

Chapter 1633 The Improvised Teaching Lesson

When Esteban turned around and saw Trevor, he was stunned and embarrassed. He even wanted to run away.

Trevor had taught him many fighting techniques and despite that, he was trapped in an alley by a group of thugs.

Esteban couldn't help feeling that he hadn't lived up to Trevor's expectations.

"Raven..."

With an expressionless face, Trevor waved his hand and said to Esteban, "Come here and stand beside me."

Upon hearing that, the mob led by Luther looked at each other and laughed.

"Esteban, I didn't expect you'd have a friend in Glareder who is willing to stand up for you!"

"Perhaps we'll just have to beat up the two of you together! At least nobody can deny that your friend is so loyal."

They didn't stop Esteban from walking over to Trevor's side. There were eight people in the alley, six of which were the aggressors. They weren't in the least worried that Trevor and Esteban would find a way out to escape.

Trevor patted Esteban on his shoulder and asked with concern, "Are you okay?"

Esteban's whole body trembled, and he replied nervously, "I'm fine, but..."

He sniffed and didn't continue.

He didn't know what to say now. Was it just that he was stupid or the world was just very nasty?

Trevor noticed Esteban's uneasiness and he said calmly, "We'll talk about it later. For now, let's deal with the current situation."

On the other side, Luther clenched his fists, and the smile on his face gradually became ferocious.

"I just intended to teach Esteban a lesson, but it seems I'll have to beat one more person now."

Luther's men laughed sinisterly.

"Luther, we have learned a lot in the training camp. Why don't we practice what we've learned on these two idiots?"

"Yes. Now that we graduated from training camp, we are Mobius members as well. That means that we wield a lot of power here in Glareder!"

Listening to the men in front of him, Trevor sneered.

They were a bunch of idiots.

For Mobius, these reserve duty members were just expendables.

Did these idiots think that after a short training, they could claim to be full members of Mobius?

Trevor laughed and made a point of giving Esteban a more practical lesson. "Esteban, stand next to me and see how I deal with them. Keep calm and observe the situation. Then, you'll find a way out of this mess."

At this moment, the group of people led by Luther stopped laughing and the arrogant smile on their faces turned into ferocious looks.

"Damn it! You really want to die, don't you? Do you take me for a fucking case study? Who the hell do you think you are? Guys, let's go! Kill this bastard!" Luther roared. He then picked up a steel bar and rushed at Trevor at once.

At the same time, the two men standing behind Trevor rushed over and threw punches at him from the back.

Expressionless, Trevor ignored Luther and turned to grab the two men attacking him from behind.

He pulled the two guys with great power and threw them in front of him to block Luther's attack.

Seeing what was happening, Luther was so scared his face turned pale. However, it was too late for him to stop. The steel bar in his hand smashed fiercely onto his two companions.

"Ah!"

The men who were hit violently with the steel bar let out a shrill scream.

Trevor's simple yet powerful counterattack shocked everyone in the alley. The woman who lured Esteban into the alley turned pale and stepped back.

Without turning back, Trevor said calmly, "Esteban, have you seen what just happened? In such situations, the first thing is to find an opportunity you can exploit. Once you've find it, you should strike first and snatch whatever weapon your aggressor has."

Esteban was in a daze after what he just witnessed and he nodded absentmindedly.

He knew that Trevor was very powerful, but he had never seen Trevor fight before.

Trevor strode forward and began punching and kicking fiercely.

The steel bar Luther was holding was instantly taken away. The next second, there were screams coming from the alley. The screams and moans were such that anyone who heard them would be scared.

In less than half a minute, the group of people led by Luther were beaten up, unable to fight back.

Trevor banged the steel bar against the alley wall, and much of the plaster on the wall fell off, kicking up dust.

He then looked back at Esteban and said, "Have you seen it clearly? Only brave men can win a fight."

Esteban nodded repeatedly.

However, Luther was so angry that his face turned red and then pale.

This mysterious man was not only aggressive, but what he did to them was also insulting.

He and his men had been used as case studies.

This was so insulting.

"Damn you!" Luther roared and tried to stand up from the dirty ground. However, the stiff kick Trevor gave him in the chest made it impossible for him stand up. He was out of breath and coughed uncomfortably.
