

Multiverse 191

Chapter 191: Ring

John was happy to return home to his own bed. He missed this. It was a long journey and now he was back to his own life but after coming home he had a huge headache because his home looked little dirty as nobody had maintained his home. Such a big home would take more than a day to clean.

"Do I need to summon ninjas to clean the whole house? Eh! I will just summon some ninjas which I have never summoned from small villages."

John thus summoned some ninjas belonging to the rain village. His house looked perfectly clean after an hour or so. Now John was happy to see the clean home again.

"I need to hire someone to clean home always. This can't go on like this." John thought. John then called up Kevin to ask about the progress of the movies and even called up CD Projekt RED to ask about the next game which was supposed to be released soon.

He was happy to know that the game would be out by the end of the year too. Now John was thinking which game to release next. John wanted to have an Avengers headquarters in space and he wasn't able to think of a perfect space station to be kept in the orbit of Earth like in the comics. John really wished for an exclusive space station.

His first thought was of Halo's rings but they were huge and might cost him a lot as they were powerful weapons which could all sentient life in the galaxy when fired.

"Wait I can just separate away the weapon part and just bring the Ring. Plus I won't bring out the other parts of the Halo game so people would never know. The Forerunners have built such an awesome Ring which has its own weather and ecosystem. I need to start making the whole Halo game. It wouldn't cost much since bringing Oa was around a billion. The non living things doesn't cost that much."

John thus started writing the necessary script and drawing to give to CD Projekt RED for development of new game. He was excited for having an exclusive huge headquarter and even live in Halo ring. That would be awesome.

After drawing and writing, John went to sleep as he was tired. The next day he went to the Disney headquarter to see how the work of the movie was going on. Disney had hired a new guy for VFX related shots.

Quentin Beck.

John was surprised to see him working eagerly for Disney. He wondered if he would go on to become Mysterio now specially after joining Disney as here he was paid and given enough recognition as opposed to having rivalry against Tony in future.

"Let it be. If he goes to wrong path I will just beat it out."

John went to meet Kevin and discussed about the movie and the future movies to be made. He had a slight headache when it came to DC because he would be soon in unknown territory and basically would have to stop producing movies related to DC soon and focus more on anime and games.

John then checked the memories of many people like Geralt, Aang and some of the ninjas working in SHIELD. There wasn't much change except for Geralt's memories. He saw Nobu had called all the members of the Hand and they all will soon come together to get the power of longer life from the dead body of the dragon underground in Hell's kitchen.

"Geralt is powerful enough to handle all the five. Matt is there to help. I hope other members of the Defenders don't come to ruin the plot. I will just keep an eye on it. I wonder if Elektra would get involved in all this."

John spent the next few days talking with the game company and talking about the ideas behind the game and it's working. They were excited about getting a new game from John as the previous two games were an absolute hit. They all were looking forward to produce another legendary game.

Soon months went by and it was November. In mid November Emma finally came back and John was more than happy to see her back. John was relieved to see no scars or injuries. Emma too was happy to see John again. They had been away for quite a long time. Both of them spoke about their adventures.

Emma spoke about the racism of the Kree on non-pure bloods and how she had to save many impure blooded Kree. She was happy to save the people and thus earning good will in many places. John spoke about killing Ronan.

"So it was you. No wonder many Kree rejoiced after you killed him. He was the most racist guy according to them." Emma said.

"Kree is going to fall if this goes on. I don't understand what the Supreme Intelligence is even thinking of allowing such atrocities to continue. It is an AI. It was supposed to be smarter than that."

Chapter 192: The movie where all came together

Meanwhile in the last few months, the Umbrella Corporation just exploded in public domain. After the huge success in the initial release of cars, they got orders from every country. Tony even said that the cars would be more efficient after coming back from Mars in an interview.

By the end of October, Umbrella released new models of airplanes which was more efficient. The plane companies scrambled to buy the models as it would lower the cost of the prices by a lot and thus giving companies edge over their competitors.

By now Umbrella was already on it's way to a huge corporation that would dominate on every walk of life and many people could already see the spark that would be a huge fire in the future.

Tony even said that Umbrella by next year would start building spaceships to send people to Mars and even populate it as they used the world engine to transform Mars to Earth. The governments put pressure to Umbrella and Tony to hand over the world engine. But as usual Tony said he can't fly the world engine and it would always be there in Mars.

Tony even invited government scientists to try working on the world engine in their expedition to Mars. Even though they didn't believe Tony not able to pilot it they still wanted to try and even booked for their next expedition to Mars. John just smiled at it as before coming back they transformed all the spaceships and the remaining world engine. Thus nobody would be able to operate on it even if they tried.

Tony was also working on the mother box with Victor on others as he was trying to improve his armor. Wayne too wanted to work on it as he was never been able to work on it before.

Now he got the chance. Banner too was very much interested in it as he felt the mother box would unravel many things on the biological side as Victor himself survived due to the mother box.

John was happy to see all of this as he could finally see Iron Man and Batman's suit already being more powerful in the future. He was looking forward to their new suits. Soon the month of December came and it was time for the next movie of John to be released.

Like always everybody came for the movie premiere. Nobody would want to miss the movie of John even though some of them knew the story from before. Even Victor joined from back door. He didn't want to show his face to the public yet.

John , Tony and everybody showed up like usual and gave a normal interview and since this movie was of about 4 hours everybody was excited to watch it. The only people who didn't come to watch the movie was Bucky and Hal as both were in Oa. John even thought of propagating his movies on Oa as that would be helpful in spreading his movies in the vast universe.

Everybody took their seats and thus the movie started where the previous movie Batman vs Superman left off. The death of Superman. His death cry soon spread to all of the planet. This awoke a cubic shaped boxes. One was under the watch of a cyborg which they saw a small glimpse in the previous movie.

Another box was in Atlantis and another one in Amazon. The one in Amazon suddenly lit up. The women who were protecting the box shouted after seeing this

"Alert the Queen."

Yes, as it was expected. This movie was Justice League. But not the Joss Whedon's version but the actual Zack Snyder's version.

"So there are three boxes. We have two of them." Tony said as he recognized the mother boxes he had worked upon from the movie.

The movie continued as it showed Bruce Wayne scaling rocky and snowy mountains in search of Aquaman. Arthur Curry wasn't still the King of Atlantis as it seemed from the pictures so people understood this movie happened before the Aquaman movie happened. Though the audience felt it weird but they didn't think much of it.

Bruce Wayne asked for help but Arthur refused immediately as he said he didn't want to involve himself in anything. Tony and others all looked at Arthur when this happened.

"What? I still don't play well with others. It's by mistake I was the king of Atlantis." Arthur defended himself.

"Typical drunkard." Meera commented. Everybody laughed when she said that. The movie continued as it showed a small terrorist group holding children hostage. Later Wonder Woman came to save all of them from the group but people understood that all of this started because there was no Superman.

He was a god to them and when Gods die there would always be consequences. The scene changed and it was back in Amazon where Queen came to inspect the box which lit up suddenly after the death of Superman.

Chapter 193: The movie

As the box vibrated and was lit up, all the warriors were ready with their archers and swords.

"The mother box has awoken, yet there is no change." a warrior said.

"The mother box has slept for thousands of years. Why did it wake at all?" Queen asked. As she said that the mother box started vibrated more rapidly and opened a huge portal. And from that long portal out came flying monsters with laser guns.

Then appeared a huge humanoid with horns whom the audience had seen the glimpse in the Batman vs. Superman movie. It was Steppenwolf. This Steppenwolf looked huge and bigger than the original version of Justice League of Joss. It looked more scary with all the spiky armor.

Thus the fight ensued and Steppenwolf looked way more powerful than people actually expected. He killed the trained warriors of Amazons like it was nothing. Everybody was amazed by seeing this new villain.

After a crazy fight against Steppenwolf ran away using the mother box to another location. The Queen decided to warn Diana that a dangerous villain has come now. The audience felt it was like the New York War as in that case the aliens teleported from a distant place in the universe and some even wondered that if a cubic box was responsible for all that had happened in New York

Steppenwolf went to a remote location and activated the mother box while sending the parademons to search for other two boxes.

"This world will join the others. He will be pleased. He will see my worth again."

Everybody then understood that there is another person above Steppenwolf. Tony and others got curious about this new guy that was just mentioned but didn't ask.

Bruce Wayne meanwhile was searching for Barry and wanted him to join the team. Barry too had come for the movie. Fury had already seen both Victor and Barry before coming for the movie. Even though Fixit made them separate identities Wayne made their identities more hidden so that the normal people wouldn't pry on them.

There was an attack on the Kryptonian ship where the parademons came to find the mother box but it was already taken. The Queen of Amazon finally sent a warning to Diana about the incoming attack. Diana went to the place where the warning was sent only to unravel the pictures of war. She understood what kind of war was coming.

Steppenwolf called for an audience with someone named Desaad and again mentioned a higher person. Steppenwolf asked for 'his' forgiveness and wanted to return home but was reminded him of the betrayal he had done.

"What kind of betrayal are they talking about?" Diana asked. Everybody was surprised by this question because they thought all the people who came from that universe knew everything from before.

"I am not sure. Probably usurping the throne. I haven't seen their dreams but I guess it's related to the disappearance of his father." John said referring to Yuga Khan, father of Darkseid. In the comics Yuga Khan was trapped in source wall for years.

"I have seen the records when I sat on the throne. He is more terrible." Bruce Wayne said as he mentioned him sitting on the throne of knowledge during the Apokolips War.

He was more powerful than Darkseid and even Darkeid was afraid of his father. John didn't say anything about it as it wasn't the time or the place for it. The movie continued and finally Diana went to meet Batman to warn of the new attack that was coming. There she finally told about the war that had happened thousands of year ago.

Soon the scene changed to a battle ground where many legions were gathered. The audience saw the green lanterns, the amazonians and even the atlanteans. They got to see Ares too who had died in the hands of Diana but this time he was on the good side.

Finally the name came out of the person who attacked last time and the main man behind Steppenwolf.

Darkseid.

Darkseid finally showed his face. He looked huge. After landing on earth he directly hit the ground which lit up with a huge weird sign. This made the audience feel weird as the hit of Darkseid shouldn't have lit up like that.

Diana finally spoke about the mother boxes and it's power to change earth when brought together. The legions of earth and green lanterns fought in battle. They even got to see the old gods. Zeus and all fighting in the battle. They finally were able to win against Darkseid was able to send him away. After the battle the mother boxes were hidden away.

One was given to men, one to the atlanteans and another to Amazonians which was already stolen. Bruce and Diana finally decided to bring in new people to stop Steppenwolf in bringing all the three boxes together.

Chapter 194: The movie (2)

Bruce decided to go after Barry Allen while Diana decided to got for Victor Stone. Victor's life was finally shown of how he was a football player and had an accident. His mother died while his father in order to save him decided to use the mother box on him to save him thus changing him into a cyborg. The audience felt bad as now Victor would never be able to show his face to public after the transformation. The movie showed about the power of Victor and his control over everything that is online.

Bruce finally found Barry and asked him to join which he agreed without hesitation after knowing he was Batman. Diana on the other hand was able to have a meeting with Victor but he gave very vague answers of joining the team.

The atlanteans were attacked and their mother box too was stolen. Since the parademons couldn't find the box of men they abducted Victor's father. Due to this abduction, Victor came to the call of Batman's night light. Victor could figure out the details of the abduction from the patterns and realized the abductions all lead to the city's old docks.

After going inside the docks there was huge fight between the new team and Steppenwolf and since this new team never fought together everybody suffered. Even though this was the first time everybody got to see the speed of Barry and fighting prowess of Victor. The audience now wanted to see them in real life as John's works would always mean new heroes emerging.

"You have the blood of old gods." Steppenwolf said to Wonder Woman.

"What is this old gods? Zeus is an old god?" Banner asked.

"There are old gods and new gods. Darkseid is a new god. While Zeus was an old God." John said. (I am not exactly sure if Zeus belonged to New Genesis but for now let's consider him as one of the actual old gods of DC Universe)

"Wow even an evil being is a God." Steve said.

"Gods are just that Gods. They are both good and evil. No God is purely good neither purely evil. Well except for Darkseid." John said.

"Their universe have Gods. Do our universe too have?" Tony asked this time. Everybody's face became stern when Tony asked this and looked at John.

"Yes there are Gods in this universe." John said. Everybody trembled when they heard it. All had different expressions. Tony clenched his fists as he made up his mind to make more powerful weapons to face the Gods. Bruce Wayne and other all had the same expressions. They all suffered once, they didn't want to suffer again.

Fury had a serious look while Banner and Steve were just silent. As the fight went the teleporation from the mother box opened and Steppenwolf left after the dcoks were flooded. Aquaman finally came to the rescue of them as he stopped the water from flooding.

Steppenwolf came to the mother box where it showed some scenes in his head.

"It is here. On this world." Steppenwolf said as he hit the ground and the same sign showed up when Darkseid first came. He then directly called DeSaad.

"I bring news. Before mighty Darkseid came to the throne he searched the universe for the ultimate weapon. The Anti-life equation. The key to controlling all life and all will throughout the multiverse.. It's here. I found it." Steppenwolf said.

After knowing this Darkseid soon showed up for the first time. He ordered Steppenwolf to make Earth under him and he would himself come for the great prize.

Victor and everybody came to the Batcave with the last mother box where they decided to bring Superman to life with the help of the mother box. The the scene showed Lois Lane talking with Clark mother only to reveal later that she wasn't his mother.

But another alien who could shape-shift. Fury was taken aback as he thought the alien looked like Skrulls and even had the same physiology. John saw Fury being amazed but didn't say anything.

They all went to the Kryptonian ship to revive Superman. When Victor tuned into the mother box he saw scenes that looked like future scenes. He saw Wonder Woman dead. Aquaman killed. Superman was alive but he himself killed Batman. This scared everyone. Because everybody thought they were going to die but then remembered that Wonder Woman and others were alive. But many felt fear as it might be the future.

Superman did come to life but he was different and he started attacking every member who brought him to life. People had forgotten how powerful Superman was, this movie again reminded them as he single handedly defeated everyone.

At the end Lois Lane who was nearby came to stop him and Clark finally remembered who he was and calmed down. Meanwhile Steppenwolf was able to take away the mother box after killing Victor's father. His father sacrificed himself to give everyone a fighting chance.

Chapter 195: The reality

Due to the sacrificing work of Victor's father, everybody got the location of the three mother boxes and all went to stop Steppenwolf. They attacked and thus a huge fight ensued. The fight scenes looked amazing and everybody freely using their full powers and abilities.

As Victor was trying to separate the boxes, Superman finally came to help them. He again showed his huge power and easily beat down Steppenwolf. But in all this mayhem the three unity boxes synchronized and annihilated everything. Barry who was supposed to help in this saw everything being destroyed in his eyes in slow speed.

"Okay. Just gotta go faster than the speed of light. Far beyond the speed of light. You gotta break the rule Barry. And you gotta do it now, . And then Flash did something that nobody ever imagined. He went back in time.

The people were amazed that Barry could time travel. Some even remembered the previous movie where there was the dream of Bruce Wayne. Now that they think, that dream man looked like Barry Allen so that too was a time travel.

Steppenwolf was killed at the end while his head rolled on the feet of Darkseid who showed up from the teleportation circle. Darkseid crushed Steppenwolf's head like it was nothing.

"Ready the Armada. We will use the old ways." Darkseid said. while the movie ended he suddenly remembered another superhero who nobody knew. Ryan Choi.

He was Atom in DC universe and he had genius level intellect. Maybe John could bring him and work on nano armor for both Bruce Wayne and Tony Stark. John already made up his mind to bring him to this universe later.

The movie thus ended and it was time for post credits scene where it showed that Arthur was dead. And even showed Joker where he accused Batman of destroying alternate timelines as Batman didn't have to guts to sacrifice himself. Batman again woke up from this dream like he had in the previous movie. He went out only to see a humanoid alien levitating.

"Who are you?" Bruce asked. He didn't seem surprised as if he had accepted there were aliens on Earth.

"I have gone by many names. Many have called me the Martian Manhunter." And then he flew off. The movie ended there.

"Bruce stop governments searching for anti-life equation." John suddenly said at the end.

"Huh? Why? Is there anti-life equation in earth?" Banner asked with fear.

"No. But there is another thing in Earth. We can't afford to trouble that thing." John said.

"Like Anti-life equation?" Tony asked.

"No. Don't ask and don't let your curiosity to get the better of it. We aren't powerful enough to handle it. Even if you make hundred armors we will still fail. We will need bigger guns." John said.

"We are still not powerful? After all the lanterns and such gods among us, you yourself is a very powerful weapon. And you still say that?" Tony asked.

"Yes with all the powers we are still weak." John said with certainty. Everybody's face became solemn. They had been thinking they were really powerful but this movie made them realize they were really nothing in grand scheme of events.

They needed to be more powerful and deal with all situations that would come in the future. Even though they didn't know who are the enemies but they needed to be powerful enough to defend and fight back

"I miss the days when the only monster was me." Steve said.

"Monsters had always been on Earth Captain. It's just you never saw them." John replied.

All went home after that. It was a long movie and everybody was tired. John would summon Ryan later and maybe even Martian Manhunter. But he will come later as he will be very useful during the secret invasion. John wanted to keep him and Naruto to deal with the invasion later.

The next day John called Bruce to give him a heads up for a new person called Ryan Choi who was Atom in other universes. Bruce understood what he had to do and he arranged a proper reception of him and decided to send him to his own lab to work on nanotechnology.

John spent 60 million fan values on him as Ryan wasn't a superhero yet and he just had genius level intellect.

"The next year is going to be weird. I will never let Ultron to come to life as he could easily become Infinite Ultron. Can't let him be online and get a chance to use the mind stone. It's time to kill the last remaining Hydra. And also the thing with Ant-Man. The League has already inserted themselves in Pym Technologies. Will just kill Darren Cross. If he goes to quantum realm he will again become a variable. Can't let him do that. Well Ryan is here. Since he is Atom in many universes it will be easier for him to handle this Ant-Man."

Chapter 196: New armor

Ryan Choi came up to his home to ask about the new world. Since Emma was at home she opened the door and was confused by the new face but understood this must be another guy from another universe.

"Ryan Choi. I was directed here by John Jameson." he said.

"Ryan? The scientist of Star Labs? Come in." Emma said.

John who was lazing around saw that Ryan had arrived. He welcomed him to sit

"Mr. Choi I guess you already know where you are." John said.

"Yes. I am excited to get my hands on the new technology of this world." Choi said.

"Good. Let's go to Batman's home." John said. Emma too joined them as well as she wanted to meet Alfred. Alfred doesn't go for the movies as the others as he says he was old for it.

They drove Bumblebee to the home of Bruce. John felt little bad for Bee and thought that next time he would take Bee to Mars to let him breathe with other transformers. They soon reached the home of Batman only to see Drift in the garage which Tony was here too.

They all went in. Alfred was surprised to see a new face but didn't say anything as he understood another person has arrived. They directly went to the laboratory where Tony and Bruce were talking and as they John got stuck in his feet because he saw something he never expected to see in his entire life.

He saw new armors of Batman being placed behind glass. What really astonished him was that he had seen those armors in comics in his previous life.

"What do you say John? Liked the suits. Wayne and I made some suits for him. Wait who is this guy?"

"This Ryan Choi from Star Labs. He is an expert in nanotechnology. He can help both of you to make nano armors."

"Is that so. I do remembers such guy from Star Labs. Welcome to a new universe traveler." Bruce said.

"Thanks. Never expected to see Batman in real life. It's an honor." Ryan said. Ryan was in awe of Batman as he was huge fan of him in his previous life. Since all three were scientists they soon started talking about science while John looked at the suits made by both of them together. And then the schematic of a new suit on the hologram projection surprised him even more. That suit too was a famous suit of Batman. He was inspecting the suits from up close and still felt amazed as Bruce still managed to make suits from the comics without any reference.

"So you like them?" Tony asked still being proud. "Guess the name of the armor?" Tony asked pointing at a slim suit which had huge drapes in its back. The suit was black which was shiny in surface and had a red bat sign. The suit looked more like a knight suit than a batman suit with gauntlets and shoulder covered guards.

"It's called Justice Armor. " John replied.

"Huh. How do you know that name?" Tony asked. Even Bruce was taken aback when John said that name. John then pointed out another suit which looked more like stealth suit with gargoyle type wings in its back.

"That's a Batman beyond suit. And that suit is called the Haz Bat suit." John said pointing on the last suit which looked like a combination of a hazmat suit and batman armor. Everybody was surprised by this sudden naming including Emma. Alfred who just came with tea was also astonished.

"How do you know all the names perfectly?" Bruce asked.

"Because in other universes you have already made them. The suit which you both are working upon is called the hellbat armor. That's probably the second most powerful suit of yours capable of fighting against the gods, but I don't think you can make the actual hellbat armor like in the original. At least not with the current manpower ."

"You mean in other universes he had already made these. And here I thought we both created masterpieces." Tony lamented.

"He didn't make the armors alone. The hell bat armor was made by all the members of the justice league to face Darkseid. You better not make the suit dependent upon the metabolism of Bruce. The hellbat armor was powerful but was short lived."

"I understand." Bruce said.

"You said the hell bat suit was the second most powerful armor. What was the most powerful armor ever created by Master Wayne?" Alfred asked as he too got interested now.

John looked at the mother box which was lying beside and said "In one particular condition Bruce made an armor out of the same metal as the mother box was made. That metal is called element X."

"That suit is so powerful that he defeated all members of the justice league in a few moves."

Chapter 197: A brand new idea

"That's amazing. Bruce defeating such powerful people. It's a pity that mother boxes can't be broken. At least not with the present technology. I can't even put a scratch on the mother box." Tony said

Ryan, who had worked on the mother box before in Star Labs, was also interested in it and was even eager to work on it. He was still taking time to get used to the new world so Alfred took him to the guest room to take rest and Bruce even asked him that he could work on the laboratory here.

Tony too was interested in nanotechnology as he thought he could use the technology on armors too. John who was listening to the conversation was amazed by how fast they adapted to each other and got engrossed in scientific talk.

"I guess that's what happens when all the people have genius level intellect."

"I will leave now. Give Mr. Choi a lab or even a place in Umbrella Corporation." John said before leaving. Then John and Emma went to have a date as they had decided on it before.

They went to a fancy restaurant to have one and suddenly John saw a person in a wheelchair eating in the restaurant. John himself felt sad looking at it. Emma who saw this also could fathom what John was feeling.

John had always been kind and had been trying to help the people with all his companies and charities but even John couldn't save everyone.

"You can't save everyone, John. You have been doing everything to give the people a better future. You have already given them a lot." Emma said.

"I know. It's just if there was any world which could solve the problems of.... Wait there is one world which has higher medical technology." John said.

"Huh. What do you mean?"

"Emma, sometimes I can bring things that belong to another world to mine if I concentrate enough. There is one world for that." John said as it suddenly hit him that he could help the normal people on earth with medical technology and exert more influence.

Even though it might not be of any help in the fan values as they are counted by the fans of the movies not the fans of real characters and things. At least he could exert influence and make good will to people. His plan for the new world's plan of him was arriving soon and he needed to exert as much influence as possible on people.

"Are you serious? You have that much power too. That's great. Just don't exert yourself by bringing something that will hurt you." Emma said.

"It will be fine. With the new technology Umbrella will grow more." John said while continuing the dinner with Emma. After having all that John returned home with her. He was extremely happy about the sudden new idea that stuck him today.

The next day John directly went to Disney to talk about two new movies for the next year. One would be a DC movie while the other would be the movie which he wanted to bring the medical technology from.

The Justice League movie was a massive hit as the people thought it was based on the attack on New York and thus it was loved by a vast majority of the audience. Now Disney was a company which was in billions of dollars. Even though they did movies that were made by other stories apart from John's, a huge part of revenue came from the works of John.

John gave a new script to Bob and a new script to Kevin. Now John wanted to have two mini animated series on Justice League based on a very old series of his previous life.

Justice League Unlimited and Justice League.

Those series were old but they had so many superheroes that John could easily extract later whenever he wanted. This would be another massive boost for him in future.

[Ding

Total fan values - 9.5 billion]

"Wow. Such high fan values. I guess my movies and works are well received in Asgard and Nova Empire. Lex is perfect for handling this. Now it's almost 4 billion fan values per year."

"It's a pity I don't have total control on all spheres on Earth to bring another world yet. This year will be a massive one to exert my influence here."

Soon it was January and it was time for Emma to leave. His father knew that John's girlfriend was a space policeman. He couldn't have been more proud. His father and Val came to see her off even when she flew away.

"Son, you better be as powerful as her. I know that you have some powers that you have never shown but it better be powerful as hers." Jameson said.

"Dad, I am already more powerful than her." John said with a smile.

Chapter 198: The Hand

"Are you sure about that?" Jameson asked with scepticism.

"Of course I am. Dad, how is your company doing?" John asked instead.

"It's fine. Thanks to exclusive information from you, the newspapers and online papers are being sold at a great price. We will start news channels soon." his father said.

"That's great. Just don't be harsh on superheroes on the news." John said.

"My son is a superhero. Why will I be harsh on them?" Jameson asked.

"Because you are not well received in other universes by your constant criticism on superheroes. Many superheroes don't like you." John said.

"What? My other versions in your so-called 'multiverse' aren't good. I need to kick all of them out." Jameson roared. John was happy to see the change of his father. His father really wasn't well received by Spiderman and even other heroes in comics and it was even portrayed in the first movies of Spiderman.

John and his father talked a bit more. His father was very interested to know about his other versions so John had to explain to his father about it. John even talked about his own version of other universes where he was an astronaut and even a superhero in one of the universes.

After that his father left while John left for work in Disney as he needed to go through the works and even thought of going to Umbrella to see how the company was doing.

John thus spent the entire day working. At night when John went to bed he suddenly remembered that all the members of Hand were going to come. John was interested in the corpse of the dragon. John could use it for research and give it to his magical summons later.

Hell's Kitchen.

Geralt had been keeping an eye on Nobu who could lead him to all the members of the Hand. Thanks to the League, Geralt had eyes inside the Hand as John had commanded Raas to help Geralt.

All the members of Hand would come in a week and have a meeting in a secret place. Since the story didn't follow as it was supposed to, Elektra never came back to Matt's life and was instead caught by the Hand in order to transform her to the black sky completely.

The meeting would be the ritual of her transformation and thus being used by the Hand as a weapon. Later the members would go for the corpse of the dragon to gain more life power and continue living for thousands of years.

Soon the date of the meeting came. Geralt called Matt as he needed him since Elektra was involved. They went near the secret place where the meeting would be held and unsurprisingly it was held in the building which was above the corpse of the dragon.

"Can you hear them?" Geralt asked Matt as he had super hearing.

"Yes. Two of them have come. Are you sure that Madame Gao has super powers?" Matt asked as he had seen Madame Gao before on the streets. She was an old lady using a crutch to walk.

"She is an old monster. And the most powerful. I can already feel it." Geralt said under the mask. They talked as all the members came for the meeting with the tied down Elektra. Matt who could hear her clenched his fists in anger. He had already known of her being kidnapped but Geralt stopped him from taking any actions.

"You said that you have friends who will help us in dealing with the underlings." Matt asked.

"Yes, they are already here. Can't you hear them?" Geralt. Matt, who was concentrating on the meeting, didn't notice that there were so many hidden people nearby.

John had placed The League in a very separate dimension in the Himalayas but due to the constant recent expansion of them they have now infiltrated in many places. Ra's controlled everything and since John had asked them to spare innocents they had been the silent force of justice in the underground world.

"Let's attack." Matt said as he couldn't wait anymore since everybody had arrived.

"Yes. Let's go." Geralt said. Saying that all the league members and the two ran inside the building. SHIELD was already informed by Geralt that there would be a fight so they wouldn't be disturbed.

The League members attacked the guards who were in the building. The guards were taken aback by the sudden emergence of so many people from surroundings. What surprised them more was that there were betrayers in their own ranks. This ensued chaos among all the guard ninjas.

Matt and Geralt helped in some of the assault which ran to the main place where they were having a meeting. That was the main reason that they were here. They came upon a huge door which was closed and it was apparent that the Hand members were behind the door.

Geralt didn't respond to anything and directly used Aard on the door. This huge telekinetic force blasted the door open and even broke on the side due to the force.

Chapter 199: The Hand (2)

All the members of the hand were ready to fight since they could hear from inside that they were being attacked. As soon as the door blasted open Nobu who had a sword swung it at the first person that appeared.

Nobu was sure that with this move the first person that entered would die as it was a sneak attack. But the sword directly rebounded back after hitting the invisible armor of the person. The rebound was so powerful that his hand couldn't hold the sword.

"Nice welcome you have there for us Nobu." Geralt said as he looked at him who was on the side. Then he laid his eyes on the other members who were ready. The other members were surprised that the sword of Nobu didn't even hit him while the sword was thrown away a few metres.

"Who are you?" Alexandra asked.

"Me? Nobody? I am just a mercenary clearing the world of monsters." Geralt replied and charged towards them. Matt also charged in but he had a clear goal in mind.

Elektra.

She was tied down and Matt ran towards her while defending himself. Geralt helped him too. All the other members of the hand attacked and for this assault Geralt had brought his iron sword. So all the other people had to be careful against him.

Madame Gao who noticed Matt was closing in on Elektra used her chi to throw away Matt but as she did that Geralt used Aard to stop her attack. His Aard was so powerful that it threw away all the members of the hand.

Matt got freed from them and directly went to Elektra to free her.

"You are from Kunlun?" Madame Gao asked as she thought Geralt used chi. Geralt didn't reply to that started attacking again and this time he directly used Igni on Nobu who was trying to get up. Igni being a magical fire he couldn't stop it or evade it. Nobu got burnt alive as he screamed in pain.

The other members now finally felt scared as for the first time one of the 5 members died. They knew that now they would have to fight it out. There was total silence from outside which meant the people who attacked the guards of the hand had already been taken down.

"Who are you? Why are you attacking us?" Alexandra asked again.

"Geralt. And about attacking you I was contracted to kill all the members and take away the corpse beneath the building." Geralt said as he swung his sword at Bakuto. Geralt then used Axii sign on Suowande. Suowande started attacking his own members. Since nobody was prepared for that he fatally attacked Alexandra.

Geralt then proceeded to kill Gao as she was little weak after the fight. He directly chopped her head.

Now only three members remained.

"Stop.. Stop.. We surrender. we can give you the corpse of the dragon." Alexandra said as she saw Elektra too joined the fight. One Geralt had made them desperate now adding Matt and Elektra was sure death.

"Geralt we can take them to custody of SHIELD." Matt asked with hesitation.

"The secrets which they have is very dangerous. In SHIELD it might fall in wrong hands. You don't want that to happen now. Do you?" Geralt said.

"Matt, they are evil. We can't let them go. I know you don't like killing but they have been responsible for thousands of death for the past hundreds of years." Elektra said. Matt knew the story of them from Geralt and knew what Elektra said was the truth.

Geralt didn't continue the argument and he directly attacked the other three. Elektra too followed it. Even though Matt joined he didn't fatally injure anyone. After couple of minutes all the three were killed. The famous members of Hand, the people who betrayed Kunlun finally died in the hands of people who they had no idea about.

The league members who were watching all of this came to take away the corpses with them. They didn't want SHIELD to get their hands on the members of Hand. John had specifically asked for it. Even though SHIELD was in his hand he still didn't trust them completely.

"You know what you have to do." Geralt to one of the member of the League.

"Yes." the member said in a hushed tone.

They were ordered to take away the corpse of dragon away for research. John would summon some people specifically for it's research. The people who were versed in magic and alchemy. They would be the perfect people to work on the corpse of the dragon.

John would even provide them a secluded place to work on. And might even introduce them to the Ancient one. Though the new people had their own arrogance, since both sides are well versed in magic, it might help them in gaining new knowledge

Chapter 200: New people

In a few hours the League members found the corpse hidden deep underground. They broke the whole protection behind it and took the whole corpse away to their headquarters. Thankfully nobody from Kunlun came to stop it.

The next day John checked the memories of Geralt and knew the whole mission was a successful one. John called Geralt to his home as he needed to go with him to meet the Ancient One. After few hours Geralt finally came to the home of John but Geralt didn't come alone. He came with two people.

Matt Murdock and Elekta Natchios.

John was surprised that Geralt had brought two with him. He invited all the three in.

"Hello Mr. Jameson. I guess we should thank you for helping us in uprooting Fisk's empire and even with the Hand situation." Matt said.

"NY is my city too so I don't want any filth around." John said.

"Still the streets now are clean because of you. Hell's Kitchen will be more safer now."

"It's fine. I just paid Geralt to do a witcher contract and he has done a perfect work." John said.

"Hows is the lawyer and superhero life going?" John asked.

"It's fine. I am actually here for another thing. It's because of Elektra. She has too much blood thirst and want to control it." Matt said

"I am not a doctor Matt. I can't cure her." John said directly.

"I know but you have connections. I hope you can help her. I am ready to pay back in any way possible to you if you can help her." Matt said.

"I am sure you can Matt but does Miss Natchios want help?" John asked as he turned to ask her.

"I am fine with killing. But yes I do feel I have too much blood thirst." Elektra said.

"Alright. I am not sure if I could help you. But I can ask. This might be a painful journey." John said as he got ready.

"Geralt they will be coming soon. We should leave." John said.

They all went to the garage and got inside Bee. "Bee take us to 177A Bleeker Street." The Bee drove himself to the old location again. Matt was surprised to feel as if Bee was alive. Then he remembered of the movie Transformers. After the thing with Geralt, Nelson spoke to him about all the movies and worlds that John had made and understood that Bee was a mechanical living being.

Soon they reached the location. All three of them were curious about this place that John brought them. John went to the door of the sanctum only to be opened by itself. As usual Drumm was there standing in his attire.

"You are here again. Now with new people. Has the Sanctum become your background." Drumm said with annoyance.

"C'mon I am here for her, why do you get so irritated whenever I come? Jealous that she likes me?" John asked mockingly.

"Hah. A kid speaking of jealousy. Go. Get away from my sight." Drumm said.

John left from the side. Elektra looked at him weirdly as Drumm had a weird attire. But it was Matt who was the most surprised. He noticed that all the surroundings had so many blind spots and even Drumm. He couldn't feel the surroundings as he normally feels when going anywhere. He was amazed by this as he had never come across such situations.

"What is this place?" Matt asked.

"The place which allow our reality to be intact." John replied. Nobody understood what John meant by that. Soon they came to the door and went inside after opening it. All went through it but what they saw next surprised everyone.

They were in totally a new place surrounded by snowy mountains. Except for Geralt, the other two exclaimed as they didn't understand what just happened. They were just in New York and now they were in a total new place.

"Was that a portal?" Geralt asked.

"Yes. Welcome to Kamar Taj. Let's go to meet the Ancient One." John said.

"Hmmm."

"Portal? Portals like in the game that John had made before?" Matt asked as after Geralt had come, Nelson had explained everything to him about the world of Geralt.

"Yes. Not in the same way but yes those were portals." John said as they finally reached the hall. There were no students today practicing magic so they didn't get to see magic being used.

After opening the door they saw a bald woman sitting which brewing tea. John went and sat opposite to her and called the others to join him in this ceremony.

"Seems like you brought new people this time." the Ancient One said.

"Yes. I am sorry. Master Drumm didn't like it but I don't remember Kamar-Taj stopping people entering it." John said.
