

My Mates 460

Chapter 460 All Wet For You

It seemed like he was going to jump at me like a hungry beast. But it ended up not happening because the knock on the door broke his attention. Kellice walked into the room, holding a syringe.

Theo slid to the side but sat too close to me.

“Look at me,” Theo whispered, just when Kellice held my arm and adjusted herself in the bed to inject the needle into my arm.

“What?” I frowned at Theo’s demand, watching him look at me with worry.

“I heard some people are afraid of needles, so I am distracting you,” he said, making me smile at him but then holding back my emotions.

“Are you one of those people?” he asked in worry, and I lied to him. I nodded with a fake pout forced across my lips. Kellice raised her eyes from my arm and smirked. She caught me in a lie but didn’t interrupt. For several hours, Theo had been bothering us. He needed a little prank on himself as well.

“Okay! Stay focused on me then,” he got on his knees and drew his face closer, “Think about something that makes you happy,” he said, thinking he was helping me.

Kellice pressed the needle a little hard, and it pierced through my skin. I didn’t feel any pain, but I pretended to be in agonizing pain.

“Ow! Oh My G*d!” I faked a scared tone, dropping my lips from the corner and whimpering incoherently.

“Hey! look at me,” Theo cupped my face in his hands and gulped in terror. It was only then that I realized how much he was suffering after seeing me in pain. I stopped pretending, but he didn’t stop worrying.

And the only thing that kept me going and alive was a memory of you. That night, when I saw the portal opening, I also saw the pain you had to endure to keep it open. I didn’t even think twice.

for even playing that little prank on him. He was too of needles.” I

but he didn’t look angry

sigh of relief from his side melted my heart even go do some testing,” Kellice got up from the bed with the needle in her fingers. She was going to transfer it to a bottle and then perform some magic to see what was in my blood that could benefit room, I watched Theo rush after bother your rest now,” he rolled and not fall in love with him? As a matter of fact, he was my crying?" I

fool, grabbing the blanket and spreading it

I whispered, but the bed?" instead, he asked me never talked about sharing beds." I folded my bed and making me hesitantly get up and crawl to the other

You are sleeping on the couch." I pointed at the couch, but he shook his head

"and I am sleeping with my hand over you. I would love to cuddle with you." The way he shamelessly said at you!" Sadly, he noticed it and didn't hesitate to