

Marriage To The Mafia Boss - Chapter 25

.

. Chapter 25 - Stealing A Kiss

Emma is realising about her original purpose to come to the hospital because they need help due to an accident. However, she can see the hospital still quiet and it still normal. She is picking up her phone and call back to the number in the hospital. She is finding out that all the paramedics call for the accident get diverted to the Man Hospital in the city centre.

Emma is getting confused as Man Hospital is not a public hospital, but they are receiving a public government patient. This is something weird when the only person who knows about the accident happen is her husband. she is ending the phone call and ready to send her grandmother back home in her own car.

As soon as, her grandmother car drive away. She is turning her body to her husband.

‘Did you steal all of our patients to your hospital? They will be getting a higher bill rather than our hospital,’ Emma is complaining to her husband who is giving out a smile back.

‘I am not... what do you mean by stealing your patient? It’s true that I have a hospital under my corporation, but I do not need to steal anyone patient,’ Vito is telling her before he is stealing a peck of a kiss on her lips. Vito needs to bend down his body to be able to kiss her.

Emma gets her face crimson red to see his smug face. this is going to be something interesting when she can’t hold any longer. Vito Is holding her hand and get her inside the hospital building again.

‘Do you still need to work?’ Vito is asking her.

‘Yes... I will work until around 10 Pm. Are you going to pick me up?’ Emma looks at his soft and loving gaze toward her.

‘I will.... Go there and have a good day,’ Vito is letting her walk away toward the emergency room. As soon as he can’t see his wife silhouette, he is asking the director office from Ai Jia.

Vito is walking to the executive meeting room on the third floor. He is immersing his usual iron cold devilish aura to everyone inside the office. All the senior management in the hospital board is having a corn bead sweat to see such an imposing aura. He is sitting on the top of the long table full of all the heads of directors in the hospital.

‘I hope you are not having any surgery appointment after this meeting because this will go a long time. Ai Jia can you tell Max to get me my coffee and you will stay here to assist me,’ Vito cold voice send the shiver to the whole room. The doctor in the senior executive roles is not handling any surgery.

They all are shaking their head and put their head down into the folder in front of them. Vito is really going one by one on their plan in the short term and long term. The first thing is to fire the chef in the cafeteria and the Man Corporation branch in hospitality will send them their new candidate for an executive chef. They are going to be hunting the new nutritionist to manage the hospital nutrition.

Everyone is in awe and wanted to cry to hear their new boss want to cater their complaint after a while. The Qing hospital university is having the budget slashed by almost 70% in their financial year. They did not know the reason even the Qing University and hospital are making a lot of profit for the Qing Corporation.. However, it seems that the wheel starts to turn around.