

Chapter 1269 Reveal His Identity

Trevor walked back to the entrance of the special passage.

Jaime had rallied many spectators who stood at the entrance of the passage. They were very excited and tapped the iron fence, asking for fairness.

The crowd was so angry that even the burly security guards could hardly maintain order.

These people became more and more uncontrollable and they even tried to cross the fence.

Trevor watched the scene helplessly.

Bess had been worried that the situation would get out of hand. However, when she looked up and saw the smug expression on Jaime's face, she almost burst out laughing.

Since Bess was wearing a mask, Jaime couldn't see the expression on her face. He sneered and shouted loudly, "Why could you guys enjoy special privileges? Why could you take the special passage? Humph! No way! I don't care what shenanigans you had to do to be allowed to use the special passage. You have no choice but to go back and queue like everyone else. Let me tell you, there's no way you guys are walking through the special passageway in front of me!"

Meanwhile, Dervon continued to incite the crowd to riot.

"Look, that shameless man has come out! Apparently, he's not as insensitive to shame as you'd think."

Prompted by Dervon, the crowd began to boo and curse loudly.

The people at the passageway glared at Trevor.

Dervon was very pleased with this result. He was very proud of his eloquence. His speech just now was very emotional and seditious.

This reminded him of the incident in that bar last time. Thanks again to his eloquence, he had been able to make the people in the bar question Trevor's medical credentials.

However, when Dervon thought back to how the bar incident ended, his face darkened again and he had a bad feeling.

While Dervon was lost in thought, the crowd was still cursing and booing loudly.

"What a shameless man you are. Do you think you can cut in line so easily?"

"Bastard! People who cut in line are the most detestable! Why didn't you just wait in line?"

"Get out!"

Hearing the crowd curse and sternly berate Trevor, Dervon patted his chest gently, trying to comfort himself that the bad feeling he had was just in his head.

Facing the angry crowd, Trevor heaved a sigh.

It seemed that he couldn't hide his identity anymore.

Therefore, he took off his peaked cap and said loudly, "Calm down, everyone. I am an actor in this film and I will take part in its promotion. I hope you understand why I was able to go through this passageway. I'm looking forward to seeing you later!"

When Trevor finished speaking, the noisy crowd suddenly became silent.

However, this silence was short-lived as the crowd soon grew noisy again.

After Trevor took off his hat, everyone saw his face clearly and some people recognized him.

"Wow! He is the actor we saw in the promotional video. He is super awesome!"

"It's you! Wow! You did a great job in the movie!"

"Wait a minute. If he is that amazing supporting actor, then the lady beside him... Is she the heroine of the movie?"

"Oh my God! It's her! I'm looking forward to this movie more and more!"

The crowd was very excited to see two actors from the film and their anger dissipated instantly. Many people even wanted to take the opportunity to get closer to Trevor and ask about the movie.

Trevor and Bess felt helpless. They chatted for a while with the fans, answering their questions as much as they could. Then Trevor and Bess waved the fans goodbye before walking into the special passage again.

This time, no one tried to stop them.

Jaime was so scared when he found out that the two people he was making trouble for were actually actors in the movie. He was so embarrassed that he stood still and his face turned pale.

He would have slipped away since if it hadn't been for the crowd surrounding him.

Now that Trevor's identity was known, some people in the crowd were mad at Jaime for misleading them and they transferred their anger to him.

"Damn it! Where's the bastard who said those two people were using special privileges? What is wrong with actors using the passageway designed exclusively for actors? I think that bastard was just making trouble on purpose!"

"Where's he? He misled us for his own purposes. We should beat him up!"

Seeing that the crowd's anger was being directed towards him, Jaime freaked out and his face turned red with fear and shame. He felt so ashamed that he wished he could find a place to hide himself.

Of course, he wouldn't dare show up now, for fear of being attacked by this furious mob. So he hid in the middle of the crowd and even cursed the "instigator" so as not to arouse any suspicion.

Dervon watched powerlessly as Trevor and Bess disappeared into the special passage. He was so angry that he gritted his teeth. However, he could do nothing about it.

"Damn it! It's all your fault! Why did you make such a fuss?"

Jaime vented his anger on Dervon and slapped him across the face.

Dervon felt wronged and he covered his face with his hand. He wanted to say something to defend himself. After all, it was Jaime who ordered them to make a scene.

However, in the end, he didn't say anything and just lowered his head.

What was the point of trying to reason with a trust fund baby like Jaime?

Chapter 1270 Chaos After The Premiere

Jaime and Dervon dare not stop Trevor and Bess, who quietly entered the theater.

Inside the theatre, they met the assistant director, Coen, the famous male star, Lloyd and the popular female star, Nyomi.

The three celebrities greeted Trevor and Bess warmly.

The movie premiere was very lively.

The scenario of the film was captivating, with many twists and turns. The audience was immersed in the movie.

Sitting in the front row of seats, Trevor and Bess were very relaxed.

It was the first time that Trevor went to watch a movie in which he had acted. When he saw himself on the screen wearing the simulation mask, he felt a little weird.

"The movie is wonderful. I have no doubt it will be a hit," Bess said in a low voice as she took off her mask.

She was right.

During the screening of the film, no one in the theatre even got up to go to the toilet. Also, people kept praising the film after it was over.

Next was the interactive session moderated by Coen. All of the cast, including Trevor, interacted with the audience and answered a few simple questions.

The fact that at such a young age, Trevor was not only the film's producer but also one of the actors made him very popular with the public.

The atmosphere in the theater was hot and lively as the public was excited by what they had just watched.

Of course, there were a few who were upset.

Leaning against the wall of the bathroom, Jaime took a puff of his cigarette with a dejected face. He couldn't help but frown when he thought of how beloved Trevor was by the people in the theatre.

"Damn it! He's really an actor! The movie is great! That guy might become a star. Fuck! It so pisses me off!"

Standing next to Jaime, Dervon didn't dare speak for fear of annoying him again. He didn't want to be slapped again.

Jaime glanced down the hall and saw a fierce-looking group of people discussing in low voices. They looked like they were up to no good.

Those men seemed to be plotting something. They even wore the same headphones.

Although Jaime was curious, he didn't want to meddle in other people's business. He quickly stubbed out his cigarette and pretended not to have seen anything.

He waited for his girlfriend to finish making up in the bathroom, then they left together with his men.

At this time, the interaction session between the public and the actors ended and the movie premiere was over.

People flocked to the exit, which made the passageway crowded.

The passageways in the cinema were long and narrow, as if the architect who designed this building had not taken into account the fact that there would often be a crowd in the cinema.

The place was crowded and noisy.

Suddenly, Trevor heard a cry of panic from the other side of the exit.

"Ah! Run, everyone! Go back! There is a madman outside!"

"What the hell? Don't push me! Why did you push me?"

"Everyone, run! A pervert touched my ass!"

"Ah! There's a killer in here! Someone is trying to kill me!"

These voices were heard almost at the same time.

Soon, people wearing terrifying masks appeared. They wielded shining daggers and shouted madly.

"Fuck off! If you stand in my way, I will kill you!"

Trevor couldn't distinctly hear what was being said. The crowd was way too loud and all he could hear was screaming.

The crowd panicked. A scuffle ensued and the scene became chaotic.

Those who were closer to the exit were the most scared. Fearing that they would be attacked, they crazily ran back into the cinema.

Meanwhile, the people who were still in the cinema didn't know what was going on and they couldn't help complaining that the exit was too narrow.

As a result, while some people were rushing back into the theatre, others were trying to exit the theatre.

It was complete chaos.

Panic spread like a plague.

The panicked crowd screamed and jostled through the narrow exit. The exit was so crowded that it was hard to even stand.

Watching the chaotic scene, Trevor frowned. He felt something was wrong.

People were already annoyed by the narrowness of the exit which was crowded. The screams only made things worse by freaking everyone out.

It wouldn't take much for a riot to break out, and the consequences would be unimaginable.

If just one person fell, that could be the spark that will cause tragedy.

"Fuck! Don't push me! I fell! Damn it! Someone help me up! Hey, don't step on me! Ah!"

Someone screamed.

It was Jaime!

It looked like they were on the verge of disaster.
