

Chapter 1717 Confrontation

Standing in front of the killers from Mobius, Trevor said loudly, "The Black Gold Union has decided that they won't take Mobius seriously. Yesterday, they even attacked some of our official killers, thus challenging the authority of Mobius! Today, we should let them know why Mobius is the only ruler of Gladerer!"

After saying that, Trevor waved his hand, signaling the killers to take action.

The group of killers were led by a man named Sylvester Jensen. Sylvester was a pretty ugly man with pockmarks on his face.

As soon as Trevor gave the signal, Sylvester and his men killers began to destroy everything they could find at the gate of the villa. They smashed every car and assaulted anyone who happened to be there.

This chaos caused almost everyone present at the villa to gather in front of the gate.

With a red face, Demon gritted his teeth and shouted at the members of Black Gold Union, "Let no one intervene. If Mobius wants to smash everything, let them do it!"

The Black Gold Union had been ruling the black market for years, and its members were all arrogant and overbearing. No one had ever dared to provoke them like this.

They Black Gold Union members wanted to intervene, but after hearing Demon's order, they did their best to restrain themselves. They didn't even fight back if the killers of Mobius physically assaulted them.

After smashing all the cars and storefronts at the entrance to the villa, Sylvester, along with his men and Bradly Organization returned to Trevor.

Black Gold Union was the second most influential power in Gladerer, after Mobius. It would therefore not be a good idea to push this organization to the limit. Otherwise, Black Gold Union would be forced into hiding and they would sneak attack Mobius members from time to time. That would be a very embarrassing situation for both organizations. To avoid such an event, Mobius and Black Gold Union had to follow certain rules.

Even if Mobius wanted to destroy Black Gold Union once and for all, they had to wait for all the members of this organization to gather and thus, they would have them all at once. But now the boss of Black Gold Union wasn't there. So, Trevor didn't give the order to kill them all since he knew well what the consequences of such a rash action might be.

Sylvester glanced at Trevor with a satisfied grin. Then, he walked to the front and stretched out his arms. "You guys offended Raven yesterday, and he is a high ranking member of Mobius. We won't let you go unless you break your arms or legs today!"

Sylvester shouted in a condescending tone. He deeply despised Black Gold Union. In his eyes, they were but sheep who could be slaughtered at any time.

Hearing Sylvester's words, Trevor raised a brow slightly and fell into deep thought. It was clear Sylvester had evil intentions all along. In fact, Trevor understood what Sylvester was trying to do. By pretending to defend the honor of "Raven" who had been offended by the Black Gold Union the day before, Sylvester was setting the stage for future revenge by Black Gold Union against Trevor.

Trevor also understood another thing, Sylvester probably secretly worked for Prescott. That was the only explanation for his apparently unexplained hostility towards Trevor. It seemed that Prescott was looking for an opportunity to get revenge on Trevor after the defeat he suffered last time.

Trevor felt he could also use the chaotic situation to his advantage. The chaotic gave the Bradly Organization a chance to sneak into the villa to search for clues about Bradly's whereabouts.

Meanwhile, Demon was seething. Since he became famous, he had never been insulted like this.

He couldn't stand the arrogance of Mobius killers anymore and he pulled out his long saber. With a fierce look in his eyes, Demon roared to his men, "Guys, they have gone too far! Now, let's give them what they deserve. Kill them all! And once you are done, run away!"

Looking at the furious Demon, Trevor couldn't help but sneer and he muttered to himself, "Finally, you start the attack!"
