

Chapter 1702 The End Of The Boys

Prescott didn't say anything. He just let Trevor laugh at him at will.

However, Prescott's two followers were not happy with it. After all, they didn't know Trevor.

Furious, they stepped forward, grabbed the door of the sports car, and shouted fiercely, "You bastard! How dare you talk to our boss like that! Get out of the car and apologize now!"

As they spoke, they stretched out their hands through the window and tried to pull Trevor's collar.

But Trevor just shook off their hands casually.

He didn't get angry. Instead, he laughed when he heard the words of these two men. He opened the door, got out of the car, and looked at Prescott. He then said, "Prescott, do your followers decide on their own? Or you asked them to do this thing? You seem to be really dissatisfied with me."

At this moment, Prescott was already desperate because of his two stupid followers. He felt regretful.

Why did he bring two idiot followers with him?

It was already in front of them, but they couldn't understand the situation at all.

Prescott didn't even dare to provoke Trevor. But these two men were going to make trouble for him.

He was desperate now. With Midnight's support, Trevor could do anything to him apart from killing him. And Midnight would only turn a blind eye to it.

Prescott didn't say anything. He just let Trevor laugh at him at will.

However, Prescott's two followers were not happy with it. After all, they didn't know Trevor.

Furious, they stepped forward, grabbed the door of the sports car, and shouted fiercely, "You bastard! How dare you talk to our boss like that! Get out of the car and apologize now!"

As they spoke, they stretched out their hands through the window and tried to pull Trevor's collar.

But Trevor just shook off their hands casually.

He didn't get angry. Instead, he laughed when he heard the words of these two men. He opened the door, got out of the car, and looked at Prescott. He then said, "Prescott, do your followers decide on their own? Or you asked them to do this thing? You seem to be really dissatisfied with me."

At this moment, Prescott was already desperate because of his two stupid followers. He felt regretful.

Why did he bring two idiot followers with him?

It was already in front of them, but they couldn't understand the situation at all.

Prescott didn't even dare to provoke Trevor. But these two men were going to make trouble for him.

He was desperate now. With Midnight's support, Trevor could do anything to him apart from killing him. And Midnight would only turn a blind eye to it.

Trevor crossed his arms over his chest and said sarcastically, "Prescott, your two new subordinates are really amazing."

Prescott's two followers thought they had a great advantage and were superior to Trevor by number, so they shouted angrily, "How dare you call our boss by his name! Kneel down and wait for your death."

They rubbed their hands, itching to have a fight. They would unite in hurriedly shouted, "You shut up! Apologize now!"

The two followers thought he was referring to Trevor. They expected he wanted Trevor to apologize to them, so one of them said, "Boss, don't worry. We will make him apologize to you right away. We will make sure you will be satisfied."

When Prescott heard this, he was too angry to speak.

Trevor saw that the two men were ready to fight. But he was not in a hurry. Instead, he smiled and said, "Before you start fighting with me, do you want to know where Prescott's former subordinates have gone? And why did he accept you two as his followers?"

However, the two men didn't take Trevor seriously at all. One of them said, "It's none of your business! Of course, we got this opportunity because of our hard work."

Trevor didn't mind their arrogance. He just shrugged and said, "Those two former subordinates of your boss fought against me. Now their legs are all broken, and they are still cleaning the toilets in the Mobious edifice."

But the two followers didn't believe Trevor's words at all. One of them continued to sneer, "Only you? It seems we will not only smash your mouth but also break your legs."

They didn't take Trevor's words seriously.

And without warning, they rushed toward Trevor, swinging their fists and feet.

But Trevor had been well prepared. He grinned and bowed slightly to dodge. As a result, the two men missed hitting him.

It was his turn. He gave them a heavy punch and a side kick.

The muffled sounds echoed in the air. Then the two men fell to the ground and couldn't stand up for a while.

Trevor sneered, "By the way, you just said you would smash my mouth and break my legs, right?"

While watching this scene, Prescott was very angry. Trevor was beating his followers up, but he didn't dare to say anything. Obviously, Trevor was deliberately humiliating him.

But he could only stand at the side with clenched fists. His face was livid, and he didn't say a word.

This time, Trevor didn't make a move. Instead, he looked at Prescott and asked, "Why don't you come over and accept the punishment for them?"

Chapter 1702 The End Of The Boys

Prescott was trembling with fear. He shouted, "No, no, no! It has nothing to do with me. Please, let go of me."

Our ads aim to provide better support for authors.

 I want no ads >

100.0%

 Special bonus over 40% >

14:28 