

Chapter 1405 Back In Dreles

"Eww!"

Jalayah's face turned pale as vomit poured from her mouth.

She felt much worse than exhaustion and dizziness from the fever. Taking the suppository before everyone distressed her.

The other passengers couldn't help themselves.

Soon, their peals of laughter filled the whole train.

On the other hand, Kyson's expression hardened. He felt ashamed and humiliated for Jalayah.

Jalayah's parents were also dumbfounded. With panic in their eyes, they urged her to cough the medicine out.

"Hurry! You have to spit it out, Jalayah!"

"It's dangerous to take the wrong medicine!"

Watching the ruckus, Trevor snickered.

Taking the suppository orally wasn't entirely dangerous as it wouldn't cause serious side effects. It wasn't necessarily a cause of panic. But it felt disgusting.

Trevor was pleased that their stupidity served their right.

Finally, the train arrived in Dreles.

As soon as the train doors opened, Kyson stood up with a scowl, hurrying to leave.

Passing by Trevor, he gritted his teeth and said in a low voice, "Just wait and see! The Duffy family won't let you get away with this!"

Trevor lifted an eyebrow at him.

The Duffy family?

Was there anyone or anything more dangerous than Mobius?

Trevor didn't take Kyson's threat seriously and shrugged.

They probably wouldn't see each other again after they got off the train.

Walking out of the train station, Trevor stood on the side of the road with mixed feelings.

The last time Trevor was in Dreles, he almost didn't make it out alive after being attacked by the members of Mobius. He could still remember the cold seawater and the heat from the monstrous fire that night as if it were just yesterday.

He touched his chin and the lining of the mask he wore for his disguise as Raven.

He even used a voice changer to complete his disguise.

He was completely unrecognizable.

As he stood on the street and looked around, he felt conflicted.

But it wasn't the time to be caught up with his feelings.

Trevor returned to Dreles not to sulk but to protect Luisa.

She had been targeted by Mobius and was now in danger.

"I need to find a way to get close to Luisa," Trevor muttered.

Clutching the suitcase, he walked down the street.

As Raven, his face and voice were different.

Luisa wouldn't recognize him even if he showed up before her.

If he couldn't go near her, it would be difficult to protect her.

Just then, loud music playing caught Trevor's attention.

He turned in the direction of the noise and found a newly opened cosmetics shop holding its ribbon-cutting ceremony.

An outdoor stage stood in front of the stop with many people gathering around.

Trevor was about to look away when his eyes caught a glimpse of a familiar figure.

It was Luisa, looking beautiful as ever.

Luisa stepped onto the outdoor stage in a graceful gait.

The woman Trevor had missed so much was in front of him.

It was indeed Luisa!

Trevor had imagined thousands of different occasions where he would see Luisa again, but on the street wasn't one of them.

Trevor was completely caught off guard. His heart raced, and he felt like tearing up.

The love of his life was so close to him, but he couldn't run and take her in his arms.

Containing his emotions, Trevor walked toward the stage in light steps.

"I want to thank you all for attending the opening ceremony of Newmere Cosmetics' new store!"

Luisa's voice was steady and powerful, which made her look more attractive.

The corners of Trevor lips curled up into a smile.

They hadn't seen each other for months, but Trevor was okay with watching her from afar as long as Luisa was healthy and safe.

He felt much better and reassured.

Although Luisa couldn't recognize him in the crowd, Trevor was still happy and relieved to see her safe and sound.

When it was time for the ribbon-cutting ceremony, the music suddenly stopped.

Trevor's expression hardened.

A group of thugs stepped onto the stage, laughing hideously.

"Hey! Why didn't you invite us to this opening? You're not taking us seriously, huh?"

Trevor narrowed his eyes.

The thugs were here causing trouble.

Trevor grimaced.

He was familiar with the gangsters and hooligans he encountered while he was in Dreles. And these people were strange to him.

The onlookers had terrified faces and whispered as they stood beneath the stage.

"They have returned, those rascals! Damn it, I have a feeling that this store's opening won't go smoothly."

"It's a pity that they targeted Newmere Cosmetics. I've heard that they've been putting together the opening ceremony for quite a long time!"

"They could avoid the disaster but they would have to pay a huge amount. If they decide to open the stores in this block, they will eventually have to deal with hooligans."

As the thugs were now on the stage, it got crowded.

The staff of Newmere Cosmetics stepped out and stood before Luisa, trying to keep her away from the thugs. And she was pushed over the edge of the stage.

"Hey, Luisa! It's bad enough that you didn't inform us about your opening. Don't you know the ways of the underworld?"

Standing in the front with his arms on his hips was a man wearing a flowery shirt and sunglasses.

He pulled down his sunglasses so that he could see Luisa better.

"I will go easy with you because this is the first time you've opened a store in our neighborhood and you don't know the rules. Well, we have ten men here today. We'll leave right away and make sure that your shop can operate safely in three months if you give each of us two hundred thousand dollars."

Luisa responded grimly, "Two hundred thousand for each of you? That's too much!"

The man demanded impatiently, "Just tell me if you agree with it or not!"

Luisa inhaled deeply and said firmly, "Please leave now! We don't want you around! I'm going to call the police if you don't leave right now."

The man turned around and turned to face the men standing next to him. Then the gang of hooligans started laughing mockingly.

"Are you serious? Prison is like home to us. Call the police? Do you think I'm afraid of them? Stop the nonsense and give us the money! If not, we won't be leaving today!"

He made stern threats. Behind him, the hooligans warmed up as though they were going to trash and vandalize the store.

Darkness crept up on Luisa's face.

The night Trevor and his family were attacked in the villa, she wasn't there. Since then, Cecelia hid her in her family.

However, she was so worried about Trevor that she left Cecelia's home and continued to run Newmere Cosmetics.

Severich in Zayden and Newmere Cosmetics had recently signed an agreement. She had anticipated that it would be a successful start, but she had not expected that the first shop she had opened in Dreles would encounter a problem like this.

Coldly, Luisa uttered, "Are you blackmailing me? I'll tell you now, forget it!"

The store had just opened. It would undoubtedly be a huge blow to the reputation of Newmere Cosmetics if she paid the money and swallowed insult and humiliation.

In any case, she couldn't consent to such a ridiculous request in public.

"Well, I guess you want this to happen." The smile vanished from the man's face. He pushed the staff in front of him right away.

"Ah! What are you doing?"

The majority of the workers in the cosmetics store were female. They were no match for the armed thugs who confronted them.

Standing on the stage, Luisa kept stepping back. She was so anxious that he was unable to come up with a plan.

The stage wasn't very large. Despite being guarded, Luisa was still pushed to the edge of it.

"Ah!"

With a scream, Luisa lost her balance and was on the verge of falling off the stage.

The stage was only two meters high.

But she could sustain serious injuries if she fell on her head.

Trevor could clearly see what was happening from where he was standing beneath the stage, and he was ready to take action.

He sprinted over to Luisa, opening his powerful arms to catch her.

"Are you all right?" he asked hastily.

He heard a gruesome howl at his feet before Luisa could respond.

Someone was knocked to the ground.

When Trevor turned around, he noticed a recognizable man lying on the ground while he was yelling and covering his chest with his hand.

It was Kyson. They had met on the train.

Chapter 1407 Kyson's Trick

Why was Kyson here?

Shouldn't he go to work with the employees or keep trying to fit into the family of three?

A deep frown appeared on Trevor's face as he analyzed the scene in confusion. He felt that something was off.

He suddenly heard Kyson scream. But even so, he still held Luisa firmly.

Luisa had thought she would crash to the ground after falling from the stage. She was quite relieved to see that she had been caught.

She wanted to thank the man who saved her, but soon noticed that he held her tightly and didn't seem to have any intention of letting her go.

Luisa felt angry and extremely embarrassed to the point where she blushed.

"Sir, I'm fine! Please let me go," she urged the man.

Only then did Trevor realize that Luisa couldn't recognize him because of his disguise.

With an awkward smile, he finally put Luisa on the ground.

"I'm sorry. Please be careful next time."

Luisa blushed and lowered her eyes. Then, she thanked the man politely. "Thank you for saving me."

At this moment, Kyson, who was lying on the ground, covered his chest and stood up. He glared at Trevor with a painful expression and snapped, "Were you here for Luisa too? Wait a minute... Shit! It's you!"

Kyson finally recognized Trevor and his expression became strange.

Of course, what had happened on the train was still fresh on his mind.

Kyson felt a bit nervous.

He had pursued Luisa for a long time in Dreles, but his father abruptly sent him on a business trip to Zayden.

Just a few days ago, he learned that Luisa was about to open her cosmetics shop and he specially rushed back to Dreles in order to create a "romantic encounter."

He didn't expect to find that same troublemaker here after their altercation on the train.

"Luisa, come to me. I'll protect you!" Kyson said firmly, trying his best to act like a gentleman. "The man next to you is a maniac and he is very violent. He could hurt you!"

Luisa was silent for a while and quietly smoothed her messy hair. Then, she glanced at Kyson coldly and said stiffly, "Thank you for your concern."

Trevor looked at the two for a while. He had the feeling there must be something between the two.

He guessed that Kyson was probably pursuing Luisa but she refused.

When Trevor looked at Kyson again, he saw Kyson gnashing his teeth. The latter then winked at the hooligans on the stage.

Seeing that, Trevor couldn't help but sneer inwardly. It was clear that Kyson was the one who hired these hooligans. Kyson's plan was simple. He intended to secretly get Luisa in trouble and then save her to pose as a hero.

What a cunning man! The fact that this man was going to use such a sleazy trick to win his girlfriend's heart made Trevor furious.

With a look of contempt, Trevor snorted coldly.

"You say you can protect her? Have you forgotten how easy it was for me to knock you down just now? How can someone as weak as you protect a girl?"

Trevor actually didn't even hit Kyson. When Kyson was about to pick up Luisa, she kicked him and he fell down.

Upon hearing Trevor's words, Kyson was so angry that his face turned red. He cast a cold look at Trevor.

He decided to play the same trick again.

All that mattered to him was to be the one who saved Luisa. It didn't matter what kind of danger he put her in.

Kyson secretly made a gesture to the men on the stage, indicating them to attack Trevor.

He thought his plan would succeed.

These men were better at fighting than the employees in his company. After they beat up Trevor, he would rush over and pretend to drive them away. That would make Luisa fall for him.

At Kyson's signal, the hooligans jumped off the stage and gathered around Trevor, laughing wildly.

A man in a flowery shirt pointed at Trevor arrogantly and shouted, "Hey! I will say this just once, get out of here! I have something to talk with Luisa."
