

Chapter 1696 Golden Tooth's Trap

Since Trevor was staring at him, Golden Tooth couldn't do anything.

He drove Trevor to the headquarters of the Black Gold Union with a guilty conscience. Beads of sweat covered his entire forehead.

It only took them less than ten minutes to arrive at the destination.

Golden Tooth wanted to arrive early more than anyone else. After all, he only had the chance to escape from Trevor here. Of course, no one wanted their lives to be controlled by others.

When Trevor saw the nervousness on Golden Tooth's face, he kicked Golden Tooth hard and ordered coldly, "Lead the way."

Golden Tooth hurriedly nodded and led Trevor inside.

As soon as they stepped into the villa, many members of the union appeared from all directions.

Trevor and Golden Tooth were quickly besieged by these men.

Upon seeing this, Trevor's expression became serious.

The Black Gold Union was famous in the black market, but Trevor was not sure about its strength.

While Trevor was sizing up the men around him, he didn't pay attention to Golden Tooth, who took this opportunity to quickly run to a safe distance.

Golden Tooth shouted at the people, "This brat asked me to lead the way because he threatened to destroy the Black Gold Union. Men, kill him!"

When the members of the union heard that someone actually wanted to make trouble for them, they all sneered. They were full of murderous intent and ready to move at any time.

Trevor was not surprised anymore. He had already expected Golden Tooth to play tricks again.

But he didn't want to waste time on them. The most important thing now was to save Esteban.

So he said to the people of the union, "I'm a Mobius assassin. I don't care what kind of disgusting business you do, but you caught a member of Mobius today. I want you to let go of him now. Otherwise, Mobius will make you pay."

After saying this, Trevor stood there expressionlessly, waiting for them to release Esteban obediently.

But this time, it seemed that Mobius' name didn't work.

In the past, every time he was in trouble in Glareder, he only needed to mention the name Mobius, and his opponents would kneel down and beg for mercy, allowing him to do anything he wanted.

But this time, the people didn't show any fear. It was as if Mobius was just an ordinary force.

At this moment, a man with spiky hair stepped forward and replied, "Ha-ha! What does Black Gold Union's business have anything to do with Mobius? You better get out of here. Otherwise, we will also catch you and sell your organs."

Golden Tooth said arrogantly, "Ha-ha! Mobius doesn't have power over us. If we are in the outside world, we might show you some respect. But this is the black market. If you want to show off, you've come to the wrong place."

After being egged by Golden Tooth, the people of the Black Gold Union nodded in agreement.

Trevor's face became serious. He didn't expect that there were people in Glareder who didn't show respect to Mobius.

If he forced his way in, he would only put Esteban in danger. So he tried to calm down and threatened them coldly, "Esteban is Midnight's nephew. Midnight is the head of the Bat faction in Mobius. Think it over. If you don't let go of him, expect yourselves to be Bat faction's sworn enemies."

Of course, Esteban was not really Midnight's nephew. Trevor only wanted to test the Black Gold Union's arrogance.

It would be great if he could successfully intimidate them. Then Esteban could come back safely.

Golden Tooth sneered and said, "The Bat faction? Who are they? This is the black market. The rules of the outside world don't work here. Do you understand? We recognize no one except our boss. So get out of here! Otherwise, you will die here."

Trevor's eyes slowly became fierce. It seemed there was no room for negotiation with these people.

It seemed fighting was the only course left for him.

In the end, the two sides confronted each other. A melee was about to break out.
