

Chapter 1844 An Encounter At The Gym Door

Trevor, Luisa and the others were concluding their discussion.

They talked about matters that were supposed to be dealt with after the acquisition.

After reorganizing and sorting out Severich's shares, Trevor handed them to Luisa.

He said playfully, "Since your company will grow now, you will make a lot of money. So if I need help, I guess I can count on you, right?" Trevor smiled.

Luisa rolled her eyes before giving Trevor a serious look.

"Since Severich is in my hands now, I want to merge it with Newmere Cosmetics and lead them onward together. I feel like staying in Zayden until I manage all the pertinent matters."

Trevor hummed as he thought.

He said after a while, "Zoie can prove helpful in this case. If you want, you can ask her for help." There was a hint of consideration in his voice.

"Zayden isn't a very safe place. It's crowded now, and if you stay here for too long, you'll become too noticeable for criminal organizations."

Though Luisa wanted to wrap up matters while staying in Zayden, she didn't want to bring any trouble to Trevor. She nodded in agreement after a moment of uncertainty.

Hearing her thoughts of staying, Balfour excitedly looked at Luisa.

"Wow! It's such a nice idea! I can stay in Severich too! I will be a great help in managing the company. You can arrange my position and leave the rest on me."

Balfour's toothy grin was visible as he imagined more chances to stay in contact with Sheena.

Trevor smirked because he knew Balfour's heart's desires.

He coughed and said, "Surely you will work hard, but don't deteriorate your health while you're at it. Don't forget to continue gym after work. You will stay fit this way."

Sheena raised her eyebrows in surprise as she looked at Balfour.

"I am impressed. I didn't expect that you like working out."

Balfour smiled. He didn't deny her thoughts rather, it made him more willing to go to the gym. But contrarily, he started bragging about the lies.

"Oh, it's nothing. Exercise is a necessity in my life. If I don't exercise for a day, I feel like I didn't live that day fully."

Luisa tilted her head in surprise, trying to meet Balfour's gaze.

Did he exercise every day? How come she didn't know about it?

With her eyes filled with curiosity, she said, "If that's the case, then I would like to see you stretching your muscles as you work out. Let's go to the gym together and see how you do it."

Then she turned to look at Sheena. "Would you like to join us, Miss Hobbes?"

Hiding his boundless ecstasy, Balfour looked at Luisa kindly.

She was his sister and always acted like one. She helped him in several matters.

But to his disappointment, Sheena politely refused Luisa's invitation, "I will be busy after the acquisition. I don't think I can manage to go this time. But I will catch up with you guys some other time."

With an apologetic look, she bid them farewell and left after that.

Balfour was visibly unhappy.

But now he couldn't make it obvious and not go with Trevor and Luisa. So the three of them eventually went to the gym.

Trevor guided him with working out.

Balfour was strained and breathless after a while, but he kept testing his limits and didn't quit. He was persistent since Sheena appreciated him for going to the gym, which suggested she liked guys who worked out.

Jonah, at the same time, was about to enter the gym when he saw Trevor inside. With his hand on the door handle, he stopped in his tracks and backed away in embarrassment. Unable to meet Trevor's eyes, he paced back and forth outside.

On the other hand, hearing that Trevor was at the gym with Luisa, Lenard followed them.

Standing there, he could feel that since he didn't exercise much and didn't build muscles, he would lose against Raven.

Nonetheless, he needed a way to find out if Raven was actually Trevor.

Lost in his thoughts, Jonah bumped into Lenard as he paced outside.

"What the hell, man!"

With his eyes blazing flames, Lenard drank up his anger rather than lashing out foul words at Jonah because Trevor was right inside, and Lenard didn't want to create a scene in his presence.

He grumbled, "Watch where you're going! Are you blind?"

Instead of giving a quick offensive reply, Jonah recognized Lenard and flattered him, "Oh, forgive me, Mr. Sanderson. I didn't see you coming. I apologize."

Lenard was a little surprised and obviously flattered. "You know me?"

And then it clicked in his head as he came up with an idea. He knew now how he could test Trevor.

"Such a coincidence that you are acquainted by my name. Anyway, I need you to do something for me. Do you see that man inside?" Lenard pointed his finger at Trevor from the other side of the glass door. "I need you to go inside and exercise close to him. And then you get yourself hurt and ask him for help. Got it?"

Lenard winked. "I will give you two hundred thousand if you do this!"
