

Chapter 1446 The Competition At The Table

Gunter fought his irritation and forced himself to calm down.

"Good job," he said briefly. "You have a wonderful guard, Luisa."

Luisa then replied with a bright smile.

She nodded at Trevor to express her appreciation.

In a muffled voice, Rock let out a cold hum. It was difficult to tell whether it was to mock Trevor or to express displeasure with Gunter.

Luisa caught everyone's attention and said, "Now that everyone's here, let the dinner begin!"

She had intended to bring Zoie along, but she hadn't anticipated that Trevor would show up and perform so well. She gave it some thought before inviting him to dine with them.

They entered the restaurant together.

Gunter's eyes narrowed, an imperceptible light flashing in them. He quickly took his seat and smiled at Trevor.

"I'm sorry but we don't have enough seats here. Dragon, please sit with Rock. And be careful when they serve the dishes. There might be an accident."

Chuckling, Gunter exchanged a meaningful look with Rock.

Rock nodded slightly to show that he understood what his partner meant.

Accident?

Such a thing wouldn't happen tonight, but they would set up one.

As the members of Mobius, this kind of work was nothing but a basic task!

They were good at murdering for money and making it look like an accident.

Rock couldn't help but grin hideously.

The signature dishes of Top Cloud were French cuisines and Luisa ordered a whole set of it.

When the first cold appetizer was served, Trevor was secretly on high alert.

He silently spread butter on the bread while feigning enjoyment.

He knew that Rock and Gunther would definitely make trouble later.

The waiter delivered the second dish and revealed it to be a seafood soup.

Trevor could see the steam coming from the appetizing soup with seafood.

However, he sensed malice at this moment.

Rock reached out from behind Trevor's chair and pulled the waiter.

"Ah!"

The waiter screamed and leaned in closer to Trevor.

Both Rock and Gunter looked like they were watching a play. They waited for the well-planned "accident" to happen.

What they didn't know was that Trevor was on guard.

He quickly extended his hands as the waiter prepared to serve the soup.

Trevor used his left hand to support the waiter's shoulder.

He then used his right hand to hold the waiter's arm to stop the soup from spilling.

The waiter was in full shock. Trevor held him and slammed the hot soup in front of Rock.

The steam from the soup made it hard for Rock to open his eyes.

"I'm so sorry!" The waiter apologized in panic.

He had no idea Rock was the reason he lost his footing.

Trevor smiled as he waved his hand. He turned around and asked Rock, "Are you alright? I'm sorry for putting the soup in front of you. You don't mind, do you?"

"You don't mind, do you?" Trevor asked.

Standing in a huff and glaring at Trevor, Rock wiped the steam from his eyes.

He clenched his fists so hard that they produced an ominous cracking sound.

"Brat! Are you making fun of me?" Rock hissed.

Would he mind? Of course he would!

As a Mobius member, Rock refused to accept defeat and always took matters into his own hands without fear of repercussions.

Irritated by Trevor's words, Rock blew a fuse.

On the other hand, Trevor didn't look fazed in his seat.

He was prepared to fight at any time.

"Quit it, Rock!"

Gunter stood up and gave Rock a warning look.

Rock's face twitched. The contempt in his expression made him look ghastly.

Hearing Gunter, he paused and tried to contain his anger. After a moment, he let out a cold snort and sat back.

He was under Gunter's command in this mission, so he had no choice but to obey.

Gunter flashed an awkward smile and sat down gallantly. "It's just a misunderstanding. Let's not make a scene here."

The tension in the air escalated after Rock's outburst.

Everyone regarded Rock with fear.

To clear the mood, Gunter took the opportunity to get acquainted with Luisa.

"This lobster tastes so good. But I think it's from New Zealand because of its small size. Next time, I'll take you to eat authentic Australian lobster."

Luisa raised her eyebrows.

"Really? I didn't know about that."

Gazing up at Luisa and then at Gunter, Trevor cracked up.

"What's funny?" Gunter dropped his smile and glared at Trevor, who was really getting on his nerves.

In the past hours, Trevor had done nothing but mess up Gunter's plans and even pissed off Rock.

Because of it, the atmosphere became stiff. Gunter tried to cool the air, but Trevor was sabotaging it again.

What an asshole!

Gunter really wanted to slap Trevor's chuckling face but contained himself.

Waving a hand dismissively, Trevor said, "I'm sorry, but this is an authentic Australian lobster. Although Australian lobsters are generally larger than New Zealand lobsters, their sizes aren't the main distinction between the two. Australian lobsters are usually fiery red, like this one here, while New Zealand lobsters are commonly dark red and black."

Gunter put down his glass and forced a smile.

"Is that so? Perhaps I misremembered."

Although Gunter wore a friendly smile, his expression couldn't hide his embarrassment and displeasure.

This time, it wasn't only Rock who was sulking. Gunter joined him, gnashing his teeth in rage at Trevor.

Trevor regarded them coldly.

Did they want to fight him? Well, they messed up with the wrong person. They had better leave Luisa alone.

Trevor wasn't shaken by the threat in Gunter's eyes.

As long as he could make Luisa safe, he didn't mind their contempt toward him.

From the start, it was clear to Trevor that he would have to face Mobius if they didn't leave Luisa alone.

This was the beginning of his declaration of war.

Chapter 1448 Exercise After Dinner

Even though the food in Top Cloud was great and satisfying, both Gunter and Rock were not feeling good.

After they were done with dinner, Gunter turned to Luisa and said eagerly, "We don't often come to Dreles. How about we have a little bit of fun together now that we finished the meal?"

While this conversation was ongoing, Rock blocked Trevor's path as if he was afraid that the latter would run away.

It appeared that he was ready to lose his temper as long as Trevor refused to come with them.

As Luisa glanced around and noticed what was happening, she couldn't help but feel anxious.

Of course, she knew that Trevor was not on good terms with Rock and Gunter. She had initially planned to instruct Trevor to leave first, but she had not anticipated that his path would be blocked by Rock.

There was a threatening smile on Gunter's face. "Luisa, I'm sure you will grant me this little request, won't you?"

Zoie was also anxious by this development, but she knew that she had no say on this matter.

At that moment, Luisa had no option but to agree to his request. "Okay."

A smile appeared on Trevor's face. He was not afraid of Rock or Gunter.

There was a private sports club located in the lower floor of the building. It was quite luxurious, and well equipped with

After they arrived at the sports club, Rock couldn't hide his hideous grin as he pointed at Trevor.

"Hey, you, I heard that you are the leader of the security department of Newmere Cosmetics. I think I'm stronger than you. How about we have a friendly competition to determine who is better?"

Even though he was trying to sound friendly, his tone was still harsh and obviously threatening.

Trevor glanced at him with his hands in his pockets. "You want to compete with me?"

A grin was on Rock's lips as he looked down at Trevor, showing off his white teeth.

"What? Are you scared? You're free to choose any confrontational sport you would like."

He raised his right hand up to show off his muscles.

Then he glanced at the Trevor and chuckled again.

"Would you dare to fight me?"

Luisa's countenance changed and she hurriedly interrupted them by waving her hands.

"Hey guys, how about we just exercise on the treadmill to aid the digestion. Besides, Rock is obviously strong and burly. He must be a force to reckon with. There's no need to prove it."

Trevor was an employee of Newmere Cosmetics.

Luisa felt that she had the obligation to protect her employees from any harm.

Even though the relationship between Trevor and the other party was a little strained, he still defended the company's interests at the end of the day. Being the boss, she couldn't Rock looked very strong and burly! His physique alone was menacing.

Luisa stared at him, observing every inch of his body in silent amazement.

The burly man was at least two meters tall. His physique was strong and intimidating. He looked like a giant carved out from a huge boulder.

It certainly wasn't a wise choice to stand against such a strong man.

Even though Gunter tried to assure her that Rock didn't mean to be angry during the dinner, Luisa did not believe him.

She was very sure that Trevor and Rock were at odds.

If Rock tried to hurt Trevor...

Luisa turned to Trevor and winked.

"Dragon, I don't think you're good at confrontational sports, am I correct?"

Trevor only smiled in response to her question.

He was well aware that Luisa was only trying her best to protect her employees.

"It's just a friendly competition, isn't it? Well, let's have a go at it." Trevor's response was full of confidence.

Then he turned to Luisa and smiled yet again.

Trevor was determined to accept the challenge. In the face of an enemy like Mobius, he knew he had to accept whatever challenge that was put forward to him.

Otherwise, he would be vulnerable to more covert and unexpected attacks.

These people were very desperate. They could do anything to achieve their goals.

Luisa was so angry that she stomped her foot.

She cursed under her breath. "Didn't he get my hint? I can't believe this. Rock is very strong! Going against him is like signing one's death warrant! But this guy will not listen to me. He's too stubborn!"

Gunter was secretly excited that Trevor had accepted the challenge.

Rock also laughed very hard. His white teeth was visible as he guffawed and pointed at Trevor.

"Okay! You're free to choose whatever you want to play. But be warned, there's no surrender or backing out once we start."
