"Dad, it's really delicious. Would you like to try?"

After they drove out of the residential area where Hannah lived, Tommy opened the packed pasta in the car and smelled it. Then, he reluctantly handed it to William as an attempt to please him again. Leaning against the back of the chair while reading a document carefully, William gave Tommy a glance with a long face. However, he didn't speak nor lose his temper and just continued reading the document after that brief glance. "Since you don't want to try it, I'll have it." With that, Tommy took out a set of disposable cutlery and began to eat the pasta with relish. Listening to the slurping sound, William wanted to say something, but when he saw the satisfaction and happiness on Tommy's face, he swallowed his words and continued to read the documents. To be honest, Tommy was already full after having that plate of pasta just now. However, Hannah's pasta was truly delicious and he couldn't help craving for more of it. Yet, before he could take a few more bites, the driver suddenly braked the car, throwing him out of balance and to the front while he was enjoying his pasta. "Ah!" With a scream of distress, the box of pasta spilled all over the car, and even worse, most of the pasta and sauce were splashed onto William's trousers and leather shoes. "What's going on?" After briefly examining Tommy to ensure he was fine, William coldly asked the driver. "I'm sorry, sir. A dog suddenly appeared on the road." A security official who was in charge of William's safety answered respectfully. Since they were in a residential area, it wasn't surprising that a cat or dog suddenly ran out to the road. Meanwhile, all the surrounding cars protecting William stopped when they saw William's car stop, and they became more vigilant. Upon hearing that it was just a dog, William seemed relieved. Only then did he look down at his trousers and shoes, with his left hand still maintaining in the previous position of holding the box, and his right hand gripping the fork, Tommy almost burst out crying when William slowly lay his stern eyes on him. Brimming with tears, Tommy pursed his lips and sobbed, "Dad, I'm sorry!" Actually, he was not afraid that William would beat him, but he was upset that his pasta spilled. At first, William was extremely annoyed, but when he saw Tommy's pitiful face, his heart softened. Sighing, he wiped off Tommy's tear and asked, "Why are you crying? I didn't scold you." Refusing to waste any bit of the pasta, Tommy licked the fork before sniffing and replied, "Thank you, Daddy." "Sir, do you want to change the car?" The security official asked. "It's alright. Let's go." "Yes, sir."

In less than five minutes after William and Tommy left, Tiana came back. As soon as she spotted the plates and cutlery as well as the leftover food on the table, she turned to scrutinize Hannah. At this moment, Hannah seemed to be washing things in front of the kitchen sink, but she was actually in a daze. Noticing that, Tiana smirked. "Girl, I sensed a man!" As she walked over and wrapped her arm around Hannah's shoulders, she teased her. Meanwhile, Hannah was lost in her thoughts, wondering why William would personally come to her place to take Tommy back. Awakened by Tiana, she tilted her head and gazed at her. "Oh, you're back. What would you like- "to eat? "Oh god!"

When Hannah turned her head, Tiana's expression immediately changed when she saw the bandage on her forehead. As she quickly held Hannah's face to carefully examine the wound, she noticed that there were a few scratches on the back of her ear. Instantly, Tiana flew into a rage. "Who did this?" "I..." Looking at the enraged Tiana, Hannah hesitated. Should she tell the truth? "Is it Melissa?" But without needing Hannah's confirmation, Tiana had known the answer. With great resentment, she grumbled, "Why are you such a pushover? You're always letting that b*tch bully you!" Although Hannah was the one getting hit, Tiana seemed even more furious than her. Amused, Hannah explained even though she was being scolded, "How can I win when there's three of them?" "Melissa called two other people to beat you up?" Tiana shouted in surprise. Hannah nodded. "But she didn't win either because Kevin won't marry her anymore." Before she left, she clearly heard the words that Kevin shouted "That b*stard! It will serve him right if he marries that b*tch. But why are you the one getting hurt?" Looking at Hannah's indifferent face, Tiana was still burning with indignation. On the contrary, Hannah smiled and teased, "How about I go to Kevin now and beg him to marry Melissa?" Glaring at her, Tiana took a deep breath and asked, "What's with the three plates on the table outside?" Pursing her lips, Hannah replied, "Uh... Well, I did bring two men back." Squinting at Hannah, Tiana asked curiously, "Who? What's your relationship with them? Do I know them?" Amused at Tiana's serious face that resembled a stern parent, Hannah chuckled and explained, "It's Mr. President's son and a driver. I bumped into them when I came out of the hotel, so they sent me to the hospital. In order to repay them, I " "Hold on!" Before Hannah could finish her sentence, Tiana suddenly interrupted her and asked astonishingly, "What did you say? Mr. President's son? How do you know Mr. President's son?"

"I'm working at the President's Office. Of course, I've seen him a few times and know him." "Oh!" Tiana gave a meaningful nod. "He must be the child of Mr. President and his vegetative fiancée, huh?" "Mr. President's fiancée is a vegetable?" At once, Hannah was shocked. Tiana nodded. "Yeah. Don't you know that?" Hannah shook her head because she honestly did not know. Raising her beautiful eyebrows, Tiana continued, "It's not surprising that you don't know about it. The news was exposed Chapter 10

during the election. But ever since William was elected as the President, there hasn't been anyone discussing it anymore. You've been abroad for so many years, so it's only natural that you haven't heard of it." As Hannah listened to that, she gradually frowned and asked curiously, "How did Mr. President's fiancée become a vegetable? If she was a vegetable, how could she give birth to a child?" Grabbing a can of drinks from the refrigerator, Tiana took a sip before glancing at Hannah. Then, she tucked her lips and replied, "They said that it was because of a helicopter crash. William was the pilot. His fiancée was already pregnant before the accident. They managed to save the baby, but his fiancée has not yet woken up. I heard that she is still in the hospital and is taken care of by a special medical team. Yearly medical expenses cost more than a hundred million.” Learning that, Hannah didn’t seem relaxed. Instead, she knitted her eyebrows even tighter while she nodded and said, “Scott Group is the largest consortium in the country, so a hundred million a year is not a big deal at all. It’s just a drop in the bucket.” “You don’t know who his fiancée is, do you?” Hannah shook her head. Of course, she did not know. “It’s Iris Hood.” Slowly, Tiana uttered. At once, Hannah was stunned. “Iris? The only daughter of the chairman of Hood Group, the second-largest financial organization in the country?” Looking at the astonishment on Hannah’s face, Tiana spread out her hands and commented, “Since ancient times, every rich and influential family tends to marry the family of equal social status. There’s nothing strange about it.” Smiling faintly, Hannah came back to her composure as she agreed in disheartenment, “Indeed. Marrying someone from a matching background is essential.”

Tiana nodded. “It seems that you have a good relationship with the Scott family’s kid. He even sent you to the hospital just to save you.” With a smile, Hannah changed the topic. “What do you want to eat? I’ll make it.” Sizing Hannah up, Tiana hesitated. “How are you going to cook when you’re not feeling well?”

Chuckling, Hannah replied, “My limbs are still functioning, so you can wait outside.” Smirking, Tiana lifted Hannah’s chin while teasing, “I won’t stand on ceremony then, my beauty.” Feeling helpless, Hannah was rendered speechless.
