

Chapter 1878 Craig Family In Clouauro

It had been ages since Trevor last saw Greta.

At this moment, she approached the young man with resolve and announced, "There's a complaint against you for supposedly bribing the Drug Administration's director and trying to wrongfully shut down this clinic. Come with us."

It was not just the young man in hot water. The entire group from the Drug Administration Bureau who came with him also got the police's attention.

A wave of panic washed over the young man. But remembering that he had the Wright family on his back, he steadied himself and retorted, "Who do you think you are? I'm under the protection of the Wright family! I advise you to mind your own business!"

Greta simmered with frustration.

The Wright family was one of the three most powerful families in the area. Going head-to-head with them and arresting their people without solid proof might backfire.

However, justice was her priority. She was not going to let this guy run the show.

Suddenly, Trevor, with a sly grin, stepped forward and rang up Lennon in front of everyone.

"Hey, Mr. Wright. Your wife's been pulling some strings here by using your family name to bribe officials and close down a clinic. The police are on the scene now. This guy says your wife's got his back and the police can't touch him. I called to ask if it's true. What do you say?"

When Lennon had left the hospital, he and Trevor had exchanged numbers. That was the reason he immediately recognized the caller.

Upon hearing what Trevor had said, Lennon seethed with anger. Beth had misused the name of the Wright family?

At the thought of this, he took a deep breath to suppress his anger and said in a deep voice, "Put me on speaker. I'll have a word with them."

Trevor shot a playful look at the young man and switched to speaker mode.

With that, Lennon's angry voice boomed. "Who has the audacity to do such heinous acts in our family's name?"

The young man was stunned. He had not anticipated Trevor having a direct line to the Wrights.

Nonetheless, he held onto the notion that Beth's influence within the Wright family might be his ticket out of this.

"Beth sent us here," he calmly argued. "Just so you know, she's Mrs. Wright!"

Lennon burst into laughter. "You fool, Beth's my wife! She's been arrested. And now, you're using her name as a threat? I don't care who you are. But if you dare to do anything bad in the name of our family, I'll never let you off."

It was then that it dawned on the young man that the man on the phone was none other than Beth's husband, Lennon Wright himself.

Fear replaced his earlier bravado. With the world blurring around him, his first instinct was to flee.

But Greta was quick. She closed in on him, snapped handcuffs around his wrists, and declared, "You're coming with us to the police station and will be investigated."

In a desperate bid, the young man broke down and blurted out, "Wait! Please, don't! I'll tell you everything! It's the Craig family pulling the strings. They want the mother and daughter in Clouauro. I'm just the middleman. They hired me to carry out their plan. So, please, let me go! I promise I won't do this again. Just let me go!"

However, his pleas only fell on Greta's deaf ear, and she ordered, "Take him away!"

A few moments later, the police sirens faded in the distance.

Although the matter was over, a frown appeared on Trevor's face as he thought things through.

He just found it a little strange. Craig family in Clouauro? Did they have

But he had another pressing concern—Luisa.

While Trevor was contemplating whether to investigate the matter, his phone rang, pulling him back to reality.

It was Jasmine.

"Good news!" she said, her voice bubbling with excitement. "I've got a lead on that mysterious shipment. It's with the Craig family in Clouauro!"
