

Multiverse 411

Chapter 411: End of the fight

"But it has created a major problem for all of the multiverse." Oblivion reminded them. All got silent when Oblivion said that. By the words of them it meant that if it doesn't get repaired this would turn out to be a problem for all of the universes.

"Why is the main universe so important to everything?" Banner asked.

"Because most of the terrifying beings that the universe can produce originate from there. Beings that are as powerful as us." Eternity said.

"Since you can change reality, I am sure you can undo whatever he has done. Why come to us?" Wanda said as was confused. What Infinity did a few moments ago was changing reality. She can do that too so she didn't understand why there is a major issue with their arrival and getting the approval of John.

"His reality bending powers don't follow the same law as ours. His forms operate on different bases. So we can't undo what he has done. We can only come to him and ask for this. This was also the reason why our colleague here attacked him as he thought he is a fake one." Eternity said.

"Then he deserves what he is getting." Victor said as he had been keeping an eye on the fight through the satellites.

After Venus got decimated, the nearby planet Mercury was also done for as John was hurled into that planet. And right now they were fighting on the surface of the Sun and since fire is John's territory he was able to overpower In-Betweeners. John was having a good time throwing punches at him.

He didn't like how he was hurled by In-Betweeners to Mercury so as retaliation he took In-Betweeners to Sun and fought on it against him. Infinity who was always keeping an eye on everything rebuilt everything that was destroyed by their battle.

Any slight change in celestial objects near Earth would have a huge impact on humans so they made sure no problems occurred to the people. They had already started the journey on the wrong path, derailing more would just alienate John.

"Can you both stop them? They are just causing more fear among the people who are seeing this ugly fight." Clark said and this was the truth. Many of the high level people were able to see the fight via satellites and what they were seeing was terrifying.

Deconstruction and construction of planets in the blink of an eye. They have seen decimation of planets and many had speculated that huge beings would be able to do it. Even many of the Pokemons would be able to do it. But the construction of planets in the blink of an eye was what horrified them more.

It basically meant rewriting reality as they saw fit. Though they weren't sure who was fighting, since it was happening close to Earth it was probably someone who lived on Earth. And that basically meant Avengers.

The governments who saw this lamented on the fact that the Avengers had become so powerful and they could do nothing about it.

"Fellow beings, please come back and stop your confrontation." Infinity said. And whose words worked like magic. Both stopped fighting and were back where they all started. It's like her words were like commands.

But in reality it wasn't so, all the abstract beings used their powers to stop them from fighting and trying to over power each other. They both were back on the beach and were separated from each other so that they wouldn't start getting on the throats of each other. Even after this fight both of them were perfectly alright with not even a small scratch on either of them. It was as if nothing had happened.

"Stop with your prejudice In-Betweener. In the name of your masters." Oblivion said in a loud tone. He had specifically asked not to antagonize John and he went and did exactly that. This showed no respect to him and he didn't take it well.

"He started the fight." In-Betweener retorted.

"It was you who went and poked him with your useless argument." Eternity said.

"And John I hope that this was able to calm your anger and hatred against us." Infinity said with an expectant face looking at John. All were silent to hear the reply. That was the main reason they were here. To apologize to him. Even though they couldn't say it out loud, they hoped that their gesture would be enough to show their attitude to him.

John was silent for a second before saying

"I don't have anger or hate towards you. I do understand why this all had happened and why you took the decision before. I just don't like the hypocrisy of you all. You just said that if Earth 616 isn't controlled then everything will spiral out of control. But you all forget that destruction is a part of our lives. No matter what, destruction will come one day or the other." John said as he had already heard their discussion with the Avengers while fighting.

Chapter 412: Captain Universe

"Destruction comes to us all. Nothing is eternal. But as you said against the fight with Black Winter. As a living being, it is in our natural instinct to fight for living." Eternity said. John and others were silent when they heard this. All the Avengers were with John with what he did.

Even though they didn't understand why John made the superheroes as normal beings, they didn't care. They trusted John so whatever decision he took would be backed by the Avengers.

"So are you here to force me to change my decision?" John asked.

"No we are here so that you can rethink of the decision that you took." Infinity said.

"Hmm. Alright.. I will change it back but after sometime. They deserve what they are getting. Believe it or not, sometimes they themselves are responsible for destruction that effects all. They had become too arrogant. I know you don't have the concept of morality but we as humans do. They will get their powers back when they are ready to take the mantle again." John assured for the first time.

When he depowered the Avengers he knew he had to go back to the decision he had made that time but he wanted them to suffer. Suffer the same fate as the X-men. Both Avengers and humans needed to be shown the reality.

"Alright as long as they would be back. We just wanted an assurance as like you we also abhor derailing of natural order." Infinity said.

"Apparently not everybody is on board with your decisions." John said looking at In-Betweener, who had been quietly standing on the side. If there was hatred for any of the Gods, John had that against him.

In-Betweener would do everything for his own interests and benefits. So John wanted to teach him a lesson. And even though they weren't able to reach a conclusion with this fight, John wanted to show that he always had his eyes on him.

In-Betweener looked at John. His face still showed that there was anger but since all came to a agreement, he couldn't say argue back. And truth to be told, he was surprised by the power shown by John. He thought that phoenix was lying when she said John was the perfect host. But this was not the case.

He was able to use his powers freely with no restrictions. Especially with his new form and his weapon. It was as if his body was made to hold the power of Phoenix.

"I know what I am doing. You don't have to remind me what is right and what is wrong." In-Betweener replied.

"Someday I will have to talk with Lord Chaos and Master Order and maybe I will ask them to remove you as the agent of them." John said.

"I would like to see you try." he said while again bringing out his weapon.

"Enough." Oblivion said. Now in a more angry tone as he looked at In-Betweener.

"tch.." saying that In-Betweener vanished. He felt insulted here and none of the others had supported him. He felt out of place so he had decided to just leave. He vowed to take revenge of all the insult he had to suffer here from all of them.

"You had to antagonize him. Don't you?" Oblivion said little bit irritated by constant insults of John at In-Betweener.

"Trust me when I say this. He isn't a good guy." John said.

"We will keep an eye on him since you are insisting. For now we are leaving. I hope you will keep your promise." Infinity said.

"I will. Whenever I give a word I tend to keep it." John replied.

"Ah yes. The another thing which I came here for." Eternity saying that waved his hand. A white blue ball of light floated in his hand. And then it slowly came to Steve Rogers. John and all were surprised by this sudden ball.

Steve Rogers seeing this was confused. They could detect no malice from the ball of light but didn't understand what was this for.

"Is that what I think it is?" John asked. Visit no\(v\)eLb\(i\)n.comeLb(i)n.com) for the best novel reading experience

"Yes. I want him as my Guardian for this universe. I hope you will accept it. This universe never had one. It's time I lend a hand." Eternity said. John nodded.

This ball of light had the power of Captain Universe. The herald and Guardian of Eternity. Made to protect the living in all of the universe. A power is being granted to every Captain Universe born.

The power was known as Uni-Power. A part of Enigma Force, the God of Light. Whose mantle Venom took during his fight against Knull.

Now Eternity had basically asked Captain Rogers to be Captain Universe and be the protector of the livings of the universe until he can pass the power to a later generation in the future.

Chapter 413: Rest

"Take it Captain. It's for you. You will understand after taking it." John said.

"What? Do I need to eat it?" Steve said.

"No.. You need to touch it." Diana, who was close with him said. She could feel there was a power that was residing in the ball. Steve took his hand and finally touched it.

Then there was a blinding flash of light and everybody around closed their eyes to avoid the bright light. And when the light faded away, Captain America looked totally different.

His old costume was gone and was replaced with a more sleek looking costume. His iconic star was gone and was replaced with a white colored circles in his chest while the rest of the upper costume was blue. The costume in his legs has turned to pure white in color.

Captain America looked totally different and kind of holy now.

"How do you feel?" Diana asked him as he saw him change totally.

"Powerful. More powerful than I have ever felt before." Steve replied. Then he looked at Eternity and bent his knees to greet him. Tuning with Uni-Power made him realize what kind of power and responsibility he had on his shoulders now. But Captain being Captain, he was happy to take this responsibility.

"I vow in the name of all lives that I will protect them at all cost for now and till my death. Thank you for making me the Guardian." Steve said. Eternity nodded his head and so did the other abstract beings. Without saying any more words all of them vanished together.

Captain America has become Captain Universe now. And his area of protection had just changed from a country to almost the universe.

John on the other hand looked at his home and waved his hands to repair all the damage his house had dealt with.

"John, who were they?" Arthur asked. Everybody was curious. Only Strange and Thor knew of them. Though they knew that they were Gods they didn't have any idea of what kind of beings they were. Thor then explained what kind of beings they were and the forces they represented.

They were in awe and many even felt a little bit of envy for Steve as he had become such a huge power now. John on the other hand was silent. He would have to return to Earth 616 soon to undo the damage that he had done.

But that would not be immediately. He would take his time in this and leave for that world. Maybe he would take some of his friends for sight seeing.

"John, did you really de-power every single Avenger from that Earth 616?" Pietro asked. As he was really excited about the whole situation. They had all suffered once and now their counterparts suffered the same fate.

Only this time it was more painful for them.

"I did. I was disappointed with them and felt they had lost their way." John then proceeded to narrate the whole story of why he did so and his disappointment.

"So this is what happened. Now wonder you took that step. They deserved what they got." Clint said. When he heard how he died two times he was shaken.

"But the civilians are suffering." Clark said while creasing his brows.

"I will restore it back soon. Now I want a little rest. Today was too much even for me." John said. He was a little scared to be honest. Even though he had shown that he didn't fear the cosmic beings, he in his heart knew that if the abstract beings decided to attack him, it would be too hard for him to handle.

He was only a single God, while they represented all of the multiverse and were powered by it. He was sure that if all of them had decided to attack him, he would not have been able to escape in one piece for sure.

So he needed to show his tough side and show that he wasn't afraid of them. That was one of the main reasons why he decided to beat down In-Betweener. And of course he didn't like him because of his history and the stories that he read in comics.

John went to his home and nobody stopped him. There was too much to handle today and even though all remained unscathed, they were bombarded with total new information.

"Go home. There were a lot of things we came to know today. Control the public opinion. There would be a lot to explain to the people." Wayne said. What the satellites saw was alarming to say the least.

"Oh, another headache. I hate giving answers to the nosy journalists." Tony said.

"I thought you loved being in the limelight." Clark smirked and said

"Hey. Don't tune in with Wayne. he is rubbing off on you the wrong way." Tony said. By now Clark had perfectly integrated with the squad. Though they felt weird that he acted kind of a leader of the group but since his ideal matched with Steve they didn't bother to interrupt him.

Chapter 414: The guild

All left after a bit of discussion and checking out the new powers of Steve. He was really different now. Steve was happy about the fact that he had got a power which demonstrated his feelings for this world and morality.

Steve even went into deep space for fun and saw the solar system up close. Everybody was happy to see such changes of one of the leaders of the Avengers.

Tony and Wayne went to handle public opinion. They conjured up a lie saying this was done by the huge humanoid being that had appeared recently.

The people were terrified and they thought since these planets could be destroyed easily, what stopped them from destroying Earth. But of course, the governments and Tony assured them this would never happen as they had their Dr. Fate and Dr. Strange to stop any such incursions with all the members of the Avengers.(both of them got famous after the battle against Thanos) Updated from novelIn.(c)om

Though the people were assured of all this, most of the people thought using Pokemons were better and thus the enthusiasm for catching Pokemons were on the rise again. Human beings always needed an assurance of personal security and Pokemon were the best assurance for that.

The next day when John woke up he checked his fan values. He was surprised to see his fan values actually skyrocketed by 5 billion in a single day. When he checked out the reason for this, he was surprised that the people out of fear for what had happened to Venus and Mercury, decided to incorporate more Pokemons in their society and thus in turn giving him fan values.

"Well that was unprecedented but a welcome one." John thought.

As he was thinking all of this and checking up the memories of his summons, he suddenly noticed one of his summons was very sad.

It was Erza. She felt lonely as there were nor friends with her and her guild hadn't arrived yet. When John saw this he felt guilty. He had been so much consumed by Black Winter and the related matters that he had totally forgotten of her.

"Let me change this loneliness of hers. Bring out the whole guild of Fairy Tail. "

[Ding

Total fan values required - 10 billion]

"Good. Extract all of them and place them in Asgard." John said.

And as John gave the command the whole of Fairy Tail appeared on Asgard with the Master of the Guild being Makarov and Mavis also being present in her ethereal form.

Erza, who was just sitting on the beach and looking at the ocean and the stars suddenly felt something and looked back. She was astounded when she saw all the members of Fairy Tail standing and looking at her with a smile.

"It's been a long time, Erza." Makarov said in a deep voice. Erza, who was looking at them suddenly had tears in her eyes. Erza, who had always been serious and had a strong character, had tears in her eyes after seeing her friends.

She went straight and hugged them all in a group hug. All had smiles on their faces as they understood how lonely Erza must have felt. They all laughed seeing this and exchanged greetings but before they could talk more two people appeared near them.

They were Atreus and Thor. Thor already felt that the guild which John had spoken to before had appeared. He went to fetch the King of Asgard to bring him to talk with the new people.

Only the current King is capable of handling all kinds of diplomacy and matters. And of course he would be there to support the current king.

"Welcome to Asgard." Atreus said.

"This is Atreus, the current King of Asgard and Thor, the protector of Asgard." Erza said introducing each other.

"We are sorry for the inconvenience caused. We have no idea of how this happened. Erza vanished a long time ago and it took a lot of time to find her location. And finally today we were able to reach here. Though a person did help us in the journey and explained the situation we were not sure if this was true or not." Makarov said.

"It's fine. Like you I too was thrown to this world. By twist and turns I became the current king of Asgard. Though I am new and young, I am trying my best to be of service to the kingdom with the help of my brother here." Atreus replied. Makarov was surprised that Atreus too was like them.

"Then I think we can get along pretty well. The place where we came from, we acted like the protector. We can do the same thing here too. By establishing a Guild of the same name." Makarov said.

"Yes. Erza had spoken a lot about you and we have already made the arrangements for you all. I hope you will find it comfortable. We can talk about protecting things later. For now you all need to rest and catch up with the situation here." Thor replied this time.

Chapter 415: The new movie

The guild got settled in Asgard by the end of the day as John checked on them. The guild would act as his fan value booster and a watcher over Asgard in true sense. And in doing so, keep a lookout in all the other 9 realms. Even though John was omnipotent now he was too lazy to fix every problem that popped out everywhere and it wasn't his job even.

Until and unless his universe was threatened he would not care much from this point. And of course if an enemy popped out that interested him, he would be the first one to jump in.

June 2022

Today was the day when another DC movie would be released and like always John and others were in New York to watch the movie. Everybody came as usual. Even the Teen Titans showed up for the movie together. Nobody wanted to miss a movie and for the first time John wasn't totally behind for the movie. Visit no\(v\)eLb\(i\)n.comeLb(i)n.com) for the best novel reading experience

He let Kevin take the helm with a very vague script to work upon. The place where his true self came from, Kevin was very successful. John hoped that he could replicate the same thing with DC stories.

All took their seats as the movie started. This started with the Justice League hunting down Parademons all around the globe. But they were scared when they started hunting them because they found out that the parademons were equipped with boxes which looked like the mother boxes they had fought so hard to stop before.

Justice League wasn't sure what this represented but Diana brought out the idea that it might be the machinations of Darkseid because only he had control of Parademons. And the number of Parademons this time were too much for them to handle.

And then the Justice League failed to prevent whatever the Parademons were planning. And that was opening a portal with the fake mother boxes for Darkseid to come to Earth. And by the middle of the movie Darkseid reached Earth finally with his huge armada.

Then the story followed the path of the animated movie Justice League War. John was happy to see that Kevin had managed to connect both of the animated and Zack Snyder's versions perfectly. He wanted to see how he would do that and he didn't disappoint.

In the first confrontation against Darkseid they were outgunned and outnumbered. And in all of this Superman was captured and taken to Apokolips. To make him a Parademon. Batman who saw this knew that if Superman was captured then it would be game over for Earth so he followed Superman to Apokolips.

There after facing many problems he was able to free Superman but by this time he was half under the influence of the toxins that were on the verge of making a Parademon. Batman after much problems was finally able to snap Superman from the influence of the toxins.

Meanwhile on Earth, the other members of the Justice League which included Flash, Diana, Cyborg, Green Lantern and Martian Manhunter were able to puncture two eyes of Darkseid from which he used Omega rays. Omega beams was a power of Omega effect which on being shot could trace the enemy till it destroys the enemy. This had become a huge problem for Justice League so after much battle they were able to blind Darkseid.

But this still didn't stop him as he continued to assault the Justice League with his Parademons. His combat ability was not affected at all. Victor meanwhile was able to find a way to send Darkseid and his army away. He could connect to the fake mother boxes and can reverse engineer to send the enemy away in the same way they came.

And as they were in battle, Victor finally opened the portal that would suck Darkseid and his parademons. But this too wasn't easy as Superman and Batman had to come to give a hand. Superman even used his heat vision on the eyes of Darkseid before sending him to Apokolips.

The movie finally ended with the general people accepting the organisation known as the Justice League. John was very much happy with the movie. Normally the fights only occupied a few part of a movie but in this one almost more than half was filled with action. There was never a dull moment in it and there was a perfect blend between Jay Olivia's Justice League and Zack Snyder's.

Tony and others who finally saw Darkseid were really surprised. They thought Darkseid was like Thanos but he turned out to be more powerful than they expected.

"Clark, you must have felt good using the heat vision on him." Natasha asked.

"Never felt better. I was able to sleep that night peacefully only when I thought of that moment." Clark replied as his memories was altered by John by showing both the versions of him when John summoned him.

Chapter 416: Death of a superhero

"Never knew you had this in you." Clint joked.

"Desperate times call for desperate measures." Wayne said. Updated from novelbIn.(c)om

As they were discussing this it was time for the post credits scene. The post credits scene started with Darkseid being in a liquid chamber where his eyes were healed. And showing DeSaad standing outside.

"My lord, while transforming the Kryptonian called Clark Kent we found out that our toxins will get a boost and can help in transforming our Parademons into Kryptonian like creatures."

There was silence from the chamber but after sometime Darkseid said.

"Capture him at all costs. I need the Anti-Life equation."

"Yes my Lord." DeSaad said as he receded back to the darkness. With that the movie ended. The audience who were present in the hall gave a standing ovation for showing such a good action film. They didn't expect that a Justice League movie would have so much action and drama. The post credits scene especially gave the people chills and more anticipation for the next movie.

John was happy to see the reception. Such good reception would only boost his fan values. He had been accumulating a lot of fan values recently in the hopes that there would be another update soon. Even though bringing a very powerful world was also in his cards, he hadn't decided as of yet what kind of world he would bring.

As they came out watching the movie Peter Parker who was discussing the movie excitedly with the other members of Teen Titans and getting sad that they were never involved in the movie suddenly froze in his spot.

"Peter. What's wrong? Is everything all right?" Dick asked. Peter who froze in his spot held his head with both his hands and fell on his knees.

"Peter.." Garfield who was near him and kind of best buddy with Parker held him in his arms.

Everybody who was having a good time after getting out turned their heads to see what the commotion was. Clark went up to him and asked.

"Peter. Are you alright?" After a few moments of silence and Peter sweating he said

"I am fine.. I am fine.. Thank you... It's just that my tingle thing went haywire. I am not sure why. It's like something bad is happening somewhere." Peter said.

"Oh. You should check on your aunt. See if she is alright." Starfire said as Peter's tingle thing could only mean danger or sudden change of events. John who was nearby just looked into Aunt May so see if she was alright.

"Aunt May is alright. There is nothing in danger on Earth. Peter, are you sure your spider-sense is working correctly?" John asked as he just checked on everything. He even used his power to see deep inside the earth. Only in a few cases Peter's spider-sense tended to go awry. And Unmaker was one of them. So John had to see if the Unmaker was sleeping in the core of Earth.

Peter sighed in relief when John said. he was scared for his aunt. He only had her in his life. The only living relative of his.

"I don't know. For a few seconds my tingle thing.. Wait, you named my tingle as spider-sense. Is that what it's name is.. Cool." Peter said going off topic again.

"Peter, focus." Damian butted him.

"Yes.. Yes.. I mean no.. I don't know why I felt so weird with my spider-sense. It was like I felt death." Peter said. John then checked his life force and it was vibrant as ever.

"Hmm. You are fine physically and mentally Peter. You will stay in the Teen Titans headquarters with your Aunt May for now. Since your spider-sense notified you of something, it must be really important. Teen Titans will be under strict security until we find out why Peter felt it."

"Huh.. John why this precaution? Aren't we making a huge matter of this small thing?" Bruce asked as all others were surprised that John gave such strict orders. Even Parker himself felt weird as John had such high regard for his power, though he was happy too. As he felt himself being important.

"There is a Spider-Man in every known universe. And there is a reason for this. So yes, his spider-sense is important. Since his spider-sense notified him of something. It must be of high priority. Avengers will be on alert from now." John replied.

"Every known universe? Peter must be really important. Peter, I gave you the nano-suit. Keep it with you at all times." Tony said.

"Yes sir." Peter said with a smile but his face showed he still didn't take this seriously. All went home but everybody was on high alert for the rest of the day. GAIA and John were on the lookout for any potential danger. But nothing happened. But then a piece of news broke out. This news was not something even John expected.

It was the murder of a person.

The murder of T'Challa, the Black Panther.

Chapter 417: Wakanda

When John came to know of this news he was surprised. Not because of the fact that T'Challa was killed but because he didn't 'see' it happening with his own eyes. He had to check once again to see if T'Challa really died or was it just a scam.

He was more surprised to see that T'Challa had really died. He didn't know how this happened and it escaped his eyes. Now he knew that more powerful forces were at play than it seemed. First it was the spider sense and now this murder. He needed to check on this.

"Bruce, we will have to investigate this." John said. When he said this he was already near Bruce at his home. Wayne was checking up on the news of T'Challa's death too. Alfred was nearby making coffee for Bruce.

"Tony was right. It is annoying when you tend to show up everywhere." Wayne said even though it didn't seem like he was scare-jumped by the sudden appearance of John.

"You seem to be alright. Want to take a tour?" John said again without caring for the words of Wayne. His omnipresence allowed him to be anywhere and everywhere at the same time.

"Alright. let's leave. Alfred, you can keep the coffee for yourself and drink it." Wayne said before vanishing with John.

Birnin Zana, Wakanda Visit no\(v\)eLb\(i\)n.comeLb(i)n.com) for the best novel reading experience

Suri was in tears in the lap of her mother. Her mother too had red eyes. Okoye was standing near them with a very sad face. Nobody expected their beloved king to be dead. The body of T'Challa was in the casket in front of them. (pardon my ignorance in the funeral rituals of Africa. I have no idea of them or any funeral rituals of that matter)

A guard came up to Okoye and whispered something in her ears. Okoye, who was already sad, looked like she would lose herself in anger for a moment before calming down.

"Tell them that they are not invited. They can go back." Okoye said.

"Yes." the guard was returning back.

"What's the matter Okoye?" the Queen asked.

"Queen Mother, Two members of Avengers are here." Okoye said with anger on her face. They still haven't forgotten the insult they all faced when they showed up. Their previous King was still in prison for this.

"Tell them to come in." The Queen ordered.

"But..." Okoye said.

"What they did before was our own fault. No matter what had happened they had been defending our Earth from all dangers. That itself is commendable. Let them in." the Queen Mother said. Okoye then ordered the guard who was stopped before leaving accepted the order and went to bring the two members of the Avengers.

Soon the guard was back with John and Batman. Bruce's identity was still top secret so he had worn the batsuit while John no longer cared. The High level officials already knew of his other identity and he didn't bother to hide just for the name of it.

John and Wayne came near the casket of T'Challa and looked at it. He was a little bit sad about his death. As a character in both his lives, T'Challa was dead. One died of cancer and another was killed. Maybe he was too harsh on Wakanda because they poked him the other way.

John could have brought T'Challa to life but it might rub Death the wrong way. So he didn't want to be on the wrong side. He wasn't sure whose department it was when it came to death and afterlife, so he didn't want to antagonise anyone with a small move of his.

"I am sorry for your loss and whatever happened to your son." John said after sitting opposite the Queen Mother. The Queen whose eyes were still wet just nodded at him. Wayne on the other hand stood opposite to her and asked

"How was he killed?"

"There were two puncture wounds on his chest. It went straight through his lungs and heart." Okoye said. Even though she was angry at the Avengers she knew that since the Avengers were here it meant that the murder must be really important to them.

"There was no security with him? No Pokemon?" John asked. He saw many people here had Pokemons now so he expected T'Challa too to have one.

"Luxray normally stays with him but yesterday he was inside the Pokeball sleeping. So when he was murdered he never knew." Okoye said. John also checked the memories of this to testify whatever Okoye said was right.

"Can we check the body? This case is important for us." John said. Okoye looked at the Queen. She didn't want to let them desecrate the body of their King.

"Yes. But please make it fast and not desecrate his body. I hope you can find the killer. With all our advancement of technology we have no idea how this happened. We are keeping no stone unturned to find the killer. May you be able to get a head start."

Chapter 418: Vampires

Batman went and uncovered the traditional attire on his chest to see how the wounds looked like in real life. He had already used his X-ray vision to look inside but he needed to see the wound first hand and then try to deduce anything if possible.

John too joined in this. He was interested in knowing how this happened and wanted to see what Bruce thought of it. And after few minutes of close examination, Wayne said

"He was killed in sleep for sure. And this was done very fast. The murderer came and went very fast from the looks of it since your camera wasn't able to catch any footage. This murderer can probably teleport like we do." Wayne said.

"What do you mean? A murderer that belongs to the Avengers? Only you people have the technology of teleportation. Is this why you are here because you suspect a murderer belong to the Avengers?" Okoye said as she thought about it.

"No. None of the Avengers are responsible. I can testify on that and everything was under security yesterday. We are interested on the murder because we felt something would go wrong and this was the news we got early morning." John said in order to erase the doubts that these people had. He knew why the Wakandans wouldn't trust them but he didn't care. He wanted to find this interesting murderer.

"John, there is nothing I can see. Do you want to check it?" Wayne asked.

"There is nothing to check.. Huh!" John stopped. He really did check before and didn't find anything worth anything except this time he found an interesting thing. There was a loss of blood in his body. The puncture wounds did bleed but this loss of blood was special.

There was no life force in it. He had checked all the blood loss that had happened before in the crime scene. But a good portion of the blood wasn't in the crime scene.

"Queen, did you check the total amount of blood loss?" John asked.

"Blood loss? Why? There was blood on his bed but we didn't check the total amount."

"Please check it. I am sure you will find there is missing amount of blood." John said with certainty as he checked everything with his 'eyes' again. Wayne who heard this stopped investigating and asked John

"Vampires?"

"Vampires tend to suck blood from their necks. Such a wide mouth will be a first. And if this is a vampire, he or she must be really powerful to be able to get away from my eyes yesterday. It has to be Dracula or a being of that same order." John said as he searched the Earth of Dracula.

John interestingly was able to find Blade and many vampires but no Dracula in the scene. (please don't kill me if Dracula emerges during the Blade movie that is coming)

"So a vampire is one of the suspects.. Any other suspects you have in mind?" Wayne asked.

"For now no. I just searched for Dracula or Morbius. There is none on Earth. So it's either Dracula is in bed with Chthon or in a dimension where I can't find him." John said as he remembered that the power of vampires originated from Chthon's powers and of course the famous Darkhold.

Queen and Suri, who had been silent all this time, ran to the laboratory to check what John said was right. After doing intensive checking around the crime scene and the body of his brother, she found out that a large portion of his blood was missing.

This surprised them. Because such an amount of blood shouldn't have just vanished with no other cuts from his body. It was as if his blood vanished with the stab wound on his chest. Suri came back with her mother after half an hour

"Was I right?" John asked.

"How did you know this? Tell me the truth please. I beg you." Queen said as she begged John and Wayne with folded hands. John went and stopped this gesture by her.

"I know this for another reason. But we have a head start and we do have a suspect. It's just we didn't find him yet. He isn't on this Earth or rather he isn't even in this universe."

"Not this universe? You mean another universe? He didn't have enmity with any other being. Why will someone from another universe kill him? This doesn't make sense." The Queen said. Suri too who heard it couldn't believe that his brother will have enemies from another universe.

"I am not sure but I will..." As John was going to give the family a consolation his phone rang. He picked it up as this call was from Parker.

"Umm Sir.. Can you come to Teen Titans headquarters? We have a very weird situation here."

"Weird situation?" John paused for a second before checking what was going on at the Teen Titans Tower.

And what he saw made his eyes wide. This was a whole new turn of events.

Chapter 419: Spider-man

"What is it? What did you see?" Wayne heard what Peter said but John's reaction was different. He knew that John just used his powers to look over there.

"Something that I didn't expect before. We need to leave. Sorry, Queen, something came up. We will try to get the bottom of the murder and promise you that we will try our best. This matter is important to us. We will reach out to you soon." saying that John vanished with Wayne,

The Queen and others didn't even understand what just happened. They understood that the call was important of some kind but didn't know what the emergency was.

"I thought he needed his Helmet of Fate to work upon. Seems like he had been hiding a lot from everyone." The Queen said.

John and Wayne were at the Teen Titans headquarters. This was the first time that John was here. Even though it was made by Umbrella he never had come to the headquarters to look into it and today due to a very special situation he was here.

When John and Wayne were here they saw three Spiderman being held behind poisoned glass chambers. These prisons were made for any villains who the Teen Titans were able to catch during their hunt in the city.

And these chambers were made very tough. But today there were uninvited guests. It was 3 Spiderman at the same time apart from their own Peter Parker. All of them were unmasked by the Teen Titans. One was Tobey Mcguire's Spiderman, other was Andrew Garfield's Spiderman and another was a face which John had never seen before but from his face it was apparent that it was Peter Parker.

"Sir, we caught them sneaking here. Inside the headquarters. Raven and Starfire were able to overpower them easily. And I brought down one of them." Peter said as he felt proud that he brought down another version of himself. After Strange's debacle none of the people believed in other versions of themselves.

So when different Spiderman showed up the whole of the team of Teen Titans didn't hesitate to bring the whole lot down. And it was pretty easy for them as Teen Titans were better in all sense than the small team of Spiderman.

"Good job Peter." John appreciated such caution by him. John then proceeded to release Tobey and Andrew (I will depict both of these characters by the actor's names. As it will be too long for me to write Andrew's Spiderman and Tobey's Spiderman every single time).

"John...." Wayne called out as he didn't understand why John just released two Spiderman just after arriving without any cross examination.

"It's fine Wayne. They are not the enemy. At least I don't think so. Are you our enemies?" John asked with a smile. They both shook their heads heavily to deny saying that they were the enemies.

When they came here, they never expected they would be assaulted by a huge team. They didn't even get a chance to say anything and were directly captured. And all of their opponents were well coordinated and way too powerful.

They even had a person who could turn into an animal. A freaking ANIMAL. And they thought they had superior powers related to spiders!!!

"Why are you both here? It must have taken a lot to cross universes and come to our universe. And please don't lie. I will know if you both lie." John said. Tobey and Andrew both looked at each other and without even a word directly pointed their fingers at the other Spider-Man who was still captured.

This spider-man was special. His suit had 4 claw arms just like the Iron-Spider suit of their universe. John then looked at the other Spider-Man. He waved his hands and all the restrictions were off. The Spider-Man who didn't even speak a single jump at John after being released.

Nobody moved a single muscle when that happened. Only the other two Spider-Man were on the verge of moving but was stopped by their own Peter Parker. When the 4 claw spider reached a few inches in front of John he got suspended in the air.

He was levitating in his position with no movement whatsoever. He could not even move a muscle.

"That was bold of you I have got to say. These teens called us after you all were captured. If we fail to over power you, don't you think our names will be through mud." After he said those words Spider-Man was thrown back. He was slammed at the wall with a huge force. He let out a scream.

John released his telekinetic control of him. Spider-Man fell right on his face on the floor. After a minute or so he finally got up. His spider powers healed much of his injuries. That throw of John was very powerful and he needed time to heal himself.

Chapter 420: Doctor Otto Octavius

"Now can you speak or do you want to go for another round?" John asked. That Spider-Man shook his head. He knew that the man was on a completely different level. He felt fear for the first time in his life. His spider senses were screaming to stop any kind of assault that he might have been making up in his head.

"Tell me who you are?" John asked.

"I am Peter Parker. A Spider-Man of a different universe but from your conversation it seemed like you know." he said. John creased his eye brows because when the guy said he was Peter Parker he felt like this man was lying. But he didn't call out immediately.

"Why are you here?" John asked. He hesitated for a second but after a moment he finally decided to tell the truth.

"I am here with the other versions of me because various Spider-Man of different universes are being hunted down and killed. I figured it out sometime ago and for this I am establishing a team to combat this killer. He has already killed 4 Spider-Man in different universes. And I fear the killer is not alone."

"Oh really? then why did you attack us without any reason?" Damian asked. John on the other hand was silent when he heard this. There was only one storyline which came to his mind when this Peter Parker narrated everything.

"Because Spiderman never tends to work with a team. This is the first time we came here and thinking he was trapped here, so we sneaked in. Who knew that he is in league with a bunch of you freaks."

"Wait a second the Spider-Mans who were killed, did the dead Spider-Man have two puncture wounds in their chests?" John asked.

"Yes." His face brightened when John said those words. Though he didn't know how this powerful person knew of their way of murder it meant that at least he would be believed. Wayne who heard this also got intrigued now because the death of Black Panther was also like that.

"Have you dreamt of it?" Wayne asked.

"Oh yes I did." John saying that directly used his telekinetic powers on Spiderman with 4 claws and lifted him up.

"What? What are you doing? I just told the truth. You yourself just testified about it." the Spider-man screamed when he said that. He was scared now because his spider senses were telling him that something bad was going to happen.

"I believe you. You have told the truth and even your story is the real one. One killer, no, rather a family is hunting Spider-man in every universe. But there is one thing you lied about. You aren't Peter Parker." John said.

"What? What do you mean? I am Peter Parker. The only Spider-Man in my universe. I was thrown into the distant future." He shouted again while saying that.

"It's useless to lie to me Superior Spider-Man or rather Doctor Otto." John said with a smile.

"What?" Tobey was taken aback when John said that Dr. Otto was one of the villains he was forced to kill before.

"How? How do you know it's me?" Otto said. He didn't deny it because he knew it was useless to deny. But he was confused. Nobody knew that he was Doc Ock because when the incident happened nobody was present.

He was Doc Ock but in the body of Peter Parker. Due to an incident he replaced the consciousness of Peter Parker. And inspired by the dying wish of Peter he started doing good for the people but the only difference was that he was more brutal than the typical spider man as he killed his villains. Thus he was called the Superior Spider-Man in their universe from which he came from. And of course there is this situation where he was thrown to the future too.

"It doesn't matter how I know. You have been hiding in his body for a long time. It is rude to occupy someone else's body. Don't you think so?" John said.

"So what? I did my best. I cleaned my city which Peter could never do. I am the Superior version. Better than him." Otto said.

"You are right. You are better than him but the problem is Peter Parker is alive. Steve, please come here." John said and the last words of him brought Steve out of nowhere.

Steve who was in a sitting position directly fell on the ground with a sandwich in his mouth. It looked hilarious. Almost all of the people present laughed.

"Damn it John. I will sue you if you do this again." Steve said.

"Sorry Steve but we need your help here." John said.

"Help? Sure...Huh..." Steve who just got up finally saw the room and the people present. The 3 new Spider-Man that had appeared surprised him.

"What the hell is going on?" Steve asked as he didn't expect different versions of Spider-Man appearing. And like all he didn't see the invaders in good light.

Thanks to Doctor Strange.