

Chapter 1812 Ruben's Ploy

Seeing that Lenard had complicated the situation, Trevor could only smile helplessly.

He figured it was not the right time to probe Nola.

Lenard, unable to bear the humiliation any longer, shot a furious glare at Collen and stormed off.

Meanwhile, Nola snorted, her face twisted in anger.

After returning to the castle of the Sanderson family, Lenard still fumed as he complained to his father, Ruben.

"Dad, the son of the Singh family is an asshole! He told me that Raven was Trevor. I tested it with the antiques, but I ended up spending three million on a fake! I planned to use it to impress Nola from the Wright family, but it was exposed on the spot. There were so many people around. It was so humiliating!"

Ruben's attention sharpened at the mention of Trevor, and he queried, "Is it confirmed? Is Raven Trevor?"

"Raven is the leader of Mobius," Lenard stated matter-of-factly. "Even Cheetah and Bear are afraid of him. It can't be Trevor. I can't believe I fell for Collen's nonsense!"

Seeing his father's expression soften, Lenard added, somewhat sheepishly, "Dad, I spent all my savings on the antique today. Can you give me some more pocket money?"

Ruben did not answer. Instead, a frown formed on his face as he contemplated something. A few moments later, his frown turned into a smile, and he turned to ask Lenard, "You're not young anymore. Have you thought of marrying a beautiful woman?"

Of course, Lenard wanted that. Thinking that his father was referring to Nola, he miserably said, "I'm the eldest of the Sanderson family, but Nola doesn't like me at all."

Ruben did not notice the desolation on his son's face and excitedly continued, "No, it's not Nola. Do you remember Trevor's fiancée, Luisa?"

She's acknowledged by Elwood. Marry her, and you'll be the legitimate leader of the Sanderson family! Everyone will respect us. By that time, it'll be easy to earn tens or even hundreds of millions!"

Understanding what his father meant, Lenard nodded with excitement.

He felt a surge of happiness as he envisioned himself as the real master of the Sanderson family and husband to Trevor's beautiful fiancée.

Money, status, women—he would have it all.

Meanwhile, Trevor was unaware of Ruben's plan. His attention was elsewhere for the time being.

Lone Wolf had called him, and his deep voice came through the phone. "Raven, how is everything going in Zayden? Are you done with your task?"

A cunning smile played on Trevor's lips, and he answered, "It's still in progress. At present, I only have half of the shares of the Sanderson family. Green Bat hasn't been dealt with yet. Cheetah and Bear almost ruined the plan and destroyed our mission. If I hadn't rushed into the police station to silence someone, this mission might have failed!"

Lone Wolf frowned and sighed helplessly. "Those two are really incompetent. That's why I sent you there. But the Wolf faction is short of people, so we have no choice but to rely on them."

Sensing Lone Wolf's concerns, Trevor suggested, "We could make an exception and promote some reserves to full members. When I was a drillmaster, I found some talented disciples, particularly Esteban. He's exceptional!"

For a moment, Lone Wolf was silent, his hesitation evident.

"I remember the guy you just mentioned. He was lured into Mobius. I'm worried he might be a spy."

Trevor quickly assured him, "You're overthinking it. I trained Esteban myself. I don't know what happened to him before, but he's trustworthy now. He even helped eliminate Midnight!"

Despite what he said, Trevor snickered inwardly.

The truth was, he was the real undercover operative, and training a few minor ones was easy.

Lone Wolf hesitated for a long time but eventually agreed. "The Wolf faction is low on members, and we've recently been attacked by unknown forces. We need new recruits. Since you vouch for him, I'll allow Esteban to be promoted to a full member."

Trevor breathed a sigh of relief, glad that he had succeeded in making Esteban a full member.

This was a good start. Once he had arranged for Esteban's companions to infiltrate Wolf faction, he could dismantle the faction from within.

Even Mobius would feel the repercussions. Trevor's ultimate goal of toppling Mobius was coming closer to fruition.