room all to myself," she continued, "I wish to move soon?" Ralph asked, clearly confused with him, but then she requested a single was this a woman's

"Why? Is there something wrong?" she asked, "You don't have to be worried. I just wanted to take

why won't that she had decided to take the initiative to get to know him better, so why would he reject her? This request was made out of the blue, so it was about to change her mind again, he quickly added, "We have many bedrooms available. Even if we don't, I'll move out just to still slightly embarrassed by the sight of him trying to suck up to Heather. Margaret could house

her a small nod to express family soon anyways, and since Ms.Riggs, you're comfortable with this, it's a to her subordinates, "Make sure to clear a room for Ms.Riggs when we get home.Make sure that she's settled in well and try your best