

Mr. Warner Your Ex-Wife is Brilliant by Paula Chapter 343

Chapter 343

Jane, who already has three cute babies, doesn't mind having one more child. Moreover, she will love April's child as if it was her own.

Hearing Jane's words, April tears rolled in her eyes. She sniffed, held back the tears, and sincerely thanked her friend.

"Thank you, dear!"

"When the baby is born, I'll will raise it!" Whilst the atmosphere is full of deep love between two sisters, a male voice broke in, breaking the beautiful atmosphere.

Both of them looked at William in shock, Jane's face looked complicated while April displayed a trace of pain.

"April, come back with me. Drake changed our residence. It's big enough for you to move in. Besides, Zane, Zach and Zoe can accompany you."

Ignoring William's words, Jane decided to bring April back to the villa.

The place is fully armed and very secure, as long as she stays in that place, she doesn't have to worry of being watched by Matthew's men.

"She's fine with me." Before April could reply, stood up and interrupted Jane again.

Jane gave him a complicated look. She wanted to say something, but because the timing was not right, she couldn't speak her concern.

"William, thank for your kindness, but now is not the time to be willful, we need to ensure April's absolute safety, do you understand?" Jane emphasized a little bit, hoping that the man could understand the seriousness of the matter.

On the other hand, William's face looked serious, expressing that he understood the current situation seriously.

“Mrs. Warner, I am very much aware of the current situation. It’s because I know better, so April must stay with me. It’s because of my negligence, that I didn’t notice it in her early pregnancy. Now we must always be vigilant about the development of the fetus. I am a doctor. I can protect her very well.”

William’s words weren’t unreasonable. But Jane really wanted to tell him that the problem wasn’t just the child on her stomach, but also the child’s father. He is the real danger.

Just when Jane was about to continue persuading him, April took Jane’s hand, nodded to her, and said,

“Then I’ll have to trouble you, take me away.”

Living in William’s house was her last resort. Now that Jane is back, April doesn’t want to bother William anymore.

Especially, the two of them were quite ambiguous before, but unfortunately, the relationship ended before it even started because of the child in the belly.

Still, she thought it wasn’t that simple. Even without Matthew’s pursue, people in the Middlam family. would not easily let her be with other men. After all, she is still valuable, so how could the Middlam family give up on her.

It’s just that the Middlam family just let her be for the time being, and when there is a good marriage proposal that will earn them benefits, they will definitely brought her back.

The most urgent thing now, is to give birth to the child first.

April was also confused before, not knowing what to do and how to deal with the child in her stomach, but now that Jane is back, she had promised to raise her child.

April felt more relieved, this was her first child, and of course she also hoped that the child would be born and grow up well.

With Jane’s promise, she can safely hand over the child to her. As for her fate, it is not her turn to decide yet.

Hearing April said that she wanted to leave with Jane, William immediately stepped forward, squatted in front of the sofa, and looked at April with a bit of panic and eagerness.

“Just stay here, I will take good care of you...and the child in your stomach.”

“Thank

you, William, but I’ll feel more secure with my dear, so I decided to go back with her.”

April suppressed her nausea and showed a smile, then she looked away.

Fortunately, they haven’t started yet, and avoided feeling too much guilt.

William wanted to say something more, but April had already looked at Jane, and said with a smile, “Honey, let’s go now, before I feel so nauseous.”

“Okay.” Jane didn’t think much about it, April said she wanted to leave, so she immediately got up, looked around the room, and was about to look for her things.

“Did you brought your things here?, I’ll get it for you!”

“I didn’t bring anything here. I just moved here a few days ago. There’s only a suitcase in the room. help me get it.” April pointed to the room where she lived.

Soon, Jane took the suitcase and took April downstairs. William accompanied them all the way. Although he didn’t say anything, his face looked gloomy.

The two pretended not to understand his feelings, when they arrived downstairs, Thea was already waiting in the car.

The two got into the car. William originally wanted to get in the car and tag along with them to the villa, but April held the door handle and said goodbye to him with a smile.

“William, thank you for your care these days. When I get a chance in the future, I will return your favor. Don’t worry if I leave with Jane, I’ll be safe with her.”

“Okay, be careful all the way.”

William choked up the words in his throat, and finally, he just forced a

Chapter 343

It so happen that the three cute babies in the family were strolling around their new home. When they heard the sound of vomiting, they rushed over and found out that it was their mother and April. Their faces were full of joy.

Zach isn’t familiar with April, but Zane and Zoe were very familiar with each other, so they ran to April’s side.

“Godmommy, what’s wrong with you, why are you vomiting so much?” Zoe’s sweet and soft voice rang in April’s ear.

After a round of vomiting, April raised her head and looked at Zoe, with a smile on her pale face.

“Zoe, godmommy is fine, It’s just motion sickness.” April reluctantly said.

Jane stepped forward to support April, and told the three cute babies, “Okay, stop surrounding your godmother, go to the house and ask the servant to pour some warm water.”

“Got it, Mommy!”

The three of them responded and ran into the house happily.

When April finally recovered, Jane helped her into the living room.

As soon as she sat down on the sofa, the three little guys came with warm water, and Zach was the most active one.

“Godmother, drink water!”

“Okay, thank you for the water.” April forced a smile, took a sip of warm water, and then suppressed the nausea surging in her stomach.

“Why don’t you go upstairs to rest for a while, and I’ll let the servant clean your room.” Jane said worriedly.

“Okay.” April agreed couldn’t hold it anymore, and she didn’t stand in ceremony with Jane. After the servant cleaned up, Jane sent her to the cleaned room.
