

Chapter 1208 Trevor Knows The Police Director

Edlin had a big smile on his face when he spoke.

It wasn't often he got to show off in front of Trevor, so he fully intended to enjoy this moment.

In the face of the flattery of Doris' uncle and aunt, Edlin immediately agreed.

"It's no big deal. I'm not an ordinary cop after all. In fact, I'm also the police director's assistant. Don't worry. I will help you get your money back."

Seeing Edlin show off, Trevor sneered and said nothing.

As far as Trevor was concerned, Edlin was merely showing off.

Edlin's identity could do nothing to help recover the money that was allegedly defrauded.

If Wade had spent the money, even Kermit, the police director, could do nothing about it.

However, Doris' uncle and aunt were overwhelmed by Edlin's promise. In their minds, since Edlin had said so, then there was no doubt that they would get their money back. So they immediately turned around and laughed at Trevor.

"Well, brat, we don't need you anymore. We can recover our money by ourselves. What a loser you are! You always talk big! If it weren't for this sir, we would never have our money back! Doris, let me tell you, you can't rely on such a useless man. I advise you to break up with him as soon as possible!"

Edlin couldn't help chuckling when he heard Doris' aunt and uncle abuse Trevor. He said proudly, "Let's go to the police station. As the victims, you must file a statement. This will be used for the investigation."

Doris' uncle and aunt didn't object and they happily followed Edlin. As the couple got left, they kept flattering Edlin until they got into the police car.

Trevor and Doris looked at each other.

Doris forced a smile and said apologetically, "I'm sorry about all this."

Smiling, Trevor shook his head and said calmly, "Let's go to the police station with them."

Once they arrived at the police station, Edlin wanted to show off before Trevor more.

He deliberately pulled out a blank sheet of paper and threw it in front of Trevor.

"You write your statement yourself!"

Trevor raised a brow and said indifferently, "I'm not the victim. Why should I write the statement?"

With a mischievous smile, Edlin said, "You must do whatever I ask you to do without argument. Cut the crap!"

No sooner had Edlin finished his words than a figure appeared in the corridor.

It was the police director, Kermit.

"Shut up! Idiot!" With a long face, Kermit walked over and slapped Edlin on the back of the head. "Is this how you handle cases? Edlin, you really disappoint me!"

Edlin was utterly stunned. Words failed him and he stammered with confusion, "Sir... I..."

He felt wronged. He couldn't help being annoyed that Kermit, who was usually so busy every day that he stayed in his office all the time, came out today to defend Trevor. Why did Kermit care so much about this loser?

The aggrieved expression on Edlin's face only made Kermit all the more furious. He shouted, "Get out! Go on patrol! I'll take over the case myself!"

Edlin felt so aggrieved that he wanted to retort.

He looked up and saw Trevor looking at him with a faint smile, his arms crossed over his chest.

Although Edlin was furious, he couldn't disobey the order. So, he swallowed his anger and said, "Yes, sir."

After saying so, Edlin turned around and left reluctantly. Doris' uncle and aunt were stunned as they watched the scene in front of them.

The two looked at each other and saw shock in each other's eyes.

It turned out that the person they despised so much had a friend in the police station! And his friend was none other than the police director. The couple had the same thought.

Doris' uncle turned to look at Trevor with a fawning smile and said, "Young man, I'm so sorry. You know, my mind was just on the money I lost and I was so angry. I know I wronged you and I beg you to forgive me."

Doris' aunt also came to her senses. She looked at Trevor with an apologetic smile and said, "That's right, young man. I know from your appearance that you are an honest man. You won't lie. The braggart I was referring to was that unreliable cop who just left, not you."

What a despicable couple. They changed attitude quickly, depending on what best served their interests.

Looking at the two people in front of him, Trevor sneered and said nothing.

The only reason he was still in the same room with those two people who repelled him so much was that he wanted to recover the effects of Doris' parents.

Trevor turned to Kermit and said in a low voice, "Thank you for your help."

Kermit rubbed his hands and said with a kind smile, "It's not a big deal. It's my honor to help you."
