

Multiverse 141

Chapter 141: The Convergence

John reached the police station and saw Jane and Darcy signing some forms for the release of Dr. Selvig. He approached her as she was signing.

"Hi Dr. Foster. Need any help in releasing Dr. Selvig?"

"No no it's fine. We are already done." Jane replied.

"Hiii.. Remember me?" Darcy also joined in.

"Yes Of course. Where is your intern?" John said.

"Huh how do you know there is an intern of mine?" Darcy said. John just smiled to that.

"Are you spying on us via Google?" Darcy asked as she believed in any controversial theory.

"Of course no. You don't think my only power is getting contact with superheroes right?" John said. Darcy was surprised by this answer.

In the meantime, Erik was released. They wanted to bring Erik to a hospital but somehow Jane was able to convince the police otherwise. All four took a taxi and went to Erik's place.

His place was a mess with papers and various instruments spread across the room.

"Erik what the hell happened? Why were you running naked in Stonehenge?" Jane asked with some anger.

"Because Dr. Selvig discovered something extraordinary. Isn't it right Dr. Selvig?" John said.

"Huh you know about this?" Erik asked with curiosity.

"Yes I do. It's been few thousand years since the last alignment. This will be another one."

"What are you both talking about?" Darcy asked.

"The Convergence. Every 5000 years all the nine realms will be in an alignment for few minutes. During this time the boundary lines between the nine realms becomes blurred. In a few days time there will be another Convergence in Greenwich. Dr. Selvig, I guess you have necessary equipments for controlling the boundary lines."

"God. You know everything... Yes I did."

"Good you need to set them up. I will call SHIELD to secure the location. It might get nasty."

"Great another adventure. Can't wait for it to start." Darcy rejoiced when she heard it.

Erik operated on his equipments as he wanted to make sure they worked properly while Jane researched more on the gravitational anomaly around. She wanted to find out more about it.

John on the other hand called Fury and said to ward off unnecessary problems that might cause when Convergence occurs. Fury understood since John called him specifically, the matter was serious so he immediately sent Coulson on it.

The next two days went with Jane and Darcy going around searching for gravitational anomaly. John didn't join them as he didn't want to be the host of an infinity stone. It was the destiny of Jane so it was better for her to follow her path.

And the destiny didn't disappoint John. Soon Darcy called saying Jane was missing. She wanted to call the police but then remembered they would be arrested if police saw her in private property.

"I am coming. No need to panic. It's alright." John said.

He soon reached near the place where she vanished and saw around. Saw the effects of Convergence which caused weird phenomena.

"I don't know what happened. She just vanished." Darcy said almost in tears.

"It's fine Darcy. She is alright. She will come back soon. Send the children away." John said. After Darcy got assurance she calmed down. After sending the children away she waited with the intern and John. It took almost 4 hours for Jane to return.

"Jane did you see a red fluid floating before you lost consciousness?" John asked directly.

"Huh. What do you mean?" Jane couldn't answer it as she didn't remember anything of what happened but John saw a vague red stream of liquid flowing inside her arms.

"It's fine I got the answer. Thor will come soon to take you to Asgard."

And as the story was supposed to happen Thor did come for Jane as she vanished from the eyes of Heimdall. After talking with Jane and getting slaps from her Thor saw John standing looking at him. The rain which was pouring due to the arrival of Thor also didn't touch the body as they were evaporating by the heat coming out from his body.

"Seems like you came too." Thor said.

"Jane is sick. Take her to Asgard. Tell Allfather to check on her. He knows the rest of the story. Go. There isn't much time." John said.

"What do you mean?" Thor said as he didn't understand what John meant by sickness of Jane.

"It's fine. Heimdall take both of them away and inform Allfather." As soon as John said the Bifrost came down and sucked both of them in.

"Alright they are gone. Now it's our time. Ready the equipments. The battle is about to begin." John said.

"What the hell just happened? What battle? How is Jane is sick? We could have brought her doctors if she was sick." Darcy said as she didn't understand why John just said weird things and before they could process he sent them away. What surprised her more was that the Bifrost actually dropped down when John called Heimdall like Thor.

It was King Odin's arrangements as he directed Heimdall to always pay attention to John and if he had any simple request then he should follow it. Bringing Thor and Jane to Asgard was considered a mere small request.

Chapter 142: The Dark Elves

Thor took away Jane to Asgard and went to the healers for checking on her. He then proceeded to tell Odin what John had said. Odin was displeased that Jane came to Asgard but when Thor said that it was John who guided it, he became serious.

The moment Thor said that John asked him to check on Jane, he came to the room where Jane was kept. After checking on her, Odin immediately knew the matter was grave. Then Odin proceeded to tell the story of Aether and the Dark Elves. As Odin was speaking he wondered if the murder of Frigga came from the Dark Elves but he couldn't act on anything as John had warned him against distorting future.

He could only be passive and react accordingly. Only after the matter of Frigga can he act as he wished and kill those who would try to murder her. As Malekith who sensed that the Aether was in Asgard mounted an attack after few days onto Asgard and even sent an accursed to the prison of Asgard to do a two - prong attack like in the original story.

As the story should have progressed there was a riot in prison and the accursed was able to break out of the prison and even Loki directed him to the main hall. The accursed sacrificed his life to break down the shield around the palace while the dark elves attacked from front. It was a sudden attack as Odin didn't take any precautions before, thus the attack from Malekith was successful.

After entering the palace Malekith sensed the Aether and went to the place where Jane and Frigga were present.

"Child you have something which is mine." Malekith said.

"Who are you?" Frigga asked.

"I am Malekith, and I will have what is mine."

Frigga stopped Malekith and being a witch herself she was able to easily overpower Malekith. But he came prepared and before Frigga could kill Malekith a accursed came and stopped her.

The accursed picked her up in the air easily. And held a sword at her neck. Malekith approached Jane but soon realized that it was an illusion.

"Where is she?" Malekith asked angrily.

"You will never know." Frigga said with a smile.

"I believe you." Malekith said as he directed the accursed to kill her but before he could stab her with the sword, an axe came flying by.

The axe flew to the accursed and easily cut off both of his hands. The accursed screamed in pain as his hands rolled off the ground. The axe traveled a few more meters before flying back from where it came, to the shadows. Out came Kratos from the shadows. But this time he brought Blades of Chaos on his back.

Kratos had already known the whole story from the memories of John and he knew what he needed to do. So he had waited for Malekith to come.

"She just became my son's godmother. Can't let her die so early now, can we?"

He took the blades in his hands and flung it to the accursed. The blades left a trail of fire as it flew to the accursed. He was already in pain and couldn't dodge the blades. The blades cut the body of accursed in two halves and thus ending the life of the accursed the next moment.

At the same moment, Thor came flying by and struck lightning in his face. It destroyed half the face of Malekith. He was injured badly and Malekith knew that he wouldn't succeed in his attempt to steal Aether. He had to flee as the few soldiers of Dark Elves weren't enough to overthrow Asgard or cause a massive damage.

Malekith somehow ran to the balcony and dived down. A Dark Elf ship was already below to pick him up. Thor wanted to fly and kill Malekith but Kratos stopped him.

"What did you stop me?"

"Aether needs a new host. Malekith could be a good one." Kratos said

Thor's eye immediately shined as he understood what Kratos meant. They could transfer Aether to Malekith and kill him. Asgard didn't have the sufficient technology like the one in Avengers Endgame where Tony made for them. So they would have to go old school for extracting Aether from the body of Jane.

After Malekith left, the attack by the Dark Elves stopped as many tried to flee but Odin who knew that Frigga was almost killed was angry and he aggressively hunted the elves. Even though he was angry he was grateful that Kratos was there as a personal bodyguard for Frigga.

After killing all the Dark Elves Odin came to the chambers of Jane and Frigga to see if they were perfectly fine. Even if Odin could almost sense whatever happens in Asgard he still wanted to make sure.

"Are you alright? Is everything fine?" Odin asked.

"Everything is fine my King. Kratos protected me."

Chapter 143: Aether

"I will kill every Dark Elf for trespassing and remind the nine realms why Asgard is still the King of nine realms." Odin said as he was still angry.

"Father do you want another war? The soldiers will die in vain if we do that." Thor said rejecting such notion of war.

"Than what you want me to do? There has been rebellion everywhere. And now this attack. Everybody will think that we are weak." Odin said angrily.

"We will kill Malekith and parade his head in the square but we will do it sneakily. We need him to extract Aether as he did the attack only for this. After he takes away Aether, we will kill him and Jane too will be free for Aether." Thor said. Odin became silent when he heard this.

Thor was right, waging a war would be loss of lives as he himself had waged too many wars and knew its horrors. Kratos in the meantime who was listening to all this said.

"We need to ambush Malekith after he takes away Aether. We need to make sure he dies. And for this we need a person who knows how to do this with a plan."

Thor looked at Odin when Kratos said that. Because only one person would fit this criteria.

Loki.

Only he could use illusion and diversion to confuse Malekith while Thor could launch a sneak attack and kill him. Odin thought for a moment and finally said.

"Fine take him. Kratos can you go with them? Since Frigga survived I guess the future has already changed. Now we can act freely while Frigga will stay with me till Malekith is killed."

"Hmm. Malekith wants to bring darkness to this world using Aether. It would be noble deed to assist Thor in stopping Malekith."

Thor went to the prison to free Loki and convince him to help him. Thor insinuated him by saying that Frigga had almost died by the attack. This angered Loki as only his mother meant so much to him and in addition this might his chance to freedom.

As per the original timeline, Loki took Thor and Jane but this time Kratos joined the party. Kratos looked different as he wore Asgardian armor with the Leviathan Axe in his waist and Blades of Chaos on his back.

"Loki you need to take Jane to Malekith and make sure she is safe. Only then we will attack."

"Sure brother." Loki said as he looked at Kratos. Since the son of Kratos was Loki he felt weird a bit but didn't say anything to him.

Soon they reached Svartalfheim. Thor and Kratos hid behind the rocks while Jane and Loki were standing and waiting for Malekith. Since Malekith could sense Aether before, they were sure Malekith would arrive. And as expected Malekith did arrive.

"I have a present for you." Loki said. A nearby Dark Elf passed the information about Loki as he too was a prisoner. Malekith didn't think much and all he cared was the Aether. He summoned Jane as she did perfunctory struggle to sell the story of being captured.

Malekith was successful in extracting the Aether and took the Aether into his body. That was when Kratos and Thor attacked. Loki ran to Jane and took her away from the battlefield. Kratos took out the blades of chaos and started swinging it at the dark elves while Thor started using his hammer.

There were three accursed this time as opposed to the only single accursed from the actual story. Since this time the accursed knew about the powers of Kratos, they were able to dodge and retaliate. Meanwhile Malekith proceeded to his spaceship to go to Earth as Greenwich was the node of convergence of all the nine realms.

As they were fighting Thor was almost sneakily attacked by an accursed as he was dealing with the other dark elves. Loki who just took away Jane saw it and ran to Thor to save him. Before the accursed could stab Thor, Loki put his body between Thor and the accursed. And Loki was stabbed instead.

"NO!!!" Thor shouted. Kratos too noticed that flung his axe to the accursed and beheaded his head. Thor held Loki's body as he was crying. No matter what had happened in New York he still loved his brother, and Loki was going to die to save him.

Kratos killed every dark elf and the two accursed and returned to where Thor was holding Loki. By the time Kratos was able to kill all Malekith had already gone to his spaceship and vanished.

"You fool. You never listen. You never listen." Thor said to Loki.

"I am sorry.. I am sorry.. " Loki said as his skin was darkening.

"I will tell father about what you did." Thor said.

"I didn't do it for him..." Loki said as he had closed his eyes. Kratos looked at Loki and he had doubts but didn't say it out loud.

Chapter 144: London

As Thor mourned on the death of Loki a huge storm approached. Kratos knew they had to leave.

"Let's find shelter. We need to go back and finish what we started." Kratos said. They had to leave the corpse of Loki as the wind was blowing very fast and they to find shelter soon. They sound found a small cave and entered it.

"We need to stop Malekith. He wants to destroy the nine realms. Starting from Earth." Jane said as she saw the views of Malekith when Aether was extracted from her.

"The convergence. We need to go back." Thor said after get a hold of himself. They needed to stop Malekith.

John in the meantime had cordoned off the area around Greenwich. Coulson had come to lead the situation with his team. John finally saw Skye for the first time. The future shockwave girl. In fact in many comics she was the director of SHIELD and in this universe she might even be after Coulson retires.

"Are the equipments ready?" John asked Erik.

"Yes. SHIELD helped in making a lot of these. Fitz even made their efficiency more high." Erik said as he was impressed by the work of Fitz.

"Coulson are the areas cordoned off?" John said.

"Yes. Umm.. Should we call the Avengers? Even if it's not everyone. We can call the Secretary." Coulson said.

"It's fine. Aang, Katara, Ittan, me are enough. Plus there are few jonin in the whole team that you brought. In addition Thor and another super powered person will arrive. We will be enough." John said as he was constantly checking the memories of Kratos so that nothing goes out of his hand.

"Another? Is it from the new game?" Coulson said as by now he was essentially a die-hard fan of John's works. His stories, games, animes and even the movies awed him.

"Seems like you follow my works pretty closely. Yes. He is here. Well by here I mean Asgard. Not everybody lands in Earth after coming to this universe."

Coulson wondered if the other works of John landed in another planets in the universe. If they did he prayed for their lives as the animes of John always gives a scare to Coulson.

As they were talking in Erik's place they heard a knock in the door. Erik went and opened the door only to see Jane, Thor and bald huge looking man satnding.

"Jane you are alright. Is the Aether take away from your body. John had explained your situation." Erik said.

"I am alright. Just got here. Thanks to an anomaly in the cave we were in." Jane said.

They all entered the house. Coulson saw Kratos for the first time and by seeing him only one sentence came to his mind.

"The ghost of Sparta."

Thor was little hurt by the fighting against the elves, so Jane tended to his wounds. He narrated all that had happened with Malekith and that he was going to come here soon.

"We have made arrangements about Malekith. The whole battlefield had already been controlled by us. Malekith would never succeed." Coulson said.

"Alright guys take rest. And keep on the lookout. It will take sometime for his spaceship to arrive." John said as he yawned. It was already night and he wanted to sleep. He went to the nearby vacant hotel after talking to them.

It was a different story for Thor as the team of Coulson wanted to meet Thor up close. So Thor had to accompany Coulson to meeting his team. The whole team was enthusiastic about him. Even Melinda had a gleam in her eyes when she met him. Kratos found a nearby home where the residents had left after the intervention of SHIELD and slept on their bed.

The next day in the afternoon there was finally a huge hole in the sky showing an image of a different planet and John knew that Malekith would arrive soon. He summoned everyone.

"Alright guys he would arrive soon. Do your best to kill Malekith. He won't be easy. Aether can't be destroyed, well we aren't powerful enough yet, but we can kill Malekith." John said.

Coulson and others had now got accustomed to the prophetic nature of John. They had been seeing this for sometime now so they didn't bother to ask him about how he knew Malekith would arrive in Earth and even did such a detailed plan to deal with his arrival from before.

As John was directing of how to handle the Malekith they saw a wave of water suddenly formed from the river nearby. This was caused by the invisible spaceship of the Dark Elves. Soon the long spaceship showed itself and stopped near the Greenwich.

Malekith and many dark elves got out of the spaceship. Thor and others were standing in front of them when they landed.

"Asgardian. I have the Aether now. Do you think you can destroy the aether?"

"No. Aether cannot be destroyed but you can die easily."

Chapter 145: Easy kill

Malekith got angry by his words and attacked Thor using Aether. As dark liquid like thing poured out from his body and attacked Thor, he retaliated using lightning from Mjolnir. Ittan and others went to kill off the other dark elves as they didn't need any distraction.

As the lightning was able to stop the advancement of the lightning, Kratos swung his blades on it and sent the attack back to Malekith. The others like Katara, Ittan and other few jonins joined the fight and started killing the other dark elves. Since Aang wouldn't kill his opponents Fitz helped in the fights by sending many dark elves in other realms or sending them close to other fighters.

This seemed like a pretty easy job. The only thing they had to be careful was their bombs which worked like black holes. The Shinobis were easily able to achieve that while Katara had the river close by to use all the water she needed. Her blades made of ice was easily able to cut through the dark elves as she didn't have any hesitation in killing aliens who wanted to bring darkness to the nine realms.

After few minutes of shuffle with the other dark elves the other soon joined the fight against Malekith which to be honest was finding it hard to stop both Kratos and Thor together. Even in original story he was pretty much beaten up by Thor and now Kratos who had the blades was like a huge mountain to climb for.

Suddenly there was a huge explosion in the spaceship that came by. Everybody turned their head to see John walking towards them while his hand looked like it was burning in blue fire. He didn't need to wear gloves any more for doing fire alchemy. The Phoenix power provided the spark. The spaceship was destroyed within seconds.

"Aang. Go to Avatar mode. We can't let Malekith escape using the convergence and wait 5 thousands years more." Katara said as like her everybody was updated with the story.

Aang went to Avatar mode and his tattoos shined in bright blue light. Everybody started attacking Malekith and Aether wasn't completely able to stop the onslaught.

"Fitz give me the devices that were meant for throwing and give me the container that I specially asked you to build." John said over communication as he watched everybody sending long range attacks to Malekith who was passively defending.

Fitz ran to John and gave him two devices and a small sized container. He was happy and excited to work for an Avenger who was like a legend in SHIELD.

As they were attacking John threw a device to Malekith. The device was shaped like a sword and it struck the shoulder of Malekith. Fitz turned on the device and his right hand got separated from his body. The hand was thrown away in another realm. Then he did the same thing with another device. Now Malekith didn't have any hands as both were cut away.

"Kratos slice him up." John said.

Kratos didn't waste a second and went into rage mode. His body seemed like it was on fire and blades looked like it was burning in extreme high temperature. He rotated his blades and swung on Malekith.

The Aether was able to stop the blades for less than a second before giving away. The blades went through Malekith's body as he screamed "Nooooo!!" Malekith couldn't be more dead after the last strike.

"Why do these villains scream 'No' at the end? Can't they accept death like Thanos did like a champ. What a bunch of cowards." John murmured.

He saw the body of Malekith crumble away in Aether. John took the container he got from Fitz. He stuck the spikes on one side of the container in the floating Aether. It sucked the whole of Aether in a minutes and finally John felt relieved.

He didn't want to get hit by an infinity stone, even though he had much assurance in the recovery of his Phoenix power but he still didn't want a blow of an infinity stone.

John took the container and directly threw it to Ittan.

"You know what you have to do. Kirigakure is nearby. " John said looking at Ittan as he caught the container. He nodded at John and vanished. Coulson who saw all this came towards John and asked.

"Where did you send Ittan?"

"To Kirigakure. Aether shouldn't exist in this universe. It is too powerful of a weapon. The 5 kages will seal it away never to see the light of the day." John said.

"Do you really think it would be a good idea?" Coulson asked as he too felt such a weapon which could bring darkness to realms would be dangerous but he knew Fury wouldn't be particularly happy with it.

"Scared of Fury? Tell him that he can talk to me if he has any objections." John said as he didn't care if Fury had any problems.

Chapter 146: New fan values

"Great job people. This was amazing. Fighting aliens. Can we travel outside Earth...." Aang who had just fought was all pumped up. This was his first experience fighting an alien and he was in awe with this world.

"We need to deal with the aftermath." Coulson said. The agents and the ninjas immediately went into work after the battle ended. Many people were able to film the whole appearance of spaceship from afar and many panicked that London too would face the same assault like New York but soon they saw the spaceship exploded in fire.

The local police had already got the before information from SHIELD so they were able to manage the public and there was no problem whatsoever. Now John has to go to Asgard to fulfill his condition of propagating his works there.

He had already brought a laptop with full of his works saved as he wasn't sure if the technology of Asgard was compatible with Earth. He needed the people of Asgard to replicate the technology of motion pictures so that everybody could see and even play games on the works of John.

"Thor, Kratos.. Let's go! I need to talk with Allfather." John said while taking the laptop on his hands.

"Heimdall.. " Thor shouted. As soon as he said that the Bifrost opened on Thor , Kratos and John. They got sucked up and vanished leaving runic marks on the ground. Aang had stars in his eyes as he saw all this, even Katara had a gleam as it was the first time seeing the Bifrost which supposedly allows them to travel in the universe.

Soon John and others reached Asgard and went to the palace. Thor went and spoke about the death of Loki in a sad face. John wasn't sure if Odin was already replaced but felt it was too early for Odin to be replaced and if he was Loki, then he wouldn't be able to speak about the deal they had made before.

Thor went to Frigga to speak of Loki, Frigga had already known about the death of Loki from Heimdall and Thor wanted to console her while Kratos went to meet his son.

"Do you remember the condition?" John asked.

"The thing of propagating your works. Yes. Though I am not sure why you want to do it. I will accept it." Odin said and John was relieved after hearing that as that meant he wasn't Loki. John didn't want to confront Loki again now as he was a headache.

"Good. I have brought what we call a laptop. Everything is saved here and you can tell your scientists or engineers to use this laptop to propagate my works all over Asgard. That would be greatly appreciated." John said. Odin called one of his guard and directed him to take away the laptop and follow what John had said.

"Thank you for helping save the life of Frigga." Odin finally said with emotion.

"Don't thank me yet. I am not sure if she is fully safe. Have you kept her under watch always?" John asked.

"Huh! You mean Malekith is still alive? But Heimdall said you all killed him." Odin said with a confused and an anxious tone.

"Everything has consequences in this world Allfather. Kratos saving her might have rubbed some people the wrong way. You ask all the people around her to leave. I will take care of her safety for the next few days. I want to check my own theory."

"Are you sure about that? I can ask Thor and even I can be there for her safety." Odin said.

"No since nobody had come to take her yet, I want to see if anybody comes when me and Kratos are present near her. It will be fine, I am enough for them if they come." John assured.

"Though I am not sure why you are asking me to do this but I will accept as you have saved her before." Odin said.

Odin then asked a guard to call Frigga, who still had teary eyes, and ask her opinion. She soon arrived with three guards by her side. After greeting John, Odin told her about the arrangements for the next few days.

"I can accept the arrangement but I want to know who are we facing this time? I want to be prepared this time as opposed to being blind." Frigga asked.

"I am not sure if they will come but if they come then make sure you don't get hit by their light stick. They have power over time, so it will be extremely difficult for you to retaliate if you get hit by it." John said.

"Time powers. That is a forbidden magic." Frigga said as she was brought up by witch so she knew about time.

"Magic? No they use time powers via technology and maybe a little bit of magic elements. Well it's fine. Kratos and I will be there. Even Atreus can be helpful in this but I don't want any guards nearby."

Chapter 147: Mobius M. Mobius

Odin called Kratos and Atreus. Kratos had gone to the arena where Atreus was learning archery and melee fights with the other Asgradians. They returned to the palace after Odin called them.

John mentioned his plan to Kratos and Atreus wanted to join as he too wanted to safeguard his godmother. Frigga felt happy as at least there was another Loki for her.

"OK we will go now. Don't come near us." John said.

John wanted to be alone with Frigga for his own theory. He expected the arrival of TVA but since they still haven't acted, it might be for another reason.

In Loki series, the TVA made sure that nobody was around when they abducted anyone, or at least even if they showed their face to anyone the people who saw them wouldn't be able to spread about their weird appearance to anyone out of nowhere. This happened when Sylvie was abducted by TVA from Asgard as nobody was near her.

Loki was abducted in a very remote place in Mongolia, even though some nomads were present at that time it was highly unlikely that the nomads would spread about what had happened and nobody would believe them anyway.

As for why he wanted them to be alone with Frigga was because he was pretty much sure TVA can't detect John and his summons otherwise they would have knocked on the door long ago. Since they aren't in their radar it might be possible that TVA wouldn't be able to see their presence hidden near Frigga.

He remembered their equipments not having a video play of the variants when they go to catch who has deviated from the timeline. John was thinking if even this failed he would have to be far away from Frigga and check if TVA comes.

If even that fails it would mean TVA can't see anything touched by the butterfly effect of the system, which he highly doubted.

Odin made all the arrangements and sent them to a big room where Kratos, John and Atreus could easily hide. He directed that all the guards needed to be far away. He was anxious about an attack from an enemy which had powers over time but he had no option but to believe John.

Loki too was surprised by this sudden arrangement for his mother by Odin. Yes! Loki was alive according to the original plot and he had come back after faking his death in the disguise of an Asgardian soldier.

Though he wasn't sure why was there such an arrangement, he didn't want to do anything as he didn't want to blow away his hard earned freedom.

Loki didn't want to make any moves before John goes away. The New York war was a lesson for him and such a nasty prophetic eyes gave him chills. So he wanted to wait for the right time.

John and Kratos hid behind the big pillars whereas Atreus went high up near the ceiling over a huge cupboard where there was darkness. He had a bow and a bunch of arrows ready in his hands. He was excited as this would be first mission after being a Prince as he wanted to make sure that he would save his godmother from any harm.

John and other waited the entire day and still there was no sign of TVA. It was already night and John was doubting his own theory.

"Does TVA even exist in this universe?"

As he was half closing his eyes the room suddenly shined with orange light. He immediately woke up from his half asleep state. Frigga too who was just sitting became alert.

An orange colored rectangular door appeared and out came four people in black colored armor from it. John who saw their faces were surprised as he saw two acquaintances among them.

One was Mobius and he wasn't an agent yet and rather wore a hunter's suit. Another was Hunter B-15 who here was a minuteman instead of being a hunter.

"Wow didn't expect another 'Wow' to come." John thought.

Mobius stood near Frigga who was on alert mode and said.

"Frigga, Queen of Asgard. On behalf of the Time Variance Authority you are hereby arrested for crimes against the Sacred Timeline. You will taken away and judged under the eyes of the Timekeepers."

"Haah. What crimes? I have never hurt any innocent." Frigga said as she took out her knife.

"Doesn't matter you are coming with us." Mobius said after bringing a stick which had a blue colored light on the tip, while the minutemen around had orange color on the tip of their sticks. Those orange colored ones were meant for pruning and sending them to Alioth, a creature created in all the tears of reality that happened during the multiverse war in the future.

"Oh no Mobius she isn't going anywhere with you." suddenly a voice was heard by Mobius from the shadows.

Chapter 148: The Timekeepers

As soon as John said that an arrow shot straight at the hand of Mobius which was holding the glowing stick. It directly impacted the stick that he was holding and it made Mobius lose hold of the stick. Before the other minuteman could react an axe came flying by in a circular motion and directly knocked out all their Time Sticks from their hands.

They were surprised by this sudden attack but what surprised Mobius more was that someone knew his name from outside the TVA. They all got serious and as the minuteman wanted to get the time sticks back, the axe which had just knocked the sticks out again came flying by and it threw the sticks more far away.

Mobius was ready with his TemPad as he knew that they have failed this mission and needed to get back and try again. Though he wasn't sure how a person hid from the eyes of TVA as they were supposed to be secretive but this could be contemplated later.

"Why in a hurry Mobius? Don't you want to talk?" John said as he finally showed his face after coming out of the shadows. Atreus and Kratos also showed their faces. Atreus was pointing his bow with a new arrow lodged into it. Kratos was with his Leviathan Axe.

"Who are you? How do you know of me?" Mobius said while holding the TemPad and was ready to use it at any sign of attack.

"Queen Frigga can you leave us alone? You should be fine now if you go to Odin or others." John said to her. Frigga hesitated for a second and finally said

"OK. Give a shout if there is a problem. The guards aren't very far, they will be able to hear you." Saying that she left.

"OK now let's sit down shall we? Try not to use those neck locks or whatever technology you use. It won't be really helpful because these two aren't very good tempered." John said while sitting down in the chair nearby.

Mobius thought for a second and finally sat down in the opposite chair. The minuteman were still on guard specially B-15. Her eyes were looking around to find a chance to retaliate.

"Now can you tell me how do you know of me?"

"How do I know of you, the TVA and the Timekeepers, it doesn't matter. What matters is are you going to stop hunting Frigga if I let you go?" John asked.

"How do you know of the Timekeepers? They have been hidden from everyone. Who the hell are you?" Mobius said in an agitated tone. He could accept this person knowing his identity but timekeepers were supposed to be above all and beyond. This person even knew of TVA.

"Relax Mobius M Mobius. The timekeepers aren't gods. Trust me when the gods arrive even the actual timekeepers would have to give way to them. So tell me Mobius is there any hope for Frigga or she would be hunted down even if I kill you now?" John asked again.

"I don't know who are you but I can assure you that TVA won't stop hunting down Frigga no matter what." Mobius said. B-15 who was listening to all this also joined in and said

"TVA will hunt you down too for interfering in the sacred timeline and crimes against it."

"Heh. Even after all these years none of you showed up. Truth to be said I don't really care about you and can just destroy you. But I don't want the timeline to be out of control. There is still time for the multiverse to open. Sigh! This is a huge headache. OK fine I will make Queen Frigga vanish and you don't have to care about her. But this is the last time you are allowed to interfere. The next time it won't be pleasant."

"Mobius tell the timekeepers this 'I know who you are and what weapon you have. Be in your limits or else even Alioth wouldn't be able to save your precious sacred timeline'. Repeat what I just said." John said to Mobius.

"Huh. Do you think it's that easy to meet the timekeepers?" Mobius said.

"Not my headache. Just repeat what I said now. The timekeepers will surely summon you."

"Fine... I know who..." Mobius repeated.

"Good. You can go Mobius. Tell the timekeepers what I just said. B-15 you can turn away your eyes, I am not your enemy. Queen Frigga won't be a problem for now. " John said after getting up from the chair.

"See you soon Mobius. I hope the next time we meet, you will be an agent. Good luck in finding Loki." John said. Mobius trembled when John said the last sentence. Loki being on the run had been a headache for TVA but it was a top most secret.

"How the hell does this guy know about Loki. Do we have a leak in TVA? But that's impossible as the timekeepers look over everything. I need to speak with higher authorities for this." Mobius said as he operated the TemPad. An orange door opened and they went in. They couldn't get the time sticks back as Kratos and Atreus had already collected them after they were disarmed.

Chapter 149: Decision

"St I didn't even ask his name. Damn Rennslayer is going to kill me." Mobius said after returning to TVA as he was really surprised about what had happened that his brain circuits didn't work properly like it should have.

Asgard

John came out of the room with Kratos and Atreus after they left. They went to the palace directly as John has to talk with Odin and others. As they reached the main hall of the palace they saw Thor, Odin and Frigga waiting for him with a serious face.

"Well I am the bearer of a good news and bad news. What do you want to hear first?" John said with a smile.

"Tell us straight John. Who are they and what do they want from my mother?" Thor said as he was in no mood to joke.

"Umm. Think of them as a powerful organization. Since Queen Frigga has escaped death and those who escape their destined death or veer off course from their destined path, they hunt them and take them back to their organization. The good news is that they won't come to disturb us but the bad news is I will have to vanish Queen Frigga from the face of the universe or the hunt will continue."

"How dare they. I will destroy their organization and make them history." Thor roared.

"Trust me Thor, Asgard will lose if you go to war against them." John said.

"We Avengers can band together and even we can ask help from the ninja which Heimdall saw during the New York War." Thor said.

"Well we can and we might even win against them but the universe will slide into chaos. Are you ready to gamble the fate of millions?" John said.

"Then what do you want us to do? Make Frigga die." Odin said in a deep tone.

"Of course no Allfather. I can take her somewhere where they can never find her and can never hunt her." John said.

"Where is that?" Thor asked.

"The world of ninjas."

"The world that got attached to Earth few years ago? Can they be trusted? Forgive me but I have never met them so I am not sure that they can even be trusted." Odin said.

"I understand Allfather. That's why I want to invite you to their world on behalf of the kages to meet at Earth. You can meet them and decide yourself if they can be trusted. How about that?" John said.

John was sure that TVA can't get into their world as their dimension was not from this universe to begin with. And the system would never allow an intruder that was being denied by John. Being in their world she would be invisible to TVA thus saving her life.

"I accept the arrangements." Frigga said.

"My queen. It's not very logical for such things..." Odin said.

"The whole incident started because I didn't die in a destined path. We witches have always known there are consequences if we try to change the future. My living is already a blessing. If I can live in another world peacefully that also won't be much of a problem." Frigga said.

"Queen Frigga this arrangement would be temporary as their organization would soon break apart and can come back to actual world in a few years." John said.

"Are you sure about that." Thor asked.

"Yes. Their organization has a history with Asgard so they will fall in the hands of an Asgardian." John said.

"Why have I never heard of such secretive organization. You say there is a history between us but neither I nor my father spoke of any such organization which could control time." Odin said.

"Allfather time is relative here." John said.

"I understand. But we can keep Frigga near us always so they will never come." Odin said as he still insisted on keeping her in Asgard.

"Next time they might not care about people's presence and can attack even when people are present." John said.

"King Odin. It's fine. Let's meet these so called powerful kages. Didn't you say long before that you wanted to meet them. You even said that they are more powerful than you. It might be our chance to have proper contact with them. Since John is a friend of them I don't think it would be a problem to at least talk with and make necessary decision." Frigga said to Odin.

"OK fine I will accept the arrangement. We can go meet the Kages. But if I can't trust them I will bring you back and fight this so called organization." Odin said as he got up.

"Let's go to Midgard then. It's been thousands of years." Odin sighed.

They all reached the rainbow bridge and asked Heimdall to send all of them onto the roof of John's home.

Chapter 150: On tour

Emma who was studying at home felt something landing on the roof and even her ring gave a warning. She wasn't sure what had appeared so she activated the ring and wore the suit. Then from her window she flew to the roof only to see John, Odin, Frigga and Thor standing.

"Welcome to Midgard, Allfather. Welcome to our home." Emma said as she was happy that John was back. She saw the news of London but got the news that it was easily resolved so she didn't care.

They all went back to the room while John called upon all the kages to their home and discuss on Frigga. He would help Frigga to love in their world and that would mean Asgard would always be an ally and in turn make sure his works are propagated always.

"They will be here in a few hours. Till then enjoy our hospitality." John said. Thor immediately flew away to meet Jane as he didn't say goodbye properly last time. Since Jane was in USA now it would be near for him to meet.

John and others talked with each other. Odin even asked about Diana as he was interested in her, she being a demigod and comes almost from the same legends as them. John wanted to ask him about Zeus but at the end refrained as he wasn't sure if there was a tenth realm Heven and Thor's another sister Angela.

Emma made some snacks for them as they waited for the Kages to arrive. Naruto was the first to arrive as he has the flying raijin jutsu. In an hour Darui arrived as he was close by. Since it was almost night by then John said they could take rest till the others' arrive the next day.

Odin was surprised to see Naruto as he felt him like a demon in sleep. It was because Odin felt the power of Kurama inside him. Odin was curious about them so he asked about their lives and ways as he had never met someone like Naruto before.

The next day everybody had arrived and finally the meeting started. John had explained them the reason behind Frigga's arrival.

"So it is what it is. Allfather here hopes that Frigga will able to stay in one of your villages till the the problem gets away." John said.

"Our villages had been in relationships with SHIELD. We will gladly accept a guest. You can live in any village you like after checking them out." Gaara said.

Odin and Frigga accepted the terms of choosing which village they would want Frigga to live so after having breakfast everybody left in quinjets. John and Emma waved them goodbye as he won't go along with them.

"I have never gone to their villages in my all years here. I need to visit their place once."

"So tell me what really happened with that spaceship?" Emma asked. John narrated the whole story of the Convergence and the Aether. She knew about infinity stones from the books of Oa and was surprised that another showed up in recent years.

It was already November when everything ended with Malekith and TVA and it was almost time for the new movie to be released. As usual he contacted Kevin about what was going on and he was relieved to know that everything was on schedule.

The days went by as usual. Emma finally graduated from her university and she would leave for her work in Oa from January of next year. So Emma after finishing her studies spent more time with John.

Soon it was December and there was a release for a new movie of John and it was the first movie which had two superheroes in a single screen. This had never happened before. People had seen the Avengers in real life but had never seen a movie which had that same context.

The movie started with the glimpse of Bruce's childhood and him seeing his parents death and even reminding the name of Bruce's parents. Martha and Thomas. Then the scene changed and it showed Bruce Wayne in Metropolis where General Zod and Superman fighting.

In the previous movie during the fight, people saw the destruction caused by their fight but the audience never really saw the extent of damage. This movie finally showed how high the damage was and the casualties. The audience wondered if there were no Avengers during the New York War it might had been the same case as in the movie. They shuddered by just the thought of that.

Bruce ran in all the damages as there was a close friend of him in one of those buildings. In the end Bruce's friend died without him not even able to find his friend's body. As he was on the streets holding a little child in his arms he looked at Superman with eyes full of anger and hatred.