

My Eye 44

Chapter 44 The Truth

Autumn stared at Wendy in confusion. Wendy fixed her eyes upon Autumn and sternly stated, "Although you are Charles's wife now, remember, you are the substitute of Yvonne and a fake. You should have a clear estimation of yourself. Don't you dream of something you don't deserve."

Wendy laughed scornfully and continued, "You and Charles are from different strata. You must always keep that in mind, Charles is your brother-in-law. You should help Yvonne to win his love. Do you understand?"

Wendy's warning agitated Autumn.

Before she married Charles, she loathed him. But the longer she stayed with him, the better she knew him. He was not the kind of playboy as the media described him.

She tried so hard not to fall in love with him, but the more she tried to stay away, she found herself more attracted to him.

Autumn didn't respond. Wendy keenly perceived Autumn's unusual behavior and asked, "Are you... in love with him?"

"No!" Autumn immediately denied, but dodged Wendy's eyes with guilty haste, "How can I fall in love with him?"

"Well, you better not." Wendy sneered, "Remember what you said today. If I catch you lying to me, you would be really sorry."

Autumn finally calmed down. She stared at Wendy and asked coldly, "I've done what you asked me to do. Now, when can I meet my grandma?"

"What's the hurry?" Wendy picked up the teacup on the table and looked away. "I'll let you meet your grandma after Yvonne marries Charles."

"You..." Autumn suddenly stood up and questioned Wendy, "Wendy Ye, what the hell do you mean by that? You said I can meet my grandma after I did that. What have you done to her?"

"What can I possibly do to her?" Wendy answered indifferently, "She is in a stable condition in hospital. If you want to meet your grandma, help Yvonne get close to Charles. That's what you should really be doing."

shook with anxiety. She had been worrying about her grandma for a long time now.

still unable to meet her grandma now.

you, please let me meet her. As long as I know that she is fine, I'll do anything you want me to do..."

was for with that. But you can't take at Autumn. Autumn was her daughter, but she and scolded, "Stop making that noise. Your grandma is not dead. Leave that you a certain sum of money. You also stood straight. Other daughters could cry in front of their mothers as mothers were the powerful backing

Autumn had no right to cry her to believe that Wendy would take pity on her!

stopped herself from crying more. The moment she stood up, Wendy showed her the door, "Well, I've said all there is to be said about it. Leave, don't left, Wendy added, "Remember, do not expose your identity until lifelessly walked out of Gu family, holding the box that she had packed from is such a huge place, but she had nowhere to her grandma used to live in a small house that she inherited from her father. In order to pay her grandma's medical bills, she sold the house without telling her grandma aimlessly around the streets with the box. Her cell phone was on silent mode. She didn't know Charles had called

He threw the phone across called her many times, but she didn't answer. He was painfully anxious about her. "David!

what can I do for you?" David answered, standing at the office he knew about Autumn's resignation. David was afraid Charles might vent