Chapter 111

Chapter 111

A huge star at Mabel's level rarely gave others her contact information. However, Emma actually had her contact.

By then, everyone was even more willing to believe that Emma could really invite Mabel.

Emma picked up her phone and dialed Mabel's number. She even put it on speaker.

Mabel's voice was extremely excited when she received the call from Emma.

Those who did not know better would think that their identities were reversed.

"Miss... Miss Emma!" Mabel sounded very excited.

Emma was calm. "Hi Mabel."

"Hello, Miss Fuller." Emma's voice. "Entertainment now. Is it convenient for you to come over?"

Mabel answered, "Yes, of course!"

Emma had always been Mabel's idol because of her designs.

The last time they met, Mabel and Emma had exchanged their contact information. Emma said that she wanted to customize something for her.

Although she was flattered, Mabel did not dare to disturb Emma by taking the initiative to call her.

Mabel had been silently looking forward to the day when Emma would take the initiative to contact her. She didn't expect it to happen so soon. She was overjoyed and naturally would not decline. "I'm coming over now. Miss Wilson, please wait for me for a moment!"

After hanging up, Emma saw the expressions of everyone in the office change. Even Edric was in disbelief.

Not long after, Mabel brought her team over. Not only her but also her agent and lawyer.

She was obviously here to sign a contract.

When the executive director saw Mabel, his eyes widened.

He stood up and shook Mabel's hand. "Miss Fuller, it's a pleasure to meet you!"

Mabel smiled politely at him. Soon, she looked at Emma. "Miss Emma, this is my team! If you have any requests, feel free to ask!"

Edric felt as if he had just eaten a mouthful of st.

He had worked hard for ten years and done many dirty things, but he had not been able to turn Celia into a Diva like Mabel. On the other hand, Emma could get Mabel to work with her with just a simple call.

As expected, Mabel signed a contract with the production team of Bell at a half price as Emma promised.

Originally, Mabel wanted to bring her pay even lower, but the executive director could not stand it anymore and tried his best to pay her as much as possible.

After leaving the agency, Emma said to Mabel, "Celia is in trouble. The production team can't find anyone more suitable than you. Thank you for your help this time."

Mabel said, "Don't mention it! The production team of Bells is well-made, not to mention that I can work with Mr.

Rivera. I am looking forward to it."

Emma knew that she had not chosen the wrong person. “You helped us, so I will return the favor to you.”

Emma said as she gave her a business card, “I’ve already started making the clothes that I’ve customized for you. Go to this address and get them in a month. There are ten pieces in total!”

Mabel thought that she had heard wrongly. She thought, ‘Ten pieces of customized clothes made by Youth! I thought I would get a couple at best. After all, no one in this country has been able to get one before.

The clothes designed by Emma were very valuable. Mabel did not hesitate to accept the acting job for low pay because she wanted to get just a piece that was designed by Emma. However, she did not expect Emma to gift her with ten. She would have enough to wear for the next year.

She asked, “Miss Wilson... Isn’t ten too many?”

Emma smiled. “It’s not much. It’s fine. Take them. I like you.”

Emma’s personality had always been like this. She was very honest with her feelings. She would never show mercy to those who disrespected her. However, she would never let those who helped her suffer.

The news of Emma inviting Mabel to the crew team of Bell quickly reached Liam.

At night, Emma hummed a little tune as she took a bath. From the bathroom window, she saw the Rolls-Royce that had returned early downstairs.

Liam got out of the car and walked to the bedroom directly. Then, he opened the bathroom door and saw Emma with her hair in a bun.

“Welcome...” Before she could finish her sentence, Liam kissed her on the lips.

Since Emma's classmates knew that Emma had signed up for the competition, they knew that they were not able to get the slot and decided to go with the flow.

Although Emma had her period today, with her physical strength, it was not a problem for her to deal with a few ordinary students.

At the swimming pool of Vark College, Emma changed into a swimsuit. She followed the contestants to the pool.

They thought that they would be competing in swimming today, however, the examiner suddenly changed the rules. "Today's swimming competition will be changed to a water ball competition!"

Chapter 112

No one had expected the entry test to suddenly change from swimming to water ball.

The water ball was known as soccer on water.

It is a combination of swimming, dodgeball, and basketball.

The water ball competition was not easy. Many people had never played water ball before.

Emma had a calm expression.

Someone had heard of her and wanted to team up with her.

A person asked, "Emma, can I be on your team?"

Another person asked, "Emma, I also want to be on your team."

Emma was kind. Other people were very picky about which team to be on. She accepted everyone who came to ask her. Emma became the captain.

"Emma, why don't you filter your team members... There are a few people in your team who are famous sick and weak. With them around, what if we are eliminated in the first round?" A girl on Emma's team was very athletic and gave her advice.

Emma looked around. Just now, she had a rough idea of the strength of everyone here. So far, she had not seen anyone who could barely compete with her.

Emma said, "Don't worry. With the two of us working together, we can carry even the most ordinary people."

The competition was about to begin.

Emma was unlucky. In the first round, she had to face a team filled with all student athletes. Her team members were all panicking.

Only Emma remained calm. Following the command, she quickly dived into the water like an agile black shark, seizing control of the competition without anyone knowing.

The other team yelled, "Defend! Stop her!"

"Emma, give me the ball!" Emma teamed up with the athletic girl and scored a goal in just a few minutes.

When the participants on the side of the pool saw this scene, they could not help but exclaim.

Someone said, "That girl in the black swimsuit is amazing!"

Another said, "She's Vark College's celebrity. She's Mr. Rivera's niece!"

Then someone else exclaimed, "Oh my God! She scored again!"

Emma was outstanding. Although she was still on her period, it did not affect her performance at all.

Her slender body shuttled through the water with a slam. She made a goal again.

The people from the other team started to be vigilant.

Originally, they had not taken Vark College's team seriously. However, Emma was too powerful.

"You guys, focus on her!" With the adjustment of strategy, Emma quickly became the target of all opponents.

The members of Emma did their best to clear a path for her.

However, the female students who were usually focused on studying lacked exercise and were helpless against those student-athletes.

On average, they were about six inches shorter than their opponents.

Emma was soon besieged.

She swam quickly with the ball, but at this moment, something disgusting happened.

As Emma was swimming in the front, a big opponent suddenly pressed down on her.

Emma was submerged under the water, unable to breathe.

That girl's torso and thighs were riding on Emma's slender neck. As she rode, she swam forward. She looked like she was over 150 pounds. Emma's center of gravity shifted and she choked on a few mouthfuls of saliva.

She raised her hand to indicate to the referee that this opponent had committed a foul, but the referee did not notice this.

Someone on the shore complained, "Fuck, isn't this a foul? Referee!"

By the time the referee noticed it, the girl had already gotten off Emma.

The ball was also maliciously snatched away by them.

At this moment, Emma regained her breath. She saw the opponent smiling provocatively at her.

That gaze seemed to be saying, "What's the use of you being powerful alone? I want to exhaust your stamina and see you become useless soon next!"

11:49 Fri, 12 Jul

Emma was maliciously pressed underwater for more than 20 seconds and had a strong feeling of suffocation. If it were anyone else, they might have already had their windpipe filled with water and their stamina exhausted. They would not be able to continue the competition at all.

However, Emma's stamina was outstanding and she remained unaffected.

She thought, 'The game has just begun. You have infuriated me!'

Emma did not flip out at this critical moment. Instead, she vented all her anger on the competition.

Someone on the side said, "Referee, someone just committed a foul."

Another person added, "That's right!"

The judge stammered, "Really? I was just keeping score. I didn't see it."

Everyone said, "We all saw it! Someone from the student-athlete team rode on a contestant from the team of Vark College!"

The referee's gaze was fleeting, and he was a little uneasy.

However, in order to maintain peace, he laughed and said, "Then I'll watch it carefully next. You guys have to Supervise it well."

These students were young and many of them were fans of Emma.

a

When the referee actually turned a blind eye to this situation, all of them were very angry.

They all felt that there was something fishy going on, but they didn't know where to start.

They could only be indignant and cheer for Emma.

At this moment, Emma had already gone crazy.

She quickly found the evil girl who had just ridden on her.

Her gaze was like a cold stone from a glacier, cold and determined.

With a dash, she snatched the ball and swam forward. She slammed and made another goal.

Her initial performance was already shocking, however, Emma's current state was simply terrifying.

The other team pulled up a human wall to guard her tightly. In the end, the defense turned out to be useless. No one could withstand Emma's attack.

When Emma's teammates saw the score catching their morale was boosted.

Chapter 112

Although they were physically weak, they were a group of smart people.

After a few rounds, they gradually got the hang of this game.

They would use the water waves to cause some interference to the other team.

Although they could not score, they could help Emma.

Soon, Emma's team won with 15 points. Out of 15 points, 13 points were earned by Emma alone.

The people from the other team were shocked.

They thought, 'Who is this girl? Not only was she not injured after being ridden in the water for so long, but she also displayed a shocking performance that made people terrified. She is pretty much a one-person team.'

With such a huge disparity in strength, even if the referee wanted to side with the other team, he had no choice.

In the first round, Emma's team won.

As the captain, Emma received 20 points.

After leaving the arena, all the participants changed their clothes in the backstage.

The people from the other team naturally didn't feel good about losing the competition. They closed the door and gossiped about Emma.

Someone said, "Fuck, is that woman on drugs? Why is she so good?"

Another person said, "Damn it, could she be a man actually?"

As the tall girls were talking, someone suddenly said, "I felt it earlier when I was riding her. Her boobs were quite big..."

"Slap!" However, before she could finish speaking, someone rushed in from outside and slapped her hard on the face.

The woman screamed and fell to the ground.

Emma had yet to change her clothes. Under her long black hair, she was wearing a black bathrobe.

Her aura was strong and cold.

Her gaze was like a torch, making one unable to look straight at her.

Chapter 113

Chapter 113

At this moment, Emma looked like a goddess of darkness from the legends.

Originally, she was a commander leading an army.

As soon as she released her aura, these students were all stunned.

Emma said, "I was focused on the competition just now and didn't slap you on the spot. I want to slap you and teach you a lesson."

The girl got up from the ground. For some reason, she did not dare to resist and burst in to tears.

Someone in her team wanted to speak up for her, but before she could speak, she was glared at by Emma and fell silent.

Emma asked, "You are all student-athletes. Don't you even have the most basic sportsmanship? Let me tell you, I only slapped you because I don't want to ruin your future since you're still young! You have held me in the water for 17 seconds, I can sue you for attempted murder!"

At the mention of the murder, someone panicked.

A person said, "Isn't it just a competition? Roxanne just made a mistake. How could it be considered murder? Is there a need to exaggerate?"

Someone else said, "That's right. You've already won. What's there to be dissatisfied about?"

Another person said, "You're too fragile!"

Emma sneered.

Some people had double standards. They were very strict with others and morally coerced them, but they were extremely lenient with themselves. There was almost no moral bottom line to speak of.

"You guys have lost both the competition and life. How embarrassing." With that, Emma turned around and left.

However, at this moment, something flew towards her,

She quickly dodged.

The student-athletes in the female changing room were restless. They wanted to surround and attack Emma. However, Emma raised her hand and counterattacked. She threw the water ball back with a bang. The wooden cabinet in the changing room instantly split into two.

Everyone was dumbfounded when they saw the cracked wooden cabinet.

The ball was just a soft object made of leather and rubber. Although it was quite heavy and would hurt when it hit a person, it had broken the cabinet after Emma threw it at it. Everyone was shocked by Emma's strength. The group of girls who were about to gang up on Emma swallowed their saliva. In an instant, they retreated. The thought of attacking Emma was also completely given up.

They watched her leave in a daze.

After the water ball competition, half of the contestants in the summer camp were eliminated. The remaining people arrived at the second stage, the intellect competition. The students from Vark College were good at this one.

However, they also had a strong opponent, the Woodland Highschool which was famous nationally. There were many famous students in this school.

Bob Ball also signed up for the competition this year.

Bob had just finished competing in the water ball competition. He had also led his team to a complete victory.

Now that he had just changed her clothes, his black hair and smooth skin had caused a commotion among the girls.

Through the crowd, Bob had already seen Emma.

He also saw Emma's heaven-defying performance in the water ball competition.

Emma's classmate said, "Emma, you have a high IQ. This second round should be easier than the first."

Someone else said, "That's right. There are so many people present. Other than Woodland and High School's Bob who is on par with Emma, the others are all inferior to her."

Emma asked, "Bob? He's here today too?"

Her classmate said, "No way! Didn't you see such a handsome man standing there?"

Emma went to settle the score with the woman who was riding on her right after the match. She only saw Bob at this moment.

Bob's obsidian-like eyes met hers, and he smiled politely and nodded at her.

Emma smiled back.

Her half-wet black hair fell on both sides of her shoulders, accentuating her pretty skin and red lips. Her face was like a painting.

She was so beautiful that the boys around Bob blushed and lowered their heads.

At this moment, a teacher announced the rules, "The rules of the second stage are to test your memory and observation skills. I'll give each team twenty pieces of paper in advance. You have to memorize all the items on the paper as soon as possible. Then, let the opposing team draw the paper. Under the circumstances where you can't look, you have to guess what the other party draws. The group with the best guess wins!"

The moment the rules were announced, all the participants were shocked.

Someone said, "Fuck, what kind of abnormal assessment is this?"

Another person said, "Do they expect us to have x-ray vision or mind-reading skills? How can I guess which piece of

I paper the other party draws?"

Someone else said, "I don't think this is a problem that can be solved with x-ray vision. This is simply asking us to predict the future and tell fortunes!"

Other than those who complained, there were top students who began to use mathematical modeling to calculate the probability.

However, the teacher said, "You're welcome to use all kinds of theoretical tools, but don't forget that this is a test of your observation skills."

After saying that, he pointed at a classmate who was just talking. "This student is right. In short, it's mind-reading!"

Emma's teammates were having a headache.

Someone said, "I thought that the second stage would be easier. This arrangement right now is simply having us compete on our luck!"

However, what was worse was that Emma had drawn Woodland High as their opponent in this draw.

Although she did not have to compete against Bob, the team she drew was not inferior to Bob's.

All of them were gold medal winners of the Mathematical Olympiad. They were like the dream team.

Emma's teammates were about to cry.

Someone said, "Emma, what should we do now? Why did we have to face Woodland High... How unlucky!"

Another person said, "Believe in Emma! Emma, do you have any plans?"

Emma shook her head. "I hadn't thought of that."

At this moment, someone behind Emma immediately burst into sarcastic laughter.

Those female athletes walked out of the changing room and saw this scene.

One of them said, "I thought you were quite good. I didn't expect you to be soon defeated in the second round!"

Another person said, "So what if she beats us? She still a idiot who will be eliminated!"

"You guys!" The students beside Emma stood in front of Emma and glared at them.

The two sides were in a deadlock.

Emma said lightly, "I've never seen anyone so arrogant after losing a match. If I didn't know better, I would have thought that you guys had just won the match. If I'm an idiot, you're worse than me. Then what are you?"

"You!" They gritted their teeth in anger.

However, they did not dare to hit or scold Emma. They could only curse, “You only dare to speak to us this way. Let’s see how miserable you will lose later!”

Emma could not be bothered with them. At this moment, the teacher sent out 20 notes for their team.

Emma quickly browsed through them and immediately memorized them.

After ten seconds, the note was put into the box.

A member of her team was so anxious that tears were about to fall. “What should I do? I feel like my mind is blank when I put away the notes. I can’t remember anything! I don’t even know what’s on the notes. How am I supposed to guess later?”

Emma comforted her, “Don’t panic. I’ve memorized everything.”

Everyone looked at Emma with admiration

Someone said, “Oh my god, Emma, you really remember all of them?”

Emma said, “There’s a way to memorize things. I’ll teach you when I have the chance in the future.”

Everyone cheered, “That’s great!”

Emma memorized all of the notes and pushed the cardboard box in front of the captain of the Woodland High team. “Are you going to guess first or are we going to guess first?”

After all, the opponents came from a hundred-year-old famous school. The opposing team leader was very polite. “Ladies first. You guys can start.”

Emma did not hold back. In any case, it didn't make much of a difference because she was sure that she was going to win.

Emma casually drew a red note.

After reading the content clearly, she said, "You can guess

now."

Before he could guess, he was first charmed by her beautiful and aggressive peach blossom eyes and almost admitted defeat.

Everyone could only ask one question,

That captain looked at Emma's face and asked, "Is it food?"

Emma shook her head.

He asked again, "It's... a pencil?"

The opposing team leader did not have any psychological knowledge and did not know how to read microexpressions. It was obvious that he was guessing blindly.

He was obviously going to lose.

Emma showed the note to them. "It's a cup. Let us make the next guess."

Although they had roughly guessed that they would lose this round, when their points were really deducted, these top students from Woodland High School still felt a little uncomfortable.

However, there was nothing they could do. This game was too difficult.

Not only them, but almost everyone in the other teams was in the same situation. They had to guess blindly and see if they were lucky in the end.

However, Emma was different. Having studied military psychology, criminal psychology, and microexpressions, she knew very well how to induce the answer.

Emma said, "Please take out a piece of blue paper." The members did as they were told.

Chapter 114

Emma turned around and said, "Please look at the content of the paper."

The other party checked.

Now Emma turned around. "Look me in the eye, please."

This time, the boy was calmer. When he met Emma's eyes, his pupils focused.

Emma said, "You were holding a blue note. The blue paper only contained daily necessities. Now, think about that thing you just got."

The boy's face was expressionless, but he blinked and pursed his lips.

Emma immediately deduced, "The thing on that piece of paper is very dangerous, right?"

Emma saw the surprise in the boy's eyes at first, then he hesitated for a moment before nodding

She said, "It's a blade. Next."

The moment Emma guessed it, both teams were dumbfounded,

Someone said, "Emmal How did you do it? Quickly teach me!"

The teacher was right. One couldn't calculate mathematical formulas to get high points in this round. Microexpression psychology was a very complicated thing. If one did not have the basics and the habit of observing people, it would be too late to start learning now.

Emma said, "I've memorized all the different colors of the note just now. Blue and yellow are daily necessities, red is food, and white is names for places. When I asked him to imagine the object just now, his eyes told me it was something hard. Only the knives in the blue note are dangerous. When I asked him if they were, the shock on his face told me I'd been right. He hesitated because he was wondering if he should lie. But whether he lied or not doesn't matter, because I've already confirmed that the item on the note was a knife."

However, it was obvious that this person finally answered Emma's question honestly.

After Emma's team made the first guess correctly, the other teams felt pressured.

At this moment, a white-haired but energetic old man walked into the venue to watch the students compete.

He was Leroy Quinn who was a famous educator in TroIn City.

This summer camp was organized by him to select outstanding talents for his organization.

He immediately saw the only girl who had scored.

Emma had a calm expression on his face. The way she carefully explained to her classmates instantly left a deep impression on Leroy.

He asked, "Who's the girl?"

"She is Emma Wilson from Vark College. She's today's star!" The teachers in charge of observing the competition said.

Leroy nodded. Soon, he looked in another direction because someone had scored again.

On this side, another team from Woodland High School scored.

Through his observation, Bob had guessed the note in the other party's hand.

He became the second person to score on the field, causing a wave of cheers.

When Bob turned around, he happened to meet Leroy's eyes.

He nodded respectfully. "Mr. Quinn."

Leroy said, "Bob, it's good to see you participate. Your performance is very good!"

Bob was TroIn City's famous genius.

Among his peers, he was the most outstanding.

Leroy cherished talents and naturally liked Bob very much. The last time he saw such a smart person was ten years ago. It was when he first met Liam.

He said to Bob in a daze, "Bob, you're observant and calm. You must take after your uncle's strong personality."

When Bob heard Liam, his eyes involuntarily darkened. "I am in no way possible to be compared to Liam..."

Leroy smiled and encouraged him.

Bob couldn't help but look at Emma who was at the other end of the crowd.

She was facing him sideways. Her nose bridge was high, and she had already scored the third point.

The other team of Woodland High was badly defeated by Emma.

"The item on your not is soft, right?" Emma was still asking questions. As long as she got another point, Vark College would definitely win.

However, at this moment, the other party said, "I'm not sure if it's soft. It can be said to be soft, but it can also be said to be hard."

A boy laughed.

This answer was equivalent to not answering.

Anyone with a discerning eye could tell that this person was passively facing the competition to fool Emma. It was quite shameless of him.

Emma's teammates immediately panicked.

Someone asked, "What are you doing? What do you mean it can be soft and hard? Just give a definitive answer!"

Another person added, "That's right. Why are you acting this way? If you can't afford to lose, why did you join the competition? You are despicable."

The few boys on the other team wanted to retaliate.

One boy teased, "Girl, have you taken biology class? Don't you know that something can be soft sometimes and hard at other times? I figured, you are still too long. You will know once you experience more things in this world!"

The surrounding crowd roared with laughter.

When the girls who had spoken up for Emma saw their wretched smiles, they immediately realized what the boys.

meant and blushed. "You are shameless!"

The boy said, "So I see you paid attention in biology class."

"Enough!" Emma's face was cold.

She had not intended to make a fuss about it.

Although the other party was passive and shameless, that was a problem with his character.

However, sexual harassment was a little too much.

Emma's face was as cold as ice as she threw away the notebook in her hand. "If you don't want to compete properly, then don't. Get over here and apologize!"

"Emma..." The two students who were teased were a little flattered. "Why don't we forget it? It wasn't easy for you. to win so smoothly. It's fine for us to suffer a little."

"Competition is competition. Harassment is harassment. Apologize!" Emma's last word was very imposing.

The few p e r r e d boys opposite her were stunned for a moment. They were really shocked by her.

“What happened?” At this moment, a cold and gentle voice sounded.

“Bob!” When the boys saw Bob, it was as if they had seen a leader.

Bob was the genius idol of Woodland High School.

When he appeared, his peers would more or less follow his lead.

Someone said, “Bob, we’re competing and had a conflict with the girl from Vark College.”

Another person said, “Bob, Vark College’s Emma is bullying us just because she is winning.”

Someone else said, “Bob, defeat her!”

Emma sneered and repeated what the male students had just said. “It’s one thing for you to cheat in the competition, but my teammates are all students who are slightly younger than you. You guys sexually harassed girls in public, so I asked you to apologize. How is that bullying?”

When Bob heard what Emma had just said, his brows were tightly furrowed.

Bob asked, “Is what she said true? Did you really say those words?”

A boy said, “Bob... We were just joking!”

Bob did not allow any explanation. “There has to be a limit to jokes. You guys are passive in the competition and. said such terrible things. It’s correct for Emma to ask you to apologize.””

“But...” The boy still wanted to say something, but Bob shot him a look. “Or do you want me to go to the teacher and disqualify you from the competition?”

The boys instantly fell silent.

They trusted Bob, and they didn’t want the teacher to find out about this.

Gritting their teeth, they could only brace themselves and walk to Emma. “I’m sorry!”

Emma said. "Don't apologize to me. Apologize to them!"

The two girls beside Emma had just been harassed.

The boys lined up and apologized to them.

The two girls held their breaths. They had indeed never been bullied like this since they were young

However, Emma had helped them and saved their dignity.

They were so touched that tears welled up in their eyes.

The results of the second round were soon announced.

Emma's team had undoubtedly won. She had a total of nine points.

Bob's team also scored 8 points under Bob's lead..

All the other teams had zero points.

Emma's team had successfully advanced. It was undoubtedly a slap in the face to the female student athletes who had mocked them at the beginning.

They could only watch helplessly as Emma got the medal and strode past them.

"Congratulations to your two teams for successfully entering our training camp this year! Those who can be selected are the most outstanding students from all schools. However, the only ones who can obtain the final reward are the outstanding camp members of the final evaluation! So, please continue to work hard!" As soon as the teacher finished speaking, the students who had been successfully selected cheered.

Someone in Emma's team said, "Wow! That's great! We have got in!"

Someone else said, "Emma, you're really amazing! Long live Emma!"

Emma didn't hear them clearly and said, "What do you mean?"

A girl explained, "Miss Wilson, you look so cute when you're like this!"

Another team member laughed.

One was Ida McKinney, who was a grade lower than Emma. The other was the senior who was a year older than her, Lane Kemp.

The three girls had fought side by side several times and developed deep bonds. That night, Ida, Lane, and Emma were all assigned to the same dormitory room.

After the three girls checked in, they saw the fourth girl in the dormitory.

It was Abby Robson from Woodland High School,

This was because she was the only girl who had advanced in the team of Woodland High.

Due to her good looks, she was taken care of by quite a number of her male peers during the competition.

There were even people who voluntarily withdrew during the selection process and gave the spot of Bob's team, which had a higher chance of winning, to Abby.

In other words, Abby had entered the camp with the help of her good looks.

Of course, Abby knew that Emma was an outstanding candidate.

As soon as Emma entered, she leaned over. "Emma! You're really outstanding and amazing! Today, everyone is saying that a girl from Vark College is very pretty and impressive. As soon as I see you, I know it's you."

As soon as Abby finished speaking, Emma, Ida, and Lane felt a little awkward.

It was their first time meeting Abby.

Abby only praised Emma and made it awkward for the other two girls.

Fortunately, Ida and Lane were open-minded and were not affected by Abby's words.

“Emma is indeed very powerful. Many boys in our school are wooing her!” Lane was more mature and could tell what Abby was thinking. She could also see that Abby had been sticking to Bob today, and her eyes were filled with admiration.

Hence, Lane deliberately said, “Not only that, Emma is also very close to Bob from your school. The last time Emma was injured, it was Bob who personally carried her to the hospital and stayed with her before she woke up!”

As expected, after Lane finished speaking, Abby’s eyes burned with jealousy.

She thought, ‘D a m n it! As the prettiest girl in Woodland High, everyone knows that I like Bob. However, Bob never paid any attention to me, let alone carry me to the hospital.

Of course, Emma knew that Abby was not an innocent girl, but she did not mind her.

As long as she did not provoke her, Emma would not feel bothered by her words and actions.

“Everyone is outstanding for being selected. We should get some rest. Wash up and sleep” Emma replied and turned around to take a shower

“Hey, Emma!” At this moment, Abby walked forward. “Tomorrow, everyone’s muscles are sore from the water ball competition brought Ana imported bath all from home. We should all use it to massage ourselves later”

I

Ida’s jaw dropped when she saw the bottle of bath oil. “Wow! I know this brand. It’s so expensive & bottle cost thousands of dollars! Are you really... willing to share it with us?”

Abby smiled sweetly. “We’ll be roommates in the summer camp. We should take good care of each other”

Ida was instantly touched. “Abby, you’re really too generous!”

However, Lane pulled her back and whispered, “She’s suspiciously solicitous. She must be up to something! Be careful that she might poison you!”

Emma looked at the can of bath oil but did not take it. “I am good, thanks.” After saying that, Emma went to take a shower.

After Emma finished showering, the second person to shower was Ida.

I

Halfway through, Ida suddenly shouted outside, “Abby, I want to use your bath oil!”

Lane frowned. “Ida, don’t use other people’s things!”

Abby only smiled and opened the bath oil. “If you’re worried, you can take a look first.”

Emma took a quick look. There was indeed no problem.

“Ida, do you want to use it?” Emma asked.

Ida asked, “Can... Cani, Emma?”

“Sure,” Emma said.

Ida said, “Then, Emma, help me pass it over.”

“Okay.” Abby gave the bath oil to Emma. Emma sent it to the shower.

However, in less than a minute, Ida’s heart wrenching scream suddenly came from the bathroom.

sat happened?” Emma immediately rushed in to take a look. However, the scene in front of her shocked her, even though she was used to all kinds of disasters.

Ida’s body and face were covered in dense black worms.

She said, “Emma, help, help! So many bugs, so many bugs are biting me! It hurts!”

Ida was in pain and itchy. Her skin was bitten in many places, causing it to bleed and swell. She was almost disfigured.

When those bugs saw blood, they sucked it with all their might, making one’s scalp tingle.

Emma frowned deeply. She could tell at a glance that these lice were not ordinary lice, but poisonous insects that could suck blood. They could even lay eggs in the human body, causing the skin to fester.

When Lane saw this scene, she screamed in fear, "How, how could this be? What should we do?"

"There are too many bugs. We need to call an ambulance. We need to wash Ida down first," Emma said calmly.

"Okay, okay." Lane was naturally willing to help Ida.

However, when she saw the hundreds and thousands of blood-sucking poisonous insects and Ida's entire face and skin were ruined, Lane was terrified

Humans were born to be afraid of poisonous insects. Besides, she was a girl who was afraid of insects.

Abby had fainted from fear.

Lane was also so scared that she stood rooted to the ground.

Emma could understand that ordinary people would definitely panic when they saw such a scene. However, Ida was still screaming. In a moment of desperation, she had to do it herself. "I'll take it from here. You call an ambulance."

Lane said, "Okay, Emma... Then you, you have to be careful!"

"Yeah." Emma looked serious.

She had experience dealing with poisonous insects, rats, and ants in the wild.

Before coming to this summer camp, she brought some insect repellent cream with her.

These medicinal pastes were all pecially made and could work on all kinds of insects.

1/4

Emma simply put up some protection and rushed in with hot water. "Ida, bear with it. I'll help you wash away the bage now it might be a little hot, but it won't hurt you."

da's entire body was in pain, and what was even more terrifying was panic.

She was so grateful that her tears fell since Emma was willing to help her at this time.

"Emma, save me, save me!" She didn't know why there were so many of these bugs in the bathroom. Moreover, they kept crawling onto her like crazy. She couldn't chase them away.

Emma turned on the hottest water within the acceptable range of the human body. As expected, the insects quickly fainted and were washed away after coming into contact with the hot water.

Not long after, an ambulance drove into the summer camp.

ida was carried away overnight.

Before getting into the ambulance, the nurse checked Ida's condition. "This is a poisonous bug that lives near the equator. It can harm lives in serious cases!"

The summer camp teacher was anxious. "How is Ida now?"

The nurse said, "Fortunately, one of her roommates in the same room did the right thing. There's no life-threatening problem."

The rest could not be confirmed until Ida was sent to the hospital for further treatment.

After the ambulance left, the summer camp teacher and the other students who were participating in the training stood in place with serious expressions.

Although they did not see that terrifying scene with their own eyes, they would shudder after they heard the description.

Someone said, "This bug lives near the equator. Which means we don't have any of those around here."

Another person said, "That's right. Although it's summer now, how can there be so many of them here suddenly?" "Could it be from the dormitory?" someone asked.

The teacher answered, "That's impossible. Before you checked in, the camp had been completely disinfected! Unless someone brought the bugs in on purpose!"

The teacher quickly saw the problem and looked at Emma. "Emma, you're the dorm leader. Tell me what happened."

Chapter 116

Emma stood up and repeated everything.

The teacher asked, "So, nothing happened when you went in, but something happened to Ida after she went in to take a shower, right?"

The teacher's words could easily cause misunderstandings. Just as Emma was about to say something, Lane said, "Ida's injuries were all treated by Emma. By the way, Ida used the bath oil that Abby gave her! It must be the problem with the bath oil!"

Emma had also thought of this.

At the same place and around the same time, Ida had attracted so many insects. It was obvious that it was not a coincidence.

The only difference between her and Ida was the bottle of bath oil.

Abby had fainted from fright just now and was now standing on the field.

She was wearing a white dress and looked pitiful. "Lane, do you mean that I deliberately caused Ida to be disfigured?"

Lane said coldly, "I knew I shouldn't have used that damn bottle of yours. I knew you weren't easy to deal with!"

Abby said, "Lane, I was sharing it with you out of good intentions, but you're slandering me now! How can you say that?" Abby started crying as she spoke. She looked so pitiful, making one's heart ache.

Soon, a few boys from Woodland High School couldn't bear to see Abby cry like this, so they refuted, "Evidence is important. Abby was kind enough to share it with you. Why are you accusing her of malicious intentions? The three of them all came from Vark College. They're bullying Abby together."

Someone said, "Maybe it's because Ida's physique attracts bugs, how can you blame Abby for it?"

Emma remained silent the whole time. Then, she said, "The blood type and smell of humans are different. Some people are indeed more attractive to insects. But Ida attracted so many bugs in a short period of time, and they are equatorial poisonous bugs that shouldn't have appeared in our region. I can conclude that this matter is definitely not a coincidence!"

When Emma spoke, Abby cried even harder. “Emma, do you also think that I deliberately used bath oil to harm Ida?” Abby’s eyes flashed with malice as she spoke. “Don’t forget that this bottle of bath oil was given to her after you checked it with your own eyes! Other than you, no one else has touched this bottle of bath oil!”

“What?” After Abby finished speaking, the crowd started discussing.

Someone said, “This bottle of bath oil was handed in by Emma. Could Emma have tampered with it?”

Another person said, “I think it’s possible. Emma is so smart. This move killed two birds with one stone. Ida will be injured and retreated from the camp. Abby will be framed and disqualified from the evaluation. She can directly promoted to an outstanding camp member!”

Lane was furious when she heard this.

Abby was obviously plotting against everyone.

Lane pointed at her nose and scolded, “Bitch, you are so shameless!”

At this moment, the teacher frowned. “Lane! Don’t curse!”

Lane said, “But teacher, if Emma really harmed Ida, why would she risk her life to save Ida and help her kill the insects?”

Someone mocked meaningfully, “Maybe she’s the one who got these bugs. Otherwise, why would these bugs only go crazy and bite Ida instead of her!”

Emma did not expect these people to suspect her.

The teacher pursed his lips and looked at Emma questioningly. “Emma, is that really the case?”

Chapter 117

Chapter 117

“It’s not that.” Emma immediately denied it. She was terrifyingly calm.

On the field late at night, she was like a dark rose blooming in the dark.

There was a gloomy aura surging around her. Emma stood where he was and glanced at Abby. That gaze was like a cold knife that cut straight into Abby’s heart.

Abby was inexplicably frightened by her gaze. She said, “You’ve seen the bath oil. If there were bugs in it, you wouldn’t have given it to Ida.”

Emma said, “Indeed, when I opened it, there were no bugs inside. But no one can guarantee that there are no special chemicals inside that attract those insects to bite. I’d like a like crazy! This bottle of bath oil is in my hands now. I’ll hand it over to the police. Moreover, I’ll leave a sample for analysis myself.”

There was nothing in this world that she could not analyze. Emma sneered as she spoke.

Her smile made Abby’s face turn even paler.

Emma paced slowly to Abby’s side.

After a while, the corners of Emma’s mouth curled into an unfathomable arc.

She whispered into Abby’s ear, “Anyone who hurts someone close to me will be punished. If you provoke me, you’ll end up in a terrible state, Abby.”

Emma’s incident at the summer camp quickly reached Liam, who was at Icovine Estate.

Levi reported seriously, “Today, Mrs. Wilson led her team and was invincible. She won the championship of water ball and also stood out in the mind-reading segment. However, there was an accident in the dormitory tonight...”

Levi told Liam about the blood-sucking lice and how the teachers and classmates suspected Emma.

Liam sat in the middle of a high-end black leather chair.

As he listened attentively, his handsome brows furrowed slightly.

It was obvious that he was very dissatisfied with what had happened at the summer camp.

After hearing that Emma was fine, he heaved a sigh of relief.

Levi asked, "Mr. Hall... Should we send someone to capture Abby and interrogate her?"

Liam reached out to stop him. "Don't interfere with Emma's experience in the camp. Send someone to keep an eye on her."

If anyone dared to attack Emma again, or if something happened that Emma could not handle, Liam would be there immediately.

Levi nodded. With Mr. Hall's support, no matter where Emma went, she would not be allowed to be bullied.

Ida was seriously injured. Emma sent her a special ointment and did not sleep the entire night.

That night, she sat alone in an empty classroom of the summer camp.

The bottle of bath oil had been handed over to the police.

There was still some time before the test results came, put.

In order to prove her innocence as soon as possible, Emma decided to take a sample personally to analyze it.

Her phone rang. It was a call from Josiah. "Boss, I've found what you asked me to investigate."

Emma asked, "What is it?"

Josiah said, "This is the equatorial venomous lice. It's indeed only distributed in Southeast Ithay and the Everlantan. TroIn City doesn't have such bugs. Moreover, there's a recent transaction record on the black market. Someone bought this bug to make biological mutations in the laboratory."

Emma asked, "Biological mutation?"

Josiah said, "They want to make this bug more aggressive and increase their toxicity! They used some technological methods to change the genetic sequence of these insects and use special chemical compositions to control them. When these insects smell a special smell, they will bite and attack people without caring about their lives! The bugs on your roommate must have been specially arranged by someone."

Emma said in a low voice, "Show me the transaction record."

"Okay." Josiah quickly sent over the transaction record of the purchase of the mutant worm.

Emma skimmed through the transaction.

The black market showed that there were many transactions about this bug.

It seemed that there were many people who bought such disgusting things to harm people.

Soon, she found a suspicious transaction record. The address was displayed at TroIn City! Abby did not dare to return to the dormitory that night.

11:52 Fri, 12 Jul

Chapter 117

She was afraid that Lane would attack her, so she asked to stay with someone else.

For some reason, every time Abby thought of the way Emma looked at her and said those words, she shuddered. She could only hide in another dormitory to calm herself down.

Abby looked at the ceiling in the dark, her mind running wild.

She thought, 'I shouldn't be discovered, right? I have spent a lot of effort to buy this on the black market. No matter how powerful Emma is, she is just an ordinary student. She shouldn't know about the black market.'

Abby heaved a sigh of relief.

Suddenly, a black figure appeared in the dormitory.

Abby screamed in fear, "Help..."

She wanted to shout for help, but before she could open her mouth, her mouth was tightly covered.

Emma was wearing a black mask. She lifted Abby and dragged her out. Abby was pulled into the woods. "Bang!" Emma threw her to the ground. Abby's entire body ached.

Her lips trembled in fear. "Who are you? Why did you bring me here?"

Emma changed her voice to a deep male voice. "Miss Robson, don't tell me you don't recognize this transaction."

Abby looked at the screenshots on Emma's phone and her face turned pale. "You, how could you... No, I don't know what you're talking about!"

"Really?" Emma had a black mask on. "That's too bad. These bugs you bought, I bought them too. I bought a lot more than you did. A whole bag."

Abby looked at the big sack behind Emma. Her eyes were filled with fear. "No, don't..." She put her hands on the ground and crawled back, trembling.

Emma's eyes turned cold and pulled her back. "You used bath oil containing amber honey to deliberately disfigure Ida with blood—sucking lice that are exceptionally sensitive to amber honey. As long as you admit that you did all of this, I'll consider letting you off!"

"No... It was not me! Help, someone, help!" Abby was scared out of her wits.

She never thought that someone would be secretly spying on her and was so frightened that she burst into tears.

Emma said, "In that case, don't blame me..." As she spoke, she poured the entire bottle of insect-calling liquid on Abby.

Abby screamed. "Ho. Fadmit it! I did it all... Don't ruin my face, please..."

Emma looked at Abby with disdain.

It was a girl's nature to look good. Abby wanted to protect her face, but Ida's entire body was swollen and festering Emma felt that such a vicious woman deserved to die.

In the end, Emma did not open the bag of bugs. "At noon tomorrow, before the rock climbing training, go to the entrance of the cafeteria and confess to everyone what you did."

Abby, who was curled up on the ground, nodded vigorously. "Okay... I will confess tomorrow..."

At noon the next day, Abby stood at the entrance of the cafeteria with a piece of paper in her hand.

Someone asked Abby. "What are you doing?"

Another person asked, "Abby, why do you look so pale? Did people from Vark College bully you last night?"

Abby was even more embarrassed by their concerns.

She did not know who had kidnapped her last night.

In the end, she walked back to the dormitory with difficulty.

By the time she got back into bed, her legs were shaking.

Abby was so scared that she didn't dare to go against her promise.

However, when she faced so many people coming and going in the cafeteria, she became timid again.

Someone asked, "Abby, your whiteboard says you want to confess everything. What do you want to confess?"

Another person asked, "Yeah. Could it be that what happened to Ida last night really had something to do with you?"

Someone else said, "Abby, what happened? Tell us!"

Abby did not dare to say anything in the face of the aggressive questions.

She said, "Ida's bath oil was mine, but I really didn't know that it would attract bugs! Last night, someone kidnapped me into the forest last night and asked me to confess at the entrance of the canteen today that I did all these things. Otherwise, they would let the insects bite me to death!"

After Abby finished speaking, the crowd was in an uproar.

Someone said, "Damn it, how could a kidnapping take place in the summer camp!"

Another person said, "It must be this person who got the bug! She disfigured Ida first and then threatened you! Abby, did you see what that person looked like?"

Abby did not see that person clearly.

She was afraid, but now everyone knew that she was kidnapped. The security in the camp would be enhanced. The teacher would also send someone to protect her. She could only take a gamble now.

Abby said, "I was too afraid at that time and didn't see that person clearly... However, she's very skilled. She seems to know boxing..."

Chapter 118

The first person everyone thought of that fit the description was Emma.

Someone said, "Could it really be Emma?"

Another person said, "Damn it, Emma first harmed her classmate, and now she even kidnapped Abby."

Someone else said, "Abby, don't be afraid. We'll report this to the teacher. Let's go!"

Things were getting out of hand.

There were many people at the entrance of the cafeteria. Everyone escorted Abby to the teacher's office to complain.

No one saw the smug smile on Abby's face.

She had done it on purpose.

The voice she heard last night was clearly a man's.

The other party did not show any skills at all, and she did not know what boxing was.

However, she had specially said this to make people suspect Emma.

Not far away, Emma watched all of this.

Josiah clicked his tongue in his Bluetooth earpiece. "Abby is about to be doomed, but she is still slandering Boss. Fortunately, Boss, you had the foresight to record it in advance!"

Emma shook her head. "If I expose this video, it will confirm that I kidnapped her at camp.

"Then what should we do?" Josiah was anxious. "Are we going to watch this bitch helplessly?"

Emma shook her head. "I have my ways."

Not long after, Emma was called over by the summer camp teacher.

The teacher said, "Emma, Abby said that you threatened her last night. What do you have to for yourself.” say

Emma shook her head. “I didn’t.”

The teacher said, “But the surveillance video showed that you weren’t in the dormitory last night.”

Someone added, “That’s right! Everyone was in the dormitory last night, and you were the only one who didn’t go back! Who else could it be besides you? Stop pretending!”

students of Woodland High School aren’t so easily bullied!”

The crowd was excited.

Emma said coldly, “Teacher, you have to show evidence.”

The teacher said, “But you were indeed the only one not in the dorm last night.”

Another person chimed in, “Yes, this is the evidence!”

Emma said coldly, “Abby said that she was kidnapped and threatened by me. Does she have any evidence?”

The summer camp teacher felt a little guilty under Emma’s gaze.

She lowered her head and said, “She said that the person who kidnapped her knows boxing, and you know boxing. You also beat the national champion, Ruby Cruz. Emma, although our summer camp needs outstanding talents, we also have an assessment of the moral character of the camp members. I’m sorry, you’re expelled!”

As soon as the teacher finished speaking, Emma's eyes narrowed into a straight line, she appeared dangerous and cold.

It was obvious that this teacher was biased towards Abby.

Although Emma didn't know what her relationship with Abby was, it seemed that this teacher was determined to target her.

Someone said, "Why are you still standing here? You're expelled!"

Another person said, "That's right. Get out of here!"

Someone else said, "Apologize to Ida!"

Emma gritted her teeth and was about to take out the information she had found to expose Abby's transaction of buying poisonous insects.

At this moment, a cold and noble voice sounded. "Quiet down, everyone." The young man was wearing a white shirt and black pants. Bob's eyes were delicate and cold. He was holding a file in his hand. "I can prove that it wasn't Emma who kidnapped Abby last night! Besides, these poisonous bugs came from Abby!"

As soon as Bob finished speaking, the crowd instantly fell silent.

The teacher and the students looked at him in disbelief.

Tears welled up in Abby's eyes.

Even Emma was a little surprised.

"Bob, you said that you can prove that the person who kidnapped Abby last night wasn't Emma? Do you have any evidence?" the teacher asked.

Bob raised his head slightly. "I'm the evidence. She was with me last night!"

As soon as he finished speaking, the crowd was in an uproar.

Bob said, "Emma wanted to seek justice for her roommate and analyzed the ingredients in Abby's bath oil in the classroom all night. I happened to pass by and we studied it together!"

Bob, the cold and aloof genius, had never been close to girls.

Usually, in class, if a girl wanted to sit beside him, he would deliberately change his seat.

However, he was actually willing to spend the night with Emma.

When the news came out, everyone who knew Bob was shocked.

They wondered how attractive Emma could be that she could change Bob.

Abby's face was covered in tears. She was sad.

She had liked Bob for many years, but she had not been able to get his attention. But now, he was actually on Emma's side and was even willing to study with her in the classroom all night.

"Bob, even if the person who kidnapped me is not Emma, what do I have to do with those insects? I'm a girl. Reputation is very important to me! I didn't have anything to do with those bugs!" Abby's determination did not gain Bob's sympathy.

As a boy who was over six foot one, he looked down on Abby. "Here's a record of you buying those bugs on the black market. This is the chemical composition analyzed by the police. There's amber honey in your bath oil. It's this thing that caused Ida to be bitten by those poisonous insects!"

Abby muttered in disbelief. "Impossible... It's not me... It's impossible..."

She thought, 'How did Bob find out about my black market records so quickly? This is impossible. I am one of the top ten hackers in the black market...'

Abby had never told anyone about this secret. She was an outstanding hacker. She was confident that the encryption and mechanisms she had designed could not be cracked by these students in front of her. It was precisely because of this that she dared to scheme against Emma.

However, her scheme had been exposed so quickly, and her world-class encrypted information had also been completely exposed by Bob.

Chapter 119

All information indicates that Abby was the one who caused the injury of Ida.

Everyone looked at Abby in disbelief.

It was hard for them to imagine that the usually pure and cute Abby would be so sinister.

Before Abby was taken away by the police, she gritted her teeth and looked at Bob. "Bob, you know that I've liked you since junior high school... Why?"

No matter how bad Abby was, it was true that she was infatuated with Bob.

The boys beside Bob couldn't bear it.

They all knew Bob's temper. Their eyes hinted at him to save Abby some face and not be too ruthless.

After all, she had been exposed today by the boy she had liked for many years.

Even if they had never experienced such a feeling before, they could imagine how uncomfortable it was.

However, Bob's face was still cold. "So? Does it have anything to do with me? What does your love have anything to do with me?"

It was clear he didn't like Abby. He was as heartless as ever.

When Abby saw his reaction, tears welled up in her eyes again.

The boys beside Bob could only look at Abby sympathetically. They couldn't believe that Bob treated Abby so coldly.

Before Abby got into the police car, she finally asked Bob a question. "Who are you? Why are you able to decipher my encrypted files?"

Bob smiled elegantly and indifferently. "Although you're Eve, the ninth-ranked hacker in the world, that doesn't mean you don't have someone more powerful around you. Don't forget, there are eight hackers who are better than you."

Hearing this, Abby's face turned pale. She thought, 'Does this mean Bob is a hacker as well? And he is one of the eight people who is better than me?'

She looked at Bob in disbelief. "You're..."

"Let's go!" Abby wanted to ask more, but time was running out. The police hurried her away.

She would never have the chance to know Bob's secret again.

Bob returned to the cafeteria.

He saw that Emma was already sitting in her seat eating lunch.

Her face was beautiful. If she was in the crowd, she would be recognized at a glance. She was quiet and beautiful.

However, under such a gentle and beautiful appearance, there was shocking strength.

A few people surrounded Emma and apologized.

A person said, "Emma, I'm sorry. We misunderstood you this time."

Another person said, "That's right, Emma. If it weren't for you, Ida would have died this time."

Someone else said, "No one expected Abby to be such a person..."

They wanted to ease their relationship with Emma.

Lane mocked. "You people don't have the ability to distinguish right from wrong, but you're quite good at changing sides. Although you are all from the same school, Bob is way different than you. He knows the truth from the start..."

Lane's words made everyone present blush.

Indeed, apart from Bob, these people were just taking advantage of the situation.

After Lane exposed them, they didn't dare to harass Emma anymore.

At this moment, everyone saw Bob walking over.

The moment Bob walked over, he attracted everyone's attention.

"Bob!"

"Bob!"

Bob's expression was indifferent. "Hurry up and prepare after you're done eating. I have two words to say to Emma."

"Aye, all right."

After the people from Woodland High left, Lane also found an excuse to leave, giving the two of them a chance to talk alone.

WEST

Bob sat opposite Emma.

The two of them were both very attractive. Although they were not a couple, they were very eye-catching.

Emma was the first to speak. "Thank you for earlier."

"Don't mention it," Bob said, "It's just that I don't like low-end tricks either."

Emma did not continue.

If Bob hadn't taken out those documents, she would have needed to do so.

At that time, she would not be able to hide her identity as Stox, the hacker.

Emma did not ask why Bob was able to get on the black market and get that information.

Other than her, the other teachers and students in the summer camp would not be suspicious of him. They already knew he was a genius. It was not a surprise for them to realize that Bob had some special ways with technology.

Bob said to Emma, "Enjoy your lunch. The rock climbing competition will consume a lot of energy later."

Emma said. "Alright, good luck to you."

The two of them knew each other. Coupled with their relationship with Liam, they were naturally more familiar with each other than ordinary students.

However, in the eyes of others, such a normal interaction would cause misunderstandings.

The students in the canteen kept secretly taking photos of these two.

In the photo, Bob and Emma looked quite compatible, like a couple.

Everyone wanted to ship them together.

A person said, "Bob never talks to girls. Does he like Emma?"

Another person said, "But Emma already has a boyfriend."

Someone else said, "What? Really? No..."

These photos were quickly reposted on the Internet.

It didn't take long for Liam to see them.

When Liam in the suit saw the photo of Bob and Emma talking happily on the phone, his face darkened slightly.

He thought, 'Bob... I didn't know that he is able to pull this off.'

At the summer camp, it was already two hours after lunch, the students took a break. Today's rock climbing competition was about to begin.

Emma's physical condition that day was better than the day of the water ball competition.

Rock climbing competition was not a problem for her.

Emma did a simple warm-up.

A P.E. teacher came up behind her and patted her on the shoulder. "Emma, don't be affected by what happened last night. Good luck. I have high hopes for you."

"Thank you, Teacher." Emma nodded.

The PE teacher valued talent and was not as biased as the summer camp teacher just now.

After Emma finished warming up, she carefully put on protective gear.

The goal of the competition was to test their speed. The routes were all planned in advance. Whoever reached the top first would get first place and receive points.

Following the teacher's order, Emma jumped.

She was like a powerful white vine that climbed up the rocks. It was as if she was born to climb.

While others were still struggling desperately, Emma was as fast as the wind.

When others looked up at her, she had already successfully taken a huge lead.

Lane was not bad either. She was above average among the contestants.

However, Emma was already far ahead.

She had almost completed half of the 50-foot-tall rock wall.

"Emma, come on, come on, come on!" Emma gained a lot of fans in the camp.

Bob had not participated in the competition this round.

He stood at the bottom of the rock wall and looked up at her valiant back.

Her eyes were filled with admiration.

Chapter 120

“Don’t talk nonsense.” This was the first time Bob showed such a nervous expression in front of others.

Me would never expose his true feelings too much.

But the Emma charm during rock climbing was too strong.

It made him, who had always prided himself on his self-control, lose control.

At this moment, Bob’s phone rang.

“Hello, Liam.” When Bob saw the caller ID, his expression unconsciously darkened.

“How was camp?” On the other end of the line, Liam’s voice was emotionless. However, there was a layer of gloominess.

As smart as Bob was, he naturally understood the purpose of this call.

Although Liam was his uncle, it was impossible for him to make this call out of concern for him. What Liam cared about was Emma.

Hence, Bob went straight to the point. “It went smoothly, and so did Emma. The girl who framed her this morning has already been arrested by the police.”

Liam nodded. “You did well. There’s still some time before the summer camp finishes. Remember to take good care of your aunt.” Liam deliberately emphasized the last word. It was to remind Bob not to forget his identity.

Bob pursed his lips. His Adam’s apple bobbed. “Okay...”

However, at this moment, a scream suddenly came from the crowd.

Up on the way, a rock slab that someone had stepped on loosened.

Bob hurriedly hung up.

Emma slipped and hung in the air.

At this moment, she was already twenty feet above the ground, as tall as a three-story building.

This kind of accident quickly caused the students to panic.

The PE teacher immediately walked over. "What's going on? Why is the rock slab in the venue loosened?"

The other contestants did not climb as high as Emma.

However, when they saw that Emma was hanging from such a high altitude and that it was due to a problem with the hardware, they immediately panicked and stopped climbing.

Only Emma remained calm. Even though it was very frightening, she did not scream.

She had a safety belt, a safety lock, and a series of protective measures on her. Emma, relax your body. She let herself swing with the safety rope together,

As the rope swung, she successfully returned to the rock wall and grabbed the rock point. Then, she continued to climb and did not seem influenced.

Someone said, "Fk! She is so bad."

Another person said, "If it were me, I would have peed my pants! She can still continue climbing!"

Emma's strong ml fortitude gave the other contestants a huge pressure.

Originally, when she was suspended in the air, she was about to be caught up by another contestant.

However, she had returned to the competition. Moreover, she was not affected at all. The other contestant felt immense pressure and directly quit the competition.

The accident just now undoubtedly made everyone's hearts tense.

Now that Emma had returned to the rock wall, many people heaved a sigh of relief.

Only Bob's brows were tightly furrowed.

The competition venue was maintained all year round.

The teachers must have checked it beforehand.

It was strange that the rock slab suddenly fell.

When Bob thought of this, he suddenly had a bad feeling. He realized that someone had tampered with the rock wall.

He said, "Not good, Emma is in danger!" Bob stepped forward, wanting his teacher to quickly end the competition. However, Emma was about to reach the top. Her hands kept going up. Finally, she was just one step away from capturing the final point which was 65 feet tall. She was about to be the winner.

However, at this moment. "Ck!" A terrifying voice sounded. Everyone looked up at her.

They watched helplessly as the safety iron lock that was originally tied to her waist loosened. The main safety rope fell off.

Emma was now climbing the 65-foot-tall rock wall with her bare hands.

The climb just now had exhausted a lot of stamina. Now she couldn't get down.

Not only that, as long as she moved a little, she would immediately fall down. Even if she didn't die, she would be cd.

It was obvious that someone wanted her dead.

The atmosphere in the Rock Climbing Hall had already reached a freezing point.

Someone said, "Quick, call the police... Call the fire department!"

"Emma! Hold on for a little longer, I'll be right up!" Without another word, the PE teacher tied up the safety rope and was about to rescue Emma.

In this situation, other than waiting for help, they could only send someone up to put the safety rope back on Emma.

Someone said, "Teacher, but this rock wall is too dangerous..."

Another person said, "That's right. What if another rock slab loosens again?"

The teacher also hesitated for a moment.

"I'll do it." At this moment, Bob stood up.

"Bob..." The students were all a little surprised.

In their impression, Bob was a genius with a high IQ. They did not know that his physique was equally strong. Bob put a safety lock on himself.

He shouted at Emma, who no longer had any safety measures and was holding onto the rock slab tightly. "Emma, hold on a little longer! I'll be there soon!"

-Emma gritted her teeth.

She was indeed in great danger now.

The rock slab had loosened just now, and now the safety rope had fallen off.

If the rock slab under her feet were to loosen again, she would be crushed into pieces.

At this moment, she saw Bob climbing up quickly.

A student said, "Bob is really fast..."

Another one said, "He is almost as fast as Emma just now!"

Soon, Bob approached Emma.

He analyzed carefully and avoided a few problematic rock slabs and rock points.

He climbed steadily and finally reached Emma. "I'll give you my safety rope. It's safe."

Bob untied his safety rope at a height of 65 feet.

“No!” At this moment, Emma stopped him from untying it. “The rock slabs here can’t hold on much longer.”

“We’ll both fall before you can put it on for me!”

Bob came very quickly,

However, he was still a step too late.

Emma had been holding on for a long time.

Her stamina was about to run out.

At the same time, she could feel that each of the rock points around her had loosened.

That person had guessed that she would be the first to climb up to the high ground and deliberately murdered her in this way.

Emma lowered her head and looked at the scene below her feet.

There was a cushion below. If she jumped straight down like this, she might not die if she grasped the angle, but her spine would definitely be injured. It was too risky.

The only thing she could do now was to grit her teeth and hold on. Perhaps there was still hope.

She asked, “Do you know the Vanguard Climb?”

Bob immediately understood what she meant. “You want me to climb down on one side, do the reinforcement, and then you can climb down after me?”

Emma nodded. “That’s what I meant.”

She had just witnessed that Bob’s strength was comparable to hers..

With the safety rope, he could slowly descend step by step. As he climbed, he could use rock nails to reinforce the rock slabs.

Emma could follow suit and land safely this way.

Vanguard Climbing undoubtedly required the climber to have extremely strong physical fitness, skills, psychology, strength, and energy.

Although Bob was the one who was doing the Vanguard Climbing, in fact, it was Emma who did not have a safety rope.

She needed an extremely strong mI fortitude. She was the real vanguard in this sport!

Bob shook his head. "But you don't have a safety rope. If you're not careful, the consequences will be serious!"

Emma said firmly, "I believe I can."
