1478 Voucher "I didn't come here out of jealousy," I yelled at Lazlo while chasing after him, "I thought they were up to something," I was panting because he was walking away with a speed that I knew he didn't want me to catch up with him.

"Lazlo! Just listen to me." I was tired of running after him and trying to explain myself day in, and day out.

"What? What could you possibly say to explain your behavior to me?" He finally stopped and turned around aggressively to face me.

"I thought you guys didn't want to be around me for now. That's why I --- and then I saw Moana leaving the academy and Corbin following her sneakily after a few minutes. They were not leaving together, so it got me suspicious." I was trying to make him understand, but he was shaking his head at me nonstop.

"I'm not accusing you of going after them because you were jealous. I'm not even believing the act Corbin played out when he acted like you two had some agreement going on that you would continue dating and all. I'm just saying, why act like that and then get into trouble? Didn't you see the look Corbin was passing me? He looked almost proud of himself for saying to my face that my mate doesn't share anything with me and walks around doing what her heart desires," he yelled “That’s one way to joke about it,” I smiled, shaking my head and maybe trying to convince myself he didn’t mean to say that. Maybe it was his way of calming his nerves down.

I tried to convince myself, but the intense look he was giving me would drag me back to reality.

“I said what I said. I want to kiss you, touch you an—,” before he could keep talking, I rushed and placed my hand on his mouth to silence him.

“Don’t say it again,” I uttered with my heart pounding loudly in my chest.

“Why?” grabbing my wrist, he removed my hand from his mouth and dragged me closer.

“You were the one who gave me the option to ask you anything. But now that I am telling you what can calm me down, you are pulling away from me.” He grunted, his eyes scanning my face hungrily.

“Maynard! Things have changed. You have a mate, a fiancé, who is a lovely person. I would not want you to throw everything out just because you are angry at me and want to punish me,” I muttered, trying to free my wrist and looking away when he deepened his stare at my face.

“Kissing me is a punishment?” He sounded upset. “I don’t care if you hid anything from me. I don’t care what your mother did to me. I don’t fucking care what Christina will think of me because, right at this moment, it’s hard to see you and not be able to touch you.” He pulled me even closer, and I landed on his chest.

I was beginning to feel like he was somewhere around and knew I was looking for him, but then again, he would have come out at least. I couldn’t locate him either. Even when trying to locate his scent.

“I am going to miss you guys.” Christina was able to break my attention from the empty wall I had been staring at while waiting for Maynard to come to the room. His punishment was finally over, so he had left to speak to the principal about Christina. Since he was an alpha mate of hers, he could literally help her out.

“Are you excited about meeting his pack members?” Lazio asked, standing on my right side and talking to Christina on my left.

“I am. But I am also nervous because he is finally going to speak to his mother. I am worried about what will happen when we arrive there.” She pouted, playing with her fingers nervously.

“It will all be fine. And if anything happens, call me. I will be there to fight them for you.” Lazlo smiled at her, comforting her with his innocent and genuine smile. “Everything will be fine. Once she gets the punishment, you will be able to live there peacefully,” I reassured her, and that’s when I noticed Lazlo eyeing me to not scare her.

"I will go see where he is." Christina walked out of the room to check up on Maynard, so I decided to speak to Lazlo.

"I wasn't scaring her." I rolled my eyes.

Maynard's POV:

Christina had fallen asleep during the car ride. Taking her to the pack reminded me of my first vacation in the academy when I was taking Enya back home. I don't know what is wrong with me, but I couldn't help comparing the two. It was crazy because Enya and I broke up long ago. It was just recently that I couldn't stop looking at her.

'Not recently. Remember how you accidentally said things to her in the cabin, and then you lied to Christina, saying that you imagined her in the morning?' May disagreed with me. Being a part of me, he didn't want to believe when I said I loved Christina more than I had ever loved Enya.

'Whatever. She has moved on, and so have I.' I dismissed him instantly.

'Yeah, but think about it. You are with her, but nothing feels special. With Enya, it was such a competition. Everything made you jealous. You wouldn't tolerate anyone looking at her. Sure, you messed up later, but you are once again thinking about her.' May was not entirely wrong, though. I did feel special about Enya.

'Let me ask you something. You have dated a few girls in your life. It is your habit to slip and cheat, but do you ever want to go back to your ex?' He asked, and I couldn't help but shake my head.

'Then why Enya? Why do you want to go back to her?' Now that he was grilling me, I was beginning to see that I desperately wanted to be with Enya.

'Hm. It cannot happen, though. She has done a lot for me. I don't think I can ever leave her. Maybe when I live alone with her, I will value her more than Enya?' I asked May, who let out a chuckle as if to laugh at me.

Maynard's POV:

"I think they are tired. They should go rest." Mom was quick enough to dismiss us. Usually, she would not leave anyone alone until she dragged out a comment and made it a huge issue, but this time, she really didn't want to speak.

"No! I rested a lot. I am finally feeling much more relaxed and comfortable." I shook my head as I refused to stay silent for another minute.

"What is going on? Did I miss something?" Dad laughed nervously, looking between mom and me.

"Why don't you ask your beloved mate about it?" That was it. It was a moment of truth. She looked my way and then gulped nervously. Her body was visibly shuddering as she played with her fingers.

"I don't know what is going on. I was so happily waiting for his arrival, and this is how he is treating me in front of his mate," she scowled, hugging herself and rubbing her arms to look like a victim.

"Maynard, say sorry to your mother and make amends. You are going to start anew with your mate. It is not healthy to argue and ruin things with your mother." Dad being unaware of all the horrible things mom had put his son through, advised me.

Chapter 356-Enya's POV:

"She has admitted to all the crimes and sins she has committed. We, the elder of the counselors, deem her imprisonment for the rest of her life in the black hole," the counselor announced, and Mrs. Gray dropped to her knees to start crying.

Lazlo and I had come to Maynard's pack to witness the sentencing of Mrs. Gray. After an hour-long public trial, she was finally sent to the black hole prison. It is an underground prison where the prisoners do hard labour for the rest of their lives and never get to see daylight again.

"Please! I'm begging you to spare my life," she was yelling and screaming. It was so hard to sit there and listen to her. All so, the eyes on me whenever the subject of the witch was brought up made me uncomfortable. They acknowledged the evil witch to be my mother, but because I was still a marked mate of Alpha King Corbin, nobody really said anything to me.

Soon the trial was over, and we were escorted to the guestrooms while Maynard and Christina attended to the guests. It was not an easy task for Maynard to wear confident attire after reliving the horrible times of his childhood. But he finally got to talk about the sad story of his life.

"I am glad he finally got justice," | sighed, looking outside the window and watching the guests leave.

"He did. That witch has ruined many lives. It is just sad that she didn't live to face the punishments," Lazlo scoffed when talking about my mom. I don't blame him. My mother was indeed evil, but his mood towards me surprised me.

"Do you maybe think I deserve whatever hardships I have faced in my life because of my mother?" I asked him, since | had been thinking about it for some time now.

“What are you saying, Maynard? She stood with you throughout the academy time, and you are going to drop her? I was shocked at those words coming out of his mouth. I have seen him look at me weirdly, but that didn’t change the fact that my heart was sealed from feeling love for anyone else now. I have accepted two of my mates and Lazlo had al ready marked me. With that being said, my desire to find love elsewhere is no longer the same.

Besides, how can he expect me to hurt Christina? Even if I had feelings for him, I would never do that to her.

“I don’t care about her or anybody as long as you hold my hand. Look! I am tired of hiding my feelings for you. After los ing you, I realized I made a big mistake, but couldn’t do shit because you were angry with me. But now you owe me.” He paused, and my frown grew. What did he mean by that?

“I owe you?” I asked, and he nodded aggressively.

“Your mother ruined my childhood and my mental peace. You should be with me and love me unconditionally so that I can move on from the dark thoughts. Just the way you want to help Thiago escape his dark side,” he was muttering and using his aggressive gestures while the omegas were walking around him in confusion. They didn’t hear what we were talking about, but I am sure they will be worried about what is going on between us.

“Maynard!” I paused as I held my breath in. “I was there with you but no—” I paused when he showed me his palm.

“I don’t want to hear anything else. I have waited for the day when I am able to ask you out again, and the Moon Goddess gave me that chance. You have 3 days. Please stop forcing yourself away from me and just accept me. We can be much happier with each other. Lazlo doesn’t even care about you like that anymore.” The moment he talked about my relationship with Lazlo, I felt this urge to yell at him.

The three days felt like living in hell. Every time we friends were together, I would see Maynard staring at me without breaking eye contact. I was worried Christina or Lazio will notice it and think something was up.

Finally, the day of the mating ceremony arrived. I was excited to head out of there and go back to the academy. Lazio had worn a grey suit, while Maynard wore a black suit. Christina looked extremely gorgeous in her white wedding gown. She had selected a peach dress for me as her bride's maid.

'I hope everything goes by nicely,' I whispered to Nia before walking down the aisle with the bouquet in my hands. Maynard had walked to the gazebo before us. He was smiling and taking greetings until his eyes landed on me.

We hadn't been able to talk because our last conversation was so awkward. It was then that I saw him smile at me. I had to smile back because, well, it was his wedding and we had some wonderful memories together.

He kept staring at me even when I reached him and stood on the spot where Christina was supposed to stand a step ahead, facing him.

I tried looking around, but his stare was so intense that I could not turn away from him. It was then that I saw Christina walking down the aisle with Lazio. I turned to Maynard, but his eyes were still stuck on me.

I had to grab my phone and text him to get his attention back to his mate and Luna.

The air became so hard to breathe inside the car that I kept staring at my face. I rolled out of the car without saying a word, and he followed me soon after. I was taking deep and steady breaths to calm down.

“Get inside the car. I don’t want drama here,” he commanded while approaching me. Before he could even lay a finger on me to drag me back to the car, I raised my hand to brush him with a hard breeze. It wasn’t as hard as one would accept, just enough to tell him that I don’t want him to come any closer to me.

“Seriously?” he shouted, running a hand through his hair and getting angrier at me.

“What is going on with you? Why are you acting like my powers are a burden to you?”

I finally raised my voice after I felt like it was the right time to have this conversation with him.

“I am not the one who is acting all bossy and arrogant all the time,” he shouted back at me this time. I felt my heart rip open when he talked about me in that tone.

“When did I ever do that? Just because I am able to take care of myself now, do you think I’m arrogant?” I could feel the tears forcing themselves into the conversation, but I kept sniffing them back.

“You don’t even listen to what I have to say. You do whatever pleases you. I’m an Alpha, Enya. I don’t like being told off. But you do it to me all the time. You don’t fucking care at all,” he screamed even louder, approaching me as if he was going to

"Corbin! You better not come near me," I warned him, keeping my hand on my eyes but also ready to use magic to defend myself.

The instant I thought of using magic, Lazio's words popped into my memory. Is it true that I feel proud of my powers?

"Who told you I was coming near you?" I heard him right beside me, and my body tensed up. I tried to pull away but felt something soft and cold touch my thighs.

Because I came home wearing the bride's maid dress and changed into booty shorts and a white shirt for the night, my legs were exposed.

I shuddered at what he was doing and uncovered my eyes. I thought of not caring if I saw his dick and decided to fight him. That was when I was able to see what actually happened.

"You got scared of a cucumber?" He started laughing while holding a cucumber that he had touched me with. When he approached me, he was already dressed in shorts. I just stood there, glaring at him. Part of me wanted to use my magic to burst that cucumber in his hand, but the other part was just not so proud anymore.

"Listen! Just because I didn't say anything when you tried to fool Lazio into thinking I was jealous of you and Moana doesn't mean you will get away with every messy thing you do."
