

Chapter 1366 Tucker's Reply

Collen described his current predicament to his grandfather, Tucker, on the phone.

He didn't doubt for one moment that his grandfather would take his side.

Collen put the phone on speaker so that the entire company would hear that Trevor was fired.

He anticipated that his grandfather would fire the arrogant general manager.

Everyone at the company held their breath.

There was a brief silence on the other end of the line.

People began to feel on edge.

The employees couldn't bear to hear the outcome.

Some people even held their faces in their hands or turned away.

They admired Trevor. They thought him outstanding, tough but charming.

They also knew that Severich belonged to the chairman.

Tucker would not allow an outsider to beat up his grandson.

It was a pity that Trevor would be fired for this.

The prospect of this greatly upset a number of employees.

Trevor looked unfazed.

He stood there with his arms folded, saying nothing.

He was always calm in chaos.

If Tucker fired him over this, he honestly didn't care.

All that mattered was dealing with Mobius. If he did that, he would be able to regain his identity as a Sanderson.

Collen was certain he was going to win and stared at Trevor with a smug expression.

"You're doomed," he mouthed.

Suddenly, Tucker's voice could be heard from the phone.

Slowly and clearly, he said, "Collen, you're an adult now. Dragon is your peer. You should be old enough to solve this conflict yourself. At this point in my life, I don't want to be intervening in such trivial matters."

Collen could not believe his ears. He blinked and his mouth fell agape in disbelief.

He'd never looked so surprised in his life!

"Grandpa! But I'm your grandson! How could you?"

There was no reply. Tucker had hung up the phone.

Collen continued roaring into the receiver but to no avail.

Jeanette's face was flushed with embarrassment and anger. She grabbed Collen's arm and said in a low voice, "Honey..."

"Shut up!"

Collen was in no mood for anyone. He shook off Jeanette and continued to glare at Trevor. His breathing was heavy. He looked like he could explode at any second.

Trevor turned a blind eye to Collen.

He was lost in thought.

He had expected this, but he was still a little surprised. Last time, Tucker asked him to fire Jonah without a moment's hesitation. When it came to his grandson, Tucker was still fair. Perhaps it was because he was a real businessman.

Collen became even more enraged when he was how unfazed Trevor was. "You wait and see! This is not over! No one ignores me! No one!"

Trevor said coldly, "Collen, you're not an employee here, so you cannot interfere in the company's operations."

Trevor was not scared of Collen's temper. All he cared about right now was having Jeanette fired at the earliest opportunity.

If she wasn't removed, there would be problems in Severich sooner or later.

Collen continued bellowing, "Shut up! I'll have you remember that I a Singh! You're just a slave to the Singh family. How dare you speak to me like this? I have countless ways to make you regret this. Just wait and see! Jeanette! Come on! Let's go! Fuck!"

At this, he roughly grabbed Jeanette and the two of them left Severich in a hurry.

He joined Jeanette in the car and drove to a hotel.

They were both aggrieved and furious, and to purge all these emotions, they had sex.

By the time they were done, Collen and Jeanette were both covered in sweat. Lying in the bed naked, they lit their cigarettes.

"Honey, what should we do now?" Jeanette asked worriedly after taking a deep drag on her cigarette.

"The former vice general manager asked me to falsify the company's financial report, and Dragon found out. I'm afraid we'll have a lot more problems from now..."

Jeanette was very anxious. Even nicotine couldn't calm her down.

She had no choice but to ask Collen for help.

At that moment, Collen thought back to his grandfather's adamant refusal on the phone earlier and he couldn't help but feel guilty.

Gritting his teeth, he stroked Jeanette's full bosom and said angrily, "Grandpa refused to help me! That old bastard..."

He was suddenly silent.

The reason he was so arrogant and not shy about doing whatever he wanted in Zayden was because he was Tucker's grandson.

If now he admitted that Tucker had no affection for him, Jeanette would dump him.

Collen took a deep drag on his cigarette to calm himself down and then he comforted Jeanette in a low voice.

"Although it seems my grandpa remains neutral, I know he is on my side. If he took my side just now, what would the employees think of me? They would look down upon me, thinking I was abusing my grandpa's power. But if I deal with Dragon myself, the result would be different."

As Collen expected, a smile appeared on Jeanette's face when she heard his words. She was pleasantly surprised.

"So, your grandfather has been treating you as the heir of Singh Group and he's grooming you to take over the group?"

Collen took on a proud air and nodded firmly.

"Of course! Dragon is just the general manager of Severich while I'm the heir of Singh Group! I have countless ways to make life difficult for him. It's only a matter of time before I kick him out of the company."

They discussed for a while.

Collen suddenly thought of something and said abruptly, "Let's attack first! Since there are flaws in Severich's financial report, we'll let Dragon take the blame"

Jeanette's eyes lit up.

Collen was right. All she had to do was blame Trevor for the flaws in the company's financial statements and she would be safe.

"That's a good idea! Honey, you are so smart! Just do as you said!" Holding Collen's arm lovingly, Jeanette flattered him.

Her warm, soft body was pressing against his arm. A young man like Collen couldn't resist that.

Convinced that he had found the ultimate solution to their big problem, Collen became lustful again and an obscene smile appeared on his face.

"Honey, you are so beautiful..."

They were indulging in carnal pleasures and didn't know that Trevor already anticipated this.

When Collen and Jeanette left the company, Trevor had the feeling they would not let it go.

To guard against any revenge on their part, Trevor called Margaret.

"Margaret, I'm sorry. I want to ask for your help about something private."

Margaret already knew that it must be a private matter as Dragon didn't call her code name on the phone.

She couldn't help chuckling.

"Come on, Dragon! Do you think Klein's information system was specially designed for you?"

Trevor smiled awkwardly. Of course he knew she was just joking.

Margaret then asked seriously, "What can I do for you?"

"Please help me investigate two people," Trevor replied.
