

Chapter 1539 Are You Here To Apply For A Job

Trevor ignored Korbyn's babbling and walked toward the hospital.

Korbyn's smirk froze immediately. He had thought Trevor was there to apply for a job. What nerve Trevor had to ignore him, the acting director of the hospital.

Korbyn was so angry his face was dark. "Damn it! I give you respect and this is how you pay me back!"

Before Trevor disappeared from his sight, Korbyn quickly followed him.

Korbyn could forgive Trevor for causing him to lose face in the new development area.

But in this hospital, he was the acting director. If he let Trevor disrespect him here, then where was his dignity?

With a serious look, Korbyn made up his mind to drive Trevor away.

Standing at the corner of the corridor, he saw that Trevor stopped a nurse and was talking to her.

Trevor said to the nurse, "Hello, I'm here to visit Nasir Blakely. Is he in the hospital now?"

The nurse had a badge on her chest with her name, Alisson Figueroa, written on it.

She looked at Trevor up and down, obviously sizing him up.

Then, she sighed and replied, "Alas! He is a good man who has medical ethics. Everyone only has good things to say about him."

Chapter 1539 Are You Here To A... 🎁 +120 Points at most

Since he became the director, he has managed the hospital well. Unfortunately, something happened a few days ago and we received notice that the hospital would temporarily be under the management of an acting director."

Trevor was puzzled.

He just wanted to know where Nasir was. He didn't expect Alisson to talk so much, and moreover, she didn't even answer his question.

Alisson sighed again and said, "I heard that the acting director will take office today. If you want to see the director, you can wait for him in his office. It's late but he still hasn't come to work yet. It seems that he is not someone who loves medicine. Alas, I can only hope this acting director would be half as excellent as Nasir."

Korbyn, who had just arrived, heard clearly what the nurse said. His face became even darker.

If even a simple nurse had the nerve to speak badly of him, then he would have no dignity or respect in this hospital.

She dared to say he could only be half as good as the former director? She had no respect for him!

At this time, Trevor noticed Korbyn behind the nurse. He couldn't help smiling and squinting at the latter.

Trevor didn't need to say a word to make Korbyn feel humiliated.

Korbyn's face turn red with anger.

"Ahem!"

Korbyn coughed hard to make the nurse aware of his presence. When the nurse looked at him, he shook his clothes deliberately to make the badge on his chest even more obvious.

"My name is Korbyn Hayes, the acting director you have just mentioned!"

Alisson immediately realized her blunder and shut up at once with a timid look.

At this time, the doctors and nurses who were busy around also stopped and looked over.

The hallway was suddenly very quiet, as if everyone present was intimidated by Korbyn's majesty.

Korbyn was very pleased with the outcome of his simple introduction and held his head high. His vanity was greatly satisfied and he regained his good humor.

Trevor smiled slightly.

However, Korbyn thought Trevor was just trying to appear calm. He firmly believed that the Central Hospital was his territory and therefore it was easy for him to deal with an outsider.

With his arms akimbo, Korbyn looked at Trevor and sneered.

"I just gave you the chance to get a job here, but you didn't seize it. If you don't need anything, then you'd better leave as soon as possible. I don't want you or anyone to disrupt the hospital's activities."

Of course, Korbyn was still mad at Trevor for dismissively ignoring him at the entrance earlier.

Now he was getting his revenge on Trevor.

He wanted to drive Trevor out in front of the doctors and nurses in order to assert his authority.

Chapter 1540 No Manners

When Korbyn revealed that he was the acting director of the hospital, several people stopped to watch. Even Trevor, who was standing next to him, also got a lot of attention.

Most of the hospital staff had never seen the acting director before and they stopped to look at him.

Trevor casually looked around and he happened to recognize a familiar face.

It was Kristopher!

Kristopher Ferguson was a famous doctor in Dreles. He had made a bet with Trevor to see who would be the first to find the cause of the mayor's illness.

Kristopher ultimately lost the bet and as a result, he had to work in the Central Hospital for three years without pay.

However, Kristopher had amazing medical skills, which made him quickly stand out in the hospital. So now, he was a very prominent figure in the Central Hospital.

Trevor thought of something. Perhaps Kristopher knew about Nasir's whereabouts.

But he couldn't walk up to Kristopher and ask him about that.

After all, he wasn't using his real identity as Trevor Sanderson, the owner of the Central Hospital, but as Dragon instead.

After thinking it over, Trevor turned to look at Korbyn again.

He had a smile at the thought that he'd have to make use of the idiot.

Korbyn noticed the smile in Trevor's eyes, and he suddenly felt something wrong. His whole body trembled.

He didn't need to know what tricks Trevor had in mind to be scared. His intuition told him something bad was about to happen.

Trevor said calmly, "As acting director, you represent Central Hospital. Don't you think it's rude to kick me out of the hospital? I'm just here to pay a visit to Nasir Blakely. I'll leave immediately as long as someone can tell me where to find him."

The bad feeling Korbyn had deepened in earnest and he got pissed.

"How do you expect me to know what happened to him? If you want to see him so badly, then find him yourself. Don't come to our hospital to make trouble. Maybe he isn't a good doctor, so he was fired."

The doctors and nurses around were shocked by Korbyn's obvious disrespect toward Nasir, and they all glared at Korbyn.

Nasir had a good reputation at the Central Hospital. So, it was undoubtedly infuriating to hear Korbyn discredit Nasir in public like this.

While the other staff were angry but dared not say anything, Kristopher couldn't stand it. He wasn't someone who would hold his tongue.

"That's just bullshit! Why don't you shut up? How dare you speak ill of Nasir behind his back? Humph! What a rude person you are!"

This was exactly the reaction Trevor expected Kristopher to have, and Trevor couldn't help smiling slightly.

It would be a piece of cake for him to use Korbyn to achieve his goal of finding about Nasir's whereabouts.

Korbyn couldn't stand Kristopher rebuking him like that and he flew into a rage.

Today was the day he took office as the acting director. He would lose all respect from his subordinates if he let anyone talk to him like Kristopher just did.

Korbyn shouted angrily, "Who the hell just spoke? Who said that? Do you know who I am?"

However, when Korbyn saw Kristopher's face, he stopped dead.

Kristopher was a highly respected doctor in Dreles. He had published many important theses in medical academic periodicals.

Even as an acting director, Korbyn couldn't afford to offend such a famous doctor.

With his hands behind his back, Kristopher took two steps forward and stared at Korbyn sternly for a few seconds. Then he just snorted and looked away.

Korbyn was so nervous he shrank his neck. He was really pissed but he didn't have the nerve to say anything.

Kristopher then turned to Trevor and said slowly, "You said you are looking for Nasir? Well, come to my office with me. Let's have a talk alone."

Trevor nodded with a smile and followed Kristopher happily.

It seemed that he was right. Kristopher knew what was up with Nasir.

Meanwhile, Korbyn was trembling with anger all over. He was humiliated in front of everyone.

However, he didn't dare to say a word. When Trevor and Kristopher left together, Korbyn rushed to the bathroom to vent his anger and frustration.

Chapter 1541 Nasir's Whereabouts

Trevor followed Kristopher to his office.

It was small, and the table was covered with many medical magazines.

Kristopher sat in his chair and slowly took a sip of water.

"You're looking for Nasir. Is he your friend?"

Trevor nodded and said vaguely, "We've been in touch."

Kristopher stroked his chin and said hesitantly, "Well, you see, the situation is a bit tricky. As far as I know, Nasir has been entangled in some trouble recently."

Curious, Trevor raised his eyebrows. "Trouble?"

The doctor nodded seriously.

"Yes. He was threatened and forced to stop working at the hospital or they would kill him!"

He pounded the table in anger.

"Shameful! How dare someone threaten a doctor?"

Trevor frowned. Was it a coincidence?

Before he returned to Dreles, Nasir had been running the hospital well. Nasir should have been able to deal with the troublemakers.

Why was Nasir threatened after Trevor returned to Dreles?

Kristopher shook his head as he sighed.

"My advice would be to think this over if you want to meet him. If you can, help him. If you can't, it would be better that you don't get involved."

Obviously, Trevor wasn't afraid.

"Where is Nasir now?"

The doctor looked deep into Trevor's eyes. After a while, he said slowly, "There's a hotel near Bella University. I've been there once. I know there's an arcade nearby. You can see it once you go there. He's in Room 402."

Trevor nodded and said sincerely, "Thank you so much. I'll go to meet him right away."

A hotel and an arcade near Bella University?

This address reminded Trevor of Ape.

With a heavy heart, Trevor reached the hotel.

As soon as he took the elevator to the fourth floor, he saw three men standing in front of a room.

It was Room 402!

They pounded on the door.

The sound was so loud.

Trevor thought that the entire room was about to shake.

The three strong men looked fierce.

"Open the door! We know you're inside! Open up!"

Trevor narrowed his eyes.

He was curious to know who was making trouble for Nasir.

To find the truth, Trevor didn't exit the elevator. He observed secretly.

Chapter 1541 Nasir's Whereabou... 🎁 +120 Points at most

The men pounded on Nasir's door several times.

Finally, Nasir opened the door angrily.

"What do you want now? What's wrong with you?"

The three men surrounded Nasir and laughed evilly.

"So you finally decided to show us your face? We were just deciding whether to break down this door or not."

Nasir trembled in anger, but he managed to calm down.

"What do you all want? I'm no longer the director of the Central Hospital! So, what else do you want?"

The three men looked at each other and burst out laughing.

Trevor saw this interaction and continued to hide. He decided to act as circumstances dictated.

He wanted to see what these people were up to.