

Chapter 1898 Fist And Money

Trevor had wanted to get in touch with Ewing, so he agreed to Connie's request.

"Since you are asking me so sincerely, I will go," he said at last.

It was clear he was being sarcastic, and that made Connie so furious that she clenched her teeth and abruptly hung up the call.

Seeing that the phone had been disconnected, Trevor explained the situation to Luisa. As he had expected, she insisted on going with him. She was afraid that she would lose her memory, so she didn't want to be separated from Trevor even for a second.

Trevor didn't try to dissuade her and he took her with him to the hospital.

Not long after Trevor and Luisa left the Archer family's residence, a large group of people surrounded Trevor.

These people looked mean and aggressive.

Holding a photo in his hand, the leader of the group looked at Trevor carefully and shouted, "It's you! Don't blame us for what will happen to you. You have offended someone whom you shouldn't have offended! You can rest assured though, we have no intention of killing you. Me and my men, we will only break your hand today. Guys, beat him up!"

Looking at the man in front of him, Trevor snorted coldly. Of course he knew that it must be Connie who sent them here. She was the only one in Clouauro who had a grudge against him.

On the other side, Luisa was scared when she saw the large group of people surrounding her. By this time, she had lost much of her memory and didn't remember just how good of a fighter Trevor was.

Panicked, Luisa held Trevor's arm tightly and asked worriedly, "What should we do?"

Trevor was surprised to see how scared she was. But after thinking it over, he understood why she was feeling this way, and a trace of pity flashed through his eyes.

"Luisa, don't worry. I can defeat all of them," he muttered.

After saying that, Trevor walked towards the men surrounding them. Even though he was alone against so many men, he gave off a more overwhelming aura.

Thinking Trevor was just an ordinary doctor, the Fire Gang rushed towards him with fierce expressions on their faces.

They thought it would be a piece of cake to beat up Trevor, but what happened next left them stunned.

The only advantage these ordinary hooligans had was their numerical superiority, but that was far from enough against Trevor.

Trevor knocked down several men with a single spinning kick. As far as he was concerned, the Fire Gang was no different from sandbags.

In no time, all the gang members were lying on the ground, squirming in pain.

"Ouch!"

The men let out screams and groans.

Only the gang leader was still standing.

Looking at Trevor standing in front of him, the gang leader felt helpless. He couldn't help cursing Connie in his heart.

Didn't that bitch Connie say he was just a doctor? How could a mere doctor be so good at fighting?

Even Luisa was shocked and couldn't help but exclaim, "I didn't know you were so powerful! Do you have any idea who sent these men to attack us?"

Trevor spoke out his guess. "Connie is the only person in Clouauro who would want to harm us. I'll get even with her when I go back to the Archer family's residence."

Upon hearing this, Luisa seemed a little hesitant.

"We are currently residing in her family's house. Isn't it wrong to accuse her without sufficient evidence?" Luisa said nervously.

Trevor was strangely calm and smiled leisurely.

"Getting the evidence of what she did is pretty easy. Take a look."

After saying this, Trevor walked over to the gang leader. The man was so scared that he stumbled backwards. "Stay away from me," he stammered.

Instead of beating the man, Trevor took out a check from his pocket and asked with a smile, "How much did Connie give you? One hundred thousand? One million? Five million? I have money enough. Just tell me if it was indeed Connie who sent you here?"

The fear of Trevor together with the temptation of money made the gang leader's mind go blank. He stared at the check and nodded repeatedly.

"Yes, it's her! She said you were a weak doctor, so I accepted the task thinking I could easily complete it. If I had known how powerful you were, I wouldn't have accepted this task. Just give me the check and I will help you teach her a lesson."

Trevor nodded. However, he put back the check in his pocket and said indifferently, "All right, but I didn't say that I would give you the check."