

Mr. Warner Your Ex-Wife is Brilliant by Paula Chapter 359

Chapter 359

“Actually, you

don’t have to think too much about it. It may not be possible to find that person, not to mention that you will soon be the honorable Mrs. Warner, and you have three adorable babies. It’s no big deal if you really lose your man.”

Hearing this, Jane’s mood immediately improved a lot. April was right, what is a man? She is rich and beautiful, and has three lovely children. She shouldn’t get entangled with Drake’s matter.

She shouldn’t continue to struggle with this matter, but should focus on improving herself.

After figuring it out, Jane finally didn’t feel so uncomfortable, but... Charles matter was also a big pain in the ass, Jane simply continued to ask April’s suggestions.

April was shocked to hear how dramatic Jane’s life is, not to mention such a complicated side, especially that she and Annie had the same father.

“They don’t even dare to act like this in TV dramas. You and Annie are actually half–sisters. This is.... tsk tsk, it’s too unreal.”

April lamented that fate was too much, obviously two people who disliked each other turned out to be sisters, and they still competed for the same man for so many years, and in the end, there was such a bloody thing, April really didn’t know what to say.

“Actually, there’s nothing to worry about. The Carlton seems to be quite rich, and Annie did so many things to hurt you back then. It’s just a good opportunity to let her lose everything. Isn’t it great!”

“Instead of letting her lose her freedom, you might as well let her lose everything and become nothing. Isn’t it good to see you getting better and better, and it’s also a punishment for the hurtful things she did to you back then.”

“Charles feels indebted to you. I think he will give you everything voluntarily without you asking, and you can accept it with peace of mind. You can even turn Carlton’s family into your property. At that time, She’ll probably be half-dead in rage.”

“Your...suggestion is really good.” Listening to April’s words, Jane suddenly seemed to have opened up a new world, and her eyes were glittering.

It seems that her thinking is too narrow.

Just when Jane was thinking about the feasibility of the matter, April said something leisurely.

“Only when a person is strong can he be fearless.”

The next day, Jane, who didn’t plan to go to the hospital to see Charles, finally went to the hospital, and brought a lot of supplements to look polite.

In the ward, the nurse who took care of Charles was the nurse Jane had hired before. When Jane arrived at the ward, the nurse wasn’t there, and Charles struggled to sit down.

Seeing this, Jane immediately stepped forward, put down the things in her hands, and supported him.

“You can call the nurse if you have anything to do.”

Seeing that it was Jane who came, Charles immediately put a smile on his face, “I have nothing to do, but I have been sleeping for a long time and I feel a little uncomfortable, so I want to get up and sit down.”

“You’ve almost recovered. If you can’t sleep, you can ask the nurse to push you downstairs for a stroll. The scenery in the back garden of the hospital is still okay.”

Jane has been injured many times before and is very familiar with William's private hospital.

"It's not that I don't want to go, but it would be better if you could take me there." Charles said with a smile.

Jane was stunned for a moment. She understood what the man was thinking, but still she didn't want to expose it. She then asked the nurse to bring the wheelchair and pushed Charles downstairs.

Under the warm sun, Jane pushed Charles and walked among the trees in the garden. The sun shone through the leaves and cast mottled light and shadows on the ground. For a moment, the atmosphere was so quiet.

"I never thought that we could walk around so peacefully." Charles sighed, with a smile on his face.

all the time.

"I haven't thought about it either." Jane replied lightly, she thought that she wouldn't forgive Charles, nor would she pester him too much.

But after listening to April's words, Jane also felt that she didn't have to be so decisive. The most important thing was that it could make Annie feel uneasy. This was the most important thing.

"Jane, I was the one who felt sorry for your mother back then, but I sincerely hope that you will give me a chance to make up for you. Now that you are a mother, you can understand the hardships of being a parent."

"When I was separated from your mother, I didn't know that I had you. Otherwise, no matter what, I would not have let your mother leave me." Charles said faithfully.

Hearing Charles mentioning her mother again, Jane thought for a while, then slowed down and asked

"Why did you and my mother separate?"

"It's all my fault. When I fell in love with your mother, it was because of the pressure in our family and the obstruction of my parents, which prevented me from marrying your mother.” Charles recalled the memories of that year, and the feeling of sadness imbued him again.

Afterwards, without Jane asking, Charles continued and told the reason why he married Mildred back then, fearing that Jane would not believe it, he reiterated it solemnly.

Thinking about Annie’s temperament, Jane felt that it was not surprising that Mildred would do such a thing back then.

“In the end, you and my mother isn’t meant for each other” Jane could only say a word.

“If I had been firmer at the beginning, maybe this would not have been the result” Charles said with eyes full of regret.

“Don’t mention my mother anymore. Annie hasn’t been here since you were injured. Has she stayed at home?” Jane hadn’t heard from Annie for several days now, and Jane couldn’t figure out what meant before.

Anyway, she stabbed her father, she should have come and see her father.

When Annie was mentioned, Charles face became a little gloomy, his eyes looked into the distance, and he said something angrily.

“It’s also my fault that I didn’t teach her well and made her become like this.”

Suddenly, Charles took Jane’s hand that had fallen off from the wheelchair and said in an extremely cautious manner, “Jane, I transferred half of the shares and assets under the company’s name to yours. This is my compensation to you. Don’t refuse, okay?”

Hearing Charles’s words, Jane was stunned. She didn’t expect that April would really hit the mark, and indeed Charles proposed to give her half his company assets without her asking.

Jane might not have wanted it before, but now, in order to get revenge on Annie, she just contemplated a bit and then agreed.

Hearing that Jane didn't reject his intention, the smile on Charles face deepened a bit.

Jane didn't reject his kindness, which meant that she didn't repel him that much. In the future, she might be able to say that she accepted him as her father.

Charles, who was been thinking beautifully in his heart, didn't know that Jane accepted his kindness just to make Annie unhappy. As for the assets that Charles gave her, she would not use any of them..

To Jane's surprise, Charles really transferred the assets to her name before Annie appeared.
