

Chapter 1743 Ready To Leave Glareder

The fact that Trevor agreed so easily made Lone Wolf a little suspicious. He wondered why Raven seemed so eager to kill people in Zayden.

The suspicious expression on Lone Wolf's face didn't go unnoticed by Trevor who smiled and said seriously, "I have just been promoted to deputy leader of the Wolf faction, so I fully intend to prove my worth. I will do my best to carry out any task you entrust to me. Don't worry!"

Trevor's words soothed Lone Wolf a little, and he decided to trust Trevor, at least for now. Having made up his mind, Lone Wolf handed over the list of all members of the Wolf faction to Trevor. On the list was the contact details of each member.

"You can contact the members of Wolf faction at Zayden when you arrive there. They will follow your orders," Lone Wolf said.

Trevor took the list and nodded. He knew that by this act, Lone Wolf had officially acknowledged him as deputy leader of the faction.

After checking the list, Trevor sighed in his heart. The Wolf faction had very few members. No wonder they were in a hurry to recruit and train new members.

Lone Wolf then gave Trevor the Glareder pass which could only be issued by the leader of a faction. He said in a serious tone, "Take good care of it. Losing it will have serious consequences."

Looking at the pass in his hand, Trevor grinned. "Don't worry!"

he said seriously.

Trevor then hurriedly left the building. Once far enough away, he called Rupert.

"Prepare the ship and sailor team as soon as possible! We have to be quick. I've found a chance to get the association members out of Glareder as soon as possible."

Trevor's tone seemed to indicate urgency. Sensing this, Rupert quickly promised, "Okay, I'll get on it right away!"

The ship problem being settled, Trevor subsequently called Patrice. As soon as Patrice picked up the call, Trevor asked, "Do you want to leave Glareder? The city has been under heavy surveillance for the past few days, and Mobius guards are constantly watching all exits from the town. If you want to leave, you can come with me."

Patrice hesitated for a while and then refused. "I still have something to deal with here. I must continue with my undercover mission."

Trevor didn't ask any questions. He respected Patrice's decision.

After hanging up the call, Trevor was lost in thought. At present, Esteban was still in the reserve duty, and Lone Wolf was watching him closely. It wouldn't be a wise move to try to bring him out of the town just yet.

Trevor had carefully planned his plan, and he left nothing to chance. Now the only thing he was waiting for was Rupert to have a ship and crew ready.

Early the next morning, Rupert called Trevor. Rupert's excited voice rang out as soon as Trevor answered the call. "The ship is ready! When will you leave?"

Trevor's drowsiness vanished in an instant and he said hurriedly, "Let's do it now! Tell the crew to wait for me at the port. I'll bring a group people there shortly!"

Trevor had the association members disguise themselves and hide their faces. Then, he took them to the port so they could board the ship.

However, the port was still under surveillance, so it was not easy to pass.

One of the guards stationed at the port saw Trevor in the distance. The man quickly strode over with a few other men and shouted, "What are you doing? Stop right there!"

Trevor was a little nervous, but he didn't let it show. He turned around and saw that it was the leader of the harbor gang, the same man who wanted to force everyone to pay protection fees when he first came to Glareder.

Seeing the man, Trevor breathed a sigh of relief. He sneered, "Ha ha, who do I see there? Do you still remember me?"

When the leader of the gang saw Trevor's face clearly, his heart sank. Of course he recognized Trevor at once. He remembered Trevor was an official killer, and that made him shiver. However, he still found courage to argue with Trevor.

"We comply with the order given by Mobius. No one or ship is allowed to leave the port! So, you'd better leave now!"

The man had met several members of Mobius recently, so he was no longer so afraid of Trevor.

Besides, the last time he embarrassed his boss in front of Trevor, which almost caused him to lose his job. This time, he intended to regain his honor and stop Trevor.

Trevor looked at the man in front of him with a faint smile. He was not worried at all.

However, unlike Trevor, the association members weren't so serene. Seeing that they were stopped, they couldn't help but panic. Some even wanted to turn around and escape.

The leader of the harbor gang didn't fail to notice the panicked expressions of the people behind Trevor, which confirmed his assumption that there must be something wrong with them. He pointed at them and shouted wildly, "There's something wrong with you. Show me your faces right now!"

At this time, Trevor's face darkened. He no longer wanted to waste time with this gang leader and immediately took out the pass Lone Wolf gave him.