

Chapter 1874 Return To Esterham!

Trevor's eyes widened and his heart began to beat fast as he suddenly felt a sense of panic.

Did what Beth said mean that Luisa would soon lose her memory?

Thinking of that, he ignored Beth and hurriedly returned to the ward.

When Trevor returned to Luisa's ward, he saw that she was already deep asleep. However, although she was sleeping, her brows were furrowed, which seemed to show that she had a headache.

Trevor slowly walked up to the bed and used his medical skills to try to alleviate Luisa's headache.

He treated Luisa for a while, but her complexion remained very pale and she didn't seem to be relieved at all.

Trevor became very anxious.

Even his medical skills were of no use in this situation! It seemed he would have to find the people responsible!

With a deep frown on his face, Trevor pulled out his phone and dialed Madison's number. He called the number several times, but no one picked the calls.

Feeling helpless, he called Sally. But he couldn't reach her either.

Trevor paced back and forth anxiously in the ward, lost in thought.

Why did neither of them answer their phones? This shouldn't happen.

Confused and helpless, Trevor looked at the pale Luisa. He knew he couldn't waste any more time. Who knew what would happen if he didn't act fast. Therefore, he made up his mind.

He gently woke Luisa up and said softly, "Luisa, your condition requires a more appropriate treatment. The drug you were exposed to has a lot of side effects. I know it won't be easy for you to deal with the dizziness and headaches. Fortunately, I know a mother and daughter with exceptional medical skills. They live in Esterham. In fact, they were the ones who taught me all the medical skills I have. I'd like to take you to see them. Maybe they can find a way to completely treat you."

Luisa was still in a daze, and she opened her eyes slowly, staring at Trevor's worried face. She hugged him weakly and nodded.

"Okay, I'll do as you say," she muttered.

Their voices finally woke Balfour who was lying next to them. After being informed of the situation, he expressed his concerns.

"Luisa's body is still very weak. What if something happens to her on the way? If you really have to take her away, I'm coming with you!"

No sooner had Balfour said this than Trevor refused directly.

"I can't let you risk your health like this. You were seriously injured by the assassin, and your body is also very weak. You can't make this journey with us. You shouldn't even travel at all. You need rest. Don't worry. I'll take good care of Luisa. As for you, stay in Zayden and focus on recovering. Besides, if both you and Luisa leave, who will manage Severich? Just stay here, and you can rest assured that I will take good care of her!"

Balfour was still not convinced, and it showed on his face. After much hesitation, he reluctantly compromised.

"Fine, I'll stay and take care of Severich for Luisa. Raven, you must protect my sister at all cost! She's my only family. If anything happens to her, I will make you pay for it!"

Trevor could understand how Balfour felt, and he patted his chest while promising solemnly, "Don't worry. I'll protect her with my life!"

Hearing that, Balfour knew Trevor meant it, so he finally nodded in satisfaction.

On the other side, Luisa also had her concerns. She didn't want Trevor to be constantly running up and down for her. She asked cautiously, "Would it be very troublesome to get me an adequate treatment?"

Hearing her worries, Trevor hugged Luisa tightly and comforted her, "Don't worry. I will do everything in my power for you to get better."

Trevor's sincerity moved Luisa so much that tears welled up in her eyes and she hugged him tightly.

Later that day, Trevor and Luisa set off for Esterham together.

Trevor still remembered the location of the Scott family's medical clinic, and he took Luisa there directly.

When they arrived there, they saw a crowd gathered outside the clinic, and a group of tough-looking ruffians were causing a scene.

Some of the thugs even had weapons and threatened to destroy everything around.

The crowd was shouting something, but neither Trevor nor Luisa could hear what they were saying.
