

Multiverse 71

Chapter 71: The destroyer

"In addition John is a consultant of SHIELD, do you think Fury will leave if there is an assassination attempt on him. Hydra isn't ready to raise it's head. We are already trying to contact with the country lords of Naruto. Maybe we can extract some of ninja's powers. So don't take any rash decision without authorization." Pierce continued.

Actually Pierce had too much confidence on Insight Project. No matter how powerful those helicarriers were, they would be destroyed by just John alone if he wanted. For this reason John never cared about Hydra. Hydra was hidden too deep on all walks of life poisoning the system, so even if John wanted to he would have to face a lot of opposition while cleaning Hydra. He wanted to catch all the heads of Hydra including Mallick, Daniel Whitehall and other heads spread all over the world in a single assault.

Sitwell listened to the reprimand of Pierce and couldn't refute him. But Sitwell had a feeling that in the establishment of order of Hydra, John might be the greatest hindrance.

The next few days went as peaceful as it could be in Puente Antiguo. John joined Thor and others and talked about different things. It was Thor mostly talking about the different realms that are under Asgard. Diana felt sad hearing the stories of Thor as the Paradise Island never had such background. If they had, they wouldn't have to be hidden for such a long time.

Suddenly one fine morning the friends of Thor appeared in the doorstep of the place where Thor was living his days. John too was present at that time. Sif and others told Thor the truth about Loki and his plans. As Thor was discussing with his friends John called Coulson.

"Coulson, evacuate the town, there is a fight incoming. This fight will rage the town to the ground"

"Fight? Is there a fight coming? How do you know about it? Who is the enemy?" Coulson sounded worried.

"There is no time Coulson, if you trust me just do it. The guns and weapons which you have won't be even able to scratch the enemy. Just do it fast if you don't want to see casualties." John replied. As he said that he saw there were clouds forming in whirlpool shape. John knew that the Destroyer was coming.

Coulson also saw this phenomenon and chose to believe John at the end. He ordered the agents to evacuate the town as John suggested and went to the town itself to assessing the threat.

"Diana you know what you have to do" John said to Diana who was sitting beside.

"Yes, let me go change myself." Diana said as she walked away.

"Thor you need to evacuate the people, you are a mortal now." John said as they saw the Destroyer, which was sent by Loki, approaching. Diana who returned with her armor also helped the people.

The residents didn't believe them at first but when the agents arrived and said it was from FBI (the existence of SHIELD is still a secret) and their town might be under threat , only then did they leave. When the agents saw a huge iron giant walking while destroying everything in it's path did the agents take the order more seriously. Some even shot at the Destroyer but it couldn't even scratch it's armor.

"We need a distraction for me to shove my spear into the Destroyer. Maybe that will stop it." Sif suggested. Volstagg and others agreed to her suggestion. Thor on the other hand looked at Diana and said

"Can you help us?"

"Yes I will help you in this fight but you need to get your powers back, otherwise you will die if you join the fight"

"This destruction and hatred was caused by me, I want to be in the end of it." Thor replied.

Volstagg and other two of his friends approached the Destroyer from front, while Sif took a different route to sneak towards the Destroyer.

Fandral and Hogun threw Volstagg towards the Destroyer and the Destroyer anticipating it slapped at Volstagg with his hand. That slap was powerful enough to throw him the same direction as he came from. As the Destroyer opened it's face to shoot at Volstagg with its heat beam, Sif who was on the roof of a building beside the destroyer jumped onto it and shoved her spear through the neck of the Destroyer. It stopped the Destroyer and Sif felt relieved seeing it.

The Destroyer which got shut down due to the spear after few moments rotated itself and open its face again to shoot at Sif. Sif who thought was going to be blasted away suddenly felt herself being drawn away from the shooting range. She saw she was being tied by a shining rope.

As she turned her head she saw her savior. It was the woman who was sitting beside Thor before when they went to meet him.

"Let me join this fun." Diana said to her.

Chapter 72: Thor being worthy again

Diana swung her lasso towards the foot of the Destroyer. As it caught and bounded it's foot, Diana pulled it strongly. It prompted the Destroyer to loose it's balance and fall. the next moment Diana jumped towards the Destroyer with her sword and round shield.

She stuck the body of the Destroyer with her sword creating sparks on it's wherever the sword hit. Soon there was damage being seen on the abdomen and on the hands of the Destroyer. Loki who was in Asgard was surprised by this. He couldn't believe that in a mortal world there was a person who had so much power. Sif and her friends too were little taken aback by her power.

As she was going to land another hit on the face of the Destroyer, it flicked its hand towards Diana. Diana tried blocking with her hand but the huge momentum threw her away 2 blocks away damaging the houses on which she went through.

"St! How powerful is this iron giant?" said an agent who was watching this fight scene.

The destroyer got up and started healing its damage that was caused by Diana. It started walking towards the place where Diana was thrown away. Diana who finally stood up saw the Destroyer approaching. The Destroyer opened it's face and shoot a beam at her.

Diana saw that and immediately put up her shield. It stopped the beam from causing any bodily damage to her but she was again thrown many feet behind destroying the properties in its wake. As the beam stopped, Diana put down the shield.

Loki who was watching it had a solemn look on his face. Diana took her hands far apart from each other and banged her bracelets.

Boom.

This caused a huge shock-wave damaging all the properties surrounding her. When it hit the Destroyer, it was flown several metres. When it landed it destroyed the gas station causing a huge explosion. Everybody cheered when they saw it. But Diana still had a solemn look on her face as she felt it wasn't enough to stop the Destroyer.

Sure enough after the fires receded a bit, people saw the destroyer coming out of the fire.

"Odin really outdid himself when he made the Destroyer. Didn't he?" Sif said while looking at the Destroyer who was healing its damage. everybody felt desperate as even such a powerful blow of Diana couldn't do any damage to the Destroyer.

Thor who was watching this finally couldn't stand still. He started walking towards the Destroyer. Diana who saw this didn't stop Thor as she knew this was a rivalry between two brothers. Thor stopped near the Destroyer and said

"Brother whatever I have done to wrong you, whatever I have done to lead you to do this, I am truly sorry. Hurting these people will get you nothing, take me instead."

The destroyer opened its face again to shoot a beam, but stopped finally. It turned around as if to walk away but it did that the destroyer hit with its back hand Thor heavily. Thor was thrown away by this huge impact. Jane rushed towards Thor and held him in his arms.

"It's over. Everybody is safe." Thor said as if it was his last breath.

"No no, it's not over." Jane said in panic as she felt Thor might die soon. Thor finally became unconscious after seeing the Destroyer didn't continue the assault. Mjolnir which was miles away suddenly started shaking.

The shaking intensified as it lifted up by itself. The next moment it flew fast towards Thor. Diana who saw it from afar ran towards Jane and lifted her up to keep her away from the force of the coming Mjolnir.

The hammer flew to the hand of Thor who was woken up by it. Soon an armor was woven on his body. Lightning flashed and came out Thor who looked the same as he did before he was exiled. All the wounds had healed.

The Destroyer who saw this was ready to shoot a beam at Thor but was instantly knocked out by the flying Mjolnir.

"Want to finish what you started?" Thor said to Diana.

"Gladly." Diana replied.

"You attack from ground, I will bring him up in the air. And then we blow him up"

"Sure" Diana replied. Thor flew high up in the air and started rotating the hammer. It created a whirlpool almost instantly. The whirlpool covered the Destroyer. As the whirlpool started rotating fast everything nearby got sucked into it. The Destroyer tried shooting beams at Thor but it was blocked off by Mjolnir.

The winds created by the whirlpool was fast enough to lift the Destroyer up. As it floated up Diana came to the eye of whirlpool to get ready for the final attack. Thor too lined himself up to hit the Destroyer and threw his hammer towards the Destroyer and Diana banged her bangles. This caused a huge surge again and stuck the body of the Destroyer at almost the same moment as the surge created by Diana. The destroyer was immediately knocked down.

Hello all,

I started writing this story because I personally got frustrated with the state of marvel fan fictions but I honestly didn't expect such a huge response. Thank you for all your support and suggestions.

The story won't change much until the New York War then it will take a turn and I hope you would like the plot. The main underlying story would still be the movies but the plot may vary a lot. I know I lack in fighting choreography. I have been trying to improve on this aspect recently.

Chapter 73: Return back

The Destroyer didn't get up after this. All finally felt relieved. John who was watching this was also relieved. Because he didn't want to bring out more characters to deal with it. John knew that Diana showing up might itself be a variable in Loki's preparation for the New York War but he was ready to take the risk.

John didn't want too much butterfly effect till the New York War. After that he might change the route of the story.

Thor came down and thanked Diana. He needed to go back to Asgard to deal with Loki before he did something stupid. Thor called Heimdall but there was no response. But after few moments the Bifrost finally opened. The Bifrost even took away the knocked down body of the Destroyer.

Thor and his friends went into the Bifrost and vanished. Thor even invited Diana to go with him to Asgard as she herself was of God's blood. Thor wanted to know more about her and the place she came from. But Diana refused as she wanted to be here. She had more things to do on Earth.

After speaking with Coulson, John was ready to leave with Diana to New York. He needed to introduce her to Bruce and give her a place to stay. John already had a place in his mind for her to live.

"How did you know that the Destroyer will come and invade the town." Coulson asked.

"My dreams can sometimes look into future. Didn't I mention this on our first conversation" John replied. Coulson had a solemn look on his face after this but didn't say anything.

"We need to assess Diana's identity." Coulson added at the end.

"I remember Fury wanted to check out the Jurassic Park for risk assessment. Tell him to go over there. Diana will be staying there as a curator of the Park." John said. Coulson nodded to that.

The plot of Thor proceeded exactly like it was supposed to with Loki falling into the abyss and destruction of the Rainbow Bridge. Even though John didn't participate in it he had hoped that the plot won't change as Loki was required to deal with Kang.

The next day John and Diana reached New York. After reaching they went straight to Bruce's place. When Diana entered Bruce's apartment, she saw Alfred and immediately felt happy.

"It's nice to see you again Alfred."

"Miss Diana! Welcome to this world. How have you been?" Alfred said with a genuine smile.

"I am fine. Where is Bruce?" Diana asked.

"He is in his lab."

Diana went to the underground lab. John provided Bruce with a huge lab and necessary equipment. Now Bruce doesn't stay with Tony much as Tony now had a girlfriend and he didn't want to be in an awkward position. Tony too understood so didn't say anything. Now they both carry out their research in their respective labs while cooperating when required.

As Diana went to the new 'Bat cave', Bruce too received the notification. He was happy to see an old comrade again. They talked about lot of things about the past and Bruce even said about the extra memory which he had of Darkseid. Diana was also shocked when she heard all this.

"It's fine now. Darkseid isn't in this world. You don't need to worry about him." John said as he listened to their conversation and added

"Diana we need to go to the place where you will live. Fury will come soon so we can go with him together."

As the three were talking John received a text

"I have a surprise for you."

"Surprise? What surprise?" John replied via text.

"Guess where I am?" came the question.

"New York?" John texted as his eyes went big with expectation.

"Yes. I am about to check out. Want to pick me up?" Emma messaged him.

"Will be there in a few minutes" John texted and hurriedly left. John sat on the car and said "Bee take me to the airport as fast as possible"

Bee drove to the airport quite fast without breaking the speed limit. As John went out of his car he saw Emma standing while hiding her face wearing a mask as she didn't want to be recognized by people. John came near her and said

"That was quite a surprise."

"The shooting ended day before yesterday. So after packing myself I took the flight. You promised me you will take me to Jurassic Park when I come to NY. So now I am here."

"You came to NY so that you can visit Jurassic Park and not me? I am hurt" John said with mock sadness.

"Hah. Twisting my words. Of course I missed you." Emma said as she kissed him. John responded to her kiss.

"Let's go before people recognize us." John said and took her hand and led to the car. "Let's go back to my home. I will introduce you to my father and Val."

"Umm are you sure about it?" Emma said with hesitation.

"Why? Aren't you my girlfriend already?" John asked her with seriousness. He felt for a second that he might have crossed the line in this regard but her next words relieved her.

"Of course I am your girlfriend but is it ok to meet you father. He kind of scares me. Sorry."

cringe

Chapter 74: Emma is in New York

"Hahaha you don't have to worry about it. Dad always listens to me." John said being relieved. It's been almost 2 years they had been dating and John wanted to introduce her to his family.

John and Emma reached his home and went inside. Val was present as usual taking care of the house. John introduced her to Val. Valentina was very happy that John had brought a girl. She used to think John probably would die single after watching his lifestyle but finally saw hope.

John took her to the guest room and allowed her to fresh herself after a long flight. After an hour or so Emma came out looking fresh and wet hair. John who was sitting in the family saw her in that look and almost melted in his seat.

Emma sat beside him and he couldn't stop himself from kissing her. Jameson still had couple of hours left to return so they started talking. Emma was excited about the Jurassic Park and she couldn't stop herself but John remembered that Fury would join him in this expedition.

"Emma what do you think of me? Like from a third person's perspective." John suddenly asked.

"Huh! I don't understand. What do you mean?" She replied being confused.

"For example, if you have never known me. What would you think of me?"

"Ummm.. Probably a mysterious business tycoon who never shows his face. In my crew everybody wants to know more about you. You are a legend." Emma laughed.

"Mysterious? Maybe I am. Emma my world is very different. My world is dangerous. More dangerous than you can imagine." he said. Emma was confused by this so she asked

"Dangerous? You mean your relation with Tony Stark and Bruce makes you vulnerable?" Emma asked. Emma knew how politics worked, even though John had huge influence sometimes politics could be overwhelming. John not being a part of politics had already surprised her so she thought John was threatened by something.

"No Emma it's not them, people don't actually matter to me. I am trying to say about other things. Did you watch Wonder Woman?" John said.

"Yes. It's a good superhero movie."

"What if I tell you Diana Prince is real?" John asked with a serious face.

"Huh! Good joke John, you almost fooled me with your serious face." Emma said with a laugh but after a couple of seconds she saw that John had no change of face.

"You gotta be kidding me? Say that it's a joke." Emma asked now with all seriousness.

"I wish it was a joke Emma but it isn't. Diana does exist and tomorrow you will get to see her." John said.

"I don't understand. Her existing means Gods once lived in Earth? If it's true why would you make a movie on her? Isn't that exposing you in front of people if her identity gets revealed?" Emma asked. John was surprised by her thoughtfulness.

"Gods exist, Yes! But your notion of Gods and real Gods are different. About me showing her it's because she doesn't belong to our universe.." John then proceeded to explain her about his 'false' parallel universe theory and told her it's his way of contacting the people who comes from other universes and his subsequent dreams. Emma was shaken, in fact a part of her still didn't believe him. But John's insistence and promise of introducing her to Diana convinced her somehow.

As John was explaining many things to her, Jameson returned. He saw his son talking with a girl in the family room. Even though he heard rumors of his dating in England he never paid heed to it.

But when he saw Emma talking with John he knew that the rumors were true.

"Dad, she is Emma, my girlfriend."

"Emma this is my father, J Jonah Jameson." John introduced them to each other.

"Hello Mr. Jameson it's nice to meet you." Emma said with a hint of blush on her face.

"Hello miss Emma. It's nice to meet you too. My son has a girlfriend now. Looks like he has grown up finally. Son I need to talk to you in private." Jameson said with a laugh and a hint of seriousness at the end.

"Private? What happened? You can speak in front of her. She knows about my secret. I just told her." John said. Jameson was surprised that Emma knew his secret. Jameson hesitated for a second and finally said

"I heard there was an incident in New Mexico. Were you involved? I saw that you went there few days ago."

"Yes. There was an incident and it's resolved. Diana has appeared." John said.

"What? Even she is real? No wonder you showed her connection with Batman in the movie. Next time don't be mysterious and inform me from before who will be appearing."

"Dad I am never sure who will appear. I just see my dreams and make it in reality. Not all characters I make come to this world." John shrugged and lied straight out.

Chapter 75: Jurassic Park

"So Emma now you believe me? I don't think I would make an elaborate plan with my father to fool you." John said looking at Emma. Emma blushed a little but didn't say anything.

"Dad I will go to Jurassic Park. Want to join?" John asked hi father.

"Jurassic Park? Sure. I didn't get to see them with my own eyes. Will be a short vacation for me. We can take Val too with her family."

"Of course. You all should pack up. Oh yes the Director of SHIELD might join too" John added.

"SHIELD? OK" Jameson said as he knew John being a consultant of SHIELD.

"What is SHIELD?" Emma who was listening to the conversation asked.

"SHIELD is a secret organization which is responsible for handling any weird situations or people. Like Diana and others." John explained.

After talking for an hour or so John and others went to rest. John even introduced her to the cube and helped her transformed her mobile. They both named it Bicorn after a creature from Harry Potter books. Emma was really happy as now she had a pet that could accompany her.

The next day everybody got ready. The children of Val were thrilled to see Emma as they too were fans of Harry Potter and started pestering about Harry Potter. In the end Val somehow curbed their enthusiasm. As they reached the private hanger they saw two black SUVs waiting for them in the hanger.

Fury was standing in front of some agents and a woman standing right beside him.

"Morning Fury, you must be Maria Hill. Nice to meet you." John said surprising both Hill and Fury.

"You really do know a lot of SHIELD." Fury murmured. Hill was taken aback but she was briefed about John before coming with Fury so she smiled politely and said

"Hello Mr. John, first time meeting I presume. And this must be the famous Miss Emma Watson. You have already heard my name and he is the Director of SHIELD." Hill said trying to gain the same momentum as John.

"Seems like you have done your homework. My private life is a joke." John lamented.

"Please Mr. John you are a consultant of SHIELD, if anything happens to you not only SHIELD but the world will delve into chaos." Fury said this time justifying his invasion on the privacy of John. John shrugged but didn't say anything.

John knew he should let him being monitored as he didn't want to raise eye brows of Hydra yet. At least not before the shielding technology is made. He gritted his teeth and accepted it.

The next moment two luxury cars came roaring by and stopped in front of them. From the first car Tony, Pepper and Happy stepped out and from the next car Bruce, Diana and Alfred came out.

"You are late Tony." John said.

"I am Stark. Do you think I care? Oh who is this woman? Your girlfriend. Never expected you to have a girlfriend" Tony said as he saw John holding a woman's hand.

"Eh Bruce! You have a girlfriend too?" Tony said after noticing a woman with Bruce.

"She is Diana, princess of Amazon." Bruce said before Tony could say something inappropriate. Tony shuddered after hearing this. Emma too who was listening trembled a bit. For normal people the notion of Gods were still a huge moat to cross.

"You are really a demigod?" Tony said after coming back to normal in couple of seconds and seemed unfazed again.

"Gods are just an exaggeration. I am not invincible." Diana shook her head and said.

"Hello Miss Diana, I am Nick Fury, Director SHIELD. John might have already introduced us. I hope we can have a healthy cooperation in the future." Fury said while approaching Diana. They both shook hands.

"I heard Bruce is a consultant of SHIELD, I can occupy the same position but I don't like to be disturbed." Diana said

"That's for sure. After a normal assessment you are free to do whatever you want." Fury said.

"Fury I will appoint her as the curator of Jurassic Park. She is knowledgeable enough to handle the Park. Tony is that fine?" John said.

"Sure. A demigod responsible for the Park will be perfect. Even though the dinosaurs can never cause any problems for us but she being on the top is an added security"

Saying that they all boarded into the private plane. Emma was looking at Diana and others all the way as she was the only normal person here. She had never even seen Tony up close, forget about a demigod. She was little overwhelmed.

"What happened? Are you OK?" John asked as he felt she was little off.

"Your world is completely different. I thought money is all there it is for you. But money is just a small aspect of yours. I am just a normal girl. Do i fit here?" Emma said with melancholy.

"Emma we have all started somewhere. Tony too was just a rich arms dealer. Don't worry being with me you too will get used to this world. You can't imagine what a normal person is capable of if that person is determined enough." John said as they sat on their seat in the plane.

Chapter 76: Jurassic Park (2)

They soon landed on the small airport of Jurassic Park. As soon as they went out of the plane all the people could smell the different smell in the atmosphere. Tony who was already here before with Pepper for establishment purposes said

"Welcome to Jurassic Park. Thanks to John and guiding their world to this place we have perfectly integrated the dinosaurs. The T-rex was a headache to control but we did quite well and we have hired several biologists to monitor the new knowledge and own ideas for enhancement of this new gene technology. Let's go to the hotel here. We have all state of the art facility and clean energy being provided everywhere. We made sure we don't pollute the environment while balancing the ecology."

They all proceeded to the hotel while Tony took Diana to the curator's office and quarters as she was appointed immediately after arriving. The rest went to the hotel. Fury and Hill were just here to inspect the Park and they would leave immediately after a proper inspection. They even brought some scientists from SHIELD.

It was from the agents that Fury brought that John saw two acquaintances. Jemma Simmons and Leopold Fitz. The two scientists who were cursed. John was always intrigued by their love story. Even though John saw them, he didn't approach them. Only after supposed 'death' of Coulson would their story progress. He didn't want to intervene now. By this John was reminded of Skye and Afterlife.

"I will have to deal with it too. Does it mean Black Bolt and other inhumans exists and live at moon?" John speculated on this but threw these thoughts away in the back of his head. What happened in moon didn't really matter to him as there were very few inhumans left. But Skye required other approach as she was way too powerful and lived on Earth.

They all went to the hotel while Fury and others followed to the laboratories and the sites of the Park. It was a presidential suite for all and everybody loved it. No matter what Tony had an eye for luxury and comfort.

They all took rest for an hour or so but John had to go out with Emma as she was too much excited to see the dinosaurs. At first they went to the open park where all the herbivore dinosaurs gazed around in peace and harmony. Emma was awestruck. Even though John guided the world of the dinosaurs here it was the first time for him too to see the dinosaurs.

Again he felt very lucky to have such a wonderful life, even though this life was full of dangers but everything made it worth. They spent on that open park for the entire day and decided too see the other dinosaurs later.

The next day everybody banded together to see the dinosaurs. They spent the whole day watching the dinosaurs. The kids of Val were very happy as they animals which were supposed to be dead millions of years ago were alive again.

Fury and others left after one day of assessment and even talked with Diana while making a report. Diana was very happy as the island was secluded and this reminded her of her home. John and others lived for four more days and left for NY again as John had to finish his works on upcoming movies and had meetings with gaming companies. John wanted to bring some game characters to life.

Emma too left for England after a day in NY as she had to do some re-shoots for Harry Potter movie. John got busy and introduced his gaming ideas with the established gaming companies. John made sure that the games would be brought out in perfect condition and not half baked games.

John would be the sole producer of the games so that the upper management wouldn't interfere in the creative design. He knew that such a thing would take more time but he was not going to negotiate when it came to fan values.

The better the game is, the higher the fan values will be. And he wanted to make sure of it. He gave the gaming companies three RPG games to work upon and allowed them to take as much time as possible for creating them.

By this year, which was 2011, John had introduced many new animes like One Piece, Bleach, Pokemon and other famous animes from his previous life. Fury trembled when he saw the animes before and he even asked if their worlds would merge but John gave a very vague answer to it.

John knew the amount of fan values required to bring characters and worlds to Earth are huge and he hadn't decided which world to bring. He wanted to save the fan values for emergency purposes and he had a very vague idea of which world he wanted to bring next so that it can boost his fan values by a massive scale.

Chapter 77: The corps

John had scheduled the release of a new limited series and a movie by the end of the year. This was his last preparation before the New York War. Even if there were variables in the war there was the world of Naruto to handle the situation.

John didn't want to expose too much of Naruto world as that might inspire fear in people instead of being fans. The story of X-men from his previous life was educational enough. He brought Naruto world for security purposes and handle emergency situations. The main heroes on the upcoming war would still be from DC.

On November, a new superhero series was released in Netflix (owned by John). The series talked about a rich playboy who got stuck in an island for 5 years when he and his father went for a sail in the sea. He returned 5 years later as a changed person and became a vigilante who fights crime. Yes, it was the story of Green Arrow of DC.

John needed this story to introduce another version of Raas al Ghul even though he actually didn't need it as he could always extract him from the Batman movie but he wanted to show the people about the power of Raas al Ghul. People loved the series as this story was kind of the story of Iron Man and Bruce Wayne. People expected this character too to be real after the emergence of Batman. So John gained a lot of fan values due to it. This surprised John a bit but understood why it happened.

After a month the scheduled superhero movie finally came out. Everybody came for the premiere, including Emma as Harry Potter was released in the previous month of November. As Bumblebee arrived at the premiere John and Emma came out while holding hands together. This was the first appearance in public together and John was happy to put end of endless gossips of his hidden relationship with Emma.

"So how does it feel to be in a superhero premiere? Do you want to act as a superhero later?" John asked her in a hushed tone.

"Are there any woman superheroes like Diana? If there is I would love to act as such a character" Emma said with a smile.

"I don't know. Maybe my dreams of other worlds would guide me later" John said.

After giving a short interview everybody went for the movie. Even Diana traveled to watch the movie as she didn't know who this new superhero was that belonged to her world. Bruce knew who he was but didn't reveal.

The movie started exactly where the last post credits scene from Wonder Woman ended. The pilot who was in a simulated environment flew away while being covered in green light. The enclosed simulated room stopped near a crashed spaceship where he saw an alien creature in blood. The pilot ran towards the alien and tried to lift him up but the alien said

"No! It's alright. My time has come."

"You can speak English?" the pilot asked.

"No. It's the ring." the alien said while showing a glowing green ring in his finger. "It has chosen you. Take it". The ring floated away and entered the finger of the pilot.

The moment the ring entered the pilot's finger, a green suit appeared on his body. The suit looked realistic and cool. The movie was Green Lantern but this movie didn't follow the Ryan Reynolds' plot but the animated version called "Green Lantern: The first flight". John had thought a lot and finally decided on Green Lantern. He wanted to bring Superman much later as it would cost him loads of fan values. Green Lantern might cost a lot but he was sure it would be little less than Superman.

Superman being an alien might be a challenge for people liking him at the beginning and Green Lantern being a human being while belonging to a greater power would be able to help John raise more fan values later.

"You are now a Green Lantern, one of the protectors of the universe. The Guardians will send for you. Use the ring wisely." the alien died after saying that.

Diana who was watching the movie finally remembered something, turned around and asked John "The Lantern corps? I thought everyone died in that war. They were mentioned in the Amazon's history. Did they survive?"

Fury and others who were nearby also heard Diana say that. Fury and Coulson like always came to the premiere. Diana's question piqued the interest of everyone including Emma as by now she knew a lot.

"Even if a Green Lantern dies, the ring will choose a new and worthy one. This cycle will carry on forever. So that war wasn't enough to destroy the Lanterns"

"I understand." Diana said

"What war are you both speaking of?" Emma asked now curious. Even Tony and others who listened to the conversation were curious.

"A war which almost erased all living beings of their freedom in their universe." John said with a solemn expression. Everybody's eyes went wide with surprise. Tony and Fury looked at Bruce. They could see Bruce clenching his fist and realized that this war was real and a tragic one.

Chapter 78: The advent of war

The movie continued as it showed what the green lantern corps are about. They could be regarded as galactic policemen. The story revolved around the new recruit who was the pilot, Hal Jordan and his hardships in understanding what it means to be a green lantern corp.

Soon the Guardians realized that there was a new element, the element of fear which was creeping up on them. A huge conspiracy about overthrowing the corps unearthed and at the end it was two of their own members of the corps that betrayed. Sinestro who was responsible for this conspiracy revolted against the Guardians while wearing the yellow ring of fear. Later Hal consumed the green element onto himself and defeated Sinestro. It was a massive fight which happened in the space and people were in awe with the power of the Green Lanterns.

Now it was time for the post credit scene. John made very sure that all these movies are linked and they had subtle reference to the previous super hero movies and that all of them belong to same world. The audience couldn't understand why they were shown in this way but they didn't think much on it.

The post credits scene showed a lighthouse which was being drenched in severe rainstorm. The man in charge of lighthouse was trying to get his windows shut when he saw a woman in a very beautiful white dress lying unconscious on the edge of the sea in steep rocks. The man went to save the unconscious woman and that's where the credits scene stopped.

Diana and Bruce thought of something and suddenly remembered and almost said immediately together "Atlantis!!"

"Yes!" John said with a smile.

"Atlantis? The lost kingdom? It exists in your world? Well Zeus exists in your world, what of Atlantis?" Tony who heard their conversation said in a hushed tone. Everybody was surprised a bit after hearing the name of Atlantis but didn't ask much as John wouldn't say more even if asked.

Fury felt relieved after watching the movie. He felt even if a Green Lantern comes he won't be only be responsible for Earth. He would be like Carol Danvers traveling the universe.

After the movie ended everybody came out but Tony asked the most crucial question at the end

"Is he coming?"

Everybody were eagerly seeing John. After Diana everybody understood that a new superhero movie meant that there would be a new guy entering the universe.

"Most probably, but I am not sure when." John said. They all were

Emma stayed over in New York for the Christmas and New Year with John and had a good time together. John was happy too as the upcoming years won't be peaceful as it had been till now. After a week into January, Emma was ready to leave as she had her studies to complete

"Be safe out there. Bicorn take care of her." John said as he came to see her off.

"Yes! You too be safe. Will miss you. See you soon." Emma replied.

"Will miss you too. Bye."

[Ding

Total fan values : 1.6 billion

Fan value required to bring Green Lantern to life : 220,000,000]

"There is still few months for Loki to arrive. Let him come, then I will decide if I should let him show up or not."

John had already made all necessary preparations. His home and the office of Daily Bugle had already moved away from Stark Tower. He had started working on a new animated series but instead of consulting the Japanese Studios, he thought about creating it from Disney itself as the series in his original world was created in US itself. It would take a year for the series to come out but was looking forward for the character to realize itself in the world.

John even had a new movie super hero movie scheduled by the end of the year.

In the Project Pegasus facility which was jointly in operation with NASA and SHIELD, Nick Fury landed from the helicopter with Maria Hill. He was here because there was evacuation protocol being triggered as the Tesseract had a sudden energy surge and nobody was able to control this energy surge.

For years Fury had been trying to weaponize the Tesseract which could help him defend Earth against any unknown enemy in the universe. After the emergence of Naruto's world and Destroyer he was more adamant on this. Even though Natuto's world never showed any aggression but the world council didn't feel safe about another unknown world living with them.

But today he got the news that the Tesseract was acting up so he came to see what triggered this.

"Who turned the Tesseract on?" Fury asked. Coulson who was running point on this matter said

"Sir it turned itself on. Selvig wasn't even in the room when it triggered itself. When Selvig couldn't shut it down we ordered evacuation."

"How long will it take for evacuation?"

"Sir it will take half an hour for full evacuation

"Do better and Hill take away all the equipment for phase 2. Pack it and ship it" Fury said

Fury went to the lab where the Tesseract was kept and talked with Selvig and even with Clint. Clint suggested that it was probably not them who triggered the Tesseract but another party on another side.

The story of Loki's emergence was exactly the same as it was supposed to happen. Loki with his scepter controlled Clint and Selvig.

"Sir, Director is stalling for time, he wants to bury us" Clint said to Loki.

"He is right, the portal is collapsing in itself. This will bury everything including us and the surroundings. We have only 2 minutes" Selvig added. The very next moment Clint shot at Fury. And Selvig took the box of Tesseract.

Loki and other controlled agents went out. By that time almost all personnel were either evacuated or were in their way for evacuation. Maria Hill, who was prompted by Fury, to stop Loki and others from escaping but failed to do so and had to give a car chase to stop them in the tunnel that led outside the whole facility.

Fury was able to go above ground and take a chopper to escape.

Chapter 79: The warning

There was an intense car chase between Loki and Maria Hill but Loki's car was able to get out of the tunnel. And at the mean time due to the collapse of the portal the whole facility was collapsing constantly. Maria who was trying to get out of the tunnel saw a huge concrete slab falling into her from up.

She knew that she would die in the next moment as there was no way she would be able to survive the fall. But what happened next surprised her. As the concrete block was falling they were stopped by a huge purple colored structure. On closer look it looked like a huge hand shining in blue light.

She turned around to see the source of this 'huge hand' only to see several agents covered and surrounded by huge structures that looked like rib cage of a person. On closer look she saw a man whose one eye was covered by hair.

She knew who saved her. It was Sasuke with his Susano. Even though she knew about the Susano but seeing the real deal up close was totally different than what the anime showed.

She got down from the car and entered the Susano. "Thank you." Maria said. All the agents who were saved were in awe and gratefulness in their face. Even though she had doubts about Sasuke's presence in such a hidden base but didn't say anything as Sasuke just saved her life.

Sasuke nodded at her and didn't say anything. He started walking while removing the rubble with his Susano while keeping the agents enclosed inside the Susano. After a couple of minutes they came out of the tunnel only to see that a hundred metres away Fury's chopper on which he had escaped was crash landing after being hit by Loki's energy beam from the scepter.

Sasuke who saw that after coming out of the rubble instantly vanished from his spot. He came near where the the chopper was going down and activated his Susano to catch the helicopter from falling down. The Susano instantly stopped the descent and slowly let the helicopter down saving everybody including the pilot.

Fury was relieved to see that he was safe but on guard too as he wasn't sure why Sasuke was here even though Sasuke saved him. This base was secured and a top level secret. But he finally managed to say

"Thank you for saving."

"You tried to control a power that couldn't be controlled. You have put humanity in danger Fury." Sasuke replied. Fury didn't refute Sasuke as he knew that trying to control the Tesseract was a danger in itself but he needed to take the risk.

Fury put on the radio and immediately ordered for high level emergency. Loki who was looking from far saw the Susano. He was surprised by this and asked Clint

"What is that?"

"From the far view it seems it's probably Susano from a guy named Sasuke. They belong to another world and they are really powerful. It will be your main hindrance in taking over Earth." Clint said in a straight face.

"They? What is this new world you are speaking about?" Loki was intrigued now.

"They belong to a new world which got merged to Earth few years ago. They are powerful ninjas with powers that can destroy cities and even Earth if they feel like it. The world council which is responsible for SHIELD is in a cooperative relationship with them" Clint replied.

"New world? When the hell did that happen? Heimdall never told anything about it. Are you sure of what you speaking is the truth?" Loki didn't believe at first.

"I have gone to their world and I have seen a glimpse of their powers so trust me on this. But they might not intervene in the invasion as they never really cared about Earth. Just don't antagonize them until you are sure you can obliterate them. They might not just care about you if you are lucky enough."

Loki now had a weird look in his face, even though he hasn't seen this so called new world, he felt a little fear. Though he wasn't sure if this new world was an illusion but that whole blue colored body projected by a man gave him chills, specially his eye. He could see his eye from a distance and that eye had weird sign on it and he felt extreme fear from that.

Even that guy who ordered him to come to earth didn't infuse that much fear into him. But Loki knew he couldn't turn back now.

"Let it be. I hope this new world doesn't interfere. As long as I can conquer Earth, the so called world won't be far away."

Fury on the other side saw Loki escape. He couldn't help but ask Sasuke.

"If he is a threat to humanity why wouldn't you stop him?" he asked

"It's your problem Fury. You created this mess, solve it yourself. Some people need a wake up call. Earth has been silent for a long time now." Sasuke who was walking away didn't even turn his head when he said that.

Chapter 80: Seeing Banner again

John who was at his home after coming from work got a reminder from Sasuke that the Tesseract was stolen. John had let Sasuke scour the US for finding the Pegasus Project facility during the start of the year. In three months time Sasuke found it and John told him to monitor the facility. And as it was supposed to happen, the Tesseract was taken away by Loki.

"So the war has come. I have been waiting for it in a long time. Will the butterfly effect this war? Well whatever, I will overcome it as it comes. This will be a great time to gather massive fan values."

Natasha was being held by a Russian general when she got a call from Coulson. And the plot happened almost the same as original but there was a difference. She did it faster than the original as she use two kunai which she hid inside her dress. She threw two kunai towards the guards of the Russian general. This incapacitated both the guards and before the general could react Natasha held him upside down by binding the general's legs in chains.

"Where's Barton?" Natasha said after picking up the mobile.

"We don't know. But he is alive. We need you to bring the big guy" Coulson said.

"Sure but what about the others?" Natasha asked.

"Maria and I will take care of the rest" Coulson said

The next day as John was getting ready to go to work had an uninvited guest in the morning.

"Hello Mr. John. I would like you read this report." Maria said after coming inside the house. On the file there was "Avengers Initiative" written in bold letters.

"Avengers? I am just a ordinary consultant? What do I have to do with Avengers?" John raised his eyebrows and said to Maria.

"Please don't say that Mr. John. You have been incredibly helpful to us. Fury thinks even if you can't fight you will be an incredible asset for SHIELD in this upcoming war" Maria said politely.

"No, Fury just thinks that I am dangerous that's why he wants me to join the Avengers." John said with a smile. Maria couldn't say anything to it as she too knew that Fury has an unknown fear of John. She was thinking of how to convince John.

"It's alright I will come along. Steve is awake. Yes?" John asked. Maria was stuck in her place not able to move. Then she remembered from the report that John sometimes had dreams from future.

"Yes, he is awake. He will join us too."

"Fine let me get ready." John said as he went inside to pick up his suitcase and instructed Val that he would be out for sometime. He didn't say anything about the war as their home was far away from Stark Tower and he would never let the war spread to whole of New York city.

He got ready and left with Maria. He thought they would go to the helicarrier but instead they went to Jurassic Park. John understood it was for Diana. After picking up Diana they finally set en route to the helicarrier.

Nick Fury on the other hand was in a meeting with the council.

"So you are saying this Asgard has declared war on our planet?"

"Not Asgard. Loki" Fury replied.

"We should let the ninjas handle this. They will be more capable in this. Didn't they sign the deal of being a mercenary for us." a council man said

"They just suffered a war. Do you think they will willingly participate in another one? And are you sure you want the people to know of their existence? We need a response team. These people can help us" Fury retorted.

"The Avengers Initiative was shut down. You want to leave the fate of human race in the handful of freaks? We have Phase 2 designed for exactly this."

"I am not leaving anything to anyone. We just need a response team. Phase 2 isn't ready" Fury said.

"War isn't won by sentiment Director." A councilman said.

"No, it's won by soldiers" saying that Fury left.

After an hour John and others landed. As they landed they saw a familiar face. Dr. Bruce Banner. John approached him with a smile and said

"How are you doctor?"

"Oh Mr. John. It's a pleasure to meet you for the first time." Banner said

"I did see you before but we never met. In Harlem, I was there." John said.

"You know about the guy who fought?" Banner was astonished and asked.

"You should watch more of my movies and series Mr. Banner, This is Diana Prince, princess of the Amazon" John said as he introduced Diana to Banner.

"Princess. Wait... Amazon? You got to be kidding me? She is a real person and and daughter of Zeus?" Banner was surprised.

"I am surprised that you watched my movies Doctor." John said

"I didn't but Natasha asked me to watch the movie on the way here. I didn't understand then. Natasha did say that some of your works are based on real stories. I guess I understand now. So Gods are real. Seems like I am not the only freak in this world." Banner said with a sigh.

"Doctor. This universe has more freaks than you can imagine." John said.