

Chapter 1246 Warning

Trevor took a deep breath and walked to the door.

He would like to see the person who set him up.

"Click."

Trevor opened the door.

Instead of the armed policemen or fierce members of Mobius, Trevor found himself staring at a beautiful woman.

Trevor's eyes narrowed. He knew this woman.

"You are the receptionist of the hotel, aren't you?" Trevor asked hesitantly.

"Yes! It's me. My name is Elsa Merlin." The receptionist smiled in surprise. She didn't expect Trevor to remember her.

Trevor quickly looked around the corridor and heaved a sigh of relief when he saw that no one else was around.

In any case, the policemen weren't here yet, so he had a chance to turn the situation around.

"Elsa, what can I do for you?" Trevor asked.

He was running out of time. He needed to get rid of the drug before the police arrived, but he couldn't do that as long as the receptionist was here.

Apart from that, he still needed to find the person that set him up in the first place.

Just like Trevor had done a moment earlier, Elsa looked around cautiously. When she saw that there was no one in their immediate vicinity, she lowered her voice and said, "Sir, I only came to warn you. You need to be very careful. I overheard a conversation between two people on the staircase just now. It seems that the vice manager of the hotel is targeting you."

Brows arched, Trevor echoed, "Vice manager of this hotel?"

Elsa nodded and said solemnly, "It should be Eddie Belknap. I recognized his voice. I don't know what he is going to do, but please be careful!"

Eddie Belknap?

It took Trevor only a few seconds to figure out the reason for this attack once he knew the name of the person that set him up.

This vice manager must have seen Richard provoke Trevor and decided to use the opportunity to curry Richard's favor.

"Thank you very much." Trevor thanked Elsa effusively.

Now that Trevor knew that the man behind it was just a vice manager, he was very relieved and at ease.

He smiled at Elsa and asked, "Could you please help me get some white granulated sugar from the kitchen?"

"White granulated sugar?"

Elsa was stunned.

Trevor had helped her avoid being harassed by the upstart guest, and Elsa came to repay his kindness.

And the only thing he wanted was sugar? That was a piece of cake!

Elsa nodded and left. Soon, she found a bag of sugar and gave it to Trevor.

Trevor immediately replaced the drug in the drawer with the sugar.

Then he lay back on the bed and settled in to watch TV.

He had set a trap for Eddie. All he needed to do now was wait for Eddie to fall into the trap.

Before long, Trevor heard the sound of thunderous footsteps outside his door.

Bang! Bang!

There were heavy knocks on the door.

"Open the door! Open the door!" someone shouted outside the door. It was a man's voice.

An evil grin lit up Trevor's face.

As soon as he opened the door, several guns were pointed at him.

Several fully armed policemen stood outside his door. Anyone walking by would have made the assumption that they were here to take down a notorious criminal.

"Huh? What happened?" Trevor asked, a faux expression of shock on his face.

Behind the policemen stood a man in a suit. It was Eddie.

Eddie shouted excitedly and pointed at Trevor, "Yes! It was this man! He looked sleazy. I suspect he has drugs in his possession and is just looking for an opportunity to sell them."

With a faint smile, Trevor looked over and found Eddie in the crowd.

Eddie also noticed Trevor's gaze. He grinned back at Trevor smugly.

In his opinion, Trevor had no one but himself to blame for what was happening to him. He offended Richard. He deserved nothing less than death for his actions. Trevor was able to block Richard's punch, but would he be able to block the bullets?

The ways in which Eddie could kill him were endless, but for now, he would settle for sending Trevor to prison. Once Trevor was behind bars, Richard would be very pleased with Eddie and would promote him.