

Multiverse 151

Chapter 151: Justice

Yes! This movie was 'Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice'. Like all the other premieres everybody came for the movie including Nick Fury. He wasn't sure why Superman hadn't showed up and he didn't ask John about him. At least he was relieved that there was no Superman as yet otherwise another 'God' would be a headache.

The movie continued as it showed some fisherman found some rocks near the damaged world engine. One such big rock was opened by a scientist who was salvaging things from nearby. The rock broke apart and showed a green colored rock.

The camera moved and showed a different scene where Lois Lane went in a very remote African country to interview a terrorist but the photographer she went with was a CIA agent. Soon the whole interview went south and Superman had to come and rescue Lane.

But there was a catch. A third party had come before and killed all the terrorists outside and burnt their bodies. Soon this scene was in the court and many politicians took advantage of it. They accused him of overstepping his boundaries as he was never held accountable.

The scene again changed and showed Batman hunting down criminals and branding high level criminals with a bat sign. This sign meant nobody would help him, not even in prison.

"Didn't know you have some weird fetish of branding people." Tony joked to Bruce who was beside him. "I don't do that here anymore as the criminals here are nothing as compared to Gotham." Bruce replied.

The movie continued as it showed the lives of Superman and Batman. Superman now lived with Lois while Batman was searching for 'The White Portugese'. Bruce at first thought it was a bomb but the more he delved into it the more he found it mysterious as Lex Corporation was behind it. One of the largest Corporation in their world on par with Wayne Enterprises.

The movie didn't fail to show that Bruce was still very negative about Superman, while Clark who worked for Daily Planet was also very skeptical about the works of Batman. Bruce had finally decided that he needed to go to the home of Lex Luthor, head of Lex Corp so that he could hack into his server and find out more about this 'White Portugese'.

Soon Lex did a charity event where both Clark and Bruce went. But what surprised everybody was that there was Diana Prince too in the event. Everybody turned their heads to Diana.

"What? I just went there to get back what was mine." Diana said. They didn't ask more about it. Soon Bruce was able to use a device to hack onto Lex's server with the device but it was at the end was stolen by Diana. Clark on the other hand was able to find out that Wayne was Batman by his super hearing and they actually had a verbal confrontation against each other.

Diana in the meantime was able to escape with the drive. Clark went on to find more wrong doings on Bruce Wayne while Bruce was finally able to recover the lost drive that Diana took away from her. In fact Bruce actually teased Diana on the way as he himself was a famous playboy and he didn't know anything about Diana at that point.

Everybody gave weird looks to Bruce as Diana was also nearby. Banner finally said "You have some courage of teasing a half god." Bruce didn't reply to that.

Bruce went home to decrypt the drive and while it was being decrypted suddenly he saw a dream. A person covered in lightning and had a weird red suit in his body. He looked like he came out of a weird portal and he was being constantly sucked into the portal. He said

"Bruce listen to me now. You are right about him. You have always been right about him. It's Lois. She is the key. Am I too soon? I am too soon. You have always been right about him. Fear him! Find us Bruce. Find us. "

As he said that Bruce Wayne woke up with a start. Nobody in the audience understood what that dream was but understood that it had some deep significance. Everyone looked at Diana and Bruce who were sitting. Tony finally asked

"What the hell was that? Who was he?"

"Barry Allen." This time it was John who replied.

"What is the deal with him? Covered in lightning. Is he a lightning man?" Steve asked.

"No that's Time Travel." Wayne replied.

"What?" Everybody shouted. All those who heard it shouted in unison and it was so loud that many people in the audience heard. Even though their place was in a separate gallery the shout was too loud. Tony and others felt embarrassed a bit when they saw the weird looks but they didn't care. Nick Fury couldn't hold it and asked.

"What are you talking about? Time Travel! is that even possible?"

"Very much possible Fury. Very much." John replied.

Chapter 152: The awaited fight

"How does a person travel in time that way." Tony asked as he was trying to understand how a person could time travel.

"You are smart. You know the answer." John said.

"There are only two ways I can think about. Traveling faster than the speed of light or using quantum technology. From the scenes it doesn't look like quantum so it's faster than light. Jesus. How fast is this man?" Tony said.

"Damn he has an idea of quantum technology. No wonder he made the time machine so fast in the future." John thought.

The movie continued as the decryption ended and Bruce finally came to know about the 'White Portuguese'. It was a ship that was carrying a stone that could make Kryptonians weak and Bruce immediately decided to steal the rock.

Bruce went on to steal the rock but was stopped by Superman. This was first time Batman and Superman met face to face.

"Next time they shine a light in the sky. Don't go to it. The bat is dead. Bury it."

"Tell me. Do you bleed?"

Superman looked at him for a second before flying away.

"You will."

At the end Batman failed to steal the rock. And Superman had to face the trial of what happened before with the terrorists in Africa. But Lex had other plans with the trial. He rigged the court with a bomb and killed everyone. Since no bombs could effect Superman he remained unscathed.

Batman looking at this was more convinced that Superman was the enemy. He finally stole the rock from Lex's property. Lex had gotten access to the spaceship which had genesis chamber on it and with the corpse of Genral Zod he started experimentation and gathering knowledge of all the different worlds.

As he was getting ready to fight superman, he finally saw a decrypted folder labelled as meta human. There were 4 files attached to it. He opened the first file to see Diana. As he went through the files he finally learnt why she was special. Her age never changed in the pictures. Then when the last photo of her in the battlefield came into view he was shaken.

The audience finally understood from where Bruce came to know about Diana. This connection surprised many of them. Lex on the other hand had already figured out the identity of Superman and kidnapped Martha, his mother which had the same name as Bruce's mother.

Bruce had sent all the files of metahuman to Diana. Diana was shaken when she saw her pictures and videos on one file. Then she opened the other file. She saw a file which had visuals of Aquaman. Many audience cheered at it as they knew that Aquaman had already appeared.

The next file showed a man which could travel at very fast speed while lightning got generated when he ran. He was so fast that the camera even failed to capture his running. The audience then understood that another strong person might appear soon.

The last file was a man stuck in a vertical board. He was in a very bad shape as he had lost his arm and two legs and even a small part of his brain. A scientist in order to save him took a futuristic looking cube and applied the technology on him. This changed the physiology of the man.

The others who looked at it didn't ask as John would never speak more about the superheroes. Fury was shaken as the all the time it was only one superhero a year. Now it was two.

Meanwhile, Lex forced Superman to fight against Batman while Batman was ready with all the weapons. So the expected fight finally arrived. At the beginning Bruce was beaten down by a lot but finally with the help of rock he overpowered Superman. This was an epic fight. The audience were surprised to see that a man could fight a God.

"Dear God. You actually defeated him. That is amazing." Banner said.

"In almost all universes Superman was beaten down or had a toe-to-toe fight with Batman but very rarely Superman won." John said. Everybody who listened to it were in awe of Bruce Wayne as they never expected him to be so resourceful and powerful, and that too in many universes. Wayne on the other hand didn't have any expression.

Superman while being beaten down by Batman cried out

"Save Martha."

"Why did you say that name? What does that mean." Batman asked. Lois which finally appeared in the battle scene ran to them and said about Superman's mother. Batman understood at that time it was all a plot to make them fight each other.

Batman took his batwing to save Martha whereas Superman went to the ship where Lex was continuing his experiments. While the fight went on, Lex was able to create a monster out of the corpse of General Zod. A monster that fed on energy with eyes full of anger and hatred.

Chapter 153: Liar

It was Doomsday. The monster was almost thrice the size of Superman. Soon Superman and him started to fight. And for the first time Superman was not able to overwhelm an opponent. Clark realized he needed to get this beast out so he took him to space.

And the US military being over smart launched a nuclear missile hoping to kill it as this monster was way too powerful for anyone to handle. Diana who was on her way in a plane saw this news and left her flight before it could take off.

The audience again felt it was like the New York War as there too US had launched a nuclear missile. Some even felt it was John's version of New York War. But the missile didn't actually work like it did in New York War. It just made Doomsday more powerful.

Batman who returned from saving Martha came to know all this and he immediately knew he needed that Kryptonite spear to kill this monster. Doomsday almost killed Batman with his laser but Wonder Woman finally showed up and was able to stop him by using her famous shock wave from bangles.

Superman too came back after getting his energy back from the sun. He flew down and hit the monster.

"This thing, this creature. Seems to feed on energy." Diana said.

"This thing is from another world. My world." Superman said.

"I have killed things from other worlds before." Diana said as she brought out her sword.

"She with you?" Superman asked looking at Batman.

"I thought she was with you." Batman replied.

Soon the trio had a brilliant fight against Doomsday but still were falling short on overwhelming it. Even after Diana cut it's hand. Later Superman was able to bring out the spear and stabbed Doomsday with it but he was retaliated against and was stabbed in his heart. Superman died in that.

The audience finally understood why Superman never showed up. Even though it was a false narrative but they believed that Superman died and that's why he has never appeared.

"Such a sacrifice for humanity. This is commendable." Steve said as he too once did that.

"Yes. Such sacrifice for humans, who themselves are responsible for bringing this calamity. Do we even deserve saving?" Tony said as he was angry with what happened. The US military's actions, Lex's lunacy all came into this point.

"Next time the governments take any unnecessary actions I will retaliate." Tony continued.

"We are not Gods, Tony. We will make mistakes along the way like I did with him. Governments aren't a problem. Us being on the right path always is what required." Bruce said this time as he who knew what would happen in the future in both the worlds. He felt conflicted inside but didn't show it in his face.

Tony was surprised by the words of Wayne as he never thought so deeply. The words of Wayne awoke everyone as they understood that they needed to take right decisions always or else they would have to face consequences. The credits rolled and the finally it was time for post credits scene.

It showed an armed team entering the genesis chamber of the Kryptonian ship point their guns at Luthor. He was interacting with a some kind of projection. It showed a huge monstrous being which had huge horns. There were three massive cube shaped devices floating in front of the monstrous being.

"Why is every dangerous thing cube shaped?" Fury murmured as the Tesseract was cubic shaped and now a potential weapon was cubic shaped.

"Because Gods hate perfect things and cube shaped things are supposedly perfect thus becoming a powerful weapon." John quoted from a famous movie from his previous life. They didn't ask the other things about the story as it was useless.

"I have one question John if you can always dream and direct the other worldly beings to this world, why bother creating such movies and animes?" Banner asked.

"At first my dream powers weren't so powerful so I needed the help of movies to let the other person know. Later I got proficient in it but by now I love making movies. It helps the people realize the dangers of the world and even properly explain my story as speaking of a story isn't very helpful always." John lied as this was his hole card.

"Hmm I get it."

John had been waiting for this question for quite a long time now and he had been preparing the answer for sometime.

"Being a good liar is also a superpower. I should be given Oscar for this show."

John and others left for their home and work. The audience were buzzing about the new movie as it was the first time that superheroes came together and even got to see the future heroes which might emerge.

Even though there were doubts on some scenes of the movie, the general reaction was awesome.

Chapter 154: Revolution

John earned a lot of fan values from the movie by the end of December from the movie. It was unexpected as from his previous world the movie wasn't exactly liked by many as there were problems with the scene and the story. It was probably because the characters were real in the world and reality does sell a lot over something which is fabricated

[Ding

Total fan values: 3.7 billion]

The fan values were so high this time because of two reasons. Firstly it was because there was too many works this year. Two superhero movies have taken the fan values to almost 2.5 billion per year. Even though Man of Steel wasn't particularly liked but the BvS changed the whole theme. Adding new animes helped a lot in accumulating more values per year as that was most influential in gaining per year fan values.

Secondly, it was Asgard. Frigga decided to live in Konoha after deliberation while Odin accepted the conditions of John. The first thing that propagated in Asgard was the game 'God of War'. Since Kratos was real in their life it was better to start that way. It had only been over a month so there wasn't much impact but he was sure by the end of next year Asgard would add a lot of fan values and he was looking forward to it.

"I can extract Cyborg and Flash when the time is right. There is no need to rush towards this matter. The next year I will only release one movie. There is no need for more. It will be my first step into space. Can't wait to start anew journey."

By the second week of January, Emma and Hal were called by the Guardians as the new rings were ready according to the sectors. The Guardians had to divide many regions of the known universe into sectors and create new rings according to the sector.

Emma was sad and excited at the same time. She would be going on her own solo journey to maintain peace and order. A thing which she always wanted. Though Earth doesn't fall in her sector she could always come when required. She was little sad as she would be away from John but she accepted this arrangement.

"Will you miss me?" Emma asked.

"Of course. Be safe out there. Use alchemy when required and call Oa if there is any problem. The lanterns will always help you." John said.

"Yes. Love you. See you soon." saying that Emma flew away.

"Love you too." John shouted. "And now the life of loneliness begins. I will have to step in space soon. Umbrella is going to release the cars soon. Can't wait for it."

On the third week of January, John flew to Jurassic Park as Tony had finally finished making the new thing that he wanted. After landing in Jurassic Park he saw Alfred waiting for him near the helipad.

"Alfred. Is Bruce here too?"

"Yes Master Jameson. He has arrived. This project is important for Master Wayne too."

John arrived at the home of Tony and went to the laboratory. He saw both Tony and Bruce looking at computer screens and discussing something.

"Is the ship ready?"

"Yes the ship is ready. We bought a nearby island for the launch of the ship and also made proper arrangements. I am very much sure of my technology and even used the Cube on it. Starscream won't disappoint us."

"You named a spaceship after a Decepticon? Don't you think it will fail when it travels into space." John asked.

"Movies are movies. There is no Megatron here. Who cares what I name our first spaceship that can travel in the solar system in fast speed."

The project they were talking about was the secret work Tony and Bruce were doing for the last 6 months to build a spaceship using the technology of 'Treasure Planet' to travel in the solar system.

It would have taken many years to complete it but with the help of Cube they were able to complete it pretty fast. Thanks to the reference from the previous two ships they found it easier to just copy from them and even implement the gravity system in their new spaceship.

"Did you test run it?" John asked.

"No. I was waiting for you. As this project started because you asked us." Tony said.

"Let's go to the island then. I want to see Starscream." John said.

John and others traveled to the nearby island to see how Starscream looked like. As they reached the island, John was able to see a massive structure. A massive spherical ball like structure with a long cylindrical shaped corridor attached to it. At the end of the cylindrical corridor there were 4 big thrusters and each thruster were placed like in the 4 corners of a square.

Chapter 155: The first assemble

"Why does this look like a walking stick of an old man Tony?" John asked.

"What do you mean? This was the most efficient way to accumulate the solar wind. The spherical chamber will make sure to catch the solar energy while also not creating drag when we launch into space." Tony defended.

"OK fine. You are the all knowing genius. Starscream how do you feel?" John asked. The spaceship which was silent spoke for the first time

"It's cool. I don't find any problem in the body yet. I can fly into space and see if there is any problem which I haven't diagnosed yet." Starscream said in a metallic tone.

"Good. Go fly into space." John said.

The thrusters started burning out immediately and within a min the heat generated by it was so high that they all had to take many steps back. Soon there was a liftoff and it started going upwards. After a couple of minutes Starscream started looking small and soon it went so far that they couldn't even see.

"Well the lift-off was fine. Now will have to wait for it to come back. Bruce have you informed the world council that there would be a spaceship into space today? I don't want the governments poking their nose in it as of yet." John asked.

"Yes I did. They won't interfere as I assured them there would be profit for SHIELD too later and make the helicarriers more efficient with new solar technology." Wayne replied.

"Good. Our first step into space will be controlled by us. Can't make this opportunity run away." John said.

After an hour Starscream came back and landed perfectly. John still had a weird look on his face as he thought it looked like a walking stick.

"Whatever! I won't use Starscream anyway."

"How was the ride?" Tony asked in an excited tone.

"No problems. There is more energy outside the earth's atmosphere. I can travel in space in very high speed." Starscream said.

"Good. We need to make preparations before we go to space. Will take a few months." John said.

"Steve called saying Bucky is finally awake." Wayne suddenly said.

"Hmm. We need to have a meeting. Call everyone including Arthur and Mera. They have traveled long enough."

John stayed in Jurassic Park while also roaming around. Since the dinosaurs are his summons so they always had a good will to John so he had fun with them and even rode a Brontosaurus. He had a good amount enjoyment.

The next day everybody arrived together at the Park including Bucky. John looked at Bucky as he was like normal but still had a stiff face. As they were about to enter Tony's home for the meeting John stopped everybody outside.

"Let's just stay here. It might become nasty pretty soon." John said.

"Huh? Are enemies going to attack us?" Steve said as he became serious thinking there might be another enemy coming.

"No. Steve did you bring your shield?" John asked.

"Yes. Why?"

"Go bring it. Tony go suit up." John said.

"Huh! Why are you asking us to do this?" Tony asked.

"You will know soon, now go." John said. They both returned after a minute being full suit up.

"Alright seems everybody is ready. Let the story begin." John said as he went near Bucky.

"Longing, rusted, seventeen, daybreak....."

"No... Stop.. No.." Bucky became sacred. He lifted his hand to stop John but Arthur came and stopped him.

"What are you doing?" Steve said as he didn't understand what John was saying as it was a Russian language. Tony understood the meaning of the words thanks to Jarvis but didn't understand why Bucky was acting weird.

"Please stop it.. Please... " Bucky screamed as he noticed he was losing control over himself.

"...furnace, nine, benign, homecoming, one, freight car." John said as Arthur stopped Bucky to move while John spoke those words.

"Ready to comply." Bucky finally said after calming down.

"What the hell is going on?" Steve said now really anxious as he saw Bucky the same way he was before.

"These were the activation words that Hydra used to activate him and make run errands for them. The Soviet Union and Hydra carried out this joint operation of the winter soldier project." John said.

"OK. So you mean those words effect his subconscious and control him?" Tony asked.

"Yes."

"Well we will have to take him to a neurosurgeon to make him better. He needs medical therapy." Tony said

"That he needs. Now let's come to the real thing." John said. "Tony your parents didn't die by car accident."

"What?" Tony shouted. "What do you mean?" as he became serious for the first time. "What the hell does that mean?"

"That's exactly what I mean. They were killed." John said.

"Killed? Murdered? Who murdered them?" Tony asked now fully agitated.

"It's the Winter Soldier." John said pointing at Bucky.

Chapter 156: Ugly fight

Tony looked at Bucky with murder eyes now. He was almost sure of what John had said was true but he wanted to look into his eyes when he would ask the question. Bucky who was still disoriented didn't know what was going on. He looked blankly at John.

"Are you sure John of what you are saying?" Steve asked to remedy the situation as he wasn't sure of what really happened. It's not been many days since Bucky had returned to normalcy.

"Yes. In that car accident Bucky went after Tony's parents." John said.

Tony didn't hold it as soon John said that. He directly opened his hand thruster and blasted at Bucky. Before the blast could reach Bucky, Steve defended against it with his shield. Both didn't even doubt John as he never lied to anyone and him being able to dream about other universes meant it was most probably true.

"Tony we need to talk. He wasn't in his right mind. You saw what the words of John did to him. He was brainwashed."

"I don't care. He killed my mom." Tony replied.

He flew to Bucky but Steve threw his shield to him with force. Tony stopped the shield with his hand and flung it away. Then they started having melee combat. But since Captain America was better in melee combat he was able to overpower Tony easily.

Tony knew that and got back a few steps and started flying. He directly went up and so that he could use his thrusters directly from above to Bucky and kill him.

"Aren't you gonna stop them. Tony will kill Bucky. You could have spoken of this matter much later when they are in right mind. You even equipped them with armor and suit. Why?" Banner said.

"Banner this truth needed to be out when the whole scene is under our control. They would fight it out anyways no matter what so let them fight the solution out until they both calm down. For this reason I let them use their full power. I don't want this truth to come out from a third party and ruin what we have now. Bigger and nastier wars are coming. I need us to be united. Not broken when the wars arrive." John said.

"Bigger wars?..."

John didn't reply to that and continued watching the fight between Tony and Steve. And now even Bucky joined him as after a year of calmness he could get out of subconscious control faster. In the original version, Bucky and Steve had the upper hand as the environment was closed. But here it was an open field and since John had closed the Park for today as he knew that today would be an important one Tony didn't hold back at all while fighting against them.

Bucky and Steve's melee attack wouldn't matter if Tony used hand thrusters while being far away.

"I can't let you kill him Tony. He is my friend." Steve said.

"So was I." Tony replied as he blasted two of his hand thrusters to Steve again which was defended using his shield.

"You don't deserve this shield." Tony said as he knuckled two of his hands together and flew to Steve and touched it.

There was a lightning spark around the shield as it got dismantled into two pieces. Thus the famous shield of Captain America was broken for the first time in history. Tony directly lifted Steve by his neck and threw him away a few yards.

Tony then directly had a fight against Bucky and he wanted to beat Bucky first before killing him. The anger wouldn't dissipate for him if he just killed Bucky. He had to have a close fight against him.

"Jarvis analyse his fight pattern and deploy counter measures."

"Analysed. Counter measures deployed." came Jarvis' tone.

He finally able to stop the onslaught of Bucky which was one of weakness of Tony. As soon as he stopped his hand, Tony directly blasted his thruster at Bucky's metal arm. And like the original world Bucky lost his metal arm. Only this time it was done by Tony's hand thruster instead of using the arc reactor.

This sudden attack flung Bucky a few yards behind. Even though he didn't lose consciousness he was pretty much beaten up after Tony used counter measures. Tony walked to him and asked while pointing both his hand thruster at Bucky

"Do you even remember them?" Tony said while pointing his thruster to Bucky getting ready to kill him.

"I remember everyone." Bucky replied.

"Good. I want you to" Tony couldn't even finish his words when a huge impact came from behind. It was Steve. He had taken two pieces of the shield and equipped in his both hands using the previous strap.

It looked almost exactly like the shield Captain America used during the infinity war. The only difference was that the shields looked irregular and out of shape. Steve directly assaulted his shoulder making Tony miss the target. He then proceeded to use both his shields to choke Tony.

Since Tony was covered in armor it wouldn't be possible to actually choke him but it would actually just stop him from moving around.

Bucky who finally got up and saw this as a chance to stop Tony. He directly put his right hand at the arc reactor. Due to super serum it was possible to at least damage the arc reactor a bit so that it could stop it from functioning and providing energy to his armor.

But what happened next was not what Bucky expected. Even John and others who were watching them fight without stopping them didn't expect the next situation. Tony directly used his arc reactor to blast at Bucky. Since his right hand was on the arc reactor it directly cut off his remaining arm too.

Chapter 157: Consequences

Bucky was again thrown away but this time he was bleeding profusely from his shoulder and Tony again charged his arc reactor to shoot at Bucky. Steve was stunned by this sudden action and for a moment couldn't hold onto Tony.

As Tony charged the arc reactor he suddenly saw his armor being dismantled. In a moment's notice all his armor fell off. Tony fell down while Steve seeing Tony had stopped ran to Bucky.

It was John who dismantled his armor as he needed the fight to stop. John walked to Bucky, he was unconscious now due to pain. John hand's caught blue fire as he touched the wound of Bucky. His frowned unconscious face finally relaxed a bit.

Then John put his hands on his pocket and brought out the philosopher's stone. After touching the stone with his left he touched the right shoulder. And miraculously a new arm started to grow out of the shoulder. First came the bones, then the muscle, the veins and lastly the skin. All this happened within seconds and soon there was a brand new arm for Bucky which looked exactly like the previous.

Banner and others were dumbfounded by this but then remembered the power of the philosopher's stone. Bucky gained consciousness and he was the most surprised as he saw that his lost arm had grown back.

"Jarvis. Call Mark 42. It isn't over yet. Call all the suits out." Tony said.

"It's enough. Do you think 42 will accompany you in this path of revenge. Do you think I will allow you to continue the fight? Didn't you fight enough?" John said and it was the first time he had a very serious face. 42 would never come to help Tony as anything made by the cube was at the end under the control of John. John gave Tony the cube so that he could profit off him.

"He killed my parents John. I can't forgive him for this." Tony said.

"Do you think he had control over it? Or did you think Hydra would let your parents go after they decided to murder your father. Are you so naive that you want to let vengeance take your control? What about the thousands of families that your weapons killed? What do you say about that? Huh?" John said with a more greater tone.

"I had no control over the weapons. He did it with his own hands." Tony retorted.

"Hands. You made weapons Tony. Are you so naive to think that it would never fall in wrong hands? You wanted to make profit, you wanted to build an empire greater than your father to satisfy your ego and show the world that you are better than him. It didn't occur to you that what you did was wrong before Yinsen almost sacrificed his life."

"But I am a changed man now." Tony again said.

"Than do you think Bucky will kill everyone again? At least he suffers from nightmares from all the innocents he had killed. You don't even know the faces of the people that your weapons killed." John said.

Tony went silent when John said that. Steve didn't utter a single word in that debate as he was too concerned about Bucky. He was relieved to see that Bucky was all and well. Even though he lost his metal arm but that was easily replaceable by technology.

Steve finally lifted Bucky to his feet. Even though John had healed all his injuries by the philosopher's stone, both were exhausted.

"I can't forgive him John, I just can't." Tony was adamant.

"I am not asking you to forgive him. But I am asking you to be united when the time demands. Much bigger and dangerous wars are coming Tony. The wars which we all might not even survive, enemies which will make us desperate, weapons that you couldn't even imagine. I need us to be together. Avengers cannot fall." John said with more grave tone.

Tony, Steve and others didn't speak a word against it. Even if they don't know what war is John speaking about but seeing the serious face of John it meant the upcoming times wouldn't be peaceful like now.

"Alright let's go inside, we need to talk." John said.

Everybody went inside. Tony went ahead as he couldn't stand the look of Bucky. He stopped because he knew no matter what he couldn't kill Bucky and even if he did that wouldn't be justice. Hydra was already dead. He just felt more angry thinking he didn't give them a more gruesome death. And Tony also knew with all the members of the team present it wouldn't be good as nobody would allow the fight to continue.

They all sat in a big table. This was officially the first meeting of the Avengers after it was formed. Even though it started with violence, nonetheless everyone was present except for the green lanterns. Even though Emma never joined the Avengers she was already considered one.

Chapter 158: Discussion

Tony didn't join the meeting. He was too angry and worn out mentally to even attend the meeting. So he just left. John didn't mind that, he was actually little surprised.

He thought Tony would be more adamant in killing Bucky. That was anti-climactic.

"First of all, I am sorry Bucky. I introduced the team in such a way that you all had to almost had a close call of death. But I needed that secret to be out. I can't jeopardize our team for such a secret." John said.

Bucky nodded his head to John but didn't speak. He had always been silent and now after going through such times he had become more like a monk.

"I guess Steve has introduced every one of us to you. So I will skip the formalities. I called everyone here because firstly I will be leaving Earth soon for bringing more members to the team. They have landed in another planet and Earth is too unknown of a planet for them to find us." John said.

"Space travel? We don't even have spaceships." Arthur said.

"We have. It's just that it's landed in Mars for us to use." John said with a smile.

"Spaceships in Mars? Is that the reason why you asked us to make Starscream? So that we can go to Mars and occupy the spaceships?" Wayne asked.

"Yes and also because we have a world engine machine in Mars. We will terraform Mars according to Earth. I want to colonize Mars and have people settle there too." John said.

"The world engine of the Kryptonians. They have arrived too? My God. That is a very powerful weapon. Will the governments even allow us to keep that weapon?" Banner asked.

"Doesn't matter if they don't allow us. I will make sure they follow us and don't disturb us. During wars it's us who take the front lines. And it's not like the weapon is at Earth. Wayne can have access to the world engine and since he is an official of the government he can help us convey our thoughts to the world council when the time comes." John said.

"It still won't be easy. They will come after us." Steve said. He knows how politics works. Politics is dirty and it will be a heavy weight for them.

"I know. I will use countermeasures against it. Don't worry about them. They are just jumping clowns." John said as frankly he never cared about weak people who just know how to sway public opinion. He had more than one way to deal with them.

"So you will take a Kryptonian ship and fly with one to bring new comrades?" Mera asked.

"Yes. That's the plan. It will be long journey and there would be enemies too." John said.

"Enemies? Will they be powerful. Do you need our help?" Diana asked.

"No. I will be fine and new comrades will join in too. So it will be easy." John replied.

"John I have a request. Can you take Bucky with you. I guess the planets in the universe will be more advanced than us. I wish to cure Bucky completely. I am not sure if their physiology is same as us but I want him to be at least checked. Plus you have seen how Tony is with him. Bucky needs to be out of picture for sometime." Steve asked.

"Are you sure about that? He will still have to go to Mars and I am pretty much sure Tony will join in our first adventure to Mars." John asked.

"It's ok. If it's not much trouble I will join in this adventure and try to keep Tony out and help Bucky."

"OK fine. It's not like we are going now to Mars. Will still take a couple of months for us to go. I hope Tony will calm down by then." John said.

"Another thing about us is that there might be a new member among us. It's Geralt. I guess all of you have seen his character from the game I made. He is in New York and currently completing a witcher contract of mine. After he completes that he will join the team." John said.

"Wow I played that game. He knows a bit of magic. Does magic really exist?" Banner asked.

"Yes. It exists. But there are different forms of magic." John said.

"Good a new member. Even though I didn't play the game I went through the character. Doesn't he play solo always." Steve asked.

"He will do anything for coins. Don't bother with that. It's a pity that Natasha and Clint didn't join the meeting. I heard Fury was able to convince Oliver to join." John asked Wayne.

"Yes. I have known him from my universe. Seeing me sitting as the Secretary he decided to join. They went on a mission to search for Strucker." Wayne replied.

Chapter 159: Announcement

John and others then spoke of normal things and discussed how they would colonize Mars and such other matters. Even though NASA and few countries had sent some robots of Mars they actually haven't discovered many places.

Bucky finally spoke in the meeting. Even though he didn't say much but at least it meant he was onboard with the team and even accepted to travel with John for finding a cure.

They all left after that. John stayed behind as he needed to talk with Tony. He had been a friend with Tony for a long time now so he didn't want a friendship to be broken just because of a past incident which they didn't have a control on.

"Are they gone?" Tony asked as soon as John entered the courtyard where Tony was sitting and sipping juice.

"Jarvis had already sent all the discussion about us to you. Who are you kidding?" John said as he sat at the chair near him.

"Can't you stop using your prophetic dreamy powers for once?" Tony asked.

"I don't need powers to understand you Tony. A control freak like you will never be away from such a huge discussion. I am just surprised you didn't try to kill Bucky again." John said.

"I am not consumed by vengeance. I understand my past too. It's just I can't sit in the same table as him. And Steve. He defended Bucky." Tony said as he was still pissed.

"Will you care about this misunderstanding if the survival of the universe is on your shoulders? No. So it's better you try to forget them." John said.

"Huh the universe on my shoulders? You mean I have saved universes in other parallel worlds?" Tony asked.

"You have saved worlds and was responsible for destruction too. So this is me trying to help you." John said. Tony was dumbstruck by that comment. He didn't know what he should say to that.

"Since you heard our discussion. How far is the launch of the cars? When can the customers get their hands on it?" John asked changing the topic.

"By next month the cars will be launched. 10,000 models are almost ready to be sold and 90% of them are booked. The last 10% I will send them to shops to be sold offline. Pepper is handling the business and logistics. I need to check on Starscream one last time too before we go to Mars."

"Ok so we need to handle the announcement. You are good at it. In a week after you calm down make the announcement. Till then I will make arrangements for the new movie. How many days will it take for us to reach Mars?"

"Well from my calculations 3 days and the return journey will be 7 days due to reverse solar wind. I need to get my hands on the Kryptonian ships in Mars." Tony said.

"You can. But the condition remains the same. No internet upload of the knowledge or schematics." John said.

"Sometimes you are more paranoid than Wayne." Tony said.

After spending 3 days in Jurassic Park he left. John even called Pepper to explain what had happened. Pepper was astonished that such a huge revelation took place. She understood why John called her so she went to talk with Tony about what had happened.

After arriving in New York, he directly went to Disney headquarters and inquired about the new project. This was a huge movie and it was going to be a long one so he needed everything to be perfect for the movie. The days went by as he directed the course of the movie and even use the system to bring out animes which he hadn't watched in his previous life but had a general idea of them.

John lost a lot of fan values due to such extraction but he knew he could gain more by just propagating them. In two weeks time Tony finally announced that the cars will hit the market by second week of February.

Those who booked before would be delivered and while the a small amount of them would be up for offline sale. People were very much ecstatic for a new brand of cars that would change the transportation industry forever.

Tony even said that by next year Umbrella will sell ship and plane models more efficient than the world had ever seen. This excited the people more as that would mean less wastage of money.

The renowned economists were debating that this would highly effect the economy as transportation is required in everything. Some were saying that this would be very helpful for the environment. While others were saying that many people would lose their jobs in the upcoming future. The solar panels were already creating a problem in the economy and now this would have a larger impact.

"Since people will lose jobs I can just ship many of them to Mars to colonize the planet. I bet they will be more than happy to follow the lead as there would be new opportunities."

Chapter 160: Ready for departure

By February all the cars were out. And those people who had already bought it loved the models. It was super efficient and could go for a month or so. And for those who lived in place which had strong sunshine all the year, they understood that they wouldn't need to charge the cars for few months.

Pepper who handled everything was very happy to see the first major impact of Umbrella Corporation in the market. Umbrella could be considered to be handled by her totally unlike Stark Industries which was already a huge empire. Umbrella was built from scratch by her as both John and Tony never gave even a ounce of attention to the working of the company.

All the models were delivered by the end of February and all the reviews that came up were great. Of course there were some buyers who complained but that was normal as everybody wouldn't be happy with such high efficient cars. Pepper and the company never cared for such weak voices.

Soon it was March of 2014 and this was the month that they had decided to leave for Mars. John, Tony, Bucky and Steve decided to join this adventure. Banner and others had to stay back.

On the 10th of March everybody arrived at the Jurassic Park. Pepper came to receive them whereas Tony didn't even bother to show his face. Many sighed at this but didn't say anything. Everybody came to see them off. Even Natasha and others had arrived after knowing this.

Of course Fury wasn't informed as Wayne didn't even bother to inform this to the world council. Since Natasha and Clint were the actual members of Avengers they joined in the fun and got to know about it. There were new guys in the roster though.

Oliver Queen and Felicity Smoak.

Felicity joined Umbrella under the recommendation of John and she soon rose to the post of personal secretary of Pepper due to her resourcefulness. Pepper was more than happy to appoint Smoak as her Secretary. She was more than great in computers and even dealt with superheroes before so Pepper was happy and relieved as she didn't have to hide anything from her. Smoak's own boyfriend had now joined the Avengers.

Oliver introduced himself to others. Clint was very happy with the joining of Oliver as they both had same skills. Even though Oliver was better in melee combat, thanks to the training in the league, Clint was more than happy to let him join the Avengers and help him more in archery and combat.

They all went to the hotel in the Park to stay for the night as the next day was scheduled as the departure day. They all woke up early as they had to leave early. Everybody came to the other island where Starscream was kept hidden. Tony made sure that no satellite could pick up any signature from Starscream as the ships that John brought before was exposed pretty early.

Tony didn't want any hindrance in making the spaceship so he and Banner paid particular attention to it. Though Starscream wasn't invisible like the helicarriers, it wouldn't pop up in the radar. While they exit the Earth's atmosphere the satellites might be able to catch images of Starscream but by that they would have already gone into space.

The last time when Starscream went to space it made sure that he avoided detection of satellites. But this time it wouldn't be possible as farther away from Earth they go, it would be easier for the huge cameras of satellites to pick them up.

"Is everything ready?" John said as he brought 5 huge suitcases with him.

"Jesus John! How long will you be gone for? Years?" Tony asked as he saw such huge suitcases.

"I brought these for us. These are the Kryptonian suits. Configure them according to our biological settings." John said.

"Huh. But I specifically made suits for us so that we could be in Mars without any problems." Tony said embarrassingly.

"Then you should have told me earlier." John said as he had to spend some fan values to extract suit from 'Man of Steel' movie. Even though it wasn't much it still did hurt John.

"Umm you can give them to me. I will try to configure them along the way. I have already set up a mobile laboratory inside."

"Good. I would prefer these suits instead of metal heads. I still am not sure how you even see through small eye holes of your suit." John said.

They all entered Starscream and walked to the huge spherical dome at the front. John and others didn't enter last time so they were surprised that the whole inside was made for luxury purposes. It had private suites, a bar and a even a small swimming pool. The space inside looked more huge than they had expected.

Tony, Wayne and Banner really outdid themselves in modeling the ship.

"Does the gravity inside work properly?" John asked.

"Yes. It's perfect." It was Starscream who replied.
