Chapter 24

Dorothy curled her lips and answered with a faint smile, "I gave you a chance, but you did not cherish it. I will teach you the meaning of regret."

Howard clenched his fists. If looks could kill, Dorothy would have died long ago.

Thomas had no idea what had happened, but the conversation made him panic.

"Howard, what happened?"

Howard bit his lips and took a deep breath. Finally, he announced, "The company is gone!"

Thomas' throat tightened.

How could that be?

At that moment, Thomas' phone also rang. The person on the other end of the line stammered in a panicked tone, "Master Sherratt, the Sherratt Group... It's over. It's all over..."

"What the hell is going on?"

Everything was fine before they left. How could the company be finished in just an hour?

It was impossible, absolutely impossible!

"The company's system has been hacked, and all the information has been leaked. Now, the relevant departments are involved in the investigation. The company has been keeping many unsavory things under wraps. If they continue to investigate us like this... We are finished!"

Thomas' eyes darkened, and he tried his best to control his anger.

"The system was hacked? How is that possible? Didn't you hire the top programmers? What are they doing?"

"That person is a world-class top hacker. We couldn't fight back at all."

In the eyes of those top hackers, their system was useless!

After a moment of silence, Thomas asked in a deep voice, "Is there any other way to salvage this?"

After a brief pause, the other party seemed to have found a sense of determination, cautiously suggesting, "Well, Master Sherratt, shall we set up another company?"

Bang!

Thomas slammed the phone to the ground, and it broke into pieces.

The Sherratt family's patriarch was usually well-prepared and calm, even if a mountain was to collapse in front of him. However, right then, he lost his composure.

He had worked hard to build and develop Sherratt Group for so many years, but it was destroyed by that little b*tch in a few minutes!

"Kill her! Uncle Thomas, kill her for me!" In the wheelchair,

Howard was even angrier. Sherratt Group was his property!

He must make that little b*tch pay the price!

He wanted to make her beg for death!

Thomas hummed an affirmative and then looked at Dorothy. Restraining his impulse to shoot her, he said calmly, "I wanted to keep you alive, but you have stepped over my limits."

Dorothy sneered. They were indeed a family. Howard had said the same thing to her, but what had happened after that?

It was just like breaking a dog's leg!

Dorothy had no interest in talking to him, so she went straight to the point. "Master Sherratt, I'll give you another chance. You'd better apologize to me now. Otherwise, what will happen next will be even harder to bear."

The killing intent in Thomas' eyes intensified. He stared at Dorothy and enunciated word-by-word, "That depends on whether you are qualified or not!"

Even if the Sherratt Group was gone, there was not only one Sherratt Group in the Sherratt family!

The foundation of the Sherratt Group in Northon City were the hidden forces controlled by Thomas!

Even if the hacker could attack the Sherratt Group, it was impossible to deal with the hidden forces under his control!

"Oh? Is that so?" The corners of Dorothy's mouth curled into a smile, and her cold eyes were filled with killing intent. "Since that's the case, then I'll show you if I'm qualified or not!"

After that, Dorothy looked at Thomas with disdain. She curled her lips, picked up her phone, and said slowly, "Uriel, do it."

Thomas' heart skipped a beat. He had an ominous feeling.

Sitting in the wheelchair, Howard shouted and pointed at Dorothy. "Uncle Thomas, quick! Kill her!"

He had a hunch that that woman would do something more outrageous!

He had to kill her!

Thomas did not want to deal with her anymore. Although he was sure that she could not cause any trouble, there was no need to waste time there.

He raised his hand and was about to give orders to the people behind him.

At that moment, a mobile phone rang in that spacious place...
