

Chapter 1763 Meet Jeanette Again

After treating the director, Trevor hurriedly left the orphanage in the afternoon. He went to Chantil Inc. to look into the situation.

Upon reaching the company's gate, Trevor unexpectedly encountered a familiar figure, slowly strolling towards the building.

It was Jeanette, Collen's girlfriend.

Jeanette had a domineering and frivolous aura. She swayed her slim waist and scanned the area around the company. By chance, she noticed Trevor preparing to enter the premises.

She was unaware of Trevor's identity due to his disguise as Raven.

However, she couldn't help but notice the striking similarity between his figure and that of Dragon.

Instantly, Jeanette's mind was filled with memories of her bitter hatred for Dragon.

In the past, Jeanette had been the financial manager at Severich, but the Singh Group had fired her after she framed Dragon.

As a result, she harbored intense animosity towards Dragon and everything associated with him.

Seeing Trevor's resemblance to Dragon, Jeanette was immediately repulsed.

In a display of arrogance, she stood before Trevor, her eyes filled with disdain, and questioned, "Who are you? Why have you come to our company? Do you think you belong here?"

Witnessing the woman who had previously made a fool of herself now causing trouble again, Trevor couldn't help but find amusement in the situation.

However, Trevor didn't want to escalate the situation further or waste time on an unimportant individual.

He spoke coldly. "I'm here to see the general manager, and it has nothing to do with you."

Upon hearing Trevor's response, Jeanette's expression kept changing. She took a step back and examined him carefully.

Noticing that Trevor wasn't dressed in a suit or looked like a business elite, Jeanette narrowed her eyes as speculation filled her mind.

Could he be Collen's new friend? Maybe Collen is pretending to be the general manager outside the company again! Why do his friends seem more indecent now?

With this thought, Jeanette grew angrier and didn't hesitate to scold him, "Get lost! You don't deserve to see the general manager. If you don't leave immediately, I'll call security!"

Trevor's patience wore thin as he saw Jeanette creating unnecessary obstacles. He asked impatiently, "And who might you be? How dare you stop the general manager's guest!"

Unfazed by Trevor's impatience, Jeanette placed her hands on her waist and continued sarcastically, "The general manager would never know someone like you! You look destitute. I bet you've come here to beg for money from him! Now, get out of here!"

She paused before continuing, "Furthermore, I'm the girlfriend of the vice general manager, and I have every right to prevent losers like you from entering the premises on the company's behalf!"

Trevor couldn't help but snort at Jeanette's words. He looked at her from head to toe with a faint smile and sneered, "I thought you were the general manager's girlfriend, but you're just the girlfriend of the vice. Yet, you shamelessly claim to represent the company? Absurd!"

Trevor simply ignored her and proceeded to walk straight into the company.

Fuming with anger at Trevor's refusal to back down and his mockery, Jeanette's face turned livid as she shouted, "Security! Security! There's trouble here! Get this man out of here immediately!"

Yet, Trevor paid no attention to her.

Coincidentally, Collen emerged from the company at that very moment!
