

My Mates 465

Chapter 465-Challenging The Alpha King.

“Excuse me?” Janet rushed to her feet to let out a sigh of a complaint.

“Come on! We have marked each other, remember?” Corbin said to her, his lips forming a fake pout.

“You forced me,” she stared at his face, her chest rising and falling with her raced breathing.

“Can you prove it?” Corbin shrugged.

“You cannot come into my pack and threaten my Royal Beta.” Theo stretched his neck, silently waiting for Corbin to realize his presence, but when he didn’t, he spoke up.

“I am not forcing her. It is a law that she must give me a chance before she even decides to reject me. You see! This generation has made acceptance and rejection such a game that we had to take strong measures so that nobody just accepts someone and then rejects them the next day,” Corbin smiled, leaning to grab a grape and toss it in his mouth.

While doing so, he passed me a quick glance and then grinned.

“You cannot take her away,” I joined Theo, who was closing his eyes and breathing heavily, repeating the process over and over again to calm himself down.

“You are welcome to protest, but then the council will have to look into this matter. And if—,” he then turned to Theo, who seemed to be preparing to lose his temper, “Anyone disrespected the alpha king, they will be put behind the bars,” Corbin instantly reminded Theo what fate he will face if he didn’t control his anger.

“Anyway, my dear Luna! Why don’t you go pack your bags and meet me here? I am kind of in a rush,” he shrugged, tapping her shoulder while she jumped away from him.

Dividing into pages now the council will punish us and Corbin will get to take her away, anyway. As for Theo, a single word from him could get him in trouble because, being a Lycan, he

the one who

the Luna if the Alpha King is preparing for a battle,”

known there is no war going on right

at him before were very aware of your surroundings, you would know. You are being challenged for your title, and you never found out?” Kellice asked claims,” he warned her, but you.” She folded her arms over her chest and deepened her eye contact with

I would love to read your documents and see where you have been living all this time. And also, please inform me of she looked unconcerned. Theo steadily leaped onto his feet and got in between the two,

Theo smirked. Watching him smile made Corbin angry. He clenched his fists and gritted hints in order for Theo to be honest

Maynard and Lazlo shared a glance before they rushed to their feet to approach Theo and stand beside him. I am sure they didn't know what was happening but then deep and depressed tone. It was funny that he wasn't smiling anymore, while wild guess," Theo's words prompted Corbin to look around before returning his gaze language, but Corbin looked frightened. I am assuming he took it you need water?" Theo teased, grabbing a glass and offering it to