

Chapter 1399 A Task From Mobius

"Saniya? Why are you here?" Trevor asked in shock as he stared at the woman driving the car. He was utterly stunned.

He glanced in the rearview mirror. The people of Mobius couldn't catch up to them, so they stayed where they were.

Feeling that the threat had finally passed, Trevor heaved a sigh of relief.

Saniya looked a little nervous and pursed her lips. She looked at the mirror from time to time. It was only after a long time passed and she didn't see the men from Mobius that she relaxed a little.

She swallowed and turned to Trevor.

"I have the same question. Why are you here? You know the castle is not safe anymore!"

Trevor frowned and said nothing. He still didn't know what Saniya had in mind.

Seeing that Trevor didn't say anything, Saniya sighed and said, "I've always had my doubts about Terrance's car accident. Besides, there are some strange things going on in the Sanderson family lately. I need to investigate to find out the truth. Recently, strange people showed up and they're quiet arrogant. I have the hunch that those people have something to do with Terrance's accident. Then, I saw you being taken back by those men in black. So I think we have the same enemy."

Trevor thought for a while and finally chose to believe Saniya. She didn't seem to be lying.

After all, she was part of the Sanderson family. She knew where the power supply systems were in the castle.

After thinking it over, Trevor breathed a sigh of relief and said seriously, "Anyway, thank you. I owe you one."

He then took off his T-shirt.

When he ran through the bushes earlier, not only his clothes but also his skin were scratched by thorns. The wounds, although superficial, were bleeding a little, which was quite shocking.

There were also bruises caused by the bullets on his arm.

Thinking back to the scene in the castle, Trevor felt lucky that he reacted quickly. Otherwise, the bullets would have gone through him.

"Alas, I got hurt before my previous wound even had the time to heal," Trevor said with a bitter smile, shaking his head.

Saniya looked at Trevor and asked seriously, "What are you going to do now?"

Trevor chuckled. "We should rather be talking about what you're going to do. It won't take Mobius long to find out that you're the one who saved me because you are driving your own car. Follow my advice and leave Zayden as soon as possible. The Sanderson family is no longer what it used to be. You should stay away from here for a while."

Saniya's eyes narrowed slightly. She nodded thoughtfully and didn't say anything.

Half an hour later, they reached the downtown. They bade each other goodbye.

Trevor was right; Zayden was no longer a safe place for them.

Not only was the Sanderson family very powerful here, but Tucker was also after him.

There was no place in Zayden where Trevor could hide.

He would come back one day, but at the moment, he had to leave Zayden.

Trevor immediately drove back to his rental apartment and quickly packed his things.

He had to leave Zayden.

Chapter 1399 A Task From Mobius

While Trevor was packing his things, he suddenly noticed that the screen of a communication device he had lit up.

Seeing that, he raised a brow slightly.

The thing was, that communication device was not his. It belonged to Raven, a member of Mobius.

It seemed that someone just sent a message to Raven.

It must be Mobius!

Trevor immediately turned on the communication device to check the message.

It read, "Raven, we haven't received head of General Bowman for a while. It seems that he is indeed dead. You did a good job. Now we have a new task for you. Trevor Sanderson is still alive. I want you to go to Dreles to get his girlfriend, Luisa Burke. She's opened a cosmetics company there. We want you to use his girlfriend as a bait to force him out."

Trevor's eyes widened in shock.

He was initially shocked, but the next second, a burning anger rose in him.

Mobius now targeted Luisa!

"Go to hell!" Trevor roared angrily.

If he hadn't intercepted this message, Luisa would be in real danger.

In fact, she was already in danger.

There were many factions in Mobius. Raven was not the only one who had been given this task.

Trevor was overwhelmed with anger and he immediately made up his mind.

"I have to leave now. I'm going to Dreles! I must protect Luisa!"

Trevor stared at the intercom in his hand, fiery anger burning in his eyes.

How dare Mobius want to go after Luisa?

"Phew..."

Trevor took a deep breath to calm down and regained his composure.

He held his chin as he analyzed the current situation carefully.

"Mobius does not enjoy good management, and information flow within the organization is very inefficient. Until now, Mobius has no idea that Raven is dead and I have the intercom... So that means I have an advantage over them."

As Trevor was lost in thought, the screen of the intercom in his hand came on again.

He glanced at the screen and found that Raven's superior had sent a new message.

It read, "Raven, I will send someone to join you on the mission."

Trevor's heart sank.

Another member of Mobius would be involved in this mission too.

Trevor wasn't really surprised. After his previous encounters with Mobius, he had found that the organization seldom sent members alone on a mission.

Raven and the man with a broken finger didn't like each other at all, and despite that, they were still sent on a mission together.

Patrice had once told Trevor something about Mobius.

There were many factions within Mobius. The different factions often competed for tasks considered to be valuable.

Trevor took a deep breath and decided to go to Dreles as soon as possible.

He couldn't let Mobius get to Luisa or she would be in danger.

Having made up his mind, Trevor spent the night dressing up as Raven.

When he parted ways with Patrice last time, Patrice gave him some tattoo stickers, a voice changer and other equipment needed for disguise.

So it was not difficult for Trevor to disguise as Raven.

However, he knew nothing of Raven's habits, so he had to be on his guard.

Trevor planned to leave Zayden by train.

Although the train was certainly not the fastest means of transport, the fact that it carried a lot of people was an advantage because Trevor was less likely to be spotted by Mobius. Mobius certainly wouldn't expect Trevor to leave Zayden by train.

Trevor even bought three consecutive tickets.

Although he didn't sustain any serious injury in the Sanderson family's castle, his skin was scratched by thorns from the bushes and he had small wounds all over his body. He also had bullet bruises on his arms.

Trevor bought three consecutive tickets so that he wouldn't have to rub elbows with other passengers.

And if he wanted to have his wounds treated on the train, it would be more convenient.

Trevor went to the train station with his suitcase and boarded the train.

But when Trevor went to the seats he had booked, he was stunned to see that a middle-aged couple with their daughter occupied his seats.

Frowning, Trevor walked up to the couple and greeted them politely.

"Hello, I think you guys are in the seats I booked."

With the voice changer, his voice was hoarse and deep like that of Raven.

The middle-aged woman just glanced at Trevor and said perfunctorily, "Oh, you are late. We thought no one would take this seat. It just so happens that the three of us haven't bought consecutive tickets. How about we change seats? My seat is on the first row in the front car."

The middle-aged man also waved his hand casually, indicating that he had no desire to talk with Trevor.
