

Chapter 1830 You Don't Look Like A Good Person

In Trevor's car.

Balfour rubbed his hands and asked excitedly, "Dragon, is my antique really that valuable?"

Thinking of Balfour's previous behavior, Trevor explained impatiently.

"The reason the Byrd family trades in antiques must be to make money. You bought it at a normal market price! If you intend to make a fortune by selling such an antique in Zayden, I better tell you right away that is very unlikely to happen."

It wasn't until Trevor said so that Balfour came to his senses. After recalling what happened just now, he suddenly raised his eyebrows and said fawningly to Trevor, "Awesome! You are so awesome! You deliberately let Lenard pay so much money! Thank you for raising the price, or else I would have suffered a big shortfall. The antique trade is really too complicated for ordinary folk."

Luisa chimed in at this time and strongly advised her brother.

"Don't buy any antiques anymore. Luckily, we are not short of money now. If you continued buying antiques, you might lose all the money we have."

She paused before adding, "Besides, you'd better not call him Dragon as long as we are in Zayden. You might bring us some trouble if you do that. You should call him Raven."

Hearing what his sister said, Balfour looked at Trevor suspiciously.

"Raven? Dragon? Why did you change your identity again? Besides, what are you doing in Zayden? Why would you have so many identities if you are a good person?"

Hearing what Balfour said, Trevor was helpless.

"You weren't so hostile earlier when you thanked me!" Trevor remarked.

Balfour had just made a lot of money thanks to Trevor, and he was in a

< Chapter 1830 You Don't Look Like A Good P... +120 Points at most really good mood. So, he just snorted and changed the topic.

"I inquired about the situation in Zayden once I got here. Apparently, the Singh Group has gone bankrupt. Luisa, Severich of the Singh Group is currently going through one of its toughest financial crises. I advise you to buy it to expand Newmere Cosmetics!"

Luisa nodded silently. Although she didn't say anything, she thought about it carefully.

Trevor was also surprised to hear what Balfour said.

He was stunned to see that Balfour was so smart now.

After thinking the matter over for a while, Luisa said with embarrassment, "Newmere Cosmetics has been expanding recently, and although the acquisition of Severich could give us a greater market share, I'm afraid the company's money at the moment is not enough to purchase Severich!"

Hearing that, Trevor smiled and said lightly, "If you need money, I can help you."

Luisa was about to say something, but Balfour spoke first.

He looked at Trevor warily and asked, "Who are you really? You don't seem like a good person to me! Do you have an evil plan in mind?"

Before Trevor could answer, he added, "I see... That's why you hide your identity in Zayden, right?"

Trevor was speechless. Alas, he could not explain to Balfour the reason why he was hiding his identity, so he said perfunctorily, "I have a good reason to hide my identity. I'm afraid if I tell you, you can't keep the secret."

Luisa also felt helpless over her brother's suspicions of Trevor. She sighed and said to Balfour, "Don't be so suspicious! I trust Raven."

She further assured him, "You don't know it, but he is a shareholder of Newmere Cosmetics. He is really a good man. Besides, he has been helping rebuild an orphanage recently. Just help him keep his identity secret. You don't need to worry about anything else."

Although Luisa said so, Balfour was still skeptical. He frowned and said, "I'm just afraid that someone will take advantage of you. If it's like you say, then ask him to take me to the orphanage. I wouldn't believe it until I saw this orphanage with my own eyes."