

Chapter 1486 Unwanted Visitor

Treating Ayanna's throat problem might be complex for regular doctors, but not for Trevor, who learned acupuncture from the Scott family.

Apart from that, Trevor had prior experience treating throat problems.

Ivanna, the first actress his film company in Barlowtown had signed, had damaged her vocal cords, but Trevor had treated it with acupuncture.

Trevor did the same procedure on Ayanna. Half an hour in, her throat felt much better, and the hoarseness of her voice diminished.

Once the treatment was done, Ayanna thanked him.

Trevor waved his hand dismissively and reminded, "You need to rest your throat. Don't talk or sing excessively. Avoid spicy food or drinking alcohol."

After that, he returned to Luisa's ward, only to find her awake and propped up on the bed. The moment he walked in, she looked him straight in the eye.

Meeting her gaze, Trevor couldn't help feeling like he was caught red-handed.

He scratched his nose, wondering if Luisa remembered what she said in her sleep.

Without saying anything, Luisa fixed her gaze on him.

For a moment, the atmosphere in the room was stiff. Then it became awkward.

Luisa cleared her throat and asked stiffly, "Where is my suit jacket?"

Trevor was surprised by her question.

Was she concerned about that?

After a pause, Trevor smiled. "It's not what you think. You were burning because of the fever, so I took it off to make you feel less hot. It's left in your office."

As he was speaking, he couldn't keep touching his nose to hide his amusement.

As she almost passed out from the fever, Luisa clutched his arm firmly and mumbled about missing him.

Now that she was awake and out of fever, she returned to fronting indifference and vigilance toward him.

Looking skeptically at him, Luisa pulled the blanket over her chest and said reluctantly, "Well, thank you."

Trevor returned it with a small smile.

When Luisa mumbled about how much she missed him, he couldn't stop himself from kissing her.

Now, when he looked at her beautiful face, guilt swept over him.

If she knew he stole a kiss from her as Dragon, she would detest him forever.

Trevor sighed inwardly, hoping he could tell her who he truly was very soon. It was sad that he had to pretend as someone else in front of his girlfriend. It was all because of Mobius.

Mobius was the Sword of Damocles hanging over Trevor's head.

As long as their threat still hung in the air, he had to conceal his identity.

Apart from that, his father and grandfather were constrained in

Chapter 1486 Unwanted Visitor

 +120 Points at most

Glareder. There were a lot of problems he needed to solve, so he must be cautious and remain strong.

"You should test. If you feel anything bad, call me. I'll be right at the door," Trevor said. Then he walked out of the ward and sat on the chair in the corridor.

The next day, many of Newmere Cosmetics' senior executives paid Luisa a visit after learning what happened.

Gunter also received the news.

He hadn't forgotten about his mission, but after losing to Trevor on the yacht, he had to calculate his next moves. Hearing about what happened to Luisa, he suddenly saw an opportunity to get close to her.

He was her business partner, so it was only natural that he would visit her at the hospital. Besides, Trevor might not know he would visit Luisa. Even if Trevor got to know after that, he wouldn't be able to do anything about it.

Making up his mind, Gunter grinned. With a gift in his hand, he strode toward the hospital.

Chapter 1487 Go Back On His Word

When Gunter arrived at the hospital, he saw Trevor sitting on the chair in the hallway.

Gunter's expression changed drastically and he couldn't help but swear in his head. He was really unlucky.

However, as a member of Mobius, Gunter knew how to keep his cool and not show his emotions. He pretended not to see Trevor and was about to quietly pass him and enter the ward.

But when he was about to push the door open, he was suddenly stopped.

"Stop!" Trevor stood in front of Gunter. "Gunter, don't you remember? Do I have to remind you that according to our bet which you lost, you can't harass Luisa again? Do you want to go back on your word?"

Gunter's face darkened and his eyes filled with murderous intent. However, he quickly hid it.

Henrik had witnessed their bet. If he went back on his word now, he would lose all credibility in the future.

However, Gunter was unwilling to give up. He gritted his teeth and said, "Come on, Dragon. I just came to check on my business partner and bring her a gift. Do you mean to stand in the way of my business partnership with Luisa?"

Trevor almost laughed. "Business partner? Do you even believe what you said?"

Gunter recalled his terrible performance when they were negotiating the business cooperation and couldn't help but feel embarrassed again.

Chapter 1487 Go Back On His W...  +120 Points at most

His lips twitched, but he couldn't argue. He could only ask bitterly, "Dragon, you won't let me go in? Why do you have to stop me?"

Trevor looked Gunter in the eye and said coldly, "You just can't go in. If you want to send a gift to Luisa, you can leave it here. I'll give it to her. Now, leave."

A fierce look appeared in Gunter's eyes. He stared at Trevor for a few seconds.

Finally, he gave in. He put down the well-packed fruit basket and said unhappily, "Be gentle! Don't damage the gift! This is not cheap fruit. I won't be surprised if you've never heard of it!"

Trevor curled his lips and looked at Gunter with disdain.

"Are you so cocky because you brought fruit to Luisa? Don't be so conceited. It's just ruby grapes from Rome. Don't think the others are as ignorant as you are. You're just narrow-minded."

Of course, Trevor guessed that Gunter wanted to use the fruit to win Luisa's heart.

However, Luisa was not the kind of girl who could be impressed with fruit, no matter how expensive it was.

When he and Luisa were still in Jork, he had once given her ruby grapes as a gift.

Of course, Gunter didn't know about this. "Even if you know about it, Luisa may not. Why don't you let me introduce it to her?"

Trevor cut him off. "No way. I am sure Luisa is not that ignorant. If I know ruby grapes, then she must know them too. You don't need to introduce them to her. Please go back now."

Gunter was so angry that he gritted his teeth and glared at Trevor. Finally, he had no other choice but to leave the hospital in anger.

Trevor squinted slightly and watched Gunter's figure disappear.

Chapter 1487 Go Back On His W...  +120 Points at most

He could feel that Gunter was rapidly losing patience after being defeated over and over again.

His disguise as a gentleman was becoming more and more difficult to maintain.

He was afraid that Gunter's patience would completely wear off after a while. At that point, Gunter would go all out and probably launch a fierce attack.

Trevor pushed this thought at the back of his mind. He then glanced at the beautiful fruit basket on the floor.

People of Mobius were crazy!

At this moment, Trevor felt a vibration in his pocket.

He frowned and took out the vibrating object. When he saw what it was, his pupils suddenly shrank.

It was Raven's communication device.

Chapter 1488 His Partner

Raven's superior sent him a text message.

"Ape will be joining you as your new partner. He has recently arrived in Dreles and I'll be sending you his contact number shortly."

Trevor raised an eyebrow in surprise upon seeing this message.

The other members of Mobius were not aware that Raven had already passed away.

The "Ape" mentioned in the message was another Mobius member's code name.

So, at least three Mobius members, including Gunter, Rock, and Ape were present in Dreles.

With each passing moment, the situation was becoming more complicated.

"Perhaps I can try to use this guy to cause trouble for Gunter and Rock," Trevor murmured as he narrowed his eyes.

He immediately contacted Ape after getting his phone number.

To ensure that no one would question him, he used a voice changer to transform his voice into Raven's distinctively hoarse voice.

Patrice had mentioned that Raven was known to be reclusive and rarely interacted with other members of Mobius.

Therefore, Ape also didn't know much about Raven.

Trevor got in touch with Ape and found their communication surprisingly smooth.

He was surprised when Ape suggested meeting him at an amusement arcade.

Trevor immediately left Luisa for the time being and went to meet Ape at the arcade.

The arcade was in the suburb of Dreles and appeared to be a little dated.

The rows of game machines where some high school students were seated in groups of two and three and playing games together brought back a feeling of the time. It sounded a little lively, like they were laughing or swearing.

With his hands in his pockets, Trevor peered around and found a middle-aged man smoking a cigarette alone in a corner.

The middle-aged man wore a black shirt with rolled-up sleeves, revealing his muscular and hair-covered arms. As he played the arcade game, the machine shook so violently that it seemed like it could collapse at any moment.

Trevor noticed the tattoo on the middle-aged man's wrist. This man belonged to Mobius!

Upon noticing Trevor staring at him, the middle-aged man shot him a glance. "Just give me a moment."

Trevor positioned himself beside the man and observed as Ape expertly manipulated the joystick of the machine to guide his character to victory in the game.

After winning the game, Ape flicked away his cigarette and crushed its butt under his shoe.

With composure, Trevor revealed the tattoo on his wrist, which had been prepared for him by Patrice in advance.

Ape gave a small nod.

He took a seat and introduced himself. "You can call me Ape. My boss sent me here to be your partner. Just to be clear, my only responsibility is to fight and kill. Beyond that, don't count on me for any advice or support."

It turned out Ape didn't like to use his brain. That'd be fantastic!

Trevor chuckled to himself as he spoke in a raspy, low voice.

"My code name is Raven. I've already approached the target under a false name, but now I find myself in trouble. Perhaps you can assist me?"

Ape signaled for the Raven to continue by raising his bushy eyebrows.

Trevor spoke slowly while flashing a playful grin.

"I met Gunter, a rich man from Zayden. He's been causing trouble for me a couple of times, and I can't afford any more delays. I need him out of the way."

Ape grumbled impatiently, "Can't you handle him? Where is he now? Give me his location and I'll get rid of him."

Trevor smiled discreetly.

A violent person who disliked using his brain would not be suspicious at all.

"Don't rush. When the time is right, I will let you know and set up a good plan of action for you," Trevor answered.

Ape scowled in displeasure. He took out another cigarette, and placed it in his mouth, but did not light it.

He reluctantly nodded and said, "Okay. Could I exchange some of your change for game coins? I'm staying in this place until we take action."

Trevor was somewhat taken aback.

The top killer from Mobius could be dealt with by just some game coins. That was a good deal!

Without saying a word, Trevor went to the front desk to exchange five thousand dollars for game coins and gave them to Ape in a box.

Chapter 1488 His Partner

 +120 Points at most

Ape weighed the box in his hand.

He grinned and showed his yellow teeth as soon as he heard the sound of the game coins smacking into one another inside the box.

Trevor regarded it as a small matter, but the hooligans lurking nearby were drawn to the scene.

A thin, yellow-haired young man made a call.

"You gotta come to the arcade. There's a rich guy. He exchanged five thousand for game coins in one go! He must be carrying a large amount of cash!"