

Chapter 1531 Arrogant Young Man

Two days later, the tender for the new development area of Dreles begun.

Trevor arrived with Luisa. He was dressed in a dark blue suit which made him particularly elegant.

The parking lot was filled with all kinds of luxury cars belonging to a host of wealthy businessmen who had come.

Luisa's Chevrolet looked ridiculous in the middle of all these luxury cars and even seemed to spoil the picture.

Trevor took a glance at the license plate numbers of the luxury cars and said in a low voice, "Most of them are from other cities."

Luisa nodded and sighed. "You are right. The Wright family has been keeping a low profile recently, and they are not interested in the new development zone. On the other hand, wealthy businessmen as well as powerful families and companies from cities around Dreles are eager to occupy the market. I'm afraid it will be a little difficult for us to win the tender."

Thanks to the Wright family, Dreles had experienced quite remarkable economic and cultural development.

Now, ambitious companies and businessmen around Dreles all wanted to invest in the city and get their own share of the market.

This tender was the best chance they all had to establish their businesses in Dreles.

Hearing Luisa's concerns, Trevor just smiled and patted her on the shoulder, indicating her to enter the venue.

At this moment, the noise of a car arriving was heard.

A blue Bentley soon stopped at the entrance of the venue and a young man in a white suit got out of the car. The young man slowly took off his sunglasses.

The businessmen around welcomed the young man warmly. Judging from their reaction, Trevor guessed the young man must be a big shot.

Trevor soon spotted a familiar face amongst the people welcoming the young man.

It was Hurley, whom Trevor had met in the supermarket some time ago.

Hurley also happened to see Trevor and Luisa.

As soon as Hurley's eyes fell on the two people, he threw away the coffee can in his hand and walked up to the rich young man who'd just showed up.

"Hey, Curtis! Long time no see. You know, I have been living a hard life in Dreles recently. Do you see that beautiful girl over there? I wanted to introduce her to you, but the young man next to her beat me up. He has no respect for rich people. I don't care if he despises me, but he obviously has no respect for you either."

Curtis Craig followed the direction Hurley was pointing at. His eyes soon fell on Luisa and lit up almost immediately.

He then glanced at Hurley contemptuously and said, "Hurley, don't think that I don't know what you are up to."

Hurley felt so embarrassed that he could only laugh awkwardly.

Curtis straightened the collar of his suit and then strode toward Luisa with a confident smile.

"Hi, beauty. Are you also here for the bidding? I'll be honest with you, okay? I'm more than determined to win the tender for the new development zone. But don't worry, I can leave you a small piece of land. Of course, only if you are willing to be my girlfriend. What do you think?"

Luisa was so pissed by this man's cockiness that her whole body trembled with anger.

If it weren't for the occasion, she would have most certainly cursed him out loud.

However, Luisa knew better than to do such a thing. She restrained her anger and just said coldly, "I'm not interested!"

At this moment, Hurley came over.

"Luisa, how dare you turn down Curtis? You are too arrogant!
Curtis is the heir of the Craig family. Although the Craig family isn't in Dreles, they still have a great influence here."

Both Curtis and Hurley ignored Trevor, who was standing aside.

Curtis nodded proudly and added, "It's an honor for you to be my girlfriend! What? Don't you want to own land in the new development zone?"

As he spoke, he reached out his hand to grab Luisa's.

Trevor couldn't stand it anymore and slapped Curtis' arm.

"Enough!"

Chapter 1532 The Farce

Trevor was still wearing a mask, disguising himself as Raven. When he scolded Curtis with a frown, he looked frightening.

Curtis was also shocked. But he couldn't show his timidity in front of Hurley, so he swallowed his saliva and pretended to be calm.

He rubbed his arm and mocked, "You are a mere security guard. How dare you meddle in my business? If you didn't move, I would think you were a tree."

Trevor looked at him and sneered, "Seriously? Are you blind? You can't even see me standing here?"

Hurley shouted, "How dare you! How can you talk to Curtis like that? Curtis only needs to give orders, and the Craig family has many ways to kill you. Even if Curtis beats you, you can't dodge. How dare you scold Curtis! I think you are tired of living in this world. Why don't I take you to hell?"

After being scolded by Trevor, Curtis was already angry from embarrassment. But after being reminded by Hurley, he became even more arrogant.

He felt that as long as he told Trevor the name of the Craig family, it would be easier to deal with him.

"Damn you! How dare you say I'm blind! You must be courting death! If I don't teach you a lesson today, you will not stop being too arrogant. Don't move. Just stand right there. I'll punish you myself."

Curtis was so angry that his face flushed. He quivered with indignation. He rolled up the sleeves of his white suit and got ready to attack Trevor.

The rich businessmen around all paid attention to Curtis. After all, the Craig family was powerful and a strong competitor in the bidding. In fact, they could be considered the strongest.

Curtis' roar attracted the attention of everyone present.

Luisa was a little worried. She wanted to say something to stop him.

However, Trevor waved at her, hinting at her that he would deal with it.

Trevor saw a coffee can on the floor. He smiled, took a step back, and stood on the stairs.

Then he provoked Curtis. "Come on, I'm standing right here. Beat me if you can."

Curtis was now furious from embarrassment. A trace of ferocity flashed through his eyes. "You are fucking courting death!"

His eyes were fixed on Trevor, so he didn't notice the coffee can on the floor.

He was losing his marbles because of anger. His fist upraised and was about to pounce on Trevor.

However, as soon as Curtis stepped forward, his foot landed on the can.

"Ah!"

Before Curtis could know it, he lost his balance and fell forward. His scream echoed throughout the entire place.

He was so frightened that he subconsciously stretched out his other foot to keep his balance.

However, there was a low stair in front of him. When Curtis stepped on the edge of the stair, he couldn't stand steadily at all. He lost his balance and fell toward Trevor.

Upon seeing this, Trevor smiled slightly and took a quick step

A loud bang echoed in everyone's ears.

Under the watchful eyes of the people present, Curtis fell to the floor. He lay awkwardly in front of Trevor with dust all over him. His posture seemed like he was worshiping Trevor.

Those businessmen around were shocked. They all covered their mouths with their hands, suppressing their laughter.

Hurley watched this scene, and he was scared to death.

Trevor just shrugged and spread out his hands innocently.

"Everyone, please be my witness. I never touched this man just now. He fell by himself. This guy is indeed blind. He can't see people clearly and even the coffee can on the floor. I only told you the truth that you were blind, but you got angry. I suggest you go to the hospital to have your eyes treated. And also see a psychiatrist, by the way."

The people around them burst into laughter.

Curtis clutched his chest in pain. He lay on the floor and cursed weakly, "Damn you! Who the hell threw this garbage here? I will kill that person."

Hurley's neck shrank. He hurried over to help Curtis.

But he didn't dare to say a word. If he remembered correctly, he was the one who threw the can there. If he admitted it, it would be equivalent to asking Curtis to beat him.

Trevor chuckled and glanced at Hurley with a faint smile. Then he took Luisa's hand and walked into the venue unhurriedly.

Curtis stood up, still clutching his chest. He took a few deep breaths to calm down. But at this moment, he could only see Trevor's and Luisa's backs.

He was so angry that blue veins stood out on his neck. He gritted his teeth and cursed, "You bastard! Just wait and see! I

Chapter 1533 It's Unfair

Trevor held Luisa's hand as they walked into the bidding venue and sat in the pre-arranged seats.

As soon as they were seated, Luisa asked in a low voice, "Curtis seems difficult to deal with. Are you not afraid that he will take revenge on you?"

Trevor smiled confidently. "He is just a nobody. Don't worry. He is not a threat at all."

The two of them chatted for a while. Then they saw Curtis walk into the venue, being supported by Hurley. Coincidentally, their seats were next to Trevor's.

Hurley frowned when he saw Trevor.

He scolded, "How dare you still show up in front of Curtis? Get the hell out of here!"

Trevor laughed angrily. "How dare you drive me away? Who do you think you are? Shame on you!"

Curtis clutched his aching chest and said ferociously, "Humph! You are asking for this. Don't blame me for not giving you a chance. You can't get any land in this bidding."

Not to be outdone, Luisa snorted.

"Oh, really? The bidding is about to start. Let's compete with our strength and see the final winner."

Although there was still pain on Curtis' face, he sneered mockingly.

While they were bickering, most of the businessmen had already taken their seats at the bidding venue.

At this moment, a young man in a suit and leather shoes came up the stage in high spirits. "Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the bidding of the new development zone in Dreles. On behalf of the land development department, I'd like to extend my greetings to all of you..."

When Trevor saw the host's face clearly, his brows furrowed tightly.

The man looked familiar.

Not only Trevor but also Luisa saw him. He was Rogelio, Lyman's subordinate.

Trevor turned his head and looked at Luisa, only to find her frowning and looking a little worried.

After his lengthy opening remarks, Rogelio looked around the bidding venue.

Trevor had been observing Rogelio keenly, so he saw that when Rogelio had eye contact with Curtis, Rogelio obviously paused.

And Curtis also raised his chin and blinked at Rogelio.

Obviously, they were communicating through eye contact.

Trevor touched his chin, worried these two people had made some shady deal.

Curtis seemed to notice Trevor's eyes too. But he didn't intend to hide it at all. Instead, he was even a little complacent. He gave Trevor a big smile full of mockery.

Trevor didn't respond. He only snorted.

Rogelio introduced the relevant information, technical requirements, and bidding plans of all the companies one by one.

As he introduced and read the plans, the atmosphere at the venue became tense.

Rogelio put down the documents in his hands and said into the microphone, "After thorough and careful deliberation, we've decided that the winner in the bidding is Curtis Craig."

Did Newmere Cosmetics fail in the bidding?

Luisa's shoulders and head drooped. She also looked a little depressed.

Curtis, on the other hand, stood up smugly. He laughed and applauded himself. Then he looked at Trevor and Luisa with eyes full of provocation and ridicule.

Although the businessmen around also felt a little disappointed, they could only applaud at the moment.

Hurley clapped his hands again and again. His face blushed with excitement. It was as if he was the one who won the bid.

"Ha-ha! Curtis, you deserve it! You are simply amazing! Luisa, I've already told you. You can't compete with Curtis."

This time, Curtis sneered and said, "Miss, don't blame me for not giving you a chance. If you become my girlfriend, you can get a piece of land. But you didn't cherish the opportunity. Even if you beg me now, it's too late."

Trevor gritted his teeth and clenched his fists. He was so angry that he wanted to smash Curtis' smiling face.

If it was a fair competition, he could accept the fact that Newmere Cosmetics lost in the bidding.

Obviously, Curtis and Rogelio were colluding in secret. They must have used some dirty tricks.

The fairness of the bidding was not only challenged but also trampled. This should not happen.

Trevor wouldn't allow this thing to happen.

Chapter 1534 Wait

Standing tall, Curtis slowly buttoned up his white suit. Then he leaned slightly toward Trevor with a cocky smile and sneered.

"You want to be my opponent? You are no match for me. You won't have any piece of the development area. You'll watch the Craig family build skyscrapers one after another and there's nothing you could do about it. I just hope you would have enough dignity not to break down in tears."

Luisa was so pissed but there was really nothing she could do. She just gritted her teeth and said nothing.

Hurley smiled and said to Luisa, "Luisa, don't be too sad. I should admit the design plan of Newmere Cosmetics is not bad, but Curtis' project is more outstanding. What a pity! I remember Newmere Cosmetics intended to build a production plant, right? As good as your project is, it seems that Dreles needs more of a project such as the commercial area proposed by Curtis."

Hurley's words could lead to believe that he was trying to console Luisa while flattering Curtis. But his tone left no doubt that he was in fact making fun of Luisa.

Luisa was extremely embarrassed. She clenched her fists but said nothing.

The project she came up with was not only the culmination of her hard work, but also that of many Newmere Cosmetics employees.

Despite all their efforts, she failed to win the bid.

Luisa was so sad that tears came to her eyes.

Trevor felt his heart ache when he saw that Luisa was about to cry.

He couldn't bear the thought of Luisa suffering. So it was out of the question for him to sit idly by today.

This was so unfair. Trevor was determined to give Luisa a fair result.

He stroked Luisa's shoulder gently to comfort her. Then he glared at Hurley with a cold and fierce look.

Hurley was about to continue to make fun of them when he met Trevor's eyes. The look in Trevor's eyes stunned him so much that he was unable to speak.

Trevor turned to Luisa and comforted her softly.

"Don't worry. The contract hasn't been signed yet. Maybe there will be a turnaround. The new development area is in the suburbs of the city and it is not a suitable site to build a commercial area. I think it's a little strange that the Craig family won the bidding."

Luisa was in such a bad mood that she just lowered her head and didn't say anything.

On the other side, hearing what Trevor just said to comfort Luisa, Curtis burst into laughter.

"Where are you from, you bumpkin? Didn't you hear this man say that I won the bidding? You really think there would be a turnaround? You are daydreaming!"

Trevor glanced at the cocky man and sneered.

Generally speaking, after the referee announced the winner of the bidding, the decision was final and would not change.

However, the Craig family that Curtis represented did not win the bidding fairly, so Trevor thought he could make the referee come back on his decision.

One of Trevor's good friends was Lyman who worked at the land development department of Dreles.

With a sneer, Trevor ignored Curtis and sent a message to Lyman to inform him about the situation.

Lyman replied to the message almost immediately, saying he would deal with the matter right away.

Meanwhile, Curtis patted his white suit and raised his head high with an arrogant look.

"You can just stay and wait here. As for me, I got to go. There is a contract waiting for my signature."

Hurley rubbed his hands excitedly and winked mockingly at Trevor.

Curtis wasted no time and strode on the red carpet toward Rogelio.

Standing on stage with a smile, Rogelio gave Curtis a slight nod, as if to express his congratulations.

Curtis, however, knew what Rogelio's nod meant. Rogelio was actually excited about their future cooperation.

Laughing happily, Curtis picked up the pen and was about to sign.

Just then, a vigorous voice echoed in the meeting hall, stopping Curtis.

"Wait!"

The strong voice left everyone speechless.

The smile on Curtis' face froze. He turned around and looked around the meeting hall to find out who had just spoken.
