

Chapter 1805 A Gift From Trevor

Cheetah and Bear were quite confused as they watched the police car drive away.

There were two explanations for White Monkey being taken away by the police.

The first reason was that the police had discovered that he was a member of Mobius.

The second was that White Monkey voluntarily allowed himself to be taken away in order to prevent them from tampering with his shares.

Cheetah and Bear couldn't touch White Monkey right now, so they had no choice but to turn to Trevor. They called him immediately.

"Sir, White Monkey from the Bat faction... He has just been taken away by the police! We don't know what's going on!"

Hearing what the men said on the phone, Trevor pretended to be angry and scolded them harshly.

"You two are sore losers. You screwed things up! Somehow, you must have exposed your identity while trying to sneak attack White Monkey. Now that you alerted the enemy, the members of the Bat faction probably decided to turn themselves in to the police in order to protect their shares! Now, we'll have a hard time taking their shares in the future!"

Bear felt guilty and muttered to himself, "It's all my fault. I snuck in yesterday and got recognized!"

Cheetah was startled by what Trevor said and he said in a firm tone, "We all work for Mobius. How dare White Monkey ask the police for help? Isn't he afraid that they might discover his identity?"

Trevor snorted and replied coldly, "He most definitely used his identity as the chief financial officer of the Singh Group! I guess he has been taken away by the police for commercial crimes!"

Cheetah realized that what Trevor said made sense. He patted his head and sighed to himself. He had to admit that Raven was really smart.

With a malicious look on his face, Cheetah said, "Sir, since White Monkey had the gall to turn himself in, let's make an anonymous call to the police to reveal his identity as a member of Mobius!"

Hearing that, Trevor angrily shouted, "What the hell are you talking about? If his identity is exposed, he will receive a life sentence, if not a death sentence! How then would we get the shares? What's more, out of desperation, he will reveal that we are also members of Mobius. What are you going to do then? Our leader's order was to kill him to keep his mouth shut! Must I keep reminding you of that?"

Cheetah hated being scolded, and so his face darkened at this moment. However, he dared not retort. He bore his anger and asked in a low voice, "What then should we do? Let him collude with the police?"

Trevor replied coldly, "I don't have time to deal with that now. You can solve it by yourselves. If you can't solve it, I'll kill you. Listen up, the Wolf faction won't keep any good-for-nothings!"

With that, Trevor hung up the phone.

Trevor was indeed too busy now to deal with this matter.

Green Bat and him were at the entrance of the police station at the moment. They had come to see how White Monkey was doing inside.

Ernest received Trevor's message early in the morning and he soon arrived at the police station. When he saw Trevor, he waved to him with a smile.

Trevor smiled back at the mayor and said, "Ernest, we're here to see how my friend is doing. Can you please tell the police to let us see him?"

Ernest smiled brightly.

"No problem. I'll take you inside. Don't worry, Raven! I told the police to make sure your friend is treated well here and made to feel at home."

After saying that, Ernest led Trevor and Green Bat inside to see White Monkey.

White Monkey wasn't kept in a detention room, but in a lounge.

At this time, he was lying on the sofa eating fruits leisurely. The TV in the lounge was on and he was watching a reality show.

Ernest had been true to his word. White Monkey felt like home.

When White Monkey saw the mayor, he immediately stood up and walked over.

Both he and Green Bat were very grateful to Ernest.

"Thanks a lot, sir, we will definitely repay you!" White Monkey said seriously.

Ernest didn't want to stay there more than necessary, so he left in a hurry.

Looking at Ernest's receding figure, Trevor sighed.

Ernest really deserved to be the mayor. He did things promptly and efficiently and made others feel comfortable.

Green Bat curiously looked around the lounge and thought in awe.

It had been so long that White Monkey had to keep looking over his shoulder. It was good for him to stay here and enjoy!

The three men quickly hatched a plan. Looking very confident, Green Bat and White Monkey laughed loudly.

"Cheetah and Bear are idiots. We will soon kill them!"

Trevor smiled but kept silent. He seemed to agree with what the two people said.

But what he thought was different. He felt that Green Bat and White Monkey were not smarter than Cheetah and Bear. All of them were idiots.

After a short while, Trevor left the police station.

As soon as he separated from Green Bat, he dialed Jasmine's number.

"Jasmine, come to Zayden Police Station. I have prepared a gift for you that is just waiting for you to come take it!"

Jasmine was confused and asked with a smile, "Be serious. What gift is it?"
