

Chapter 1817 Luisa Arrived At Zayden

Not long after, Luisa emerged from the airport, looking beautiful as always.

She was wearing an elegant office ensemble. A tight grey skirt encased her feminine form, while her long legs were adorned with flesh-colored silk stockings. She looked mature, but her face bore a tinge of weariness.

Trevor had mixed feelings when he saw her.

Nonetheless, he had to set aside his excitement for the time being.

His main problem right now was that Luisa had not seen his message.

Upon seeing her, Lenard licked his lips in anticipation and whispered, "She's so beautiful! It seems I'm in for a treat."

With the bouquet in his hand, he wasted no time and approached Luisa.

"Hello, Miss Burke. My name's Lenard. We met at the Sanderson family's banquet before..."

Before Lenard could finish his words, a look of disgust flashed across Luisa's face.

She took a half-step back and, without sparing him a glance, wheeled her suitcase around and continued forward.

Lenard froze in place, unable to believe that things would end up differently from what he had imagined.

At this moment, Luisa scanned the crowd. It did not take long before she spotted Raven.

Upon receiving the news about Trevor from Newmere Cosmetics, an overwhelming sense of joy sent her rushing to Zayden.

However, after boarding the plane, Luisa realized that something was amiss.

If it was indeed Trevor, he should have contacted her directly and not through the company.

Moreover, it perplexed her that he did not show his true face. Nevertheless, she still slowly made her way toward him.

Lenard was baffled as well. Why did she ignore him?

Confused, he hurried after her with the flowers and shouted, "Luisa, wait for me!"

However, Luisa only had eyes for Trevor. When she was about to say something, he suddenly cut her off.

He winked at her, preventing her from calling his name, and then greeted in a hoarse voice, "Miss Burke, welcome to Zayden."

Luisa blinked blankly and realized that something was wrong.

Maybe this was the so-called tacit understanding.

She stopped in her tracks and gazed at the man she had missed every second of the day.

Despite the puzzling situation, there was love in the air.

Trevor sensed a shift in Luisa and masked his concern with a sneer. "Miss Burke, are you looking for Trevor?"

Luisa almost burst into laughter.

Wasn't Trevor right in front of her?

Still, she played along and asked with feigned anxiety, "Where's Trevor? How is he?"

"If you want to know, come with me. I'll take you to him!"

Luisa, pretending to be concerned, nodded and followed Trevor.

Meanwhile, Collen and Lenard found themselves at a loss. Why was the situation completely different from what they had anticipated?

Lenard's grip on the flowers tightened, and he broke out in a barrage of curses inwardly.

Raven ruined his plan yet again!

Collen also had the same thoughts in mind.

Did Raven think he could just pick Luisa up and leave with her? No fucking way!

He swore to himself to expose Raven's identity.

Meanwhile, Trevor led Luisa out of the airport hall, ignoring the two contemptible scoundrels behind.
