Chapter 411

411 -Who Is The Cheater?

‘Enya! what the fuck happened?’ Maynard rushed, but before he could reach me, Lazio pushed him aside as he bolted in my direction and knelt down in front of me. No words were spoken when he grabbed my arm and helped me straighten up while I kept sitting on the floor.

‘What happened?’* Lazio cupped my face in his hands, but his eyes betrayed his actions. There was concern in them, but not with the intensity with which he pushed Maynard aside.

I couldn’t understand anything, not even myself. I couldn’t comprehend why I was noticing everything. Why not just appreciate him for now?

Why had it become so hard to get a tiny bit of his attention?

‘Co—rbin!’ I stammered in sobs, trying to clean my face as the fresh blood kept entering my mouth.

‘What? he hit you?’ Maynard asked, raising his voice to express his anger towards the situation. I raised my face and nodded blankly before Lazio helped me get up on my feet.

*I need to first take care of her wounds, and then we can talk about what to do.*

Lazio wrapped his arm around my body and helped me walk to the bedroom.

Maynard and Christina followed us to help Lazio.

‘It is okay, guys, I can take care of her,’ Lazio instantly excused himself when he watched Christina staring at Maynard, who was too busy getting infuriated with Corbin.

*I think they need time alone.’ Christina understood what Lazio wanted, but to listen, she had to gently nudge his elbow and two left, Lazio brought the down with me.

412- Offered Me Her Mate.

I patched myself up after taking a shower and went to bed without trying to peek outside the room. I was just not ready to face anyone. Lazio didn't come to my room that night. However, I still felt like he didn't tell me the truth.

There was no way he wasn't having an affair with Valerie. No matter how many times he tries to gaslight me, I knew for a fact that the way the two acted around each other isn't normal. Now, my major concern was Corbin. For whatever reason, he tried to get me into his car, which scared me. He will not stop until he gets his hands on me and makes me pay for everything.

'Enya!' I heard Lazio call for me, waking me up early in the morning. "Wake up! It's late," he admitted, sounding sleepy himself. He must have walked all the way from the guestroom to the bedroom to wake me up.

'I am not going to the office today," I replied to him, covering my face in the blanket and trying to rest a little more.

'That is up to you. Go prepare the breakfast," he yawned before ordering me to prepare food for him.

'Can you not ask the chef of the pack to cook something? I am exhausted and sick," I sniffled, showing him the bad flu I got. I had a fever too. The human body is so much weaker than a werewolf body. Now that I am a human only, I would catch diseases and injections very easily.

'Ugh! then I should have married a chef. Stop making up excuses and leave the 'Christina! Do you even know what you are saying?' I asked her after she got out of shock in the next few minutes. It really took me some time to realize what she had asked me to do.

'I know. I sound a bit weird and strange to you. but I have my reasons to suggest that," she said, lowering her face when responding to me. She seemed so intelligent, so why would she suggest such a thing?

'You want to share your mate with me? I really want to know your reasons." I frowned at her, raising my voice a little as she surprised me.

'As if you don't know already. Enya! He is not happy with me. He will never be happy with me. I tried to make it work. I did everything I could, but it seems unfair to him now.

I know he should have backed down before the marriage, but I cannot punish him for that for eternity. He has already suffered a lot. and looking at how your marriage turned out, it seems like the Moon Goddess' plan was to bring you two together. It seems like you two are born to be together." She raised her voice when her intelligence was questioned.

I was only staring at her face in shock and amusement. How could someone suggest something like that? Did he really break that much?

414-The Royal Beta Can Rule.

My luck was really scarred because the day I was planning to speak to Maynard and talk to him about what Christina had told me, he had to move back to his pack for two days. I took it as a sign and decided not to talk to him at all. I would wait for him to speak to me after Christina talks to him about divorce.

It was selfish of me to even consider her offer, but at this point, I badly needed to get out of this marriage. Lazio was driving me crazy, and the process wasn't even slow.

'Lazio! I was meaning to talk to you about something/ I said, clearing my throat to get his attention. He was too busy on his phone while the TV was playing before us.

'Hm?' He didn't look away from his phone when responding to me.

"It's 15; I want to visit Thiago's pack." I reminded him of the deal we have made. Every 15 days, I check in on his pack and try to assist them with whatever they require. The pack has been running without an alpha, so I don't know how much longer it could stay like that.

Nov/ that Corbin had started a war with me, I feared he would take his anger out on Thiago's pack.

'Okay!' Lazio answered, still not looking at me. He never once asked how I was feeling. After Maynard and Christina left, I had to start doing the chores again and force myself to forget about my sickness and get to work.

'I was thinking maybe you can join me this time?' I requested, and he finally put his phone down.

415-The Alpha King Is A Dick*

"Look! You are already taking care of pack matters. It is not like you cannot fight some rogues if they try to enter the border. And besides, you won't be alone. You will have the warriors to help you with everything as well." I was able to convince her that this was the only way to save the pack from going under Corbin.

If Thiago was alive today, he would have died at the thought of Corbin taking over his pack. His pack suffered because of his parents. He shouldn't even be around the Shadow Winder Pack. But that's who Corbin was. Just like his father, he wanted to have what he couldn't get.

"Okay!" Janet closed her eyes and let out a sigh, trying to calm down before she made a decision. I knew she was capable of taking the in-charge. She had trained side by side with Thiago. She is intelligent and can fight. What else is needed?

"I will plan another meeting soon so that we can discuss the coronation and already apply for a title shift for you," I said, grabbing all the files and setting them aside. A little knock on the door diverted our attention from the arrival of the devil himself.

"Ah! Luna Enya is here." Corbin peered inside the office, taking my breath away. I didn't imagine seeing him in the pack. The instant arrival of the frown on my face was from the night when he beat me up.

"And she looks very angry too," Corbin folded his arms over his chest and said with a cheeky smile on his lips.

“What are you here for?” I asked instead of Janet, who was not sure how to react to the Alpha King’s arrival.

“I am here to discuss the safety of this pack,” he said, walking past me and reaching Janet. I am sure he was doing this to get on my nerves, but I would not let him scare her away.

“Hey!” I sat down on the ground and pulled my knees closer to my chest. “I visited your pack today. There have been some issues that have needed our attention. You know, life has never been so boring and empty. Every day feels like a burden now. I just don’t know how long I carry on before I decide to just get up and leave to stay in the mountains,” I laughed as I remembered him disagreeing with the idea when I told him I would move out and stay on the mountains if he didn't listen to me.

"Thiago! If you don't put this game down, I will leave you." | warned him, watching him lift his head up from his phone and stare at me with his thick eyebrows raised at me.

"And where would you go?" he asked, finally giving rest to the game he had been playing on his phone for hours now.

"I will go live on the mountains," I scoffed, flicking my hair back and watching him smile a little.

"I don't think you can survive on the mountains," he whispered, spreading his arm and eyeing me to jump on the mattress with him. I crawled onto the mattress and stuffed myself into his arm.

"F**k you!" he bent his neck to yell in my face, "You heard me, right? Sc**w you, Enya, for not remembering how much I have done for you, you ungrateful human." He pulled back after yelling in my face, "I was thinking maybe we will reach a solution tonight, but no! you are just too full of yourself. So this is what I am going to do tonight. I will leave this mansion and sleep with the very first she-wolf I find. I will f**k her good tonight while you stay here, cry, and think about what you did wrong," he shouted, grabbing his jacket to leave the bedroom. I rushed out of bed to grab his arm and stop him.

"Let me go, Enya. You are not that powerful a creature who can hold me back anymore." He shrugged his arm free and exited the door in haste.

"How could you do this to me?" I screamed in tears, sobbing as I remembered all the memories from our past. He was never like that, or maybe he was.

'He is— not the Lazlo I knew,' I whimpered, sitting down and having a full-on meltdown. 'Or he was always like that, but my powers and the urge to win me over ot—hers made him keep his messiness a secret.'" I covered my face with my hands and cried.

"Enya!" Maynard whispered my name, holding me tightly against his chest and comforting me.

"Please don't cry. I am here for you," he said, rubbing my back gently. His cologne seemed so fresh and intoxicating. I stopped crying, but I kept my head against his hard chest for a few minutes.

He was rubbing my back gently, but now and then, his hand would steadily grasp my back and force me over his chest even more.

"Thank you for being here with me." I raised my head from his chest and stared at his face. He was staring at me with redness forming in his eyes. He was watching me with so much affection and longing that I couldn't pull away from him.

"I am always here for you," he said, drawing his lips closer to mine. I could have pulled away from him, but I didn't. There was no point in staying loyal to Lazlo anymore. He made it very clear before leaving the mansion that he didn't want us to stick with each other only.

Not only that, but the wine was also not helping me control my feelings and urges. I closed my eyes, and that was a hint for him to draw his face closer and brush our lips together. A spark ran through my body when he gently pressed his lips against mine and grabbed my back tightly.

I felt the heart rushing through my body and new urges forming inside. He carried me on his lap, and soon I was facing him with my legs tightly closed around his back. His legs were hanging down the bed,

419- Let You Play With Me Last Time

After she hit me, everything went silent for a moment. The noise in my ear deafened me. I watched her swing her arm around at me again, but Maynard grabbed her and pushed her away.

The high-pitched noise made me unable to hear anything, but I could watch them yell and cuss at me, with Maynard pushing them both away from me. Neither Lazlo nor Christina tried asking Maynard anything.

The silence in my ears made me lower my face and close my eyes for a moment. The loud thud of the door made me finally hear everything clearly.

I raised my head and watched the room empty. They eventually walked out of the room, or maybe Maynard pushed them out.

I had silent tears running down my cheeks, but my expression stayed neutral. I was too shocked at what had just happened.

Steadily rolling out of the bed, I grabbed a dress from the closet and wore it.

"Christina played me," I whispered to myself, staring at my image in the mirror and the bruise on my cheek.

That was it.

It has gone too far now.

Wiping the tears clean, I made my way out of the room and watched them argue in the living room.

420-The Cabin Where He Kissed Me

"Maynard! Tell us what happened last night?" Lazlo insisted to know as he kept watching Maynard's face. Maynard lifted his head and made a deep eye contact with Christina, who was looking at him only and then he opened his mouth.

"What Christina is saying is the truth," he whispered under his breath, not turning over to look me in the eye as he lied bluntly.

"Why are you lying?" I whispered in shock, a piece of my heart was crushed after Maynard too did what I had never expected from him.

Now that I think about it, it was my fault only. He had done it before; I was a fool to think he changed.

"You heard him!" Christina yelled, looking confident than before.

“Why?” I asked them both, “Why did you guys play me?” | couldn’t even react to this obnoxious lie.

“I should be the one asking you that question. Why did you play me? you had him in your heart the entire time,” Lazlo yelled, avoiding the other two and approaching me. He grasped my arm and when I tried to free myself, he dragged me out of the living room. Once we were in our bedroom, he locked the door and started pacing back and forth. I hadn’t been able to shed a tear.

But now I felt guilty.
