

Chapter 1803 Safest Place In Zayden

The next day, Green Bat rushed to the address Trevor had given him and quickly shared the distressing news with a gloomy expression.

"Last night, someone sneaked into the Sanderson family's castle and attacked us. Although his face was concealed, I'm sure it was Bear judging from his skills. White Monkey got hurt. Raven, what's going on? You said this wouldn't happen?"

Trevor was the one who had arranged the meeting. He had known Green Bat would ask these questions, so he assured him, "Don't worry about anything. Anyway, how sure are you that it was Bear who attacked you?"

Green Bat grew angrier at Trevor's question.

"Who would dare to attack our Bat faction in the Zayden other than the Wolf faction? Besides, we've known Bear for so long. Can't we recognize his silhouette? Also, what you said before doesn't seem to be correct. Didn't you say that the Wolf faction is only interested in money? He was merciless last night. Clearly, he wanted to harm us!"

Trevor took a look at Green Bat, who was fuming with anger, and pretended to guess, "Is it possible that this sneak attack wasn't directed by their leader but rather a result of Cheetah's loss in yesterday's fight, which in turn led him to hold a grudge against Bear? But if they're plotting against you in secret, your life is in danger."

After pondering for a moment, Green Bat glanced at Trevor and agreed with his conjecture.

"So what do we do? We're in a vulnerable position. Sooner or later, they'll kill us."

Trevor patted Green Bat on the shoulder and advised, "I have an idea, but I'm not sure if I should tell you."

Upon hearing this, Green Bat clung to his last hope and urged, "Raven, tell me!"

Trevor smiled and slowly explained, "The reason Cheetah and Bear can attack you is that they're aware of your routine and whereabouts. How can they attack you if you're hiding in a safe place?"

Green Bat lowered his head and fell into deep thought. "But where's the safest place in Zayden?"

"The prison," Trevor continued to convince Green Bat. "No matter how crazy Cheetah is, he wouldn't dare to go to the police station just to cause trouble for you, would he? As long as your friend hides there, he'll be safe and sound."

Green Bat, who had been filled with hope, flew into a rage upon hearing Trevor's suggestion. "Isn't it a death sentence for a member of Mobius to go to prison? Raven, are you fucking kidding me?!"

Trevor maintained his calm demeanor and replied, "Calm down. Of course, I won't send him to jail with Mobius attached to his name. I can send him to prison on charges related to commercial activities without revealing that he's a member of Mobius."

Green Bat remained skeptical. As Mobius' assassin, he feared and rejected the idea of going to prison.

Trevor knew he had to do more to convince him.

"Don't worry. He'll be charged due to some minor business crime. He can be bailed out at any time. To tell you the truth, I know the city mayor and I will make sure White Monkey won't even have a hard time in prison. He can even live comfortably there."

Finally convinced Green Bat eagerly asked, "Really?"

Special bonus over 40%

GO NOW