

Multi skilled 182

Chapter 182: Why Don't You Check It Again?

Early in the morning the next day, Zi Yi received a call from Dou Xiangling.

She told her about the paintings auctioned off yesterday and there was unconcealable joy in her voice.

Sensing her joy, Zi Yi said, "Congratulations."

Dou Xiangling asked over the phone, "Yiyi, are you free in the afternoon? I'll treat you to dinner."

Zi Yi thought about it for a moment. She had to make a trip down to the racing club today, as many items she had ordered would be arriving.

"I'm not free during the day."

"Then let's have dinner instead! Yiyi, where do you live? I'll come over to pick you up."

Dou Xiangling had been concerned about where Zi Yi was currently living. She found it awkward to ask in the past and she finally found a reason now.

Thinking that her place was filled with soil due to the construction work, she said, "I stay near Metropolis University and it's currently under renovation these few days."

Dou Xiangling breathed a sigh of relief. "Then after the renovations are done, I'll come over to visit you."

"Ok."

Following on, they discussed what to eat for dinner and disconnected the call.

Shortly after, Zi Yi headed to the racing club.

Products from the Lu Group were first to arrive and it was directly delivered by special trucks.

There was also a middle-aged man who tagged along.

He first introduced himself. "Miss Zi, my surname is Gan and I'm in charge of the handover for these products. Please kindly check if the quality of the items passes your standards. If there are no problems, you can sign here."

While he said that, he passed her a document.

After all, they were products worth billions and no one dared to be careless.

Zi Yi took over the document and motioned for the group of robots beside her. "Go check."

Mr. Gan was accustomed to dealing with high-tech products. He originally thought he would not be surprised like a country bumpkin at the sight of a group of robots.

However, when he saw various scanning equipment appearing on their mechanical arms as they swiftly checked the quality of the products without damaging it, he widened his eyes.

"Miss Zi, may I take the liberty of asking? Where did you get your robots customized?"

These types of robots were considered the most high-tech even in the Lu Group.

Zi Yi looked at Mr. Gan who had a curious expression but did not answer him.

He guessed that it was most probably inconvenient to say and so, he did not pry further.

In normal situations, the check for a few truckloads of products would take at least half a day. Yet, the robots completed all the checks in half an hour.

Zi Yi signed her signature on the document.

“Miss Zi, are you sure everything has been checked?”

There were so many products and for them to be finished in half an hour’s time... even the person in charge felt concerned on Zi Yi’s behalf.

“Why don’t you check it again.”

“It’s been checked, why the need for another round?”

Zi Yi passed him the document and said, “Don’t worry, even if the products are defective, I will not look for you.”

Hearing her words, he immediately assured her earnestly. “Miss Zi, you can rest assured that our Lu Group’s product must pass through several inspection checkpoints before they can leave the factory. There won’t be any defects.”

“In that case, wouldn’t this be enough?”

Zi Yi commanded the robots. “Move everything to the warehouse.”

She did not care about Mr. Gan and turned around as she headed inside.

Mr. Gan opened his mouth as if wanting to say something, but gave up in the end.

He took out his phone, reported to the higher-ups in the company, and returned.

As soon as the products she needed had arrived, she started to get busy.

When she finally stopped, it was 5 p.m in the evening.

She stopped and then left the racing club, but only because Dou Xiangling did not see her at the restaurant and gave her a call.