

Mr. Warner Your Ex-Wife is Brilliant by Paula Chapter 373

Chapter 373

After leaving the cafe, they smiled and went their separate ways. Jane soon learned about their conversation.

Knowing that Courtney was willing to use Annie to break her and Drake apart, a coldness filled Jane's eyes. She wanted to see what other schemes Annie could come up with.

After reaching an agreement with Courtney, Annie went directly to Warner Group to find Drake. When Annie arrived, Drake initially refused to see her. However, she used the excuse that he cared about the most, and Drake had to meet her in the lounge.

"Speak, what do you want?" Drake appeared, his face cold as he looked at Annie.

Annie turned around to face Drake, her face no longer showing the admiration and flattery she used to have.

"Drake, I mentioned three things for you to agree to before. I will tell you who that woman is, and the third thing I want you to do is to divorce Jane. As long as you divorce her, I will immediately tell you who the person that accompanied you in your dark times, the White Moonlight, really is," Annie said.

"It's impossible," Drake immediately rejected without hesitation as soon as Annie's words fell.

Hearing Drake's response, Annie felt a jealous resentment. Why could Jane have Drake's deep love while she, who had planned for so long, ended up with nothing?

"Do you not want to know who that person is, who accompanied you through your dark times?" Annie's voice grew louder and somewhat hysterical,

Drake's face was dark and uncertain, but his attitude was firm. "Even if I can't find out, I won't agree to your request. Besides... you owe Jane, and it's time to settle that debt."

Hearing this, a bad feeling arose in Annie's heart. "Drake, what do you want to do?"

"Make you face the punishment you deserve." Drake's words were cold, and Annie trembled.

"What do you mean? If you dare to treat me like this, you'll never find out who that person is," Annie screamed in desperation.

She regretted coming to Drake today.

"I will find out," Drake coldly stated.

Because of Courtney's situation, Jane had been feeling down recently, even though she didn't express it out loud. Drake wanted to give her enough security, and dealing with Annie's matter should have been done long ago.

Feeling Drake's determination, Annie didn't dare to stay any longer and immediately turned to leave.

Drake didn't stop her and had his eyes on her. He wouldn't let her go.

Jane learned about Annie's arrest from Charles Carlton. Charles called her to ask if she had reported the incident and had Annie arrested by the police.

Then, Charles pleaded somewhat humbly, "Jane, Annie has done a lot of things that hurt you, but can you spare her for my sake? I promise I won't let her cause any more trouble in the future."

Hearing Charles's request, Jane was first stunned by the news of Annie's arrest, Then she replied coldly to Charles.

10 46

11.2

"It has nothing to do with me that she was arrested.

Hearing Jane's response, Charles also believed her. If Jane said she didn't do it, then she definitely didn't do it.

After some careful consideration, Charles knew who was behind Annie's arrest.

Jane also figured it out. It was probably Drake who did it.

After Annie and Courtney separated, Jane knew that Annie went to Warner Group, but she couldn't arrange for someone to follow her inside, so she wasn't aware of what Annie and Drake talked about. However, she saw that after Annie came out of Warner Group, she was arrested, so it was evident who was behind it.

After hanging up Charles's call, Jane called Drake to inquire about why he suddenly took action against Annie.

However, when the call connected, she didn't know how to start. Both of them held the phone in silence.

Then, it was Drake's low, magnetic voice that came first. "Why are you not speaking?"

"Have you finished work?" Jane asked.

"Yes, I'll be there soon. I'll pick you up at the company." Drake's deep and hoarse voice reached Jane's ears.

"Okay, I'll wait for you." After Jane finished speaking, she hung up the phone and waited for Drake to come and pick her up after work. She would ask him about everything in detail.

An hour later, Jane sat in Drake's car. The man was dressed in a decent suit, looking capable and exuding a hint of dominance.

After Jane got into the car, she hesitated for a moment before asking Drake about Annie.

Drake wasn't surprised by Jane's question and told her about Annie coming to find him and using that as a pretext to threaten him with divorce.

Drake always detested being threatened, and in his anger, he directly dealt with Annie.

Annie carried many secrets, not to mention the things she had done to harm Jane. Her involvement with the Reincarnation Path alone was enough to bring her a lot of trouble.

“Don’t worry; she won’t appear in front of you again from now on,” Drake assured Jane.

Jane felt a complicated emotion in her heart but was somewhat pleased. Jane’s words meant that he put her first.

“I will find a way to handle things with my mother; don’t worry,” Drake said lightly.

“Okay,” Jane nodded, not paying much attention to Courtney’s affairs.

Whether Courtney liked her or not didn’t matter. After all, she wasn’t living with her, and at most, she would avoid her during prope“$

After dealing with Annie‘

matte

home, her face was filled with a smile.

mood inexplicably improved. When she and Drake returned 10 46

Chapter 373

The three little ones also noticed Jane’s good mood, and their faces lit up. They had a delicious dinner as a family, and Jane and Drake spent some quality time with their children. When it was time, they all went to their rooms to rest.

Drake lifted Jane in his arms and carried her to their room. Tonight, she wouldn’t want to escape his embrace!

Mr. Warner Your Ex-Wife is Brilliant by Paula Chapter 374

Chapter 374

The next day, Jane woke up rubbing her waist, scolding a certain man's vigor. Her old waist almost broke because of him.

After a difficult morning routine and finishing breakfast, Jane went to the company again. As soon as she got into the car, she felt an unusual sensation, as if someone was staring at her.

She looked around but didn't find anything unusual, so she thought it was just her imagination.

At the office, the feeling of being watched disappeared, and Jane immersed herself in her work. At noon, another meeting was held, and when it was time for lunch, Jane ordered takeout.

The delivery arrived shortly, and Jane asked them to bring it directly to her office. Being busy with work, she left the takeout on the table and let the delivery person leave.

However, she didn't hear the delivery person leaving, which made her feel strange. When she looked up, she saw Mildred, wearing a delivery uniform, pulling out a dagger from behind and lunging at her.

Mildred's face was ferocious, and she was filled with strong resentment.
"Bitch, I'll kill you!"

Jane was momentarily stunned by Mildred's sudden action but quickly reacted and jumped away from her as she came closer.

Mildred adjusted her posture and continued her attack, but her movements were too intense. Although Jane knew some self-defense techniques, she could only barely avoid Mildred's attacks.

However, Mildred was getting older, and her movements were reckless and without any pattern, causing her to tire out quickly. Jane managed to restrain her.

Seeing Mildred, who was still unwilling to let go of the dagger and gasping for breath, Jane understood why she had done this. It was all because of Annie.

Sure enough, Mildred began to curse hysterically, “Bitch, it’s all your fault! You made my daughter lose everything and get arrested. Why don’t you just die...”

Mildred’s expression was agitated and sinister, and it seemed that she had reached her limit of hatred for Jane.

Jane’s face was also unpleasant. She restrained Mildred from behind and said coldly, “Your daughter brought this upon herself, and it has nothing to do with me.”

“You’re talking nonsense. If it weren’t for you, how could my daughter be rejected by Drake? It’s all your fault. Since you’ve left, why did you come back? If you hadn’t returned, none of this would have happened today!”

“Give me back my daughter! You’re a complete murderer!”

Mildred cursed furiously, tears streaming down her face. Looking at her in this state, Jane thought of her own mother, who would also make any sacrifice for her sake.

After feeling sympathy for Mildred, Jane composed herself. She could sympathize with Mildred’s situation, but that didn’t mean she would forgive her actions.

The police arrived at the company, and Mildred’s emotions were still running high. She continued to hurl curses at Jane with all kinds of nasty words.

Fortunately, it was lunchtime, and there weren’t many people around, and the whole company

10 46

Mr Warner, Your Ex–wife is Brilliant

182.8%

already belonged to Jane, so no one dared to gossip behind her back.

Charles also arrived upon receiving the news, with a pale face and a weary look. He asked Jane if she was hurt, and upon learning that she was unharmed, he walked up to Mildred.

He opened his mouth, but no words came out. His eyes were filled with loneliness and sadness.

Mildred cried and looked at Charles, her heart heavy with pain. "Husband, I want to see Annie. Please find a way to save her."

Upon hearing this, Charles sighed helplessly, unable to say anything.

Although Annie was at fault, she was still his daughter, and he didn't want anything to happen to her. However, things had reached this point, and there was little he could do.

Unfortunately, Mildred's actions made Charles feel guilty towards Jane, and his heart was heavy.

In the end, he didn't say anything and let the police take Mildred away.

Jane was somewhat surprised. She thought that Charles would plead with her to spare Mildred, but unexpectedly, he didn't say a word.

That was fine too, so she wouldn't have to deal with the awkward situation.

"Jane, I'm sorry!" After Mildred was taken away, Charles came to Jane and apologized with guilt.

"It's my fault for not controlling them, allowing them to hurt you repeatedly."

Despite feeling heavy-hearted about what happened today, Charles still understood that he shouldn't have asked Jane to spare Mildred.

Everyone must bear the consequences of their choices.

"You don't need to tell me this. Their choices have nothing to do with you," Jane said truthfully.

Mildred and Annie's actions aside, Charles was still a reasonable person.

When Drake arrived after hearing the news, everything was already settled. Mildred was directly detained, and after the evidence was collected and the investigation was completed, she was likely to face imprisonment.

Jane didn't expect that, in such a short period, the Warner family would become like this because of her.

But this was also karma. Everything was a result of Annie's own actions.

After Drake arrived, he anxiously asked Jane if she was hurt. Once he learned that she was unharmed, he finally breathed a sigh of relief.

"Even with Cold Shadow around you, things like this can still happen. It seems that the security measures are not enough," Drake said as he caressed Jane's chin, still feeling worried.

"Cold Shadow is a bodyguard and part-time driver. He can't be with me twenty-four hours a day. Besides, today was an accident. Don't worry too much," Jane replied nonchalantly. She felt that today's incident happened because she was careless; otherwise, Mildred wouldn't have had the chance to draw her knife.

"I should tie you to my side, Drake murmured softly. He couldn't help but feel anxious when he thought that without her, his life would be bleak and empty.

10 46

Mr Wamer Your Bravifele Billiant.

183.0

Chapter

"Hey, it's not that serious. Let go, let me go!" Jane struggled to break free from his embrace. She couldn't stand being held by him like this.

"Don't move, let me hold you." Drake held Jane tightly and refused to let go.

This was the first time he had such an intimate embrace with her in her office, and it gave him a different feeling.

“Drake...” Sensing his rapid breath, Jane knew what he was thinking. She struggled more intensely.

The next moment, her red lips were covered, and she couldn't make any sound. She could only endure Drake's overbearing and fiery kiss.

After a while, Jane was gasping for breath, and Drake finally let her go. He looked at her lying in his arms, delicate and beautiful, and couldn't help but laugh.

“It's been so long, and you still can't hold your breath. Useless!”

Hearing the man's teasing, Jane was displeased. He was always taking the initiative to kiss her, and now he had the nerve to criticize her?

(3)

Mr. Warner Your Ex-Wife is Brilliant by Paula Chapter 375

Chapter 375

After a moment of intimacy, Jane gently pushed Drake away.

“We're still at the company, don't act recklessly,” Jane said, stepping out of his embrace.

As the soft and fragrant warmth receded, Drake felt a little disappointed, but he refrained from taking advantage of the situation.

“You're not going back to the company?” Jane glanced at the time. It was still early, and he didn't seem like he was planning to leave anytime soon. Did he want to stay with her all afternoon?

“I'm not going back, I'll keep you company.” Drake picked up the pen on Jane's desk. His slender fingers made the pen spin gracefully between them, creating a beautiful sight.

Jane was attracted by his long fingers and couldn't help but express her surprise. “You can spin pens too? Not bad.”

Seeing Jane's eager gaze, Drake felt quite pleased and pulled her into his embrace once again.

"I can do many things you don't know about," he said with a deep, magnetic voice, his words gently settling into Jane's heart.

After her heart fluttered, Jane calmed down the excitement he stirred in her and snorted softly. "Hmph, smooth talker." Although she said he was a smooth talker, her heart was filled with sweetness.

Finally, she had won Drake's heart, and from now on, he belonged to her.

"Alright, you can stay here if you want, but please don't disturb me while I'm working. I still have a lot of things to handle," Jane said, trying to hide her heart's turmoil from Drake. She quickly shuffled a pile of documents in front of her, preparing to continue her work.

"I'll help you," Drake said. Instead of leaving, he continued to embrace her, sliding his arms under her armpits and placing them on the pile of documents.

They seemed ready to work in this position for the rest of the afternoon.

Jane blushed; this was too embarrassing. If someone found out, she'd be so embarrassed.

But Drake didn't let go, and she couldn't break free. She was forced to work in this position, with the man's scorching breath spraying on her neck, making it impossible for her to concentrate.

After finally managing to focus on the documents, Drake made another small move, making her keenly aware of the man behind her.

The whole afternoon was extremely difficult for Jane, and Drake wasn't feeling any better. Holding the soft and fragrant beauty in his arms, he struggled to maintain composure and endure the longing.

Finally, they made it to the end of the workday, and Jane immediately got up and left the company with Drake.

In the car, with Drake at the wheel, Jane couldn't help but ask about Marina.

"What are you planning to do with Marina?"

Mildred's attempted murder this time was still due to Annie's arrest. If Annie hadn't caused trouble, none of this would have happened. The mastermind behind all this was still Marina.

Chapter 375

"What do you think we should do?" Drake asked back. Apart from disgust, he had no feelings towards Marina. As long as Jane had a preference, he would handle it accordingly.

"People like her won't stop until they've tasted the bitterness." Jane's voice was cold. A woman like Marina didn't deserve any sympathy.

"Alright." Drake nodded.

"I will arrange for someone to deal with it." Drake didn't want to be involved with Marina, so he would naturally leave it to someone else to handle such a minor matter.

What surprised them was that before they could act, Courtney brought Marina to attend an important event. Courtney was seen holding Marina's hand, appearing friendly and cordial, and the media caught them on camera.

Previously, there were rumors about Marina and Drake, and now with Courtney personally bringing her to such an occasion, the rumors escalated.

During the interviews, reporters asked Courtney about his attitude towards Marina and her identity. Courtney smiled and said that Marina was the daughter-in-law he had set his eyes on.

This statement further fueled the speculation, and the media headlines were full of reports. Although Jane had given birth to Drake's child, she still hadn't received recognition as the legitimate

Mrs. Warner.

When Drake heard the news, his face turned dark. He had ordered people to deal with Marina, but before they could take action, this happened. If he acted now, it would attract even more media attention.

Helplessly, he could only instruct his subordinates to hold off for now.

After hearing the news of Drake's phone call, Courtney had already guessed that Drake would come to her.

After the phone call connected, Courtney greeted affectionately, "Drake..."

"What have you done?" Drake's voice was cold, and he questioned her sharply.

Hearing Drake's tone, Courtney knew he was angry, but when she thought of what she had done, she felt justified and confident.

"What can I do? Everything I did was for the future of the Warner family..."

"Alright, since that's the case, I'll hand the Warner family back to you." Drake's voice was icy, and Courtney sensed that something was wrong. She became anxious.

"Drake, what are you planning to do?"

However, Drake had already hung up the phone, leaving Courtney feeling uneasy.

After hanging up Courtney's call, Drake called Daniel Turner and asked him to arrange a press conference. He wanted to announce that he was stepping down as the CEO of the Warner Corporation and would never take over the company in the future.

Upon hearing Drake's command, Daniel was stunned and looked at him in disbelief.

"Sir, are you...?" Daniel wanted to dissuade him, but also wanted to clarify what exactly was going on. "Do as I command," Drake said indifferently.

1026

Mr Warner Your

Chapter 375

Although Daniel was full of doubts, as a subordinate, he could only follow Drake's instructions.

Courtney, who had been hanging up on by Drake, felt uneasy. It didn't take long for rumors to swirl that he was leaving Warner Group and suddenly everything seemed out of her control. She was stunned.

She tried calling Drake numerous times, but no one answered. Courtney had to go to the company to find Drake.