Chapter 1710 Rupert's True Identity

Trevor didn't answer this time. He just gave Dominic a subtle look. It was not only to validate Dominic's guess but also to ask Dominic to keep it secret. Dominic immediately understood, so he kept silent.

Then he and Trevor continued forward. Soon, they arrived at their destination.

The building they went to was relatively secluded. But at the same time, it was also a special villa that had an air of luxury.

Dominic raised his hand and knocked on the door with a special rhythm. Then the door opened.

The person sitting in the living room was indeed Trevor's old acquaintance. But Trevor was a little surprised.

He didn't expect that this person was behind all this. The man was Rupert, a businessman he met many times.

They had met several times on various occasions. Rupert had planned to take advantage of Raven's identity. But now that he met Trevor, he had an indescribable feeling.

Rupert's face was full of disbelief. He suddenly burst into laughter and said, "Ha-ha! It turns out you are on our side. At first, I thought you were a Mobius assassin. So I thought of taking advantage of you. But I didn't expect that one day, I would meet you like this. I heard from them that you are Bradly's friend. Is that right?"

Trevor nodded, but he was cautious all the time. He looked around, secretly checking the environment.

When Rupert saw Trevor nod, he continued, "You don't have to doubt my identity. The Bradly Organization and I both belong to an independent action team under Klein. I suppose you have heard of Klein."

Trevor was stunned for a moment. Then he laughed and said, "What a coincidence! Now I must say that I'm really back home."

It came directly from Rupert's mouth that the people from Bradly Organization had already joined the action team. And he was asked to lead the team to Glareder to investigate the truth of the upheaval in the Sanderson family that night.

So Trevor said in a humorous tone, "Well, I'm also a member of Klein's organization."

To be exact, he was an important member of Klein.

Everyone in the room was surprised. And both of them were surprised by each other's identities.

Now it was the people from Bradly Organization's turn to be surprised. They all asked Trevor what was going on.

To answer them, Trevor called Jasmine directly to prove his identity.

As soon as his call was connected, he greeted her as usual and then asked, "Does our organization have an independent action team led by Rupert Atkinson?"

Jasmine quickly answered affirmatively, "Yes. Did you two meet?"

Trevor suddenly laughed out loud.

After the two sides gained complete trust, they spoke freely without any vigilance.

Through their communication, Trevor learned that the Bradly Organization had been investigating the Black Gold Union recently, and they had achieved some progress.

It turned out that the Black Gold Union had something to do with Bradly's disappearance. It was likely that Bradly's whereabouts were hidden in the Black Gold Union's human trafficking ledger.

After all, this had happened to Bradly because the Black Gold Union avenged their members that had been injured and killed by the people of the Bradly Organization.

While Trevor was overjoyed, he also told everyone the information he got, including the place where his father and grandfather were imprisoned and the preliminary rescue plan he had planned.

He said, "Since the Black Gold Union has something to do with Bradly's disappearance, the next step is to destroy the Black Gold Union. Anyway, they are not good people."

They nodded in agreement, thinking Trevor's plan was reasonable. Compared to Mobius, the threat from Black Gold Union was much lesser.

At this moment, their goal was to rescue Trevor's father, Elwood, and Bradly.

Trevor was also happy, thinking that his trip was not in vain. They now had the whereabouts of the three people who had been missing, and they were not far from being rescued.
