

Chapter 1726 Sylvester's Tragic Death

Trevor let Sylvester follow him all the way, and soon, the two had arrived at the entrance of the secret prison.

All of Sylvester's attention was on Trevor and he didn't care what was going on around him. He therefore did not notice the change in the surrounding environment.

Seeing that they were all close to the secret prison, Trevor pulled out a mask from his pocket to cover his face.

Since Sylvester was following Trevor from afar, he could only see Trevor's silhouette. He couldn't see what Trevor was doing.

With a cold smile, Trevor led Sylvester into the hawkers' ambush. At this time, there were eight hawkers at the scene.

Even a fool would have noticed that something was wrong. Indeed, the Black Gold Union was about to launch their attack.

The already tense atmosphere worsened with the arrival of the two strangers. At this moment, the slightest noise could be the trigger for the riot.

All of a sudden, the hawker who had recognized Trevor before recognized Sylvester who was still following Trevor. The man's eyes turned cold and he immediately shouted, "It's just this bastard! He's the one who provoked us at our headquarters and arrested my cousin!"

The hawker's loud roar not only caught the attention of a few companions next to him, but also misled many others who were hidden in ambush that the assault on the prison was launched. So they all rushed.

When the hawker recognized Trevor before, he had a hard time suppressing his anger.

Now when Sylvester appeared, the man couldn't contain his anger any longer and ignored their leader's orders to keep quiet and wait. In fact, the man's cousin, who had been captured by Mobius, was none other than the second killer on the golden list, Demon.

Demon was the first person Black Gold Union intended to save after attacking the prison. The hawker seemed to be consumed by a visceral hatred for Sylvester, so much that he could no longer control himself. Screaming with rage, with an iron bar in hand, he rushed forward. He waved the iron bar to hit Sylvester.

Sylvester was stunned to see the man rushing furiously towards him. What the hell was going on?

But despite his confusion, Sylvester was still a Mobius killer and far superior to the hawker. He reacted quickly and narrowly dodged the iron bar.

Confused, Sylvester turned around to look at Trevor but couldn't find him anymore.

Seeing that he had missed Sylvester, the hawker shouted to the other men lying in ambush, "What the hell are you waiting for? Kill him!"

The members of the Black Gold Union all had a grudge against Sylvester. So they didn't hesitate a second and rushed forward.

Seeing so many people rushing towards him, Sylvester was overwhelmed with fear and broke into a cold sweat. He turned and fled without looking back.

As he fled, he cursed Trevor in his heart, thinking Trevor was a spy for the Black Gold Union.

Sylvester had barely run ten yards when dozens of iron bars were hurled at him like flying knives.

Almost all the iron bars fell on his body with a thud.

Sylvester only felt a sharp pain at the back of his head before falling to the ground.

The iron bar had violently hit the back of his head, causing a concussion. His eyes became blurry and it was difficult for him to keep them open. As his vision grew more and more blurry, he saw countless people rushing towards him with all kinds of edged weapons.

Fear and despair overwhelmed his mind.

He knew his fate was sealed.

The hawker took the lead and hit Sylvester's head hard with his iron bar over and over again.
