

He's My Alpha

Chapter 81-85

He's My Alpha (Jake & Clair)

Chapter 81

Jake

Today would be my Union Ceremony with Clair and the Elders had taken her away from the packhouse. I won't be able to see her until early tonight. We all decided to hold the union earlier because Clair wasn't marked yet and her heat might arrive anytime when the full moon reached its peak.

I was in my office and going through the files I received from the Crescent Moon pack where the Claiming was held when my Beta stepped in.

I raised my head and looked at him as he slumped his body on the chair in front of my desk.

"Do you even sleep lately?" I raised a brow, my eyes scanned his face. His eyes have black circles around them and the hair on his face has been longer than usual.

"Did you get information? I still didn't feel any bond breaking. I'm guessing she will be claimed tonight." He ignored my question, his hand massaging his temple.

I sighed and slid the papers in my hand in his direction. "Not sure you wanted to hear this but you need to know. All the Alpha Females listed came out with their Alphas. No one backed out, no one came out unclaimed."

I saw his hands coiled around the armrest of the chair he was sitting in, gripping it tightly. "But are you sure she's younger than 20? Because all the Alpha Females listed were 22 years old and older. Clair was the only one under 20." I asked him when he failed to say anything.

"I don't know, man. She looked young." He reached for the paper and stood up from his seat. "I'll take this. I want to check the names and see if there is someone here I haven't met. Maybe it's her."

I nodded and watched him walk away.

“Gavin,” I called out before he fully walked out of the office. “Caspian is coming after lunch and I need you with me to welcome him. Do you think you can?”

He nodded. “Just link me and I’ll go down. I just need to lay down for a while.” He answered as he closed the door behind him.

I leaned back in my seat and closed my eyes. Clair still had no idea about Gavin finding his mate. I wanted to tell her but it wasn’t my secret and my Beta doesn’t want Clair to find out. He doesn’t want Clair to feel guilty about this, but I had no idea how long I could keep his secret from my mate. I wanted to let her know because it was already hard enough not to have someone to talk about it, and I had f*uc*king no idea how I would help him.

GAVIN

I just came out from my bath when the Alpha mind linked and informed me that Alpha Caspian had entered the territory and was now on his way to the pack house.

I immediately put on my clothes and wiped the little blood on my chin from the cut I incurred while I shaved.

The idea that tonight would be a full moon and the possibility of my mate being claimed and marked tonight was taking its toll on me. And as much as I just wanted to not fix myself and just slacked off, today would also be Jake and Clair’s union and the Luna ceremony.

Duty calls. I had to look presentable even if I was mourning inside. £)

I grabbed my jacket and head off downstairs where the Alpha was already waiting.

As soon as I stepped out of the pack house, I saw the Alpha smile. He was probably pleased with how I looked. I bobbed my head at him in acknowledgment as I stood beside him.

In seconds, two cars approached the pack house.

Together with the Alpha, I walked forward and stopped in the front of the first car.

Alpha Caspian came out of his car but I did not see his next move because my eyes shifted to the female that stepped out of the passenger side.

I never thought I would see her again.

The Goddess must be playing jokes on me.

My mate, the most beautiful woman that graced earth was right here in front of me.

My breathing hitched, hands automatically coiled into fists on my side as her scent swirled around me. Kurt howled in my head wanting to take our mate into our arms.

My jaw tightened when it hit me that Alpha Caspian had claimed my mate.

‘Gavin. Is she your mate? Focus! I heard the Alpha in my head.

I cleared my throat and accepted the hand offered by Alpha Caspian.

“Beta Gavin,” I said calmly, the moment he let go of the handshake my eyes shifted again to the female who was now approaching the Alpha without any regard for me.

If she recognized the bond, it surely did not show on her face or in her action.

She stopped in front of Jake and looked at him, a forced smile on her lips. “My name is Alia, Alpha Jacob.” She raised her hand and laid it in front of the Alpha.

Alia.

Her name is perfect for her. I wonder how it would feel when it rolled on my tongue.

Instead of taking it to k*iss her hand, the Alpha simply took her hand and bowed at her. “Pleasure to meet you, Lady Alia.” He smiled and let go of her hand before turning his head in my direction. “My Beta, Beta Gavin.”

Her eyes narrowed as looked at me for a second, before returning his attention to Alpha Jake. “Alpha Jacob, I know the ceremony won’t start until later, do you mind if I ask for a place where I can rest?” to say something but he kept his mouth shut.

“Of course, my Beta would show...” The Alpha was not done yet when she cut him off.

“I would rather be a*s*sisted by someone else, not your Beta.” She said coldly, her eyes not moving away from him.

The Alpha nodded and turned to Matteo behind us. “Show Lady Alia her room on the 2nd floor, guest area.”

“Excuse me.” She said without waiting for any confirmation from the Alpha and followed behind Matteo, not throwing a single glance at me.

My eyes followed her movement, focusing on how her hips swayed and her skirt rustled as she walked. “I apologized for my sister, she can be demanding at times, and unfortunately, I don’t want to leave her behind whenever I needed to go far from the territory. I hope you don’t mind that I took her without any notice.” Alpha Caspian explained, and the moment the word sister left his mouth, I felt my lungs start to function again.

In fact, all of my senses came back to life.

And for the first time since the Claiming, I found myself smiling. A real one.

The Alpha must have felt the relief I felt that he too snickered from Alpha Caspian's words. "No. Not at all. Women. You would never understand them. But I thought I saw her on the Claiming. Wasn't she one of the Alpha Females there?" He asked the question I wanted to ask.

Alpha Caspian shook his head and stifled a laugh. "No. No. I would never place her there unless she wanted to. She just came along because I want to go there. I was hoping I can spot my mate there.

Unfortunately, luck wasn't on my side. Seemed my mate is still out there."

"That explained. But I'm sure you'll find her one day. You're still young and have so much time left. Anyway, let's go in." Alpha Jake patted my shoulder, motioning for me and Alpha Caspian to follow him inside pack house.

"We can go to my office right now or I can direct you to your room if you want to rest first." He informed Alpha Caspian.

I did not hear the rest of their conversation as I walked behind them inside the pack house, my mind was wandering somewhere, to someone.

Alia. Such a beautiful name.

My mate, she was not yet claimed.

And she hated me. Of course, she would. But it doesn't bother me. Not at all.

She was unclaimed. That's all that mattered now.

He's My Alpha Chapter 82

He's My Alpha (Jake & Clair)

Chapter 82

Clair

In a few hours, the ceremony would start and it has been a whole day that I haven't seen Jake. I was few days and his absence was slowly annoying me now.

I tried to mind link him but looked like he shut down his mind for me which pissed me off as well. Elder Rose explained that before the ceremony, they kept the woman secluded only to show her to her Alpha at the altar. But I missed him already.

I closed my eyes and leaned back on the couch where I was lounging. Dad has sent a mindlink earlier that he would drop by, I was expecting him to show up any time now.

And Luisa too.

Two days ago, Jake and I went to the Night Howler's Pack territory and made a truce with my uncle. I told him I would drop the case for kidnapping and for forcing me to attend the Claiming that we were about to submit to the council if he would accept my terms.

One of them was about Luisa. It was stipulated on the conditions that I would get to see Luisa once a month and by the time she turned 18, she would stay with me for 2 weeks.

Of course, he was adamant to accept it but we left him with no choice.

Jake wasn't in agreement with this. He wanted my uncle to pay for his sins. But I wanted to save my cousin because she saved me. If it weren't for her, they would never found out I was at the Claiming. This was my only chance to pay her back and he couldn't argue with that.

I wanted Luisa to find her own mate. At least to have that option.

Alpha Aeon also had offered a truce and declared that he has nothing to do with all of this. He requested an audience with Jake yesterday.

Although he was not allowed inside the territory, Jake with his Beta and Gamma went to face him by the border.

He offered an apology while clearing his name. My mate was still furious at him but he accepted his apology, although all transactions and partnerships they were supposed to have were voided already. Jake wanted nothing to do with him and his pack.

I guessed it was for the better.

"Clair, sweetheart." Dad appeared in front of me, taking me out of my thoughts. I jerked up from the couch and wrapped my arms around him.

"Dad! I'm glad to see you." I shrieked in his arms.

"How are you? Excited for tonight?" He asked after he placed a k*iss on my forehead.

I nodded, my eyes beamed with excitement.

“I’m happy for you, sweetheart, I know it wasn’t easy and it will never get easier from here. But you need to trust your bond with your mate. From now on, he should be the only one you trust completely. “Dad took my hand and pulled me to sit on the couch again. Him sitting beside me.

I nodded but I needed to ask him something.

I was scared to ask Jake because I don’t want to know his answer. “Dad, can I ask something? Do you think If I wasn’t taken, do you think Jake would claim me?”

“Listen sweetheart. He was already planning to claim you the day you were taken. It was the reason he was there eating breakfast with us.”

“He told you?” My eyes squinted.

He nodded.

“You knew? That we were mated?” This time my eyes grew wider. How did he find out?

He nodded again.

“But why are you okay with that? I mean, don’t you hate Jake after everything he did?”

“Why did you stay? Whatever you saw in him, I saw it too. Besides no one can love you better than your mate, Clair. All my life I protected you so you never had to go to that Claiming. I sent you away so your grandfather would never know he still has an Alpha Female he could take when he needed one. I protected you so that you would only end up with your mate.”

He paused for a while before he continued.

“If I had not known Jake all his life, I would be angry, furious, and would probably tell you to reject him. But I knew him and he wasn’t a bad man. He just doesn’t know where to start. But I know he will move mountains for you, I saw it. I felt it. Just as I would for your mother.”

“Dad..” I don’t know what to say. I felt his pain at his mention of Mom.

“Do you know why I’m still living despite my other half is gone? Because of you and Aaron. I promised her I would take care of you both. And I would hold on to that until I’m not capable anymore. She would have been proud of you, sweetheart. And I’m sure she would be happy that you end up with Jake. She had always liked him.”

I smiled at his words and the memories of Mom.

“When I was younger, mom told me to convince Jake that having a Luna is not a bad thing. She said I could do it. Make him change his mind. Maybe., maybe... she wanted me to end up with him.”

“Or maybe she felt you would end up with him.” He smiled at me before pulling out a small red box from his pocket.

“This is for you. I wanted to give you this on your 18th birthday but then you left. But today would be the perfect time to give you this.”

I took the red box from his hand and carefully pulled the ribbon that covers it, slowly opening the box after. My eyes widened with awe as it revealed a necklace with a crescent moon pendant.

“It’s beautiful...” I said in almost a whisper, still awed at how it was encrusted with small gems that accentuated the moon.

“Befitting for a Luna,” Dad said softly, a warm smile tugged on his lips. “It was your mothers. She had it when I met her at the Claiming. It was passed on from her mother, and from generations before her. So, it rightfully belongs to you.”

“Thankyou, Dad.” I cupped the necklace in my hand and held it closed to my chest before scooting on my father as he embraced me on his chest. A soft sob escaped my throat at the memory of my mother. “I wish mom is here,” I told him between my hiccups.

“Me too, sweetheart. Me too.” He answered in a whisper while he tapped and brushed my hair gently.

Jake

The Pavillion was already set and the guests started to fill in, they were now waiting for me to arrive. And Clair would follow after 30 minutes, enough time for me to meet and greet everyone before I present to them my Luna.

I tightened the midnight blue tie Clair had specifically chosen for me to wear tonight. I a*s*sumed she would wear something of this color. She told me before that she would always choose this color for her gowns because it was akin to my eyes. Who was I to complain?

She could have everything she wanted, even the world, and I would gladly lay it on her feet.

My princess.

After tonight, she would be my Queen, my Luna.

Mine.

A satisfied smile curved on my lips as I took a last glance at the full-length mirror in my room. This was placed here two days ago for my mate.

She started to add more things to our room but she had no idea that we would soon move to a bigger suite on the 4th floor and would leave this floor to my Beta. My Gamma would still remain on the 2nd floor. Both the 3rd and 2nd floors had guests rooms and it would stay that way.

But the 4th floor would just be ours. And someday, a playroom for our heir.

One day at a time. For now, that floor would just be for me and my Luna.

A soft knock threw me out of my daydreaming. I picked up my coat and headed for the door, I smelled my Beta. He must be here to inform me that I was already late for the start of the party.

“Beta.” I acknowledged him as soon as I opened the door. I was about to step out of the room when he stopped me and motioned for me to come inside again.

“Anything wrong?” I asked. He was in a better mood now knowing his mate wasn’t claimed yet. “Nothing, but I need your permission.” He said as he leaned on the wall beside my door.

“For what?” My forehead creased.

“Today is a full moon.” He said calmly.

“I know. Blue Moon as well. That’s why I have this union today.” I chuckled. This mate thing surely had messed up with my Beta the same way it did for me when I found out Clair was my mate.

He chuckled as well before shaking his head. “Man, I f*uc*king don’t know how to talk things like this with you, but I had no one who knows.”

“Alia?” I asked, my lips pursed.

“Yes. I a*s*s*umed she would go in heat later. And the place was full of unmated males, I had to take her away before it hit. Like you need to mark Clair before it takes over her.”

“I know. But I’m not marking her in public. I will take Clair off the party earlier.” I explained.

“Like we planned. That’s why I’m here. Because I have to tell you that I can’t be there during your ceremony. I know it’s f*uc*king important but I don’t want any wolf to smell her before I can lock her up somewhere.”

I nodded. I knew where he was coming from. “Take care of your girl then. I have Aaron there. Just make sure she’s not anywhere at the party at all, it’s the peak of the full moon.”

“I’ll take her away somewhere before your Union ceremony is over.”

“Okay, then it’s settled.” I nodded and moved towards the door. I wanted to be at the ceremony already.

“Thank you.” He said in a low voice.

I threw my Beta a glance, stopping by the door. “

You know you don’t have to say that. Clair and I owed you our union, so do your thing. It’s time to fix yours.”

He nodded, biting his lower lip before it turned into pursed. “One more thing.”

“Hmmm.” My brow raised.

“Ah, shit man! I never thought I would have this conversation with you. F*uc*k this!”

“Say it! We’re late already.” My voice slightly raised. “How do I handle her heat?” He asked his eyes fixed on the floor, hands on his pocket.

I let out a hearty laugh, before patting his shoulder. “F*uc*k, man. F*uc*k!”

“No. I can’t. She hated me. She’ll hate me more if I took advantage of that.”

“You came to the wrong guy because I had no idea how to, I couldn’t resist Clair so we end up doing it.” I snickered while shaking my head.

“Do you think touching her would suffice?” His face started to darken with red.

“I don’t know.” I shook my head again. “Man, who would have thought we will come this? Where is the f*uc*k boy who knows how to handle his women?”

“I know. But she’s different.” He let out a sigh.

“I know. They’re different. You will know what to do. It’s all on you now but just to help, Jenny placed Clair on the bathtub with iced water, maybe can help for a moment just to drop her temperature.” “I need ice.” He mumbled under his breath. E) “Yup. And we need to go.” I tapped his shoulder once more and opened the door, we walked down to the stairs towards the front door where a car waited for us.

“Don’t think about my ceremony tonight. As soon as you’re able to find a chance to take her away, you’re free to go.” I told him as he started the engine.

He’s My Alpha Chapter 83

He’s My Alpha (Jake & Clair)

Chapter 83

Clair

“Are you ready?” Luisa asked me, holding both my hands as she stood happily in front of me.

She arrived an hour ago with two escorts. After a thorough inspection of the men with him, they were also allowed entrance at the territory but I had men following them as well. I still don’t trust Alpha Noah. But I was pleased that he did his part of the bargain.

I nodded and tilted my head to my side to look at Jenny. She looked at us with awe. She smiled at me before she opened her mouth to speak. “You looked beautiful, Luna. Oh, my Goddess! I can’t believe you’re the Luna now. It wasn’t long ago I asked you if you like the Alpha!”

I giggled softly and looked at the full-length mirror in front of me.

I had on me a midnight blue above the knee A dress with a sweetheart neckline. It was the same color as the tie I brought for my Alpha. I wanted to match with him tonight and he seemed okay with it.

And the only accessory I had was the crescent moon necklace my father gave me.

I wanted to look natural since it would be the night that I would give myself and my heart to my mate. And I wanted him to see me as me, void of makeups and any blings. I puckered up my lips, making sure the light lipstick I had was even on my lips before I turned around and face them again!

“I think I’m ready! But do you think my dress is okay, not too simple?”

“You looked lovely, dear. I wished I could walk you to the ceremony but then I had duties to attend. So I ‘ll see you there, Luna.” Jenny gave me a quick hug before pressing a soft k*iss on my temple. She left the room before saying goodbye to my cousin as well.

“So how do we get to the Pavillion?”

“The Beta would pick me up here. Jake would be waiting there already.”

“The Beta. You mean the Beta?” She said softly as rose tint started to creep on her cheeks.

“Hmmm... Is there something I need to know? Are you interested in Beta Gavin?” My eyes widen in surprise as I clasped my hand over my mouth because there was a knock on the door at the same time.

“Ssssh... I’m not. Just that he k*issed me. Not that he wanted to, he just need to. I will tell more later.” She explained in a hushed tone.

My eyes widen more, while the knocks on the door continued.

“Luna. Are you there? If you don’t answer in the next 5 seconds I will break the door.” A worried voice came out from the door.

I chuckled before pulling Luisa’s hand towards the door. “I’m here, Beta. Just a second.”

There was silence, guessed he heard me.

“Don’t break the door, or it will slam on me!” I shouted, scared that he might barge in and the door would hit us.

“Damn! You almost gave me a heart attack when you didn’t answer.” A sly grin etched upon the Beta’s face as I opened the door.

“Sorry, I didn’t hear you the first time.” I lied. Before turning my head to Luisa. “Beta Gavin, this is Luisa. You remember her, right?”

A blank emotion flashed on the Beta’s face while Luisa’s jaw dropped open. But no one said anything. “Hmmm... you know each other or not?”

Both of them shook their heads and it confused the hell out of me.

“What’s going on? Luisa, you told me you met Beta Gavin, and he...”

“Clair!” She cut me off. “I met him but it’s not him.

And at the exact moment, Damien approached, panting his eyes focused on me. “Luna, they’re waiting for you. What’s taking you so long? The Alpha was worried already.”

“Him...” I heard a soft voice behind me and I saw Damien shift his gaze to Luisa at my back, a smile suddenly pop upon his face.

“Lady Luisa.”

LUIZA “Lady Luisa.” He flashed me a tooth-wide grin that lighted up his whole face, g)

I couldn’t control my smile that my own lips curved to mirror the smile on his face.

“Beta,” I said softly, not taking my eyes off him.

I saw the man beside him, which Clair introduced as Beta Gavin raised his brow before a knowing smile tugged on his mouth.

“I’m actually not the Beta. He is.” He scratched his head before pointing to the man beside him, a shy smile now plastered on his face.

My head bobbed up in agreement even if I wasn’t sure what I wanted to relay. So he really wasn’t the Beta. But what was his name?

But before any of us could clarify more, the real Beta cleared his throat and spoke.

“I’m sure there were more questions to be asked but our Luna needs to be delivered to her Alpha. Shall we?” He put his attention back to Clair and offered his arm, and in seconds Clair was already on her way to the Pavillion, holding to the Beta’s arms.

I stood frozen in my spot, biting my lower lip until I heard him speak to me.

“Shall we? Clair just mind linked me to watch over you.” He offered his arm with that warm smile that made him more adorable.

I nodded and snaked my arm on his, walking in silence until we reached the Pavillion. I couldn’t help my heart from thudding rather too loud and I bet that he could hear it. I wanted to ask his name but it looked like he wasn’t interested in conversing with me.

Maybe I was the only one affected by our k*iss. After all, he only did it to save us from more questions.

Once we were inside the ballroom, I settled myself in one of the high bar tables that were available. I was expecting that he would leave any moment, but he settled next beside me.

He took two glasses of wine from the server that passed by and offered one for me. Only then did I remember the two men my uncle sent to follow me. They were also there, a distance away from where we were but on my direct peripherals.

He followed my gaze and a smirk plastered on his face. “Simon is here. And I don’t think he likes me.” He chuckled. But he wasn’t wrong, Simon was looking at him with hostile eyes.

I rolled my eyes and took my gaze away from Simon, shifting it to him only to find him looking at me already. “Don’t mind him. He never liked anyone. What’s your name?” I asked him directly, annoyed that he wasn’t keen on introducing himself.

“Damien. My name is Damien. Not a Beta, just an ordinary wolf.” He winked at me before he shifted his gaze to the stage, just in time to see Clair walk in.

Damien. That sounds nice.

I let my eyes focus on my beautiful cousin as she walked slowly towards her Alpha.

A pang of envy crept into my chest at the sight of them. Her Alpha was looking at Clair as if she was a goddess as if she was the only person in the room, his eyes were flashing between black and its original color.

I wondered if I would ever get to experience that.

Maybe not. After all, the Alpha who wanted me was nowhere near Alpha Jacob when it comes to character. I would just be putting myself for failure if I would wish for a moment like this.

I took a deep sigh and tilted my head to the side to check on Damien, only to find him looking at me. As if I was the only person in this room. And my heart started to flutter.

He’s My Alpha Chapter 84

He’s My Alpha (Jake & Clair)

Chapter 84: The Union

Clair

“We are gathered here tonight for the Union of our Alpha, Alpha Jacob Galhart to Lady Clair Montrell, the future Luna of the Black Shadow Pack. It is with great honor to preside this union under the Blue Moon where the Goddess will bestow her greatest blessing, the blessing of Love and Bliss.”

Elder Garret cleared his throat before turning his face towards me and my Alpha.

“May I request the Alpha and the Future Luna to pledge their love and loyalty to each other as I, on behalf of the Goddess bind you together for life.”

I turned to my side to face my Alpha, I slowly lifted my eyes to meet his, and even without us touching, I could feel the spark and the tingles that had been a constant in my skin whenever he was around.

My eyes then followed Jake's movement as he took my hand and held it to his while Elder Garrett started to bind our wrists together with a black rope, which symbolized the color of the pack.

And then our eyes met again, and my heart stopped. He was beautiful but nothing could compare to how his face lighted up at this moment. He told me he loved me countless times this past few days but his emotions and his expression were all raw tonight, a clear picture that he really did. And it was more than my heart could handle.

I was snapped from my reverie when Jake started with his vow, to which I must repeat and follow as I was instructed to do.

"I, Alpha Jacob Galhart..."

"I, Absaline Clair Montell..."

"...take you, Absaline Clair Montell..."

"...take you, Alpha Jacob Galhart..."

"...as my mate, and my Luna..."

"...as my mate, and my Alpha..."

"...and commit myself to you and to this bond..." "...and commit myself to you and to this bond..." "...I will let no one, come between us..."

"...I will let no one, come between us..."

"...to destroy the love blessed by the Moon..."

"...to destroy the love blessed by the Moon..."

"...for as long as I live."

"...for as long as I live."

"This I vowed, in front of our people..."

"This I vowed, in front of our people..."

“...and in front of the Moon Goddess.”

“...and in front of the Moon Goddess.”

Just as we finished our vows, the Elder snapped the black rope and melted it on the fire sitting on the table beside him. An act to symbolize keeping the fire of love burning for eternity.

My Alpha then took my hand into his, taking my wrist closer to his mouth as his fangs elongated. More sparks and tingles traveled to my whole body at his touch that left me frozen in my spot before I felt him squeeze my wrist gently, he was waiting for me to do the same.

I took his wrist upon my hand and lifted it while my own fangs started to come out. With our eyes fixed on each other, we slowly bite into each other wrists and drink from each other's blood.

I subconsciously let out a soft moan of pleasure as extreme tingles erupted all over my body at the mere act, wanting more of him. I never thought that having a taste of his blood would send sensations all over my body.

Elder Garrett cleared his throat before speaking, in a playful tone. “I think that should be enough.”

I heard my brother chuckle from somewhere before the crowd stood up in front of us, and offered loud applause.

My cheeks started to burn from embarrass*ment but my mate took away my uneasiness when he wrapped his arms around me and crushed his lips into mine, k*issing me passionately and hungrily in front of the crowd. I guessed I was not the only one affected by that last act.

“I present to you, the Alpha and Luna of the Black Shadow Pack... Alpha Jacob and Luna Clair Galhart!” I heard Elder Garrett at the back of my mind while my mouth continued to accept the smoldering k*iss from my Alpha as the crowd continued to cheer.

After a while, Jake pulled out from the k*iss but his eyes never left mine, his eyes dilated into full obsidian black showing me a glimpse of Echo before returning to his normal deep dark blue shade.

I blinked my eyes and let Rain's eyes out for a moment before I tipped on my toes and pecked his lips curtly, taking his hand with mine and pulling him to face the crowd with me.

My heart was full at the sight of the people in front of us.

Our people. Finally, for the first time since I left when I was 12, I felt at home.

This was home. With him. With my Alpha.

Jake

The ceremony ended an hour ago and I was now on my toes.

I saw the Blue Moon already on its peak and any moment now, Clair would start with her heat.

I could have marked her there on the stage to avoid any problem but I wanted our marking to be a private one, just for her and me. And I don't trust that I could control myself once I started licking her neck. I almost ravished her in front of our pack when I k*issed her during the ceremony.

I had no idea that she has this power over me. But I wasn't complaining.

I looked around the Pavillion and did not see my Beta at all, as well as Lady Alia. It looked like he was already prepared to handle her heat better than I could for my mate.

I needed Clair out of here soon.

I mind linked my Gamma and instructed him that it was time for me and Clair to leave. He would take care of the guests together with David since I don't think we would be available for the rest of the night.

Once I got a confirmation from my Gamma that he was all set, I took a long stride to where my Mate was. She was standing with her cousin, Luisa, and Jenny but her eyes were searching for something. "Looking for me?" I leaned and whisper behind her ear, biting it as I wait for her response.

She immediately turned around, flung her arms on my neck, and rested her cheek on my chest. "We need to go. I feel a little burn on my center now. I'm scared my scent will soon come out." She said in a worried tone.

I nodded and scooped her up bridal style before walking towards the center of the ballroom. I cleared my throat and let my Alpha aura roll-off, gaining attention from the crowd.

"Thank you for the wonderful evening. My Luna and I will take our exit now for the private ceremony. Enjoy the rest of the night!" I let out a smug smirk while my Luna hide her burning cheeks at the nook of my neck as I headed off out of the ballroom while the crowd got wild with whoops and hollers.

Instead of taking her to our bedroom, I proceeded to the 4th floor where the biggest suite in the pack house was at. The room was previously used by former Alphas and their Lunas but I didn't have any intention to use it until Clair happened.

I knew she would love it here, she would have bigger space plus the new bed I bought was way bigger than my old one.

I opened the door and gently laid her on her feet, her jaw opened as she looked back at me.

"Is this ours?" She asked, her eyes wandering on the room as she walked around, touching the elegant walls surrounding the room.

I nodded. "Yes. I had it renovated but it's still bare. I wanted your opinion as to what you want to have here. It's ours and I would rather have something in here that you liked."

She turned her head back at me before she rushed and jumped into my arms again, wrapping her legs around my hips, her eyes flashing black.

I thought she hugged me because she was happy with the room only for me to realize that she already started licking my neck.

Her arousal swirled around me that I started salivating for her. At the same time, my wolf gnarled and wanted to come out.

"Mmmm... you taste so nice..." She moaned hoarsely, panting against my skin.

My Mate was on heat. Game on!

Without any more thoughts, I cupped her bottom and tugged her hair making her head jerk up before I captured her lips into mine. She parted her lips just enough for me to slip my tongue to taste her wet mouth as I continued to savor her luscious lips.

F*uc*k!

F*uc*king her every day since she came back doesn't help to extinguish the desire she built in me. It just ignited it more. It made me want her more every f*uc*king time.

Clair

The moment I had another whiff of his intoxicating smell, my core started to throb. I snapped my head towards my mate and I felt myself salivating. I could feel my arousal heightened and if I don't grab the man in front of me, I would for sure die.

So I jumped on him.

“Mmmm... you taste so nice...” I moaned hoarsely, panting against his skin as my tongue licked his neck.

His hand cupped my bottom and eased us to the big bead, throwing me abruptly on it as he slipped off his tie and kicked off his shoes. I leaned with my elbows and kicked off my shoes before sliding the hem of my dress higher, my fingers trailed from the side of my thigh up to my lacey black underwear without taking my eyes off my s*exy mate who was now half-naked and unbuckling his belt.

Goddess! His eyes were dilated into full black and his smell was driving me and my wolf to the edge. I licked my lips and slipped my hand inside my panties to feel my own wetness before a hand slapped my own.

“Take it off, little mate. The only one touching that sweet py of yours is me.” My mate knelt on the bed naked in between my legs and yanked off my underwear leaving my s*ex bare in front of him.

I rose from my position, straddled him, and hooked my arms around his neck pulling him to me, as my lips locked with his. I’ve been wanting to k*iss him all night and now that I could, well I would. I bit his lower lip eliciting a growl to vibrate from his chest as his hands tore off my dress easily. Whew! There goes my expensive dress.

His one hand curved around my back while the other cupped my py and it felt heavenly. My core had been burning and his touch was like magic, sending waves of pleasure just to feel his skin on it.

I felt he wanted to pull away from the k*iss but I kept pulling him back, k*issing him dominantly while my hands were locked on his hair.

“I want to eat you, baby...” He said huskily in between our k*isses.

I shook my head and bit his lip once more. “No... not now. F*uc*k me! I want you inside, Alpha!” I protested and let go of him, letting my body fall on the bed. I swiped my bra off and lay naked in front of him, my legs opened wide biting my lower lip. “Please...” I pleaded again.

The heat in my core kept building up and if he doesn’t f*uc*k me now, I swear I would go crazy. I waited for him as his eyes roamed my body, his hard ck started to grow harder while his eyes were burning black, burning my skin with lusts.

He’s My Alpha Chapter 85

He’s My Alpha (Jake & Clair)

Chapter 85

Jake

“Please...” My mate begged for me to f*uc*k her.

F*uc*k this. She made it look like I don’t want to f*uc*k her when all I thought the whole night was the different ways I would feast on her body tonight.

Her smell was more potent than I could remember, more than her previous heat and I couldn’t remember being this aroused as I felt right now. My ck just kept getting harder and it felt like I could explode anytime just by looking at her and how she tried to seduce me.

How did I get this lucky?

I was mated to an innocent-looking temptress. F*uc*k!

My wolf wanted to come out and f*uc*k the hell out of our mate but that would never happen. She was mine to f*uc*k so I shoved off my wolf at the back of my mind before I positioned myself nearer her throbbing core.

I could see her slickness and it was already leaking at the side of her legs. I badly wanted to taste her but it could wait. My goal right now was to satiate my mate.

F*uc*k! I hold my dk and jerked it up and down with my hand before I positioned it on her wet entrance, teasing her by sliding it up over her ct and then back to her entrance.

Clair growled at me, her eyes flashed black as she bared her teeth. Patience was never her thing.

I let go of my ck, the tip pistoning on her entrance as I grabbed her hips and pulled her harshly into me, slamming my f*uc*king hard ck inside her as she gasps wildly before it turned into moans of pleasure while I continuously rammed inside her.

F*uc*k! I just started to thrust into her and I already felt I was ready to come any time now. With sweats formed in my head, I stopped moving and leaned down, resting my forehead in hers.

Clair snapped her eyes open and stare at me. “Are you okay?” She asked hoarsely, panting against my face. I nodded before I pulled away, a shy smile on my face.

“Just a second, or I would f*uc*king come already.” I felt my face turn red from my admission.

Clair let out a smug smirk and wiggled her way under me, going on all fours hoisting her a*s*s up in my face. “F*uc*k me like a wolf, Alpha.”

And the burn on my dk continued.

I bit her a*s*s before I gripped her hips and slammed inside her, pounding her hard that her head almost reached the headrest of the bed. But I couldn’t stop now. She was f*uc*king perfect. And her position right now was something I always envisioned when I jerked off to her on those days she wasn’t mine yet.

I slapped her a*s*s while I continued to pound on her, she hissed and thrust back her a*s*s making my dk more excited. Moans and groans were the only things I could hear aside from the slapping of our skin and the thudding of our hearts.

I could feel myself burning from inside her. I coiled my hand on her hair and tugged it, jerking her body up before I snaked my hand on her torso pulling her with me so she ended up kneeling in front of me, her back against my chest.

I felt her body stiffen and her panting became louder. Her o*rgas*m was building and before I could warn her, my gums itched and my fangs elongated – ready to claim my female.

I wrapped both arms around her and leaned my head to her neck. I gave one more hard thrust before sinking my fangs on the soft spot of her neck, marking her as mine.

“Jake...” She screamed my name as her body convulsed with her release, her hands gripping tightly on my arms around her.

I found my own release the moment she screamed my name and I held on to her, my fangs still on her until her body went limp in my arms. Only then did I retrieve my teeth from her skin, licking and sucking her blood like it was my saving grace. Everything about her tasted good.

Finally, she was f*uc*king mine. Mine.

Clair

I stirred in my sleep and slowly opened my eyes, I was on my side and I felt something moving on my chest, and from the sparks that traveled on my body, I knew it was Jake.

I groaned in pleasure as I felt his wet mouth on my b*reas*t, he was sucking and nibbling my ne while his calloused palm lazily trailed my thighs. “Jake...” I couldn’t hold my moan when he shifted his palm to cup my throbbing py without letting go of my b*reas*t on his mouth.

Without any warning, he plunged two fingers inside my py and started to ram it in and out of me. I twisted on my position and coiled my hands on his hair, tugging it for support while one leg wrapped around his hips, pulling his body closer to mine.

He then let go of my b*reas*t and tilted his head to capture my lips, k*issing it like a hungry wolf while his fingers kept sliding in and out fast and hard. Before I could react more, he shifted me from our position and placed me on top of him, straddling him as he lay down on his back.

I growled lowly, not liking to have my mouth away from his and his fingers out of me. My hair curtained around my face as I bared my teeth at him, hovering over him. He smirk smugly before he lifted my hips and positioned my core to his erected ck. I could feel his muscles clenched and his breath stopped as I wrapped my fingers around his erection and quickly pressed it on my throbbing core. His grip tightened on my hips as I boldly ride him, bouncing, plunging my py up and down on his hardened ck.

The sight of Jake beneath me was overwhelming sending me to arousal overdrive. It was satisfying to know that I was the reason his eyes were so dark and full of lust. I never felt this powerful.

Jake let go of my hips and cupped both my b*reas*ts, kneading them harshly while I bounced on him aggressively, moaning his name time and time again.

He must have felt my body start to stiffen and shift us again, this time my back was on the bed and he was hovering over me, with one hand on the headrest and his other hand under my head, coiled around my neck while he thrust deeper and faster, my o*rgas*ms nearing with his hard pounding.

“F*uc*k, Clair! You’re driving me f*uc*king wild!” He groaned under his breath, sweats formed on his body and I knew he was controlling his own o*rgas*ms waiting for mine to come. Few more hard strokes I shuddered with the force of my release, my fingers clawed on his bared chest leaving marks like I did last night and the other nights before this. “Jake... Jake... Please...”

I had no idea what I was asking for. Soon enough, Jake followed with his own release and slumped his body beside me, taking me along with him for a tight embrace.

“F*uc*k, baby! You were... you were f*uc*king amazing!” He groaned before peppering my forehead with k*isses.

I smiled and wrapped my arms around him, and rested my head on his bare chest, leaving k*isses on it softly. I was totally spent and the mark on my neck was sending a calm sensation all over my body. Soon enough, I fell into slumber with my mate cuddling me in his arms.